In U-turn, NEET grace marks for 1563 junked, re-test on June 23

Result To Be Declared On June 30

AmitAnand.Choudhary
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Two days after Supreme Court sought answers from National Testing Agency (NTA) on "sanctity" of NEET-UG 2024 being affected, the agency decided to rescind its decision to award grace marks to 1,563 students who could not get the full allotted time to take the test due to mismanagement. NTA told SC a re-test would be conducted for these candidates.

As soon as the bench of Justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta took up the petitions opposing awarding of grace marks, advocate Kanu Aggarwal told the court the June 4 decision on grace marks had been withdrawn and a re-test would be conducted on June 23. The result would be declared on June 30 to ensure that counselling, which is likely to start from July 6, is not affected. The bench accepted the decision.

Ahead of the re-test, affected candidates will be informed about their actual scores in the test held on May 5, without the grace marks. Those who do not wish to appear for the re-test will retain these marks. Senior advocate Naresh Kaushik, appearing for NTA, told the bench the re-test would be notified Thursday.

No evidence of leak, protests motivated: Min

Education minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Thursday said there was no evidence of a paper leak in NEET-UG and indicated the protests were "motivated", citing the success of rural and non-coaching students.

"Even in JEE (Advanced), students of rural areas and Navodaya schools have improved their scores and are among rank holders. They didn't get any additional coaching. So, you can guess who has impacted them (coaching centres) adversely," Pradhan said. The rise in the number of high scorers and successful non-coaching candidates was due to efforts to make NEET similar to Class 12 boards, he said. P 28

Modi, Biden to meet at G7; US to raise Pannun plot at 'very sr levels'

PM Narendra Modi is likely to meet US President Joe Biden Friday on the margins of the G7 summit in southern Italy's Puglia region, reports Sachin Parashar. With Biden headed to Italy, White House officials aboard Air Force One said an 'encounter' was likely as the president expects to see the Indian PM there. They reiterated the US would continue to raise the alleged murder plot against pro-Khalistan separatist and US national Gurpatwant Singh Pannun at 'very senior levels' with India.

This is the first time Biden and Modi will meet after their bilateral talks over dinner at Modi's residence on the eve of the G20 summit in India last September. While a formal bilateral meeting isn't ruled out in Italy, it's possible the two might just have a pull-aside because of scheduling constraints.

India slams Pak and China for J&K reference

India hit out at China and Pakistan for again referring to J&K in a joint statement, warning Beijing against legitimising Pakistan's illegal occupation of Indian territory through the China Pakistan Economic Corridor that passes through the Gilgit-Baltistan region in POK. The govt reiterated in its response that the Union Territories of J&K and Ladakh "have been, are and will always be integral and inalienable parts of India".

Not for the first time, the two countries brought up the J&K issue in a joint statement issued after Pakistani PM Shehbaz Sharif's visit to China during which both sides announced plans also to upgrade cooperation under CPEC. TNN

At Munak, Water Gets Protective Cover

Patrolling Begins Along Canal, FIRs To Be Filed Against Thieves

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi Police have started a drive against the water mafia allegedly stealing water from Munak Canal.

While personnel from six police stations have been deployed to check water theft, police have started extensive patrolling on the banks.

On Thursday, a confidential report was prepared by the police and shared with lieutenant governor VK Saxena and the police commissioner, sources said. The police's report comprised information about how Munak Canal was being monitored and intelligence being gathered against people supposedly involved in water theft.

Since Wednesday, police were seen patrolling on bikes and SUVs. An officer said that water flows from Haryana via Narela, Shahbad Dairy, Samaypur Badli and Bawana. The areas are being constantly checked. The policemen will monitor the canal in three shifts. Pickets are also being set up.

"We have deployed staff here. About 120 policemen will monitor Munak Canal 24 hours a day. If anyone is found stealing water, strict action will be taken," a senior officer said.

Six permanent pickets will monitor suspicious movement. "They will be deployed in two shifts, starting from 8 am to 8 pm and from 8 pm to 8 am," the officer said. In the pickets, 24 police personnel will be there and 16 will be on motorbike patrol. Two emergency response vehicles have been deployed with three policemen in each.

Police said they have seized a tanker from Kacchi Sadak of the canal and a tractor. Deputy commissioner (outer north) Ravi Singh said a case has been filed under Environment Protection Act at Narela Industrial Area police station.

No child's play, cops on foot, bikes and SUVs

Abhinav.Rajput
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: On a typical summer afternoon, the 4km stretch of the Munak Canal from Bawana JJ Colony to Gopal Cow Shelter presents a lively scene. Children, mostly boys, frolic in the canal at various points, engaging in friendly competitions to see who can make the longest leap into the water from the road. There are buffaloes and cows enjoying their baths, their owners idly keeping an eye on them from close by. Amidst these everyday sights, the police presence has become noticeable. There are cops patrolling the area in Scorpios and motorbikes and many on foot.

Near Bawana JJ Colony, the youngsters in the canal are abruptly disturbed by three policemen who arrive and tell them to come out of the water. The uniformed officers aren't there as lifeguards. Rather, they have been assigned to monitor the Munak Canal stretch to curb illegal lifting of water by the so-called 'tanker mafia'.

Sanjeev Rastogi

KEEPING ILLEGALITY AT BAY: Perhaps because of the police presence, no tankers could be spotted along the canal on Thursday

"We came after hearing that the water mafia is active at the Munak Canal," said an officer. "More personnel have been deployed in the area for round-the-clock surveillance."

The deployment of police at the canal comes after lieutenant governor VK Saxena directed Delhi Police to increase vigilance and patrolling at a time when water supply reaching Delhi from Haryana has become a political hot potato. Perhaps because of the police presence, TOI saw no tankers along the canal on Thursday.

Despite the absence of tankers, the locals insisted that tankers were seen pumping water into tankers only a few days ago. JJ Colony resident Aslam was certain: "A few days ago, tankers halted on that side of the canal and drew water from the canal." Another resident, Manish Sahu, claimed that the tankers usually used the kutcha of the two roads crossing the canal.

Near the cow shelter, three policemen were on vigil close to a picketing point. One of them remarked, "The tanker mafia operates by drawing water from borewells rather than directly from waterbodies. This water is very dirty; you can see even buffaloes are taking a bath here."

The alleged depredations of the tanker mafia have rocked Delhi's political scene, with BJP alleging that the state govt was shielding them. Delhi BJP president Virendra Sachdeva and the party's North West Delhi MP, Yogendra Chandolia, met Police Commissioner Sanjay Arora at the police headquarters and demanded the formation of a special investigation team and registration of an FIR for the alleged theft of water from the Munak Canal and other sources by the illegal water sellers. They handed the police chief their party's complaint in which it requested police to register an FIR for the theft of water.

On its part, Delhi govt had asked the LG to form a committee for investigation and demanded the suspension of the state's chief secretary and the CEO of Delhi Jal Board pending investigation so they cannot influence the investigation. Water minister Atishi alleged that despite repeated instructions, senior officials of DJB hadn't increased the number of tankers deployed to meet demand from localities, a sign, she said, of possible collusion of officials with the tanker mafia. Because DJB is making an inadequate number of tankers, the water mafia is able to sell water it illegally draws from govt sources and expands its operations, she claimed.

Atishi meets CM in jail, directs officials to plug leaks

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Amidst a severe water crisis affecting several parts of Delhi, water minister Atishi met chief minister Arvind Kejriwal in jail on Thursday and briefed him about the situation on ground and efforts being made by govt to tide over it.

Earlier, the minister, along with the officials of Delhi Jal Board and the revenue department inspected the main pipeline network that carries water from Sonia Vihar treatment plant in northeast Delhi to various parts of south Delhi. During the inspection, Atishi directed the officials to increase the patrolling of the main water lines across the city and immediately plug the leakages found anywhere in the network.

Talking to reporters after meeting the chief minister, Atishi said Kejriwal took a report from her on the status of electricity and water supply in Delhi and issued directions to MLAs to work on ground to solve the water problem.

"He has instructed me that whatever steps are required to be taken to overcome the water shortage should be taken as soon as possible," Atishi said. She was accompanied by Rajya Sabha member Raghav Chadha during her visit to Kejriwal in jail.

To prevent pilferage and distribution losses due to leakages, Atishi said several teams led by additional district magistrates and sub-divisional magistrates had started working on ground. She said no wastage of water would be tolerated. Teams of Delhi Police also conducted patrolling along Munak Canal, which brings raw water to Delhi, following reports that private tankers were lifting water illegally.

IANS

Atishi inspects the water distribution network near Akshardham

Atishi added that the current production of water in Delhi was down by 40-45 million gallon per day (MGD) due to shortage of supply and efforts were also being made to get additional water from Haryana and Himachal Pradesh.

Against the targeted supply of 1,000 MGD, the total production from nine water treatment plants and from ranney wells and tubewells on Thursday was 951.2 MGD, Delhi Jal Board stated in its daily bulletin.

DJB said that the production at the Bhagirathi plant was less due to lesser raw water received from Upper Ganga Canal. It added that the production at Wazirabad was also less, which was compounded by power failure at the Sonia Vihar plant for nearly 13 minutes at 1am.

Crisis consequence of govt's inaction: Swaraj

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: The BJP MP from New Delhi, Bansuri Swaraj, accused AAP govt of failing to address the water crisis in the city. She termed the current situation, where several areas are grappling with a water crisis, not a result of natural factors but rather a consequence of Delhi govt's "inaction".

Bansuri Swaraj

"AAP govt did not take any action despite warnings issued by IMD," she said.

The MP further alleged that Delhi govt neglected to implement measures to tackle water issues, allowing tanker mafias to operate freely. Additionally, she claimed that it did not repair faulty lines, leading to lakhs of litres of water being wasted.

Swaraj, while addressing a press conference, said, "It is regrettable that Kejriwal govt, which failed to stop the water theft and wastage in Delhi, tried to put the blame on the neighbouring states by calling the problem arising from its own mistakes a crisis of water shortage and also took the matter to the court".

It is clear that Atishi has been engaging in dirty politics, she alleged. "Today, Kejriwal govt is answerable for Delhi Jal Board, which was earlier running at a profit during the tenure of former chief minister Sheila Dikshit but is now facing a loss of crores," she stated.

Swaraj claimed that the network of water distribution in Delhi had been badly affected, which is why there was wastage of water. "Govt should have paid attention to the infrastructure of the jal board. The pipes should have been repaired, but this govt is only doing politics instead of working," she said.

BJP media department head Praveen Shankar Kapoor said the state BJP president exposed the tanker mafia.

Vigilance asks DJB to provide info on tankers hired by it in past 5 yrs

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Amid reports that a large number of illegal water tankers are being run by private players who are selling water at a premium to the residents of Delhi, the directorate of vigilance has asked Delhi Jal Board to provide details of carriers deployed by it in the last five years.

In a letter sent by special secretary (vigilance) YVVJ Rajasekhar to Delhi Jal Board's chief executive officer, several details of the functioning of the tanker system such as the details of suppliers (companies with their owners), who make the tankers available on hire to the agency to distribute water in the parched areas, the number of days they were deployed and source where the tankers fill have been sought.

Vigilance has sought details of water supplied to different areas and money collected to ascertain that water was not being sold illegally

The vigilance department has asked DJB to also provide the data of the number of days and the number of tankers made available to the agency each in the past five years apart from the actual quantity of water supplied and payment claimed by each owner of the tanker.

"This information shall be provided by DJB preferably by June 14 and not later than June 17 and also provide a copy of the contract made with the supplier," the vigilance officer has said in the letter.

According to the data provided by Delhi govt, DJB deployed only 888 water tankers in Jan, which increased to 1,211 in June.

Sources said the data sought by the directorate of vigilance would help in understanding the tanker business and the alleged role of water mafia in selling illegally extracted water to people.

Delhi water minister Atishi, meanwhile, claimed that the primary cause of Delhi's ongoing water shortage was inadequate supply from Haryana and even if the tanker mafia were completely eradicated, the resulting increase in water supply would be negligible and won't solve the crisis.

HC directs DU to assess water, other facilities at Law Faculty

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi High Court has asked Delhi University to convene a meeting of stakeholders within a week on availability of water coolers/drinking water and infrastructure at the Faculty of Law.

While seeking a report in this regard, the vacation bench of Justice Amit Sharma recently issued notices to the Bar Council of India and the university's dean of students' welfare on the petition by three law students, raising concerns over the lack of basic amenities and infrastructure on the campus.

The bench, appointing advocate Rajesh Mishra as amicus curiae, directed that dean of students' welfare, dean (Faculty of Law), petitioners and the amicus meet to assess the facilities "with regard to the water coolers/ provision for purified drinking water as well as the other infrastructural facilities, including the availability of Wi-Fi services."

The petitioners also raised concern over lack of air conditioning in classrooms, saying conditions become "unbearable" when temperatures in Delhi reach up to 48 degrees Celsius during the summer months.

"This situation is contrasted by the presence of multiple air conditioners in administrative offices and staff rooms, indicating a significant disparity in the allocation of resources. Furthermore, the third building, constructed with makeshift materials such as tin roofs and asbestos-lined walls, exacerbates the heat issue, creating an uninhabitable learning environment. The students have on many occasions suffered heat strokes, fainting etc, including the petitioner No 1," the plea said.

"Overall, the campus lacks essential amenities and properly maintained classrooms and common areas. These deficiencies collectively create an environment that is not conducive to learning and pose significant safety risks. The lack of basic infrastructural facilities constitutes a violation of petitioners' fundamental rights under Article 21 of the Indian Constitution, which guarantees the right to life and, by extension, the right to education," the plea added.

Rumours Of Water Leakage False: Govt

Atishi Says Govt Has Submitted To SC Details Of Steps Taken Over Past Few Years To Curb Misuse

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Water minister Atishi on Thursday claimed that rumours were being spread that there was a lot of leakage in the pipelines at many places, which was not the case. "I assure the people of Delhi that the water being produced in Delhi is being supplied to the people of Delhi. And there is no leakage on a large scale anywhere and if there is any leakage, it is rectified within 12 hours," she said.

Addressing a press conference, the minister said that DJB has also deployed enforcement teams to stop the wastage of water, which has been going to the field at 7am for the last 10 days and issuing challans if the water is being found wasted. Atishi said 1,323 challans had been issued so far while 179 illegal water connections had been disconnected. She said a command and control centre had been set up by the jal board, where the data of all flow meters was checked. Atishi said more than 2,000 pipeline leakages had been identified and fixed in the last six months through data and ground inspection by the leak detection cell.

"Delhi govt is taking every necessary step to stop the wastage of water. There is indeed a shortage of water in Delhi and 1,000-1,005 MGD water is produced in Delhi through water treatment plants and ranney wells. This production has decreased in the last one week," Atishi said, adding that 1,002 MGD of water was produced in Delhi on June 6, which reduced to 993 MGD on June 7 and 973 MGD on June 9 and touched 951 MGD on June 12.

Atishi also claimed that transmission losses of water coming to Delhi through the channel line carrier, a sub-branch of Munak Canal, have come down by 25% while replacement and laying down of new water lines has reduced the leakage of water below international standards.

Atishi said Delhi govt on Thursday submitted an affidavit in the Supreme Court giving the details of measures taken by it to prevent the wastage of water and the steps taken in the past month to tide over the current water crisis. "Earlier, there was a transmission loss of 30% of water coming to Delhi from Haryana through Wazirabad and the unlined Delhi subbranch. But Delhi Jal Board constructed the carrier lined channel at a cost of Rs 500 crore and reduced the transmission loss to 5%," she said.

The minister added that Delhi govt had replaced 3,500 kilometres of leaking water pipelines in the last 9 years while laying 7,300 kilometres of pipeline to bring water to unauthorised colonies and JJ clusters in a dignified manner.

Atishi, who took over the water department in Oct last year in a minor cabinet rejig, said Delhi govt installed 3,285 bulk flow meters at various points. "According to the recent water audit conducted, there is less leakage of water than the international standards," she claimed.

While the apex court has directed Upper Yamuna River Board to hold meetings with Delhi and other stakeholders, Atishi appealed to Delhiites to use water judiciously.

'CHECKED MISUSE, REVIVED WATERBODIES'

Steps that Delhi govt claims to have taken over the years
(Submitted in SC through an affidavit)

- Transmission losses from Haryana to Delhi reduced from 30% to 5% by spending Rs 500 crore on construction of carried lined channel
- Replaced 3,500km old pipeline in last 8 years, added 7,300km new lines in unauthorised colonies and rural and urban areas in 10 years
- Prevented misuse of water through daily inspections and penal action
- Constituted quick response team to check water leakage

- in main water distribution network
- Reduced non-revenue water by 20-30% through 1,010 district metered areas, leak detection cells, recovery drives
- Replaced defective meters
- Prevented 2,000 leakages and initiated installation of 3,285 bulk flow meters
- Established data centre at Jhandewalan for real-time data of water consumption
- Specific drive initiated under Summer Action Plan 2024 to curb misuse of water
- Carried out drives to recover dues and disconnected defaulters' water connections
- Tendering under way for smart metering in phased manner
- Eradicated tanker mafia
- Rejuvenated 31 waterbodies and installed 680 rainwater harvesting systems in govt buildings
- Provided financial assistance for individuals to install rainwater harvesting system

In Pipeline

- Augmentation of groundwater resources by reviving 10 artificial lakes, 62 DDA and 131 other waterbodies; recharge of existing aquifers using treated water from STPs
- DJB developing around 10 artificial lakes; 1,025 more will be developed in future
- Restricting groundwater extraction in overexploited areas in New Delhi, Shahdara, South, North and North East districts
- Groundwater extraction by installing tubewells in areas having high water levels
- Rehabilitation of 6 MGD ammonia removal plant at Okhla
- Installation of 4 new Ranney wells at Patparganj and Vikas Marg
- Augmenting Capacity of water treatment plants at Dwarka and Chandrawal
- Constructing master balancing reservoir and underground reservoirs at Palla, Rajokri and Bijwasan

Fight against middle ear infections, also known as Otitis Media
Who is at risk? Kids <5 years of age.
Causes: Bacteria Streptococcus pneumoniae and Haemophilus influenzae are the two common viruses that cause cold.
Symptoms: Ear pain, fever, fussiness or irritability, rubbing or tugging at an ear, difficulty in sleeping.
Diagnosis: The doctor will enquire about symptoms and examine the ears to diagnose.
Treatment: Fever and pain relievers. Bacterial infections may need antibiotics.
Prevention: Breastfeeding, cleaning hands before touching babies, vaccination against S. pneumoniae, H. influenzae and flu.
Vaccines: Two types of vaccines are available, PCVs and PPSVs. For children < 2 years of age, only PCVs are effective.
In India, PCV10, PCV13 and PCV14 protect against different bacterial serotypes (the number indicates protection against number of bacterial serotypes). The number of bacterial serotypes covered is an important key for PCVs as more coverage results in better protection. Consult your doctor for further guidance.

Delhi govt to SC: Water mafia active in Haryana

The issue should be left to be considered by the body constituted with the agreement of parties in the MoU of 1994. Since UYRB has already directed Delhi to submit an application for supply of additional 150 cusecs of water on humanitarian grounds, such an application be made, if not already made, by today 5pm, and thereafter UYRB shall convene a meeting tomorrow (Friday) and take decision in the matter at the earliest. If need be, the board can convene on a day-to-day basis. The writ petition is disposed of," the court ordered.

As the bench on the previous hearing raised the issue of tanker mafia working in the national capital, senior advocate A M Singhvi, appearing for Delhi, refuted the allegation and said the water mafia was active in Haryana and the court should ask the neighbouring state to take action. He also said loss of water during supply to households was not abnormal in Delhi and a similar situation was prevailing in other cities and states. He also suggested that the court appoint a committee to resolve this issue.

UYRB is a subordinate office under the department of water resources, ministry of Jal Shakti. A memorandum of understanding was signed by the chief ministers of Himachal Pradesh, Haryana, Utter Pradesh, Rajasthan and National Capital Territory of Delhi on May, 12, 1994 on allocation of utilisable surface flow of Yamuna river up to Okhla barrage among the co-basin states.

Complaints aplenty from Vasant Kunj to Greater Kailash

Vibha.Sharma
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Residents from various areas expressed concerns on Thursday about the inconsistent supply and poor quality of water amid the ongoing water shortage.

The Federation of RWAs of Vasant Kunj reported that each pocket in the locality needed 35-40 tankers every day because the single filling of the main reservoir in B1 Pocket disrupts the overall supply, especially for apartments located at the end of the distribution network.

Ameena Talwar, general secretary of the organisation, said, "On average, 6.2 million gallons per day (MGD) of water is supplied to the main underground reservoir at B1 Pocket from Malviya Nagar at night and early morning. From here, water is distributed to the local reservoirs in A, D1-D2, D7, D6, CI and C9 sectors for supply in the morning. Due to short supply from Malviya Nagar for the last one month, sufficient pressure cannot be created and this automatically compromises uniform water distribution to some flats or sectors."

In Model Town III, the RWAs highlighted how the water supplied through Wazirabad had become increasingly contaminated with dirt and a foul odour. They believe this problem is due to the insufficient supply and the increasing use of motors in the area. The situation has become so severe that residents have to depend on other sources of water to meet daily requirements.

Sanjay Gupta of Model Town III RWA said, "We anyway get water once a day and the timing for supply has been curtailed for the last 20 days. People are using motor pumps due to low pressure and water is getting contaminated. Foul smelling water is another problem. We have certain blocks, such as R block, where water was plentiful, but even there residents are complaining about short supply."

40 TANKERS NEEDED IN EACH POCKET OF VK DAILY

The RWAs in Chhatarpur, where water supply is restricted to alternate days, are highly disgruntled. "Summers are problematic for us due to just three hours of supply on alternative days with insufficient pressure," complained Vani Aggarwal, general secretary, Chhatarpur Enclave Phase 2 RWA.

Residents across the city are urging the authorities to take immediate action to resolve these problems. "In Greater Kailash II, power disruption at Sonia Vihar water treatment plant caused us three days of problems. Certain lanes in S block consistently suffer short supply," said Sanjay Rana of GK II Welfare Association.

Some fortunate residents, such as in New Friends Colony, Lajpat Nagar, Mayur Vihar and Krishna Nagar, reported no water issues. "In comparison to our locality, mornings in neighbouring Safeda Basti are a complete mess," said Krishna Nagar resident BS Vohra. "People can be seen standing in lengthy queues for the tankers the arrive in the morning."

2 Buildings Collapse In Fire, Close To 50 Shops Affected

CHANDNI CHOWK: Short Circuit Probable Cause, Over 200 Firemen Deployed As Thick Cloud Of Smoke Envelops Walled City

Abhay & Shubham Sehrawat | TNN

New Delhi: A massive fire brought down two buildings in Chandni Chowk on Thursday evening and scorched several others. However, no casualties or injuries were reported though the narrow approach roads and the congested area made rescue and firefighting a challenge.

Over 42 fire tenders were engaged in the firefighting for over eight hours after a call at 5pm alerted Delhi Fire Service to the blaze at the cloth market. When the fire kept rekindling due to the presence of inflammable material, more fire tenders were dispatched to assist the firemen. Nearly 200 firemen were deployed to extinguish the flames and for the cooling operations, DFS chief Atul Garg said. "Two buildings had collapsed which posed a major problem in dousing the fire," he added.

Police have filed an FIR and are working with DFS to ascertain the cause of the inferno. The initial probe showed the probable cause being an electrical short circuit. Shop numbers 1580-81 at Purana Marwadi Katra in Nai Sadak were first affected, an official said.

Deepak Mahendru, president, Nai Sarak Traders Association, said that the fire originated from a short circuit in an air conditioner on the ground and upper floor of the building. "A guard's wife saw the spark and alerted everyone and people hurriedly vacated the building," Mahendru said.

The fire engulfed a building and then spread to Purana Marwadi Katra, resulting in the destruction of around 40 shops. "All of them were garment shops," said Mahendru, who estimated that goods worth over crores of rupees were gutted in the blaze.

Fire officers said that weak structures, water shortage and narrow lanes hampered firefighting operations. The crowd that gathered was another problem.

While nearby shops were shut down as a precautionary measure, traders waited for the inferno to be extinguished, their faces covered with handkerchiefs, a trick they said they had learned from the numerous fires in the market over the years.

Narender, 60, who runs a shop in the market, said the fire started at 4.30pm. It took the fire brigade 15-20 minutes to arrive. Another shopkeeper, Jaspal Singh, 54, said that upon seeing smoke, everyone grabbed fire extinguishers and rushed to control the flames, but proved unsuccessful. The fire was so severe that fire engines emptied their thanks within 30 minutes.

Those who lost their shops mourned the fact that they had lost their only means of livelihood and contemplated a bleak future. Kamaljeet, 50, whose two sari shops were ravaged by the fire, stood in the crowd with a look of despair on his face. He said that there wasn't enough time to save his stocks because the fire spread rapidly and they just had to abandon their shops and run to safety.

Minsiter Atishi said, "I am in constant touch with district administration regarding the fire in Chandni Chowk area. It is by God's grace that no life has been lost in this incident. The fire brigade will soon bring the fire under complete control. In this season of scorching heat, I request all of you to not allow any possibility of short-circuit around you, take precautions and stay safe," she said.

Chandni Chowk MP Praveen Khandelwal alleged that the negligence of the power distribution companies and Delhi govt had caused the fire and they should compensate the shop owners. He said that it was shocking that none of the newly installed fire hydrants on the Chandni Chowk main road were working, forcing fire brigade engines to travel long distances to bring water.

Delhi BJP spokesperson Praveen Shankar Kapoor claimed the fire spread due to cables hanging all around, proving how important it was to set up a permanent fire station at Town Hall.

Discom sources said that the fire started on the fourth floor of the first building. "The meters are installed on the ground floor and the distribution network is intact. The discom, thus, has no connection with the incident. The fire is reported to have started on account of sparks from welding," claimed one source.

In March, DFC said that the fire hydrants and pump system in Chandni Chowk would be ready for use in the coming week. In a meeting with various market associations, it had also promised that the traders would be provided training on fire safety regulations, the process of obtaining a fire safety certification and techniques to manage emergencies.

Fire at Asita East damages 30-acre green area, trigger unclear

Vibha.Sharma@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: A fire erupted on the Yamuna floodplain, near gate number 11 of Asita East, on Wednesday evening. After receiving a call around 5.15pm, the fire department promptly sent nine fire tenders with 50 firefighters to the spot near Ramesh Park in east Delhi's Laxmi Nagar, and the situation was brought under control by 8.50pm.

Delhi Development Authority (DDA), responsible for the restoration and maintenance of the Yamuna floodplain, confirmed that the fire had damaged bushes in the affected area, and the full extent of the damage was being evaluated. The authority is also collecting information on the impact of the fire on the surrounding environment.

Sources said the fire had impacted approximately 30 acres of green space, and information was being collected to evaluate the extent of the damage to native trees and the plantations in the affected area.

"The possible cause of the fire may be high temperature or miscreants. An FIR has been lodged with Delhi Police to investigate the fire. Contingency plans are also being devised to avoid any such incident in the future," said a DDA official. DDA intends to enhance surveillance measures and arrange for water tankers and other facilities, he added.

TOI

Firefighters took over three hours to bring the blaze under control at the spot near Ramesh Park in Laxmi Nagar on Wednesday

A senior official of the fire department said bushes and green areas at Khadar had caught fire. "Due to this, smoke started rising in the surrounding areas. It is fortunate that there were no casualties of any kind. The cause of the fire is not clearly known," said the official.

Asita East, one of the 10 floodplain restoration projects along the Yamuna, spans around 200 hectares from Old Railway Bridge to the ITO barrage on the eastern bank. DDA manages 90 hectares of this area while Uttar Pradesh irrigation department oversees the remaining portion, which is also being restored by DDA.

The entire area had suffered severe damage during last year's flood and remained submerged in floodwater for an extended period. Subsequently, the authority had conducted a survey to assess the damage and carried out fresh plantation once the water receded.

"The plantation done prior to the 2023 monsoon was damaged. It took us time to remove silt, do fresh plantation. Based on the impact of the recent fire, we may carry out another round of plantation," said the DDA official.

Trapped, five of Ghaziabad family suffocate to death

PTI

The house that caught fire at Hajipur in Ghaziabad on Thursday

Avishek.Kumar@timesgroup.com

Ghaziabad: A fire that likely started from a short circuit in the wiring and engulfed the ground floor turned a three-storey house into a death trap for a family. Five persons, the youngest of them a seven-month-old boy, suffocated to death waiting for help on Wednesday evening at Loni's Behta Hajipur colony.

When firefighters found their way into the house, all five were found dead near the stairwell on the second floor, their path to the terrace—the only passage to survival—blocked by a locked door and a thick layer of smoke. Shaiful Rehman (35), his wife Nazra (26), their daughter Ikra Rahman (7), Shafiul's sister-in-law Parveen (28) and her seven-month-old son Mohammad Faiz died.

Additional CP Dinesh P Kumar said two other family members, Usma (26) and Arsh (4), were rescued from the ground floor and taken to Delhi's GTB Hospital. Usma is slated to be critical.

Flames appeared to have leapt swiftly across the ground floor as fabric foam, a compressor and mould machine stored on the ground floor to make undergarment accessories, the family's business, caught fire.

A scooter and a car parked on the ground floor were also damaged.

Chief fire officer Rahul Pal said the firefighting operation was impeded because of a height barrier and narrow roads leading to the colony. "Fire engines had to take a 13km detour to reach the colony delayed the operation by nearly 30 minutes. The engines had to stop at least 500 metres ahead of the house as the roads leading to it were too narrow. Subsequently, hosepipes were laid to take water to the building," Pal said.

The CFO said the fire broke out between 8pm and 8.15pm, but the fire department was called at 8.42pm. "Neighbours initially tried to douse the fire using local resources. Once our team reached the spot, they split into groups: one led the firefighting operation and two others tried to enter the house to rescue the seven persons trapped in the house. One group of firemen broke down the main iron gate and entered the house. But as they tried to take the stairs to the first floor, a portion of the first-floor ceiling collapsed. The team then entered the house from the terrace after breaking down another iron door," he said.

A third team climbed the terrace of an adjacent building to enter the first floor where Usma and Arsh were stuck. "As there were no windows on this side, the team made three holes into the wall of the house to enter it," the CFO said.

Delivered! Happy result after seven failed pregnancies

Anuja.Jaiswal@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: After facing seven failed pregnancies, a young woman from Haryana in her twenties recently gave birth to a healthy girl at AIIMS. This was made possible by the successful transfusion of O D -- phenotype red cell units obtained from Japan to help the fetus survive. The procedure is said to be the first of its kind in India and the eighth successful one in the world.

These specialised blood units were used for intrauterine transfusion, a procedure that helped ensure the health and survival of the unborn child suffering from severe anaemia due to haemolysis (destruction of red blood cells) caused by antibodies transferred from the mother. This condition is called haemolytic disease of the fetus and newborn (HDFN).

HDFN is a significant cause of fetal morbidity and mortality in the antenatal period and immediate postnatal period, said doctors. This case study was published recently in PubMed.

The woman's case marks the first successful pregnancy of its kind in India, where the use of internationally sourced O D -- phenotype red cell units played a crucial role in overcoming the challenges posed by her previous unsuccessful attempts at childbirth. All her pregnancies were earlier managed at primary or secondary-level centres and she never received a blood transfusion.

According to doctors, intrauterine transfusion involves the injection of donor red blood cells directly into the fetus. Two common causes of fetal anaemia are Rh incompatibility and maternal Parvovirus B19 viral infection.

Dr K Aparna Sharma of the obstetrics and gynaecology department at AIIMS explained that Rh incompatibility arose when the mother and fetus had differing blood types. In this particular case, the mother's blood contained anti-RH17 antibodies, which attacked and destroyed the fetal blood cells. This led to a severe decrease in the fetus' red blood cell count, necessitating an intrauterine transfusion to prevent further complications.

Since there is no rare donor registry in India, the International Rare Donor Panel was contacted to arrange O D -- phenotype red cell units. Though a blood donor from India was registered on the panel, he refused to make a donation.

"To ensure the safety and well-being of the fetus, we reached out to the Japanese Red Cross, which has a registry of 32 donors with the rare O D -- blood type. It agreed to transport the blood," said Dr Vatsal Dadhwal. "To save the fetus throughout the pregnancy, three units of O D -- red blood cells were sent from the Japanese Red Cross to our facility at intervals, specifically for the purpose of intrauterine transfusion."

According to the head of the obstetrics and gynaecology department, Dr Neena Malhotra, there have been just 18 cases globally of Rh– pregnancy with anti-Rh17 reported. Out of these, only eight pregnancies had successful outcomes. This was the first successful case in India.

Dr Anubhuti Rana, also of the obstetrics and gynaecology department, disclosed the expenses related to the blood transportation was Rs 4,10,596. The cost was covered by two NGOs on separate occasions. "Rs 1.37 lakh was given by Relaxo and Rs 1.37 lakh by Sai Trust," she said. Additionally, Rastriya Arogya Nidhi contributed Rs 1,36,590 for the transportation in the third instance.

Rana added that fetal therapy was offered in a few centres in the country and the department at AIIMS was one of the leading centres among them. However, timely referral was crucial to save the life of the baby.

Dr Hemchand Pandey of the department of transfusion medicine also deserved recognition for pinpointing the issue at hand. The successful identification of the problem was the key advantage in this particular case.

THREAT FROM THEIR OWN

WHAT IS HDFN

- Hemolytic disease of the fetus and newborn (HDFN) occurs when a mother's immune system attacks her unborn child's blood cells
- This can occur due to small but significant differences between mother's and baby's blood type
- These differences may lead to mixing of blood during a normal pregnancy or delivery, or as a result of trauma

WHO IS AT RISK

- When a baby is conceived, it receives blood group antigens from both parents. Complications can arise if there is an incompatibility between mother's and baby's blood types
- Specifically, if mother's blood type is classified as "negative" (lacking a particular antigen) while baby's blood type is "positive" (having inherited that antigen from the father), issues may occur
- Mother's immune system can identify red blood cells in the infant that are not its own. In response, it may traverse the placental barrier and launch an assault on these unfamiliar cells

WHAT TO DO

- Doctors need to closely monitor baby's development throughout pregnancy
- If they observe signs that baby is developing anaemia or other serious issues, they recommend an intrauterine blood transfusion
- Such transfusions are complex medical procedures that involve providing fetus with blood through umbilical cord

Bharadwaj asks chief secy for list of drains desilted till June 10

Times News Network

New Delhi: In preparation for the upcoming monsoon season, Delhi's urban development minister Saurabh Bharadwaj directed chief secretary Naresh Kumar on Thursday to provide a list of drains desilted till June 10 by various agencies.

The minister also instructed the chief secretary to ensure an independent third-party audit of the desilting work before the onset of monsoon (by June 30) to verify the claims made by agencies regarding the completion of the desilting process.

However, a Delhi govt official claimed that the additional chief secretary (UD) had already forwarded desilting reports received from three departments on June 6 and the remaining three departments' reports on June 7 to the minister. "Not just that, earlier on May 27, the additional chief secretary (UD) had informed all departments that they were asked to get third party audits done," said the official.

The minister, in his note to the chief secretary, mentioned that on June 5, instructions were given to send a report on the desilting progress, reminding the chief secretary of the waterlogging situation in the national capital during the previous monsoon season, but no response was received.

Bharadwaj emphasised the importance of verifying the claims made by agencies regarding the completion of desilting work on the ground level. "As per the experience of the previous years, most of the desilting work is not completed on ground while reports are presented on papers," stated the minister.

However, a separate note written by the CS to the minister on June 5 indicated that the issue of waterlogging has been actively considered by Delhi High Court since Feb. "Accordingly, the departments concerned have been submitting action taken reports to the integrated drain management cell, which presented the report to the court," stated the note.

The note to the minister also mentioned that the irrigation and flood control department was aiming to collect 15 lakh tonnes of silt by June 15 and had already collected 10 lakh tonnes. Other agencies have removed less amount of silt.

However, the CS, in a note to the minister on June 13, stated that "considering the claims made by the I&FC dept is very high in comparison to other agencies, the ground truthing is required to be verified and the direction in this regard is still awaited from the minister".

Pollution fight key focus area of govt's summer action plan

Times News Network

New Delhi: Delhi govt on Thursday released a summer action plan, focusing on steps to reduce pollution. It plans to revise the tree transplantation policy to improve the survival rate of transplanted trees.

The plan will be implemented from June 15 to Sept 15. The summer is expected to last in the city till June-end and the air quality is usually the cleanest in Delhi during the monsoon months.

Environment minister Gopal Rai, who held a meeting with officials of 30 departments at Delhi Secretariat, said the plan focused on 12 points — tree transplantation and its policy, dust pollution, open burning, industrial pollution, development of city forests, lakes or ponds or waterbodies, and parks, setting up of e-waste eco parks, eco-club activities, solid waste management and dialogues with neighbouring states.

For the tree plantation campaign, a meeting has been called at Delhi Secretariat with all greening agencies on June 18. For the policy, Rai said, govt is emphasising on ensuring the survival of the maximum number of transplanted trees and a special team will be formed to monitor it.

Rai admitted that the feedback from agencies showed that the survival rate in the past few years had been fairly low against the 80% target. "The average rate has been 50-60%, with it dipping to around 40% in some places. Some species are not surviving anywhere in Delhi while some others are doing well," he said. "Agencies have been asked to prepare reports on the factors impacting the survival rate, based on which we will revise the policy."

An anti-dust campaign will be run from Saturday, with the deployment of 85 mechanical road sweeping machines and 276 sprinklers.

Seven city forests will be improved with eco-friendly trails, cycle tracks, bird watching decks, canopy walks, sitting areas, open interpretation signage, etc. Three new city forests may also be created.

Rai said a reality check of the presence of 1,367 lakes would be done while 73 waterbodies would be restored.

Claiming that Delhi's air pollution condition has improved, he said the number of good, satisfactory and moderate days had increased to 206 in 2023 from 159 in 2018.

Heatwaves Unabated For 5th Day, Relief Unlikely For Next 5

Pusa Station Hottest At 47.2°C, Air Quality Improves To Moderate

Times News Network

New Delhi: Heatwaves continued in the city for the fifth consecutive day on Thursday. The spell is likely to continue for the next five days, with the maximum temperature hovering around 44-45 degrees Celsius. However, there is a possibility of a thunderstorm or lightning with drizzle at one or two places on Friday afternoon or evening.

At 47.2 degrees Celsius, Pusa was the hottest station in Delhi on Thursday. India Meteorological Department's (IMD) data shows that Safdarjung, the city's base station, also recorded a heatwave for the second straight day, with the maximum temperature at 44.8 degrees Celsius, five degrees above normal, against Wednesday's 44.7. Safdarjung has already seen four heatwave days in June while some stations have been reeling under heatwaves continuously since June 9.

44.8 DEGREES CELSIUS RECORDED AT SAFDARJUNG ON THURSDAY

The maximum temperature at Jafarpur was 46.6 degrees Celsius, 46.4 at Ayanagar, 46.3 at Ridge, 45.8 at Palam, 45.4 at Lodhi Road, 45.3 at Narela, 45.2 at SPS Mayur Vihar, 45.1 at Najafgarh, and 44.9 at Raj Ghat. Both Najafgarh and Narela, which had recorded a maximum of 47.7 and 47.5 degrees Celsius, respectively, on Wednesday, saw a dip in the maximum temperature on Thursday. The temperature for Pitampura or evening.

Thunderstorm or lightning with drizzle is likely at some places on Friday

The maximum temperature is predicted to hover around 44-45 degrees Celsius for the next five days, IMD stated. Some stations are even expected to record a higher temperature by one-two degrees.

The department has issued a yellow alert from June 16 to 19 as heatwave conditions are likely at a few places. IMD defines a heatwave day when the maximum is at least 40 degrees Celsius and 4.5 degrees and more above normal temperature. A heatwave is also considered if the maximum temperature touches 45 degrees Celsius or above. A severe heatwave is declared when the maximum is 6.5 degrees and more above normal or when it surpasses 47 degrees Celsius.

Delhi's air quality, meanwhile, improved from the 'poor' category on Wednesday to the 'moderate' category on Thursday, with the air quality index (AQI) at 193. According to Air Quality Early Warning System for Delhi, AQI is likely to deteriorate to the 'poor' category on Friday and is likely to remain so till June 16.

The minimum temperature was 29.4 degrees Celsius, one degree above normal. The relative humidity oscillated between 15% and 58% and the heat index or feel-like temperature was 44.2 degrees Celsius.

The Met department has sounded an orange alert for Friday and Saturday. Though heatwave conditions are likely on Friday, there is a possibility of a thunderstorm or lightning with drizzle at one or two places in the afternoon was unavailable.

Man beats father to death over property

Times News Network

New Delhi: A 65-year-old man was allegedly beaten to death by his son with a stick and a brick over a property dispute in northeast Delhi's Nand Nagri on Wednesday. Arun Singh, the 35-year-old son, has been arrested.

The deceased was identified as Kehar Singh, who lived with his family in a two-and-a-half-storey house in Nand Nagri. The elder brother of the accused, Ram Bahadur Singh, a supervisor at a hospital, informed police at 2pm that his father had died and he needed help. A team from the local police station immediately went to the spot and found the ground floor locked. The gate at the staircase was also bolted from the inside.

Police found a man, later identified as the caller, on the first-floor balcony and he claimed that his father had gone upstairs. Initially, he refused to open the door, but eventually gave in, said an officer. The team found an empty liquor bottle, some cooked food and a cellphone without the battery on the floor.

On the second floor, police found the body of an old man lying with several head injuries in an open area. Another man was found sitting nearby. He was identified as younger son Arun, who had allegedly killed the man. Nearby, a bamboo stick, a brick and a stone were found, said police. Arun was heavily intoxicated and had bloodstains on his body. He was wet and it appeared that he had poured water on himself, said the officer.

Arun, who lived with his father, had frequent fights with him. "Arun had been pressuring his father to give him the entire property. But Singh wanted to give the ground floor to his daughters and the second floor to his elder son," the officer said. On Wednesday, Arun allegedly assaulted his father after a verbal spat and the elderly man died on the spot, he added. The accused works as a nursing orderly.

Junior Docs Can't Decide On Referral

DGHS Norm For Inter-Hospital Transfer

DurgeshNandan.Jha@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Whether to accept or deny an inter-hospital referral should not be left to junior doctors, guidelines issued by the director general of health services (DGHS) in the health ministry said.

According to the guidelines on inter-departmental referral (within hospital), which has been sent to all leading public hospitals in Delhi including AIIMS, Safdarjung and RML, post-graduate residents should not close referrals on their own without discussing with senior resident/consultant. According to the guidelines, "Departments can prepare a roster with names of officers in various units with contact numbers and availability of units on different days, time, place where referral needs to be sent. This should be available on the website as well as well circulated within the institution."

The DGHS added that surgical units may also indicate availability of alternative unit(s) on OT days and that it should be updated periodically.

Inter-departmental referrals typically occur when a patient requires services or expertise beyond the scope of an admitting department.

This may include specialised consultations, diagnostic procedures, therapeutic interventions or ongoing management by a different specialty. According to the guidelines issued by DGHS Atul Goel, a patient can have multiple co-morbid medical conditions and a single medical condition can have multi-system manifestations. "For comprehensive medical care, inputs from different departments are essential, which requires a robust referral policy," the guidelines said.

It added that departments shouldn't assume that all referrals are routine or non-urgent and that a careful assessment of a patient's clinical presentation should be carried out to determine appropriate level of prioritisation.

The DGHS guidelines also suggested ensuring communication with patients regarding the referral process, including informing them of the reason for referral, expected next steps and any necessary follow-up appointments and said all referrals needed to be documented in the patient's medical record or electronic health record (EHR) for accuracy and accountability.

'No exceptional circumstances': Court denies interim bail to accused in waqf board case

Times News Network

New Delhi: A Delhi court has denied interim bail to an accused in the Delhi Waqf Board money laundering case stating that there was no exceptional or extraordinary circumstance for granting him relief.

The court of special judge Rakesh Syal rejected the application of Kausar Imam Siddiqui, who had sought interim bail for 30 days stating that his mother was in hospital and his children need support.

"It is considered that there does not appear to be any compelling reason i.e. exceptional or extraordinary circumstances which may justify the grant of interim bail to the applicant. The application is, accordingly, dismissed," the court said in the June 7 order.

Siddiqui said in his application that he was arrested on Nov 24, 2023, and was in custody since then. He said that he was the sole breadwinner of the family.

The case relates to alleged money laundering in the purchase and sale of a Rs 36-crore property at the behest of AAP MLA Amanatullah Khan.

Two men robbed of ₹50L in east Delhi, one arrested

Times News Network

New Delhi: Two men, working for a chartered accountant, have been robbed of Rs 50 lakh near Akshardham Temple in east Delhi. One suspect has been nabbed in this connection, police said.

Police received a PCR call on Wednesday about the robbery incident at gunpoint between 2 pm and 2.30 pm near Manglam cut on National Highway-9 towards Ghaziabad.

The victims, Mohit Sharma and Arun Tyagi, had collected Rs 50 lakh from a client in west Delhi and were on their way to Ghaziabad when the robbery occurred. Upon approaching NH-9, both were confronted by four gun-wielding men on two motorcycles, a senior police officer said.

"The men asked them to stop their vehicle. In a desperate attempt to evade robbers, Sharma and Tyagi tried to flee the scene," the officer said.

However, the robbers rammed their motorcycles into the duo's vehicle, causing them to fall onto the road. During the ensuing scuffle, one of the assailants also lost his balance and fell to the ground and other three suspects snatched the bag with money from the duo by brandishing pistols, the officer said.

Don't Lose Your Heart to High Cholesterol

India's youthful demographic, with approximately 35% of its population under 40, is driving the nation's workforce and growth. However, as these individuals approach their 40s, cardiovascular health becomes crucial. The 40 to 60 age group, constituting about 26% of the population, faces heightened risks of cholesterol-related issues, necessitating increased health awareness and proactive risk management.

Despite the growing prevalence of cholesterol issues, many Indians remain unaware of their lipid levels due to a lack of routine health screenings and limited awareness. Lipid parameters, including cholesterol and triglycerides, are vital indicators of cardiovascular health. Goals for these parameters vary depending on individual health conditions:

1. Diabetes Patients: Require stricter lipid control to prevent cardiovascular complications, emphasizing lower LDL levels.
2. High-Risk Patients: Those with a history of cardiovascular disease or multiple risk factors (smoking, obesity, hypertension, family history) need stringent lipid targets to mitigate further risk.
3. Dyslipidemia Patients: Require specific strategies to normalize abnormal lipid levels.

Awareness about these differentiated goals remains low, leading to suboptimal lipid management and increased cardiovascular risk. Alarmingly, India is seeing younger individuals, in their 40s, experiencing cardiovascular diseases (CVD). Factors include genetic predisposition, lifestyle, and inadequate health monitoring. This trend, "60's ki Bimari in their 40's," highlights the urgency for proactive health measures.

Reaching 40 should be a pivotal moment to reassess and reset health priorities. Key steps include:

1. Regular Health Screenings: Routine check-ups, including lipid profiles, for early detection and timely intervention.
2. Healthy Lifestyle Choices: Balanced diet, regular exercise, and avoiding tobacco and excessive alcohol can reduce the risk of high cholesterol and CVD.
3. Awareness and Education: Understanding lipid levels and individualized health goals empowers people to manage their health better.
4. Consult Healthcare Providers: Regular consultations to understand personal risk factors and receive tailored advice are crucial.

In conclusion, prioritizing heart health at 40 by understanding and managing lipid levels can lead to a healthier, longer life. Don't lose your heart to high cholesterol; take proactive steps to manage it effectively and Set The Tone@40

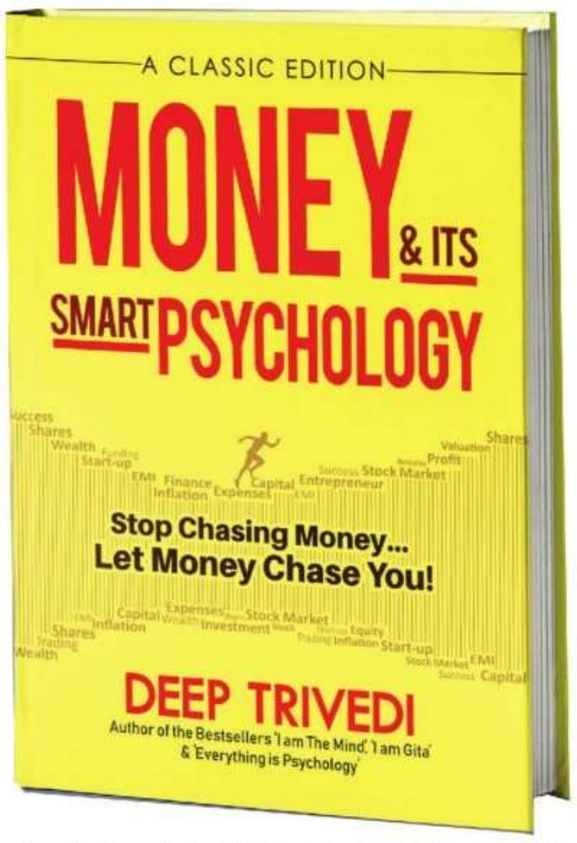
EARN MONEY... THE SMART WAY!

Can the importance of money be denied in today's world? Certainly, it has become as pivotal to human existence as the air we breathe! Whether one wants to fulfil the daily needs of life or pursue interests and passions, nothing can be accomplished without money. Undoubtedly, money is required to satisfy every human want, right from securing the happiness of one's family to ensuring their health and well-being. In today's times, money is also needed to help your loved ones or even to engage in philanthropic endeavours. And if money has become so indispensable, then naturally, having an adequate amount of it is equally important. Keeping this perspective in mind, we had a conversation with Deep Trivedi, the author of several bestsellers such as 'I am The Mind', 'I am Gita', 'Everything is Psychology' and many more, on the occasion of the release of his most-awaited book, 'Money And Its Smart Psychology'. Here are a few excerpts from the insightful conversation...

At the very outset, the author emphatically states that earning money is not as difficult as it is commonly perceived! But just because one is ignorant of the correct approach, the majority of people are finding it difficult to earn the desired amount of money. The author further adds that money can be earned effortlessly if one adopts the right approach and this is possible only if the mind is psychologically set to earn money...and this book helps one to achieve the same. Taking the conversation ahead, Deep Trivedi states that earning money is just the beginning! Thereafter, to ensure that the money earned translates into happiness for one's family and loved ones is also nothing short of an art. Even after having abundant wealth, if one's near and dear ones are unhappy or are grappling with health problems, then the entire exercise of earning money becomes futile. And this is the very reason why it is imperative to have a 360-degree psycho-spiritual approach towards money.



Although money is the prime necessity of the present era, one must not forget that money is also the root cause of all the problems and troubles plaguing the modern-day world. And the main reason for this is—money, by nature, is extremely fickle-minded and mischievous; in other words, this is 'money's psychology'. Frankly speaking, the smart psychology of money has now outwitted even human intelligence! And this book teaches one to tackle the smartness of money effectively while also saving oneself from various money traps.

As necessary as it is to earn money, it is equally important to manage it efficiently. Money must usher happiness and abundance in life, but it is equally crucial to ensure that money does not bring complications, conflicts, mental strain and stress in its wake. Whether one wants to take up a job or become an entrepreneur, a thorough grasp of every aspect of money is a must. At the same time, one must realise the power of wise investments and channelise the money accordingly. To summarise, this book serves as a one-point solution for all money-related problems and is a masterpiece that explains all aspects of money, with the help of various case studies in a very simple language.

ONE STOP SOLUTION FOR ALL MONEY RELATED PROBLEMS

EXPERTS' TAKE ON THE BOOK

Published in : English, Hindi, Marathi & Gujarati

"When I read Deep Trivedi's 'I am The Mind', I became his fan and his latest book 'Money And Its Smart Psychology' is also a masterpiece. I especially loved the chapter 'Is Money More Powerful or God'. As part of my business, we have been advising our clients about managing money and most of the aspects that I have learnt about people's love, passion, greed and fears concerning money are beautifully explained in this book."
Motilal Oswal, MD & CEO, Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd.

"Earning money is not that difficult if you follow the psychological principles of money. This book explains these principles masterfully."
Mafatlal Patel, Founder & Chairman, Patel Brothers (The largest Super-chain of Indian Grocery Stores in USA)

"An unmissable read for the younger generation to be financially smart in today's dynamic world."
Ajay H. Patel, Chairman, Cooperative Bank of India Ltd. (COBI)

"I have always known Deep Trivedi as a visionary, thinker & an accomplished author. Reading his latest book 'Money And Its Smart Psychology' has been a sheer delight. Indeed, the book provides a perfect 360-degree view about money and its inexhaustible intricacies."
Sandeep Engineer, Managing Director, Astral Limited

"An insightful book that provides complete financial management solutions including how to manage EMI's."
Nimesh Patel, President, Builders Association of India (BAI)

"This book not only focuses on common money traps, but also highlights the importance of cultivating an abundant mindset to manifest wealth. By citing practical examples and case studies, Deep Trivedi offers a refreshing perspective towards money and its relation with the human mind."
Dr. Dinesh Shahra, Founder & Ex-MD, Ruchi Soya Industries Ltd.

Delhi zoo plans to up surveillance in animal enclosures

New Delhi: Delhi zoo authorities have announced plans to add more CCTV cameras to animal enclosures following a recent bout of aggression between two male chinkaras that led to the death of one of them.

The fierce fight between two male chinkaras occurred on June 1.

Delhi zoo director Sanjeet Kumar explained that such conflicts among animals are not uncommon. "For dominance, males often engage in fights both in the wild and in zoo conditions. Unfortunately, in this case, the fight led to severe injuries. The affected male suffered from an intestinal injury and was rushed to a hospital, but it succumbed to injuries during treatment," Kumar said.

The surviving chinkara, which sustained minor injuries, has been kept in an enclosure with other animals, including one born last month.

After this incident, several measures have been taken to enhance animal safety and monitoring, Kumar said, adding, "We are also working to reduce our response time through advanced technology and optimal use of manpower."

"We are planning to increase the number of CCTV cameras and expand coverage in animal areas to ensure quicker information relay during emergencies. We cannot change their core behaviour, but we strive to prevent such incidents from escalating," he said. PTI

Mock FIRs, App Training To Make Cops' Hold On New Laws Strong

Policemen To Be Trained On Uploading Videos Directly To Tracking System

Rajshekhar.Jha
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Starting Monday, investigating officers (IOs) of Delhi Police will begin training on the app that has been built to help them fulfil the requirements of Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS). New law codes are set to be rolled out on July 1. The police brass will also be conducting extensive mock scenarios to test their personnels' training in new laws over the next two weeks, sources said. During this exercise, they will file dummy FIRs and make arrests under different sections of BNS.

The police brass on Thursday rolled out the training schedule for the app training. TOI had reported on Thursday that such an app was in the works. The app is yet to be unveiled and is likely to be named 'e-praman', sources added.

The policemen will be trained on uploading videos directly to the crime and criminal tracking and network system. The sanctity of digital evidence is the top priority for cops and the plan is to use a cloud-based service besides the regular storage to save their crime scene videos, photographs and audio files, officials said.

In the new app, the cops are heavily relying upon the "hash values" to establish that there has been no tampering with the digital evidence. "If the hash value changes, it would mean there has been some modification or tampering. All changes will be recorded," said an official. The cloud service will also ensure that there is a backup of case files and evidence.

Regarding the mock exercises, officials said that there would be around two dozen scenarios based on different genres of crimes which would have to be dealt from scratch to finish by IOs under the new laws. Dummy cases like that of murder, cheating, rape, fatal accident or robbery and snatchings will be randomly assigned to cops from different police stations.

Senior officers said on Thursday that each IO would be given a particular case in which he or she would have to visit the 'crime scene', videograph it and record the statement of people concerned under the new Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam (BSA). They will then register a dummy FIR as per new sections specified in BNS.

"The IO will also have to use the new proformas of arrest memos and carry out mock arrests. Not just that, a chargesheet under the new Evidence Act will also be simulated," a senior officer said. Those who pass the tests with flying colours will be asked to assist others in getting accustomed to the new setup.

Police have less than two weeks for the rollout. From July 1, Indian Penal Code, Criminal Procedure Code and Indian Evidence Act will cease to exist and all first information reports of criminal offences shall be registered under provisions of BNS. BSA will kick in instead of the Indian Evidence Act.

History-sheeter, friend, 2 homeless injured in firing

Times News Network

New Delhi: A history-sheeter, his friend and two 70-year-old homeless men sleeping on the footpath were injured after five assailants fired at least a dozen rounds in northeast Delhi's Welcome on Thursday. The assailants opened fire when the history-sheeter and his friend, traveling on a motorcycle, approached 65 Foota Road, police said.

The injured were identified as Waseem (33), a history-sheeter from Shastri Park with 17 criminal cases, including robbery, attempted murder, extortion, snatching, and assault; his friend Asif (30), and Shareef and Sultan, a senior police officer said.

Police received a PCR call about the firing incident at 3.02 am. "It was found that some boys had opened fire at Waseem and Asif while they were traveling on a motorcycle near Shaitan Chowk. Shareef and Sultan were sleeping on the footpath," the officer said.

"Waseem and Asif were roaming in the area, and at least five assailants were waiting for them at 65 Foota Road. As soon as they arrived, bullets were rained on them," said the officer, adding that assailants escaped after firing about a dozen shots.

AN OFFICER SAYS

Waseem and Asif were roaming in the area, and at least five assailants were waiting for them at 65 Foota Road

Shareef and Sultan were the collateral victims of this indiscriminate gunfire. While Waseem sustained gunshot wounds to his abdomen and right hand, Asif sustained gunshot injuries to his right hand and left chest, the officer said, adding, "Waseem and Asif are being questioned. We suspect that some insider had given the information about their movement."

A case has been registered under Sections 307 (attempted murder) and 34 (common intention) of the IPC and is being probed from multiple angles, police added.

It was not the first time that bystanders were shot at. In July last year, a construction material seller was shot at in southeast Delhi's Hazrat Nizamuddin area, and a labourer was hit by a stray bullet in the attack. In Feb, a shooting incident in southeast Delhi's Bhogal market left two passersby injured.

At meet with workers, AAP vows to bounce back in assembly polls

Times News Network

New Delhi: Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Thursday accepted that it got fewer seats than expected in the recently-concluded Lok Sabha elections, but it would come back with renewed energy in the next polls.

The party claimed that all seven seats of Delhi would have fallen in AAP's kitty if its national convener, Arvind Kejriwal, had contested as a contender for the post of Prime Minister. "We fought on seven seats in Delhi in adverse conditions; we may have lost, but our vote percentage has increased," Delhi convener Gopal Rai said after a meeting of senior functionaries with AAP office-bearers and workers.

The meeting was called to understand the reason behind AAP's poll debacle and plan strategy for future elections. Of the 22 seats it contested in five states, AAP could win only three out of 13 in Punjab. In Delhi, where AAP stitched a pre-poll seat arrangement with Congress, the alliance failed to win a seat. In Punjab, it contested without an alliance.

The assembly elections are due in Delhi early next year. In the last two assembly polls, AAP scored a brute majority despite losing all seven Lok Sabha seats only a few months ago. Party functionaries said they would soon start preparing for the assembly polls and score a hat-trick, riding on the welfare schemes and development work of AAP govt.

AAP national general secretary (organisation) Sandeep Pathak said Kejriwal was arrested and incarcerated in an excise policy case within five days of the announcement of the poll schedule. AAP had contested the poll with the dual objective of defeating BJP govt at Centre and winning maximum number of seats, the Rajya Sabha member said. "If not today, then tomorrow our victory is certain. Haryana-Delhi elections and Punjab by-elections are ahead. We will fight unitedly again and win."

Rajya Sabha member Sanjay Singh claimed that in the political history of India, no party had seen so many ups and downs like AAP.

Delhi ministers Atishi and Saurabh Bharadwaj also addressed party workers.

DoE intensifies efforts to boost amenities in govt schools

New Delhi: Department of education has intensified efforts to improve basic services and amenities in Delhi govt schools. Education secretary Ashok Kumar has issued stringent directives to ensure adequate desks, stationery, clean water, maintaining clean toilets, performing minor repairs, and implementing essential safety measures in the schools.

Despite clear instructions in May, a review by the director of education and additional director/state project director on June 6 revealed that several schools were yet to comply.

To address the non-compliance, authorities recommended disciplinary action against principals and vice principals who failed to improve their school's infrastructure. However, no recommendations have been submitted to date.

On June 11, the secretary has directed regional directors of education (RDEs) to identify the schools with inadequate infrastructure and propose disciplinary actions against the responsible district deputy directors of education (DDE).

The RDEs have been given a 10-day deadline to comply, failing which they will face disciplinary action. They are also required to submit proposals for action against the concerned district DDEs within seven days.

Education department on Thursday supplied free textbooks to all students (classes 1 to 8) in govt schools for the academic year 2024-25. All DDEs have been instructed to ensure textbooks are delivered to students before schools reopen. TNN

At hosp close to you: Latest version of Gamma Knife

Times News Network

Gurgaon: The latest generation of Gamma Knife, which is used for radiotherapy to treat a tumor or a lesion with a beam of gamma rays, was unveiled at Fortis hospital on Thursday.

The instrument — Gamma Knife Esprit — is a technological advancement over the five gamma knife machines India has, experts said. Gamma knife Esprit is a non-surgical, high-precision way of treating brain tumors, enhancing therapeutic options for both malignant and benign growths and other abnormalities of the brain.

"The Gamma Knife employs computer-guided precision to target brain tumors without actual cutting, making it an optimal choice for treating both malignant and benign tumors, including multiple brain metastases, meningiomas, acoustic tumors, and pituitary adenomas. Its precision is crucial for tumors in sensitive or hard-to-reach brain areas with sparing healthy brain tissues and allows patients to return to daily activities almost immediately," said Dr Dheerendra Prasad, chief of Gamma Knife radiosurgery and professor and medical director, radiation medicine, at Roswell Park Cancer Institute who was present at the event.

Experts and doctors from around the world at the launch event

Experts pointed out that other forms of radiation therapy for multiple brain tumors requires almost 30 sessions. In contrast, Gamma Knife radiosurgery consolidates the entire treatment into a single session with same-day discharge. Doctors at the event said the treatment will cost around Rs 4-5 lakh per person and the technology can be used on five people in a day.

The machine was invented in the 1950s by Swedish neurosurgeon Professor Lars Leksell at Karolinska University Hospital in Stockholm. "India is hoping to collaborate with Sweden in science and technology. Collaborative research between the researchers in Sweden and India can improve the outcomes and lead to new innovations," said Abhay Karandikar, secretary of the Department of Science and Technology, at the event.

Swedish ambassador Jan Thesleff emphasised the need to bridge gaps in advanced medical treatments to ensure patients here have access to cutting-edge care.

Caretaker of mosque gets a month to vacate premises

Times News Network

New Delhi: Delhi High Court has given a month's time to the caretaker of a mosque and madrasa to vacate the Hazrat Nizamuddin-based premises, slated to be demolished by the civic bodies.

The high court, on Wednesday, asked Delhi Development Authority and a local religious body to grant one month's time to the petitioner, Faizyab Masjid and Madrasa, saying no further time will be extended to vacate the premises. The mosque and madrasa are situated near ISBT bus depot at Sarai Kale Khan in Hazrat Nizamuddin. The court was hearing a plea seeking to declare the action of Delhi Police and DDA officials of planning demolition of the masjid on June 13 to be illegal, arbitrary and unconstitutional.

However, the authorities told the court that Delhi religious committee has decided to remove unauthorised religious structures from public land, including the said structure. Opposing the move, the petitioner sought to direct the authorities to supply a copy of the order and minutes of meeting and other file noting related to the decision to demolish the structure and grant appropriate time to the petitioner to avail legal remedies.

The plea sought that till such time no coercive action be taken against the masjid and madrasa. However, during the hearing, the petitioner's counsel sought the court's indulgence to grant time to vacate the premises within one month. The court then recorded the statement of the mosque's caretaker and authorised representative that they should vacate the premises within one month and no one would make any further endeavour to stall the drive undertaken by the authorities.

The court allowed the petitioner's request to withdraw the plea and added that the petitioner should abide by the undertaking given by their caretaker and authorised representative.

Court seeks Crime Branch's report on Bishnoi threat call

Times News Network

New Delhi: A Delhi court has sought a report from Delhi Police's Crime Branch on the investigation into an alleged extortion case against Lawrence Bishnoi and others.

The court of Deepika Devesh issued a notice to the investigation officer and assistant commissioner of police and directed them to file a proper reply. "Let a notice be issued to the concerned IO as well as concerned ACP, crime branch, to file a proper report regarding further ongoing investigation in the present matter by the next date of hearing," the court said. The next hearing is scheduled for July 18.

The court asked for a report after going through the supplementary chargesheet that said further investigation of some accused persons evading the law — Anuj and Anmol Bishnoi — is to be filed.

In July 2023, the court took cognizance of the chargesheet filed against Lawrence Bishnoi and three other accused persons in an extortion case.

Lawrence Bishnoi was arrested in the matter on May 31, 2023.

This case is related to firing and extortion calls that were brought by advocate Ramandeep Singh in April last year in South East Delhi's Sunlight Colony.

The FIR was lodged following which the case was transferred to the crime branch.

Singh in his complaint alleged that he had got a call from an unknown international number in March last year and the caller had demanded Rs 1 crore, threatening him and his family.

Delayed, hence denied: Work pending for 6 months will be closed, says MCD

Vibha.Sharma@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) has ordered closure of all projects where the work order was given over six months ago but no progress was made on the ground.

The circular from the additional commissioner of the engineering department pointed out that despite the commissioner's directives, work orders remained open in many instances, leading to blockage of funds that adversely affecting MCD's overall condition.

The recently issued circular said: "The cases where the work order or contract has been awarded for more than six months and work has not yet started, may be deemed as closed and action reported to the next higher authority. Further, if the work has substantially started, any extension of time beyond the date of completion may not be allowed to the contractors, without approval of the engineer-in-chief."

MCD CIRCULAR SAYS

If the work has substantially started, any extension of time beyond the date of completion may not be allowed to the contractors, without approval of the engineer-in-chief

The circular specified that similar standards would be applied to projects under the MLALADS and Mukhyamantri Sadak Punarnirman Yojna (MSPY) schemes.

The official clarified that an exception could be made if it MCD found it necessary to keep the work order active because of larger public interest of the work. In such instances, an extension would be granted with the specific approval of the engineer-in-chief, mentioning the particular reason for the extension.

The circular also stressed that the department concerned would take appropriate actions against agencies that delay starting work as per CPWD guidelines, and under no circumstances would an extension be granted.

The circular mentioned that if work has started but could not be completed due to any obstacle at the site, it should be considered closed, and appropriate measures should be taken in accordance with the CPWD manual's provisions.

"A provisional extension of three months beyond the date of completion can be provided in certain cases after consultation and the formal approval from the engineer-in-chief, though," the official said.

The circular instructed all divisions to adhere to the guidelines by the MCD commissioner. "While the superintending engineer is responsible for ensuring compliance and monitoring the status of all pending work orders in the division, a compliance report must be submitted to the chief engineer in 10 days," an official said. The circular also warned of strict action if directions were not followed.

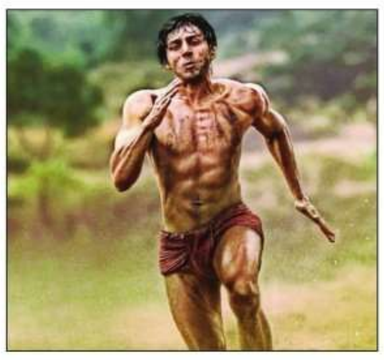
A fascinating sports biopic

CINEMA OF THE WEEK

Chandu Champion (Biopic, Sports)
★★★½
Cast: Kartik Aaryan, Vijay Raaz, Bhuvan Arora, Rajpal Yadav
Direction: Kabir Khan
Duration: 2 hours 23 minutes
Language: Hindi (U/A)



Based on a true story, the film celebrates the fascinating and surrealistic life of Murlikant Petkar, an army man and athlete, who won India its first Paralympic gold in 1972. His achievements and remarkable tryst with destiny lurked in anonymity, until he decided to claim the honour and respect he deserved.

We often hear that it's wise to leave the table if respect is not served. But what if you decide to sit at the table, compelling people to acknowledge your presence? Victory belongs to the most tenacious after all. Kabir Khan's film celebrates this thought. It's about building yourself as a champion, even when the world labels you as a chandu, chomu or looks at you as a laughing stock.

Oscillating between past and present, the story takes us through Petkar's life, right from the 1950's to 2018, when he was finally awarded the Padma Shri. We discover that the man who nurtured an Olympic dream since his childhood has a strange love-hate relationship with fate and God. He survived when he didn't hope he would and was left devastated when he least expected. However, never defeated.

The film has Forrest Gump's free-flowing nature and Bhaag Milkha Bhaag's essence to it, but unlike the two, this one feels a tad rebellious without a pertinent cause or conflict. Being ridiculed unleashes Petkar's aggression, giving an outlet to his talent and persistence. He dared to question the naysayers, 'Hasta kayko hai', which ignited the fire within him. Medal se izzat milti hai, he tells himself.

Most sports biopics follow athletes who pursue a certain sport and excel in it against the odds. Kabir Khan's film feels different because it's about a man who desperately wants an Olympic medal, for which he tries everything – wrestling, boxing and swimming. Sounds preposterous and ridiculously ambitious but that's the fun of it. Petkar makes you wonder if being delusional to a certain level helps. Only then can you see yourself as a champion, even when no one thinks you are in the reckoning.

In many ways, Kartik Aaryan's ambition to be taken seriously as an actor, coincides with the inner turmoil of the character he essays here. You almost hear him say, "Ae hasta kayko hai? Actor hai main actor." Kabir Khan's choice of leading man is a clever casting move. Kartik shows considerable restraint, spontaneity and brings a certain ease to his character that we haven't seen from him before. He is impressively uninhibited in 'Satyanaas', a well-shot train song. Along with undergoing physical transformation, he does justice to the character's emotional arc. Bhuvan Arora deserves a special mention as Petkar's likeable sidekick. Rajpal Yadav and Vijay Raaz add a lot of depth to the story with their presence. For a sports drama, the music could have been far more inspiring though.

Kabir Khan loves to make feel-good cinema and CC (Chandu Champion) falls into that category, too. Be it Salman Khan in Bajrangi Bhaijaan, Ranveer Singh as Kapil Dev in 83 or Kartik as Petkar, he extracts the best out of his mainstream actors. He loves to infuse humour, sports and earnestness into his stories, but he can dig deeper than that. There's more focus on what happened to a person than their inner conflict. Things get monotonous and tiring beyond a point, making the climax less effective. CC is engaging and heartwarming even, but it seems to follow a template. Staying the course is fine, but breaking the rules is not a bad idea.

Two juveniles among six held for robbery of ₹70L in N Delhi

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi Police has apprehended six people, including two juveniles, who were involved in a robbery case of Rs 70 lakh in Naya Bazar.

Police received information that on June 9, complainant Chaggo Mal Pande (76), who works as a cash collection staff at Govind Agency in Naya Bazar, Lahori Gate, was present on the third floor of the office when four individuals entered the premises and robbed him of Rs. 23 lakh in cash. Additionally, another bag containing uncounted cash was also taken away.

"At the time of the robbery, another victim and witness from Kashmere Gate was present, having just collected a payment of Rs. 5 lakh from Chaggo Mal. The robbers also looted this amount," stated the officer.

The owner of the premises, Pawan, who has been in business for the last 20 years, discovered that his nephew Srikumar was the rightful owner of the stolen cash. "Srikumar disclosed the actual amount of money that was stolen. The investigation revealed that the looted sum was approximately between 60 to 70 lakhs," the officer added.

DCP (north) Manoj Meena formed multiple teams to solve the case. Team of eight officers to outstation raids at Mussoorie, Saharanpur and Dehradun whereas other other carried out raids in Delhi. "Finally cops got information about the presence of suspects in Mussoorie. A raid was conducted and three suspects were apprehended," the officer said adding that from their interrogation four more suspects were apprehended from Delhi.

The accused were identified as Chinar Amariya (23), Paras (20), Rohit (20), Sharad (19) and two juveniles.

"Analysis of the CCTV footage to trace out the bikes used in crime and One Bike recovered in Delhi. Use of new phones by the suspects after the crime. Tracking the social media profile and history of the key suspect led the teams to zero in on the cities," the officer said.

'Consumer can claim refund even after being offered possession in a delayed project'

Dipak.Dash
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: National consumer forum has ordered a Delhi-based builder to refund Rs 1.4 crore with 12% interest to an aggrieved homebuyer for offering to deliver possession of an "incomplete" flat one year after the promised date.

Gurgaon-based Rameswar Dayal Gupta signed an Apartment Buyer's Agreement (ABA) with Almond Infrabuild Ltd on Oct 29, 2013, for a flat, making an initial payment of Rs 16.4 lakh.

"The payment in terms of this order shall be paid within two months from today, failing which, the amount payable at the end of two months from the date of this order, shall carry interest @15% from the expiry of two months from date of this order till the actual date of payment," National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission (NCDRC) single-member bench of Inderjit Singh ordered.

The builder assured possession by Apr 2017 but failed to meet the deadline. After paying Rs 48.6 lakh by Aug 23, 2014, Gupta discovered a high-tension line passing through the tower of his booked flat.

Despite the builder's assurance that the line would be laid underground later, it didn't happen, leading Gupta to demand a refund.

The builder then proposed an alternative flat in a new tower, signing a new ABA with Gupta in Feb 2015, and promising handover by Aug 2018. However, it failed to fulfill this commitment, prompting Gupta to purchase a flat in Bangalore.

Almond Infrabuild offered possession of the incomplete flat in Aug 2019, demanding Rs 18.3 lakh, which Gupta refused, seeking a refund instead.

Gupta then sought relief from the national consumer forum, which was objected by the builder.

NCDRC rejected the builder's arguments against Gupta's claims, asserting that an aggrieved buyer can seek a full refund of payment with 12% interest and terminate the contract in case of possession delay as per the ABA.

The commission ordered the builder to refund the entire principal amount of Rs 1.4 crore to the complainant, along with 12% interest and Rs 25,000 as litigation costs to the buyer, with the refund to be used first to repay any outstanding bank loans.

MCD forms task force to control malaria

New Delhi: The MCD has roped in various agencies, including PWD, police, ASI and Delhi metro, to prevent vector-borne diseases in Delhi ahead of the monsoon season. As per the MCD's action plan for 2024-25, the civic body has readied anti-larval measures to spread awareness about malaria and dengue. TNN

Day after 'solid waste exigency' declared, garbage on Ggn roads

Vishakha.Chaman
@timesgroup.com

Gurgaon: Govt's declaration of a 'solid waste exigency' in the city didn't quite see the response on war-footing a day after it was invoked under the Disaster Management Act.

In areas such as Southern Peripheral Road, Golf Course Road Extension, Jharsa, Sikanderpur and Sadar Bazar, waste dumps remained as they were.

A large section of Gurdwara Road, the same spot where former CM Manohar Lal Khattar had pulled up MCG officials over sanitation in Dec 2023, was covered in garbage of all kinds -- plastic, horticulture, wet waste and so on.

In Jharsa, rancid odour from accumulated waste filled the air. Though the area has a secondary waste collection site, garbage that is collected and dumped there is not removed regularly.

"The corporation's vehicles collect waste, but the volume is so much that this dumpyard is never cleared," said Pankaj Kumar Yadav, a street vendor who sells samosa in a nearby market.

Ruchika Sethi Takkar, an environmentalist and founder of citizens' initiative 'Why Waste Your Waste', said she has seen even biomedical waste being dumped at the Jharsa collection point.

"The situation calls for a more comprehensive approach to waste management to effectively tackle the issue," she said.

As part of the declaration, Haryana govt on Wednesday formed a six-member committee to implement the Solid Waste Environment Exigency Programme (SWEEP) in the city. The main role of this committee is to establish a three-tier system for waste management – collection and segregation, transportation, processing and disposal.

Apart from this, the panel has to identify infrastructure gaps and work on addressing complaints by residents. A 24x7 control room with a dedicated helpline was activated on Thursday.

SECURED TIGHT: The police station where actor Darshan and others are kept in custody in Bengaluru on Thursday

Bengaluru: As more details of the Renuka Swamy murder case come to light, police and political circles are abuzz with talk of a state minister's alleged efforts to shield Sandalwood star Darshan, one of the accused, from the long arm of the law.

Reacting to reports of the police force coming under pressure in the murder probe, home minister G Parameshwara told mediapersons on Thursday: "No one has tried to influence us. Law will take its own course."

Sources said the minister in question was the first person to have been alerted by Darshan's aides when the star was picked up by the police from a Mysuru hotel on Tuesday morning.

Fearing that his "celebrity friend" would be charged with murder, the minister made frantic calls to police officers, the state home minister, and even to CM Siddaramaiah's office.

When his desperate knockings on behalf of the star didn't elicit a response from any quarter, the minister rushed to meet Parameshwara at the latter's residence in Sadashivanagar.

The minister wanted a verbal order issued to Bengaluru police to let Darshan go. However, much to his disappointment, the home minister told him that the law would take its own course and cut short the conversation.

By then, news of Darshan's detention was all over television news channels and the police brass made it clear that they were duty-bound to get to the bottom of the case.

Meanwhile, other "well-wishers" of the actor, including a BJP MLA, tried to contact senior police officers in an attempt to dilute the charges against the actor.

Haemorrhage, shock killed man: Autopsy

Bengaluru: S Renuka Swamy, bore 15 injuries and died of shock and haemorrhage, a post-mortem examination has revealed, report Rajiv Kalkod & Santosh Kumar. The 34-year-old died due to internal bleeding caused by injuries to the head and other parts, according to the autopsy conducted at Victoria Hospital.

Swamy was thrashed multiple times for four hours on Saturday afternoon in a seized-vehicle parking yard, police sources said. "The groin was attacked. There was bleeding in the abdomen. There was a strong blow to the head, while his other parts bled," a hospital source said.

Soon after getting the report on Thursday, a police team seized a mini truck. The vehicle had earlier been seized by a bank for defaulting on EMIs and was parked in the yard. The truck was then taken to the police station for further investigation. Police have seized from the shed wooden logs, a leather belt and a rope that were allegedly used to fatally torture Swamy.

Mumbai doc finds part of human finger in ice cream cone made by Ghaziabad co

Mumbai: A Malad-based doctor found a portion of a human finger inside an ice cream that he had ordered online on Wednesday. Malad police sent the finger for a forensic examination and filed an FIR against the managerial staff for the ice cream brand, Yummo, on Thursday.

Brendan Ferrao, the 26-year-old complainant, told police that he and his sister had ordered three Yummo mango ice creams through the Zepto app . The order was delivered to their residence around 10.10 am. But instead of three mango ice creams, the delivery man brought two mango and one butterscotch ice cream, which was not as per the order.

After lunch, Ferrao opened the butterscotch ice cream cone. While eating, he felt something odd in his mouth. On spitting it out, he found that it was a portion of a human finger with a fingernail on it.

Ferrao told mediapersons that he was traumatised and felt like throwing up. He complained to Yummo ice creams via Instagram. A customer care executive soon called him. Ferrao told him that he had found a human finger in the ice cream. The customer care executive asked him to send the order details and a picture of the information on the ice cream pack.

After having lunch, the complainant, Brendan Ferrao, opened the butterscotch ice cream cone. While eating, he felt something odd in his mouth. On spitting it out, he found that it was a portion of a human finger with a fingernail on it

Ferrao did as instructed and his family received a call from the customer care wing about 10-12 minutes later, stating that they would look into the issue. But there was no response thereafter. "I preserved the finger in ice and brought it to Malad police station along with the wrapper," Ferrao told mediapersons. The wrapper had manufacturing date as May 11, 2024, and expiry date as May 10, 2025. The product was made by Laxmi Ice Creams Pvt Ltd in Ghaziabad.

The Yummo spokesperson said, "We have stopped manufacturing at this third-party manufacturing facility. We have isolated the said product at the facility, our warehouses and are in the process of doing the same at the market level. We are a law-abiding company and shall fully cooperate and support the authorities to investigate the matter thoroughly."

Police said there was a possibility of contamination during packaging. "An FIR has been registered under sections 272 (adulteration of food intended for sale), 273 (sale of noxious food) and 336 (endangering life or personal safety of others) of IPC against people responsible from Yummo," said DCP Anand Bhoite.

"We have sent the finger to the state forensic science laboratory for a forensic examination. We will make inquiries at the factory where the ice cream was manufactured and with company officials," said senior inspector Ravi Adane.

"If it is a human finger, experts may be able to ascertain the age of the person if there are some bones and not just ligaments," said civic-run Cooper Hospital dean Dr Shailesh Mohite, a forensic specialist. "They may be able to ascertain the person's gender," he added.

Plastic surgeon Dr Nilesh Satbhai from Global Hospital said even if the digit was well-preserved (as it was in freezing temperature used to store ice creams), it is unlikely it can be reattached. "We don't know the timeline of the accident. Moreover, the part has been through multiple processes and could have been exposed to contaminants, thus rendering it unviable," he added.

Sikkim CM wife quits day after taking MLA oath

Gangtok: Sikkim chief minister Prem Singh Tamang's wife Krishna Kumari Rai on Thursday quit as an MLA, a day after taking oath, according to an official notification.

The reason behind her sudden decision is not yet known. She had won from the Namchi-Singhithang seat in the recently concluded state polls, defeating Sikkim Democratic Front candidate Bimal Rai.

Speaker M N Sherpa has accepted the resignation, Sikkim Legislative Assembly secretary Lalit Kumar Gurung said.

Neither the CM's wife nor the SKM leadership could be contacted for comments regarding the development.

CM Tamang is currently in Arunachal Pradesh to attend swearing-in ceremony of his counterpart Pema Khandu. PTI

Prosecute Nestle for Cerelac 'scam', NGOs tell Swiss govt

Rupali.Mukherjee
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Food giant Nestle India is in spotlight again over its widely-sold baby food Cerelac. Global civil society organisations, Public Eye and IBFAN, have submitted a formal request to the Swiss State Secretariat for Economic Affairs (SECO), urging legal action against Nestle "unethical and unfair business practices" in low- and middle-income countries.

Accusing the Swiss major of "double standards", the NGOs had in April said the company's two best-selling baby food brands sold in developing countries, including India, have a high content of added sugar, which is prohibited under WHO guidelines. Nestle's misleading and aggressive marketing and its double standard over added sugar are unfair business practices that affect hundreds of thousands of people in poor countries, they said. The cessation of unethical practices is important not only to protect children, but also the reputation of Nestle's home country, they said.

When contacted, a Nestle India spokesperson said: "We understand that the authorities are conducting analysis of infant cereals and infant formulas sold by all companies in the country." It maintained its commitment to compliance and highlighted a reduction in sugar content by up to 30% in its baby food products in India over the past five years.

In April, days after the issue became public, Nestle India's chairman and managing director Suresh Narayanan had said Cerelac complied with local food norms, saying added sugars in the baby food are much lower than what India's food regulator permits.

The food giant controls 20% of the baby food market, valued at nearly $70 billion. With over $2.5 billion in global sales in 2022, Cerelac and Nido are some of Nestle's best-selling baby food brands in low- and middle-income countries.

11 sambars die within days in Ranthambore

Jaipur: A naturalist spotted three dead sambars (deer) floating in a lake of Ranthambore National Park on Wednesday, two days after eight carcasses were found in another zone of the Rajasthan reserve amid fears the deaths have been caused by life-sapping heat, reports Ajay Singh Ugras.

The park has around 500 sambars, a protected species under Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972, and classified as "vulnerable" on International Union for Conservation of Nature's Red List. TOI attempted to contact the park's field director, Anup KR, and sent him a message but drew a blank, deepening the mystery about the exact cause of the deaths.

Daulat Shaktawat, a retired forester, said: "The heat has been excessive this season. It is possible the sambars died of dehydration. They walk long distances to reach ponds. There have been instances of some dying after drinking water. In such cases, the animals mainly die because of weakness."

Return to petitioners ₹76L lost in cyber fraud, HC tells Bank of Baroda

Mumbai: Observing that a case before it was an example of how innocent persons are becoming victims of cyber fraud, Bombay HC on Thursday relied on a July 2017 RBI circular and directed Bank of Baroda to return to a company Rs 76 lakh it had lost to an online fraud.

The division bench of Justices Girish Kulkarni and F P Pooniwalla held that both the RBI circular and the bank's policy say if a customer reports a fraudulent online transaction in three working days, a customer has zero liability. "When the unauthorised transactions occur due to a third-party breach where the deficiency lies neither with the bank nor with the customer but elsewhere in the system and the customer notifies the bank regarding the unauthorised transactions within a certain time frame," HC said. Hence, the petitioners' liability would be zero as three cyber cell reports noted that the deficiency lay neither with BoB nor with the account holders —the petitioners and petitioners entitled to refund, HC noted.

HC said bank had framed its own consumer protection policy. It placed zero liability on customers who report a fraudulent e-transaction within three working days of receiving the communication, but 100% liability if it is reported beyond seven working days.

High court order is rare, said the company's lawyer Siddhesh Bhole.

Blast at Nagpur explosives unit kills 6 people

Dhamna/Nagpur: Six persons, including five women employees, were trapped in a ball of fire and charred to death after a devastating explosion tore apart Chamundi Explosives Ltd in Dhamna, 25km off Nagpur on Thursday, reports Soumitra Bose.

While rescue operations were delayed, factory personnel couldn't venture into the smoke-filled death trap, where dismembered body parts were found in metal wreckage when the fire was finally doused.

Three other employees are battling for life at different hospitals in Nagpur. A preliminary probe stated sparks from the explosive sealing section had triggered the blast.

Maharashtra deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis declared Rs 5 lakh compensation to kin of the deceased, but the unit's management was yet to announce relief to victims' kin.

The unit, which manufactures safety fuses, gun powder, firecrackers and detonators is located on Amravati highway.

NCP picks Ajit wife for RS, leaves some MLAs upset

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Mumbai: A week after her defeat in Lok Sabha polls, NCP president and Maharashtra deputy CM Ajit Pawar's wife Sunetra filed her nomination for the Rajya Sabha seat left vacant by Praful Patel's resignation on February 14, ahead of his term expiring. Patel, who is NCP working president, was re-elected to RS on Feb 27 against another vacancy.

Since there's only one candidate from the state, Sunetra will be elected unopposed.

Sunetra filed her nomination in the presence of NCP's Ajit Pawar, Praful Patel, Sunil Tatkare and Chhagan Bhujbal. No senior functionary from allies Shiv Sena and BJP was present.

Patel played down the absence of leaders from allied parties saying since it was a by-election, they may have chosen not to be present. According to Patel, the decision to field Sunetra — who was beaten by a margin of 1.58 lakh votes in Baramati by Supriya Sule — was taken at a core group meeting on

No senior functionary of Shinde Sena and BJP was present when Sunetra Pawar filed her papers

Wednesday night attended by Ajit Pawar, Tatkare and Bhujbal. "There was no dispute over the nomination of Sunetra, it was a consensus, and it was a foregone conclusion that she would be elected unopposed,' he said.

However, a section of NCP MLAs expressed dissatisfaction over Sunetra's selection and the sidelining of contenders like Bhujbal. One of them said NCP should have looked for a candidate other than a Pawar family member.

Bhujbal told TOI, "Perhaps my party felt that I am not the right fit for the Rajya Sabha bypoll. I have been loyal to my party and abided by collective decisions. I was present when Sunetra filed her nomination."

State NCP chief Sunil Tatkare said neither Bhujbal nor any other leader was upset. "It was a unanimous decision taken by the core group. The senior leadership makes decisions considering what is good for the party for its future and it will continue to do so," he added.

Priyanka for Wayanad?

New Delhi: A day after Rahul Gandhi said his decision on which LS seat to retain would leave voters in both Wayanad and Rae Bareli happy, Congress circles were speculating if Priyanka Gandhi Vadra would make her entry into electoral politics. There is buzz of Rahul retaining Rae Bareli but sources said no decision had been taken yet. Meanwhile, posters have come up in Wayanad urging Rahul to stay on, but adding that if he had to leave, Priyanka should be his replacement. TNN

Banks can't use LOC to recover debt: HC

A lookout circular (LOC) cannot be used as an "arm twisting tactic" by banks to recover debt, Delhi HC has stressed, reports Abhinav Garg. "This court is of the opinion that after resorting to all the remedies available in law, the bank cannot open a lookout circular as an arm-twisting tactic to recover debt from a person who is otherwise unable to pay," Justice Subramonium Prasad said, in a recent verdict. With these observations, HC quashed an LOC issued against a former director of a company which failed to repay a debt for which he stood guarantee.

Missing considered dead after 7 yrs: HC

Actual death of a missing person can only follow the period of remaining untraced, Punjab & Haryana HC has held in a compassionate employment case. The law presumes and declares a person dead if untraceable for over seven years. "The civil death (date of declaring a missing person dead) would not relate from the date the person was missing but only when the period of seven years has expired," a division bench held in a recent order. Treat transgenders as special bloc: HC

Transgender people should be treated as a special category, irrespective of caste, and extended requisite benefits in education and employment, Madras HC ruled on Thursday while asking the Tamil Nadu govt to direct all recruiting agencies to make and notify this change. "The age relaxation extended to other special categories shall also be extended to them. Transgenders, at no point of time in future, shall be clubbed with male or female," Justice V Bhavani Subbaroyan said. TNN

Rape-murder: 41 yrs on, man gets relief

Calcutta HC acquitted on Wednesday a lawyer named Banamali Chowdhury, who police had charged 41 years ago with raping, strangulating, and burning to death his niece, for which a Bankura court convicted and sentenced him last year to a life term. The HC judgment, granting Chowdhury the benefit of the doubt, discharged him due to inconsistencies and procedural lapses in the investigation. TNN

HC: Not abetment to suicide if hubby kills self after dowry case

A woman cannot be prosecuted for abetment if her husband commits suicide after she files a police complaint of dowry harassment, the MP high court has said, quashing an FIR registered against a wife and her parents.

Why sack small fish? HC calls for top officials' heads in Rajkot fire case: The Gujarat HC expressed dissatisfaction on Thursday with the state govt's action after the Rajkot fire, saying lower-rung officials had been acted against but no measures were taken against those at the top who were actually responsible. While hearing a suo motu PIL on the deaths of 27 people at TRP Game Zone in Rajkot, advocate Amit Panchal drew the court's attention to the suspension of lower-rank officers. The bench of Chief Justice Sunita Agarwal and Justice Pranav Trivedi said, "The officers at the helm of affairs have to be taken to task... the top ones have to go." TNN

Prez notifies Speaker's poll amid suspense over NDA's pick

New Delhi: President Droupadi Murmu on Thursday issued a notification fixing June 26, two days after the first session of the 18th Lok Sabha is scheduled to commence, for the election of LS Speaker amid growing interest about BJP's likely choice for the office.

Incumbent Om Birla won the Lok Sabha polls from Kota once again and speculation that he might be continued with has gathered force since the formation of the Modi 3.0 govt and the PM retaining his CCS picks. BJP, with 240 seats, and allies who bring in another 53 should easily win the test. The speculation that TDP, which has 16 MPs, may seek the Speaker's post as the price for extending support has worn thin after it decided not to leverage its numbers for outsize gains in ministry making. Remains of Kuwait fire's Kerala victims likely to be brought home today

Three men from Uttar Pradesh died in the Kuwait fire on Wednesday. The three have been identified as Praveen Madhav Singh from Varanasi, and Jairam Gupta and Angad Gupta from Gorakhpur district.

The lone victim from Bengal was Medinipur native Dwarikesh Pattanayak. The 52-year-old had postponed his scheduled visit home this April to celebrate his daughter's birthday during Durga Puja. His wife Antara and daughter are in shock after receiving the news from his firm on Thursday. Dwarikesh had been working in Kuwait for two decades.

"He always called home at 8am. On Wednesday, Didi did not receive the call. She called him twice, but he didn't answer. Anxious, she called his friend in Kuwait, who was back home in Kerala and informed us about the fire. We held onto hope, as his name was listed as missing," Dwarikesh's brother-in-law Sayantan Pattanayak said.

An IAF aircraft is on standby to bring home the mortal remains of the Indians. Foreign ministry MoS Kirti Vardhan Singh reached Kuwait Thursday to oversee assistance for the injured Indians and to expedite the process of sending the bodies. The mortal remains of the Kerala victims are expected to be brought to Kochi Friday morning, according to state officials. CM Pinarayi Vijayan and cabinet members will receive the coffins at the airport.

Shareholders who have not claimed their dividend during the period of the last consecutive seven years shall make an application in the format available on the Company's website at www.bharatpetroleum.in to the Company/Company's RTA on or before abovementioned last date(s), so that their shares are not transferred to the IEPF on due date. It may please be noted that if no claim or application is received by the Company or Company's RTA on or before the above dates the company will be compelled to transfer the underlying shares to the IEPF by the due date, without any further notice by following the due process as enumerated in the said Rules. No claim shall lie against the Company in respect of unclaimed dividend(s) and equity shares so transferred to the IEPF.

The concerned shareholders, holding shares in physical form and whose shares are liable to be transferred to IEPF Authority, may note that the Company would be issuing new share certificate(s) in lieu of the original share certificate(s) held by them for the purpose of dematerialisation and transfer of shares to IEPF Authority as per the Rules and upon such issue, the original share certificate(s) which stands registered in their name will stand automatically cancelled and be deemed non-negotiable. In case the concerned shareholders, holding shares in demat form and whose shares are liable to be transferred to IEPF Authority, the company would be transferring such shares by way of corporate action through the depositories to the demat account of IEPF authority established by the Central Govt. The shareholders may further note that the details uploaded by the Company on its website should be regarded as and shall be deemed to be adequate notice in respect of issue of new certificate(s) by the Company for the purpose of transfer of shares to IEPF Authority pursuant to the Rules.

The concerned shareholders are further requested to note that all future benefits arising on such shares would also be transferred to IEPF Authority.

Kindly note that both the unpaid/ unclaimed dividend and the shares transferred to the IEPF Authority including all benefits accruing on such shares, if any, can be claimed back by the respective shareholders from IEPF Authority by submitting an online application in the prescribed e-Form IEPF-5 available on the website of MCA at www.iepf.gov.in and sending physical copy of the same, duly signed, to the Nodal Officer of the Company at the Registered Office address, along with e-form submission acknowledgement/challan and requisite documents enumerated in e-Form IEPF-5.

For any clarification on the matter, Members can write to the Company at the Registered Office or email at ssc@bharatpetroleum.in or to our RTA, Data Software Research Co. Pvt. PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice for Inviting Applications from Third-Party Meter Testing Laboratories for Empanelment

The Delhi Electricity Regulatory Commission, in exercise of powers conferred under the Electricity Act, 2003, has notified the DERC (Supply Code and Performance Standards) Regulations, 2017, which details the obligation of the licensee and consumers vis-à-vis each other and specifies the set of practices that shall be adopted by the licensee to provide efficient, cost-effective and consumer friendly service to the consumers.

To protect interests of consumers, the Commission vide Regulation 32(8) of Delhi Electricity Regulatory Commission (Supply Code and Performance Standards) Regulations, 2017, has provided measures to the consumers to get their electricity meters tested at a third-party facility.

In order to facilitate consumers to be aware of the approved NABL third-party testing laboratories within their jurisdiction and testing fee, the Commission desires to invite applications from such laboratories in Delhi and NCR Region with fee details and other terms and conditions latest by 08.07.2024 for consideration and approval of the empanelled list.

Laboratories that have already received approval from the Commission are also mandated to submit fresh applications for empanelment.

Empanelment would be valid for 2 years or limited to the validity period of NABL certification, whichever is earlier.

Application format is available on the Commission's website.

Now, singing nat'l anthem in morning must in J&K schools

Srinagar: J&K administration has directed all schools to commence morning assemblies with the National Anthem, requiring them to strictly follow a four-year-old norm whose compliance has been erratic, reports Saleem Pandit.

A circular issued by the principal secretary of the school education to this effect also requires morning assemblies to be made uniform across the Union Territory. The order covers private institutions.

"It has been observed that such a significant ritual/tradition is not being carried out uniformly across various schools of JK UT," the circular issued on Wednesday reads.

Department principal secretary Alok Kumar said morning assemblies helped nurture values of moral integrity, shared community and discipline.

The assemblies should be of 20 minutes, beginning with the National Anthem and requiring all students and teachers to gather in a designated area of the school.

The circular lists 16 steps for schools to follow. The school education department has advised schools to invite to their morning assemblies guest speakers, create awareness about environment and caution students against drugs.

Guj HC stays release of OTT movie after Hindu sect's protest

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Ahmedabad: Gujarat HC Thursday restrained OTT platform Netflix from releasing the movie 'Maharaj', which features actor Aamir Khan's son Junaid Khan, based on objections raised by a religious sect called Pushtimarg. The film was to be released on Friday.

Eight members of the Pushtimarg sect, who are devotees of Lord Krishna and followers of Vallabhacharya, approached the HC claiming that the film, allegedly based on the famous Maharaj Libel Case of 1862, is likely to hurt religious sentiments, affect public order and incite violence against followers of the sect and the Hindu religion.

The petitioners contended that the Maharaj Libel Case, which was decided by a court during the British era, castigates the Hindu religion and makes "seriously blasphemous" comments against God and devotional songs and hymns. Their counsel submitted that reference has been made to excerpts from the court's judgment that contains "scandalous and defamatory" language that affects the Pushtimarg sect.

SC halts release of 'anti-Muslim' film

Just a day before controversial film 'Hamare Baarah' was scheduled for public screening, Supreme Court on Thursday stayed it's release till Bombay HC decides petition against the film for allegedly distorting religious text to bring disrepute and defame Islam. TNN

HC relief for KJo over film's name

Bombay HC on Thursday restrained the makers of film 'Shaadi ke director Karan aur Johar' from using the name and referring to personal attributes of film producer and director Karan Johar in its title or in the film. Johar filed a suit against producers IndiaPride Advisory and Sanjay Singh and director Bablu Singh for "using his name without permission to capitalise on his goodwill and reputation." TNN

Justice Sangeeta Vishen issued notice to Netflix, the production company and the authorities concerned, and posted the next hearing for June 18.

Man being taken to CT scan room killed in Guj hosp

Rajkot: Horror unfolded in the govt-run Guru Gobind Singh Hospital in Gujarat's Jamnagar as two persons stormed inside the health facility, grabbed by the hair a 32-year-old man going to the CT scan room, and stabbed him to death shortly after Wednesday midnight, reports Nimesh Khakhariya.

Police said the assailants suspected the victim had informed cops about their illicit activities.

NOTICE

Attention ! Shri Atul Kumar Paliwal, SG/IRTS, Ex. Dy. CCM/DB/PRS/NKG/Eastern Railway

No. SP.264/D&A/AKP/02 Dated : 30.05.2024

Major penalty disciplinary proceedings under Rule 9 of R.S. (D&A), Rules, 1968, have been instituted against Shri Atul Kumar Paliwal, SG/IRTS, Ex. Dy. CCM/DB/PRS/NKG/Eastern Railway, vide charge memorandum dated 18.08.2021, issued by GM/Eastern Railway (DA) on the charges of unauthorized absence w.e.f. 01.07.2010. Prior to issue of the said charge memorandum, numbers of letter were sent to the known address of Shri Atul Kumar Paliwal requesting him for joining to his duty, but he did not resume duty.

The above charge memorandum was sent to the last known address of Shri Atul Kumar Paliwal at Flat No.- 401, Block-18, Kailashdham Society, Sector-50, Noida, by Regd. Post informing him to submit his written statement of defence for DA's consideration. The charge memorandum had duly been received at the said address of Shri Paliwal, but he did not submit any reply on the charge memorandum. Accordingly, the case was remitted to Inquiry by the DA appointing an IO and PO to inquire the charges. During the Inquiry proceedings, the IO had sent numbers of letter to Shri Paliwal requesting him to appear during Inquiry to defend the case, but he did not turn up. Due to continuous absence of Shri Paliwal from appearing before the IO during Inquiry proceedings, the proceedings were held ex-parte as per extant rules and the IO submitted the Inquiry report dated 26.02.2024 holding the charges of unauthorized absence as proved. The DA had provisionally accepted the said Inquiry report and the same was accordingly sent to the said last known address of Shri Paliwal (CO) by Speed Post requesting him to submit his representation/submission, if any, thereon for the consideration of Disciplinary Authority before taking final decision, but the CO did not submit any reply thereon.

Attention of the said Shri Atul Kumar Paliwal (CO) is again drawn to the fact that if he so desires to make any representation or submission on the Inquiry report dated 26.02.2024, he may collect the same from Dy. CPO (Gaz)/Eastern Railway/ Kolkala on any working day within 15 days from the date of publication of this notice. If no response is received within the stipulated period, it will be presumed that he has nothing to represent against the said Inquiry report and the disciplinary action will be taken against him as per extant rules and procedures.

Adani buys Penna Cement from Reddys in ₹10k cr deal

Expansion Spree: Ambuja's 4th M&A After Adani Takeover

Reeba Zachariah & Swati Bharadwaj | TNN

Mumbai/Hyderabad: The Gautam Adani family owned Ambuja Cements is buying Penna Cement Industries in a deal valued at Rs 10,442 crore including debt, expanding its presence in the south. The transaction marks Ambuja's fourth M&A after Adani checked into the sector through the former in Sept 2022.

Hyderabad-based Penna, promoted by P Prathap Reddy and family, has an annual production capacity of 14 million tons (of which 4 million tons is under construction). It also has limestone reserves and captive power plants.

The Penna acquisition, to be financed by internal accruals, will improve Ambuja's share by 8% in south India and comes months after market leader UltraTech Cement ramped up its play in the region by buying Kesoram Industries' building materials units. As of April end, Ambuja had cash of Rs 24,338 crore on its books, having received warrant money of Rs 8,339 crore from the Adani family.

The Penna transaction will help Ambuja and its arms, including ACC and Sanghi Industries, beef up capacity to 89 million tons, moving towards its larger goal of 140 million tons by 2028. UltraTech, owned by Kumar Mangalam Birla, has a capacity of over 150 million tons. In April, India's third-largest player Shree Cement, led by Hari Mohan Bangur, inaugurated a 3-million-ton plant in Andhra Pradesh to bolster its capacity to 56 million tons.

Ambuja previously acquired Gujarat-based Sanghi, My Home's cement unit in Tamil Nadu and Asian Concretes and Cements' plants in Himachal Pradesh and Punjab.

Prathap Reddy had earlier looked at an IPO for his cement business but subsequently changed plans. In Oct 2021, Penna received markets regulator Sebi's nod for a Rs 1,550-crore IPO but did not proceed with it. "Initially we thought (of an IPO) but it got delayed. I have decided to do (away) with (the cement business)," Reddy told TOI.

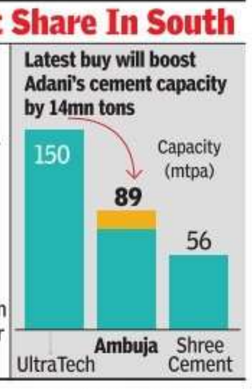
The businessman, known as 'Penna' Reddy in Hyderabad circles, was considered a confidant of former Andhra Pradesh CM YS Jagan Mohan Reddy's father YS Rajasekhara Reddy, the unified Andhra Pradesh CM who died in a chopper crash in Sept 2009. Reddy was made an accused in the Penna chargesheet in the Jagan disproportionate assets case that is being probed by CBI and ED. Jagan's YSR Congress Party lost the recent Andhra assembly polls to Nara Chandrababu Naidu-led Telugu Desam Party.

Incorporated in Oct 1991, Penna had a turnover of Rs 1,241 crore in FY24. In FY22, its turnover was Rs 3,204 crore. In May 2019, Penna had acquired Sri Lanka-based Singha Cement that operates a 0.5 mtpa cement packing terminal in Colombo.

Penna's seven plants in Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Rajasthan (under construction) and limestone reserves "provide an opportunity to increase cement capacity through debottlenecking and additional investment", said Ambuja Cements CEO Ajay Kapur. "Importantly, the bulk cement terminals will prove to be a game-changer by giving access to the eastern and southern parts of peninsular India, apart from an entry to Sri Lanka, through the sea route," Kapur added.

Hyd Buy To Boost Mkt Share In South

- The Penna acquisition will improve Gautam Adani-backed Ambuja's share by 8% in south India and comes months after market leader UltraTech ramped up its play by buying Kesoram's units
- Penna Cement, promoted by P Prathap Reddy, was incorporated in Oct 1991, and had turnover of Rs 1,241 crore in FY24



Fresh trouble for Byju's as NCLT blocks rights issue

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Mumbai: The National Company Law Tribunal in a fresh order directed Byju's to not proceed with the second tranche of $200-million rights issue.

The Bengaluru bench of the NCLT also restrained it from using any funds that have been collected so far since the opening of the issue on May 13. It also directed the troubled edtech company to maintain status quo with regard to existing shareholders and their shareholding. TOI has seen a copy of the order, which was issued on June 12.

The second rights issue is part of the same issue through which the cash-starved company sought to raise $200 million. With certain investors not participating during the first round, the issue was not fully subscribed and hence it was split into two tranches. In the second round, the unsubscribed portion was put up for existing investors to invest on a super pro rata (a provision which allows investors to buy a larger percentage of the company) basis, sources said. Byju's did not comment.

In their petition, a group of Byju's investors have reiterated that due to the siphoning off funds by the startup's management, the company is in "dire straits" and therefore, they should not be allowed to raise further money by going ahead with the second rights issue. Earlier this year, Byju's had launched its $200-million rights issue at a valuation of $225-230 million, a 99% drop from its peak valuation of $22 billion. Byju's had earlier claimed that its rights issue had been fully subscribed.

Asked to quit, Paytm employees cry foul

Say No Prior Notice Being Given, Severance Pay Denied As Well | Co Refutes Allegations

Asmita.Dey @timesgroup.com

Mumbai: "I started crying at the meeting. I told them that I was willing to work even at a lower salary and designation," said a Paytm employee who is staring at an imminent job cut. Executives from the HR department reached out to him over a call late last month, stating that his role would be eliminated as part of an organisational restructuring and asking him to tender his resignation by early June.

Facing an uncertain future in the wake of RBI's decision to put an end to Paytm Payments Bank and the wallet business, scores of employees are being asked to "voluntarily resign" without being given any prior notice, several have been denied severance pay and many are being asked to pay back their joining and retention bonuses to the company, several former and present employees of Paytm told TOI.

The fintech has not furnished any formal communication outlining the restructuring process and the resultant job losses to any of the impacted employees and has warned them against recording any of the HR meetings. "The calls with HRs are being labelled as 'connect' or 'discussion'. There is no formal documentation of any kind," an employee alleged.

A review of a few of Paytm's offer letters showed that the amount of joining and retention bonuses will be "recoverable" by the company if they "leave the employment" before 18 months of taking up the role. In some cases, the same clause applies in cases of termination "for any cause" as well.

For those whose offers letters do not include the termination clause, Paytm's justification is that it is mentioned in their appointment letters which were provided after joining. Employees said that many of them did not receive any appointment letters either via mails or postal deliveries and those who did were never asked to sign the papers and acknowledge.

Some of the employees TOI spoke with alleged that their offer letters do not mention pay back of bonuses in case of termination.

Paytm has refuted the allegations. "We strongly deny allegations pertaining to any forced action on employees or unfair treatment. We have rigorously ensured that our HR teams have informed employees about their termination through official channels only. We further, we would also emphasise that all transitions are duly undertaken as per norms laid out in the appointment letter of these employees. To help them adjust and plan their next move, we are honouring full notice periods of these employees while also extending additional support such as outplacement, and processing of due bonuses at the time of their full and final settlements. Our focus remains on building a leaner organisation that is well-positioned to deliver long-term sustainable growth and value to our stakeholders. We remain committed to supporting our employees during this transition," a company spokesperson said in response to queries from TOI.

A former employee whose services were recently terminated by the company because he refused to resign said Paytm did not furnish an experience letter.

While several employees voluntarily resigned over the past few months, fearing the repercussions of being served with a termination notice, a section of employees are waging a silent battle — they have refused to resign, raised concerns with Paytm's internal employee escalation team and are seeking a "fair exit process".

The impacted employees have also formed a social media group to deliberate and decide on the next course of action. Some of them are consulting lawyers with at least one employee having already filed a complaint with the labour ministry.

If an employee raises a complaint with Paytm's employee escalation team, the company is supposed to investigate the matter and present a report to the employee. An affected employee with the lending team is still awaiting a report to the complaint raised.

"Just two months ago, (founder) Vijay Shekhar Sharma in a townhall had said that no one from the lending team will be laid off. I thought my job was safe," the person said.

Some employees said that layoffs have been happening since Oct "I was abruptly laid off on Jan 5. My finances were strained and I had to take a loan to pay back my bonus of Rs 2 lakh," alleged former staffer Prakher Srivastava.

SEEK FAIR EXIT PROCESS

- Scores of employees are being allegedly asked to 'voluntarily resign' with the co facing an uncertain future following RBI's curbs on Paytm Payments Bank and wallet biz
- The co has not furnished any formal communication outlining the rejig process and the resultant job losses, employees allege
- A review of offer letters showed the amount of joining & retention bonuses will be 'recoverable' by co if they 'leave the employment' within 18 mths of taking up role

> We strongly deny allegations pertaining to any forced action on employees or unfair treatment. We have rigorously ensured that our HR teams have informed employees about their termination through official channels only — Paytm's statement

Sensex hits new high as inflation dips

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Mumbai: Buoyed by lower inflation data in India and the US, leading domestic indices hit new all-time highs in intraday trades on Thursday and after a steady session both closed higher. However, a hawkish tone of the chief of the US central bank left some investors cautious, market players said.

On Thursday, the sensex opened higher and touched a new life-high at 77,145 points and closed at 76,811, up 204 points on the day. On NSE, Nifty recorded a new all-time high at 23,481 points and closed at 23,399, up 76 points.

According to Siddhartha Khemka of Motilal Oswal Financial Services, lower inflation data in India and the US helped the market touch yet another new high. "Further, though the US Fed kept interest rates unchanged and the tone was hawkish, but (its chief) did hint at one rate cut towards the end of the year. (Hence) the broader market gained with buying interest seen in capital goods, consumer durables, defence, ship building and sugar stocks." The day's gains in the leading indices came despite net selling by foreign and domestic institutions.

'Merc to invest ₹3k cr in Maha'

Mumbai: German luxury carmaker Mercedes-Benz will invest Rs 3,000 crore in Maharashtra, state industries minister Uday Samant said on Thursday. In a post on X, Samant said while on a tour of Germany, he met top executives of Mercedes-Benz on Thursday and discussed investment opportunities. "This will help create employment opportunities," he said. AGENCIES

Voda Idea to issue shares to clear Nokia, Ericsson dues

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Debt-ridden telecom operator Vodafone Idea (VIL) will allocate shares worth Rs 2,458 crore to key infra vendors — Nokia and Ericsson — to clear partial dues.

VIL's board cleared the allotment of shares on a preferential basis at about 35% higher price compared to the follow-on offer price, and this comes with a lock-in of 6 months, the company said in a regulatory filing.

"The Board approved preferential allotment of about 166 crore equity shares of face value of Rs 10 each, at an issue price of Rs 14.8 per share, for an aggregate consideration of up to Rs 2,458 crore, to... Nokia Solutions and Networks India and Ericsson India," the filing said.

Nokia and Ericsson will participate for up to Rs 1,520 crore and Rs 938 crore respectively, subject to approval by VIL shareholders at the EGM to be held on July 10.

"Nokia and Ericsson both have a long-term partnership with VIL, as key suppliers of network equipment, and this preferential allotment will enable VIL to clear part of their outstanding dues," the filing said.

Post this preferential issuance, the shareholding of Nokia and Ericsson in the company will be 1.5% and 0.9%, respectively.

The cumulative shareholding of VIL promoters — Aditya Birla Group and Vodafone — will stand at 37.3%, while govt's shareholding will come down to 23.2% and the balance 37.1% will be public shareholding.

Earlier, VIL has issued Rs 1,600 crore worth optionally convertible debentures (OCDs) to mobile tower vendor ATC, out of which the tower vendor has picked stake worth Rs 1,440 crore in the debt-ridden telecom operator.

With this equity issuance, VIL has raised around Rs 24,000 crore of equity comprising OCDs issued to ATC India, Rs 18,000 crore FPO issue in April and preferential issue to promoters in May.

₹2,458CR SETTLEMENT

- Nokia and Ericsson will participate for up to ₹1,520 crore and ₹938 crore respectively in preferential allotment of shares in Vodafone Idea (VIL)
- They will have a lock-in of 6 months
- Post issuance, shareholding of Nokia and Ericsson in VIL will be 1.5% and 0.9%, respectively

Mondelez to bring Biscoff to India with Lotus tie-up

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: US snacking biggie Mondelez International has partnered Belgian biscuit manufacturer Lotus Bakeries to make, market and distribute the latter's flagship Biscoff brand in India.

The companies will also develop new chocolate products, combining the caramelised, crunchy Biscoff taste and texture with Mondelez's Cadbury, Milka and other key chocolate brands in Europe, with the option to expand globally, said a statement. This partnership provides opportunities to accelerate their growth ambitions in the attractive cookie and chocolate categories, with potential options to expand into additional markets and/or adjacent segments.

'THE AIRLINE COOKIE'

The move will help Mondelez to widen its portfolio in the premium cookie segment in the growing Rs 45,000-crore biscuit market, dominated by Britannia, Parle and ITC. At present, Biscoff is imported in the country and has a premium price tag.

'Want to make air travel accessible to everyone'

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: High airfares are top on the mind of Ram Mohan Naidu, the TDP MP from Andhra Pradesh who took over as civil aviation minister on Thursday. He said rising fares pose a challenge to the common man.

"Govt's goal is to make air travel accessible to everyone, and this can only be achieved if it becomes more affordable. Since the time I have been announced as aviation minister wherever I go, people have been mentioning prices have somehow increased over the last few years, especially after Covid. I need a thorough understanding of the issue, so, I am going to sit with the stakeholders," Naidu, the youngest Cabinet minister at 36, told reporters. "I am going to hold review meetings. Definitely, my intention would be to bring down (ticket) prices because that is a challenge for the common man. Our intention is to take air travel to the common man, unless you make it affordable, it is not going to happen," said Naidu.

Airfares have been high due to a serious demand-supply mismatch. While demand for air travel has touched new highs post Covid, almost 80 IndiGo planes are grounded due to Pratt & Whitney engine issues; Go-Air stopped flying last May; SpiceJet is operating lesser flights due to fund crunch and both Boeing and Airbus are not able to deliver new planes to Air India Group, IndiGo and Akasa at expected rate due to global supply chain crunch.

Son of senior TDP leader and former Union minister Yerran Naidu, Ram Mohan has been representing Srikakulam since 2014.

Tesla investors set to OK Musk's $56bn pay package

Tesla shareholders were set to approve Elon Musk's $56 billion pay package in what is being seen as a thumbs-up to his leadership — and an enticement for keeping his focus on the electric vehicle maker.

Musk posted a chart on his social media platform X late Wednesday that showed the resolution - and another vote to move the company's legal home to Texas—were set to pass by wide margins, though shareholders are allowed to change their vote up to the start of the annual meeting.

A person familiar with the preliminary voting tally confirmed that Musk posted an accurate count of the figures. "Thanks for your support!" Musk said.

The Tesla CEO could still face a long legal fight to convince a Delaware judge who invalidated the package in January, describing it as "unfathomable". He may also face fresh lawsuits over Thursday's vote on the package, which dates from 2018 and would be the largest in US corporate history.

Shareholder approval would serve as both an endorsement of Musk's tenure and an acknowledgment that investors don't want to risk the company's future. Tesla's share price has dropped about 60% from its 2021 peak as EV sales have slowed and Musk's attention has wavered between Tesla and other companies he runs.

"This vindicates Musk and allays some investor concerns around his waning interest in Tesla," said Sandeep Rao, senior researcher at Leverage Shares, which owns Tesla's stock. REUTERS

Why One Of World's Richest Persons Thinks He Deserves 'Unfathomable' Pay

- Musk has sought this pay as a reward for meeting Tesla's market value-linked conditions set in a 2018 vote
- The package comprises of stock options, which allow one to buy a co's shares at a set price after a certain period

Rate rejig may come back on GST Council table

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: The all-powerful GST Council is scheduled to meet on June 22, the first meeting in eight months and the first after the NDA govt returned to office.

While several important issues, including review of the tax on online gaming, pushed by a vocal lobby, may be on the agenda, there may be some fireworks too, given that Opposition-ruled states are sensing a weaker Centre after the latest election mandate. This is despite the scales tilting further in favour of BJP and its allies after the saffron party swept to power in three states ruled by Congress — Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh and Odisha — and its ally TDP regaining control of Andhra Pradesh. With finance ministers from states and UTs in town, Union FM Nirmala Sitharaman will also seek their inputs for next month's Budget.

While the agenda for the meeting is yet to be finalised, there is speculation around rationalisation of rates coming back on the table, an issue on which a group of ministers under then Karnataka CM Basavaraj Bommai had made some recommendations, which were not implemented. Since then Uttar Pradesh finance minister Suresh Khanna has become the chairman of the panel.

"As far as GST is concerned, what we are saying there can be three slabs and there are areas like petroleum real estate that are outside the ambit... be included in the GST," said ITC CMD Sanjiv Puri, the newly elected president of industry chamber CII.

With the indirect tax regime completing seven years in a little over a fortnight, there have been calls to reduce the number of slabs and also rejig the rates, a decision that the Council had postponed.

"The next GST Council meeting comes after a significant interval from the last meeting and will need to take up the keenly awaited rate rationalisation discussion. In addition, a preliminary effort to include low impact petroleum products, such as natural gas, within the GST ambit would be highly beneficial to business. The stability established in GST collections together with the fact that GST changes are outside the Union Budget proposals should provide an impetus to the GST Council in addressing various issues that need to be addressed," said M S Mani, partner at consulting firm Deloitte India.

Industry has cited inverted duty structure, with the final product attracting lower levies, as well as classification problems to seek rationalisation of rates.

"This meeting is expected to address a considerable number of issues. Multiple clarifications are being looked after to including taxability for the online gaming sector before October, taxability of ESOPs, corporate guarantee taxability, and various rate-related clarifications are also anticipated due to recent litigations. Another aspect which most businesses are looking forward to is the new regulations on Input Service Distributor and its implementation date," said Abhishek Jain, indirect tax head and partner at KPMG.

'Consumer mkt driven by youth'

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Mumbai: India's consumer market presents a long-term structural opportunity driven by a young population, a growing middle class, rapid urbanization, increasing disposable incomes, and rising aspirations, said Tata Consumer Products chairman N Chandrasekaran at the company's annual shareholder meet. He added that the company is well-positioned to capitalise on this significant opportunity and unlock value creation opportunities.

Tata Consumer, which started as a tea player, is now among the top 10 FMCG companies in India, with a turnover of Rs 15,200 crore. Its market cap crossed Rs 1 lakh crore in FY 24, a new milestone for it.

Chandrasekaran said the India economy has been growing "very strongly" and the current momentum continues to be high. In FY 24, India's growth rate was 8.2%.

He said the growing middle class will create opportunities "India's middle class is expected to grow from about 30% of the population to 50% by 2030, meaning an additional 300 million people will enter the middle/consuming class, (which is) a huge opportunity." Tata Consumer recently acquired Capital Foods and Organic India to grow its portfolio.

IS AI RESHAPING THE WORLD?

Solving the mysteries of the universe

In Scientists estimate that only 5% of our universe is made of regular matter. The remaining is made up of mysterious substances called dark matter and dark energy, which we know very little about. Imagine if we were able to study even a little more about these substances. Maybe we can understand how to use dark matter to power extremely long space voyages! The possibilities are astronomical.

Generative AI has made the calculations and simulations needed to find those answers significantly faster and within our reach. It can help perform more accurate calculations by aiding prediction tasks based on real or generated synthetic data. Using these tools, we can fill data gaps and turn raw observational data into actionable insights to study various aspects of the universe including the make-up of dark matter.

Generative AI can also be used to design experiments for particle accelerators (machines used for colliding charged particles at near light speed) to provide faster and more powerful predictions about the origins of our universe. Some of these efforts are already underway like IBM's work with CERN to apply time series foundation models for modelling particle collisions.

LAWYERS & AI ARE AN IDEAL FIT

Notorious for using complex language, the field of law is poised to be disrupted by Gen AI

Akhil.George@timesgroup.com

SpotDraft is a software company, it is not a law firm, stresses Shashank Bijapur, co-founder & CEO of SpotDraft. Yet, law is what this Bengaluru and US company is simplifying for multinational firms like Airbnb, Crunchbase and Notion.

In the real world, Shashank notes, legal costs are high. It's something that gets paid by the hour. So how do you do it at scale to reduce costs? How do you do it exactly the way an organisation wants it to get done, according to their rules?"

The answer that SpotDraft came up with initially in 2018, when the company was formed, was to build an AI review tool to help legal teams review NDAs (non-disclosure agreements) faster. "We spent a lot of time training our own models but could never hit economies of scale, with the lack of sufficiently varied data required to train our models," Shashank says.

By the end of 2019, the company had pivoted into building out a CLM – a contract lifecycle management platform – and launched it in 2020. But when GPT-3 was released, Shashank and his co-founders at the company realised that everything had changed. "We could now create the best experience for legal use-cases by leveraging foundational models and adding a layer of proprietary technology."

Now, thanks to advances in Gen AI, and their own proprietary tech and training, SpotDraft's AI-driven contract automation platform helps businesses create, manage, analyse, and collaborate on contracts.

Gen AI tools are getting incessantly better at dealing with complex language, the kind that legal contracts are notorious for. "Managing contractual obligations demands deep expertise in legal language, understanding nuances like `may' vs `might' and `shall' vs `should'. Skilled resources to manage such contracts are expensive, making contract management unaffordable for many companies," says Rishi Agrawal, co-founder & CEO of Teamlease Regtech.

This complexity, Rishi says, is easily managed by Gen AI. "Gen AI can help by composing contracts with minimal resources, ensuring faster, more accurate, and more effective drafting. It can break a contract into manageable tasks, improving drafting, review, and compliance to finer points. With the right input parameters, Gen AI can create a tailor-made contract based on predefined templates. It can also review contracts to identify relevant laws and regulations and flag clauses of significant importance."

Gen AI tools, Rishi says, can also quickly go through large volumes of contracts to extract key data and has the ability to simplify obligations and responsibilities within the contract for ease of understanding.

> We have built an AI-based contract automation platform that helps companies like Airbnb and Crunchbase to reduce the time taken to create contracts and collaborate on them much faster. So instead of days or weeks that it would take to sign the contract off, now the entire process of creating that contract, getting internal approvals, negotiating with the counterparty, and then finally storing them, becomes immediate.

> Shashank Bijapur | COFOUNDER & CEO, SPOTDRAFT

> There are benefits of AI that law firms have already begun to note. It can help improve efficiency on billing, practice development, providing intelligent market data for business development, improving the general ecosystem for the lawyers from an HR perspective, contact and relationship management etc. It can also be used in multiple ways for client facing work, such as contract drafting, research, dispute resolution among others. The question of client confidentiality remains an overarching concern. This has also prompted law firms to proceed cautiously before implementing AI as a way forward.
> Ranjana Adhikari | PARTNER, INDUSLAW

> Gen AI has shown high efficiency in case law research. Finding precedents for a case involves hours, if not days, of meticulous research. With Gen AI you can locate relevant case laws within moments. However, I know some legal professionals would disagree, saying that Gen AI often gives the wrong case laws. Personally, I think the problem isn't with the technology itself but with how we interact with it. If there's a disconnect between what we need and what we ask the AI to do, it's no surprise that we get the wrong answers.
> Shivani Singh | SENIOR MANAGER, ALTERNIS ITA LEGAL PARTNERS

AI learns from the information that is made available to it and through the tuning that happens as you continue to use it. While it can correlate areas that may be potentially missed by humans, it can have far reaching implications if it learns from incorrect data sets. We have already seen instances of this globally. We use AI in our investigative and discovery work and can say from experience that several iterations of tuning are required, and once done, efficiencies of up to 30% were achieved.

Jayant Saran | PARTNER, DELOITTE INDIA

Though a large part of the work of a legal professional depends on the correct interpretation of the provisions of a contract or an Act and applying human judgement to arrive at a logical conclusion, a significantly larger part of legal work also involves repetitive, mundane, clerical tasks that are seen as burdensome. It is the latter aspect in which Gen AI can play a significant role today. Gen AI can generate basic contract drafts, provide analytical data and insights from a contract, compare multiple versions, etc. It can simplify a legal professional's work to a great extent.

Anuradha Sharma | HEAD LEGAL AND COMPANY SECRETARY, COLRUYT GROUP INDIA

> GenAI is very effective in identifying the changes made in any contract terms and conditions by the party either in an old version or a newer one. It also facilitates quick solutions while drafting cases, format or appeals that will take hours otherwise. Additionally, GenAI can extract specific clauses from contracts and can create initial templates.

PLENTY OF CHALLENGES

There are, however, multiple challenges in deploying these tools in a field as sensitive to mistakes and privacy as law. Aadya Misra, counsel at Spice Route Legal, says that accuracy is a big concern. "AI hallucinations can significantly impact legal advice and strategy if not identified and culled."

A related problem is the accuracy of data sources, he says. "Notifications, rules, regulations, guidance, and circulars form the bedrock of legal advice – together with the actual laws and rules. In India, these `supplements' to existing laws are haphazardly organised among various government and public sources. There is no guarantee that Gen AI training sources account for these aspects. In the absence of an efficiently digitised government database across all ministries and regulators, it's unlikely that the training sources will be up to date."

Another major issue is privacy, says Siddharth Chandrashekhar, lawyer and counsel for the Bombay High Court. "AI tools often require access to sensitive client data, raising concerns about maintaining confidentiality and ensuring compliance with data protection laws. We must also remember that AI uses machine learning. This means that sensitive client data could be stored for future reference to train the AI algorithm."

LAWYER+AI

So, legal jobs are nowhere close to going away. Anandita Sen, DGM of corporate legal at L&T, says it's also worth understanding that a large portion of legal work includes tasks like interaction with businesses and clients, development of strategy, drafting of innovative solutions and contracts to address specific problems and risks, negotiation and advocacy, and so on – none of which can be replaced by AI-powered tools.

SpotDraft's Shashank says he does not see a world where lawyers will lose a job to AI. But, he says, a lawyer is definitely going to lose their job to a lawyer with AI.

How enterprises can get the best out of AI solutions

START WITH A DATA STRATEGY

> The cost of a recommendation going wrong in a Netflix is not as high as the cost of a recommendation going wrong in an enterprise. That is where the prescriptiveness, the accuracy really matters. And for that, an enterprise needs to come out with an AI strategy that is unique, differentiated, nuanced, and absolutely internal to the organisation.
> Prinkan Pal | FOUNDER, LEGOAI

> Any organisation starting off the journey of AI strategy must start off with their strategy grounded on the data strategy. If they don't have a data strategy, they're not really collecting the right data, they're not organising appropriately, they're not even starting it appropriately.
> Gaurav Makkar | ENGINEERING DIRECTOR, NETAPP

> AI is a marathon, not a 100 metre sprint. Many of the organisations in the midst of the FOMO factor are losing the essence of building the foundational intelligence required, which is nothing but the platform, the tooling and plumbing. If that foundation of datasets and engineering is not solid, the right AI engines will not fire.
> Sameer Dhanrajani | CEO, AIQRATE & 3AI

Sujit.John@timesgroup.com

Some hedge funds and PE/VC firms are making algorithms sit in the boardrooms, taking decisions on behalf of the board, or along with the board, says Sameer Dhanrajani, founder of consultancy AIQRATE and networking platform 3AI. That, he says, is thanks to AI machines crunching decades of data.

But getting there, he says, requires a lot of effort, and will be a long-drawn one. A marathon, he calls it.

Given the excitement surrounding AI, enterprises are seen to be either stunned by its advance and unable to decide what direction to take, or rushing into it and making investments that are not delivering the results they expect. What's the best way forward? That was what we discussed the other day in a panel that included Sameer, Gaurav Makkar, engineering director at NetApp, and Prinkan Pal, founder of gen AI-powered analytics platform LegoAI.

Prinkan says it's absolutely critical for enterprises to start off with developing an AI strategy that is unique to it. He says organisations must understand the specific business areas they need AI to provide insights and predictions in, and then go about collecting and organising the data required, and building the models. "The business requirement needs to get translated into something we call as analytical requirement, which then gets translated into an analytical solution. And then it gets translated into a final business solution, which is that automated solution that can be consumed by a non-technical business user," he says.

Data is at the root of this. Gaurav notes digital transformation of operations is the first step towards collecting data. And once that data is collected, it needs to be organised in a way that analytical tools can be applied to it. Organising that data itself can be a humongous task. Data is of different kinds, including text, video, image. Each piece of data contains other information. A video, Gaurav says, is the core data. But then there is the metadata that describes things like where the video was taken, its level of resolution. And then there's telemetry data – how long did a user play that video, did they press forward on that video, did they return to the video some days later.

"Different organisations play with each of these classes of data differently. A person in the sales organisation may be interested in how interactive the content is. Someone else may be keen to cache videos that are used more frequently. Someone may find the metadata showing people are playing on low-resolution devices, in which case there's no reason to create a 4k video," Gaurav says.

To make such decisions, you need to annotate the data, and today there are auto-annotating tools that are available that can analyse the content and understand what it is. "And then you link the data up, and the more you link up data, it becomes a source of intelligence," Gaurav says.

In the enterprise context, Prinkan says, another element that needs a lot of thinking through is around security, compliance, and governance. Gaurav too underscores that. "Data can have privacy sensitive information. Should I be sending this data outside a certain domain? Who should handle this data? Ethics comes in," he says.

Getting people in an organisation to adopt a solution too can be challenging, because of scepticism or fear of job loss. "Which is where I think human and AI intelligence have to work together to give desired results. Just producing glamorous AI systems will not work," Sameer says.

AI is not just a computer science subject anymore

Akhil.George@timesgroup.com

AI should not be considered just a computer science subject anymore, instead it should be taught to students and professionals in every field, says Arnab Bhattacharya, professor of computer science and engineering at IIT Kanpur.

Arnab, who did his PhD in computer science from the University of California in Santa Barbara, says Gen AI is everywhere now and that all educational fields must change in response to it.

"Just like we teach Programming 101 to everybody, AI 101 should be taught to everybody. Everyone need not know the mathematical details, but what AI can and cannot do should be known by everyone now. It is very, very important."

> In time, AI will take over more and more jobs, even skilled jobs. In programming, it may not replace the best coders, but it will replace average coders. Averages will be taken over by AI. That's my sense of the future. You will have to be very good at whatever you do.
> Arnab Bhattacharya | PROFESSOR, COMPUTER SCIENCE & ENGINEERING, IIT KANPUR

HEAR THE PROF

Arnab points out that AI is already being used extensively in most engineering fields, and engineers in crucial fields like civil, mechanical, and chemical engineering need to understand that using AI systems that are black boxes can have serious consequences.

"What's going on inside the AI system? What is the integrity of the data? How much bias is there? Can you believe the output? How much can you believe? How much is explainable? These are the things that a person who is applying AI, or influencing some policy on AI, should know." He says there's no threat of job losses from AI in the immediate future, because right now the world is riding the rising wave of AI. "But once it stabilises and saturates, then AI will take over more and more jobs, even skilled jobs," he says.

However, this period of flux that AI is ushering in will also elevate certain job profiles and skills, and create many that didn't exist previously. "Take for example data. AI is very much data dependent. So, understanding the domain of data is extremely important. If you want to understand data, if you want to know which features to look at, which features to engineer, which features to avoid, what is going on in the data, all of that requires deep domain knowledge, that is a skill that needs to be developed," he says.

WHAT TO STUDY

Computer science students looking to specialise in AI, Arnab says, should do it deeply. "When I say deeply, I mean both in terms of the technical aspects – like what goes on inside neural networks, how to program them, what exactly fine-tuning means, what a tokenizer is exactly supposed to do, etc – and also the social science part of it."

The social science part includes areas like AI bias, AI ethics, fairness, etc, all of which are expected to have an outsized effect on the field.

General computer science students, Arnab says, need not focus on the technical aspects of AI but should still not ignore the social science aspects of it. "They need to know how AI can affect things." They should also focus, he says, on being proficient in programming languages and ensuring mediocrity is kept at bay, because that leaves them susceptible to being replaced by AI.

WINNERS OF AI IMAGE CONTEST

We had asked our readers to generate images with the help of AI on what they thought co-living with robots would look like. And we asked them to be really creative. Here are the winners, their winning images, and the prompts they used

Safal Mutha | PUNE
Create a heartwarming scene in a futuristic care home where robots provide compassionate care to the elderly. Imagine robots assisting with mobility, engaging residents in stimulating activities, and offering companionship. The image should capture moments of genuine connection, showcasing the positive impact of robots in enhancing the quality of life for seniors

Akash Dey | BENGALURU
Generate a wide-angle high-quality image for a common room/ chilling area of a co-living PG where some humans and robots are playing together and some are eating together happily. The name of the PG is 'Hu-Bot Co Living PG' and it should be clearly and accurately mentioned in the image

Himanshu Chhabra | DELHI
A film still of a robotic arm conducting an orchestra alongside an Indian human conductor in a realistic setting

Aryan Ghatak | KOLKATA
Robotic chefs helping humans in the kitchen in the future, realistic image

Afreen Bulsara | MUMBAI
Imagine a small cute baby cradled by a humanoid robot babysitter. The humanoid is feeding the baby with a milk bottle lovingly and independently. On a separate desk, the baby's mother with a laptop and doing her work. Show both the mother and the humanoid

AI IN-GROUP LINGO

AGENTIC WORKFLOWS MIMIC HUMAN THOUGHT PROCESS

Agentic workflows are a design approach where artificial intelligence systems, particularly large language models, engage in a dynamic, iterative process to improve their performance and outputs. This concept contrasts with traditional non-agentic methods, where an AI provides a single, direct response to a prompt without further interaction or refinement. The essence of agentic workflows lies in their ability to simulate a more human-like process of creation and refinement. For example, in a traditional workflow, an AI might generate a piece of code or a written response in one go. However, in an agentic workflow, the AI would engage in a series of steps that involve generating an initial output, reflecting on it, receiving feedback (either from itself or another AI agent), and then revising the output based on that feedback.

This process can be broken down into several key components:

Reflection: The AI reviews its own work, identifies potential improvements, and iterates on its output.

Tool Use: AI agents are equipped with tools that extend their capabilities, such as web search for fact-checking or code execution environments for testing code snippets.

Planning: The AI breaks down complex tasks into manageable steps and plans out the sequence of actions needed to achieve a goal.

Multi-Agent Collaboration: Multiple AI agents with different roles or expertise collaborate, with one agent generating output and another providing constructive criticism, leading to enhanced results.

Agentic workflows enable AI to produce higher-quality, more accurate, and contextually relevant outputs by mimicking the human process of drafting, reviewing, and revising work. This approach is particularly useful for tasks that require a high degree of accuracy and creativity, such as coding, content creation, and problem-solving.

Securing Kashmir

Terror attacks in J&K part of strategy to disrupt peace. GOI must rise to the challenge & hold assembly polls

Terrorists attacking four places in four days in the Jammu region of J&K have brought back bad memories. It's no coincidence these attacks come at a time when a new govt is taking office in New Delhi – Modi yesterday chaired a J&K security review meeting. Terrorists and their handlers in Pakistan want to send out a clear message: they can disrupt peace in J&K at any given time and that nullification of Article 370 hasn't mitigated the strategic objectives of the Pakistani deep state.

Changing terror tactics | It's clear that terrorists are trying out different tactics to try and outfox security forces. In 2022, targeted killings were their modus operandi. However, since last year, terrorists have reverted to conventional manoeuvres, especially south of the Pir Panjal – an area that has seen relative calm for almost two decades. This will force security forces to once again reorient their strategies.

Threat to normalisation | Terrorists are desperate to undermine the normalisation process and the "naya Kashmir" narrative. This is precisely why the Reasi ambush of a bus carrying pilgrims that killed nine and injured 41 is worrying.Around 2.11cr tourists visited J&K last year – a big win for local tourism. Terrorists want to disrupt these stakeholders in peace.

Plus, the successful conduct of Lok Sabha elections in J&K – the first since nullification of A370 – hasn't gone unnoticed across the border. Terrorist handlers now want to subvert J&K assembly polls, slated to be held by Sep 30. Under no circumstances should GOI and EC cave in. They must hold those polls on time.

Pak factor | GOI needs to be wary of Pakistan too. While Nawaz and Shehbaz Sharif have been sending conciliatory messages, Gen Asim Munir has just aced his biggest test by establishing his choice of govt in Islamabad. He is yet to fully reveal his strategy vis-à-vis J&K. Also, India has quietly made connections with Afghanistan's Taliban amidst problems in Kabul-Islamabad ties. Pakistan's ISI-military complex will see this as a big threat and might have plans to create trouble in J&K as a counter-strategy. GOI must keep its guard up, hold J&K polls, and tighten its security dragnet in the region.

Those Ten Digits

Assigning mobile phone numbers is not costless. Telcos or users should pay for them

Trai's proposal to levy a charge on phone numbers it allocates to telecom companies should go through. Pointing out that phone numbers are an "exceedingly valuable public resource which is not infinite", the regulator is giving telcos the option to pass on the cost to consumers. Telecom has been one of India's success stories. As of March 2024, there were as many as 1.16bn mobile subscribers in India, next only to China. But, as a Trai consultation paper has highlighted, just over 19% of the total numbers (219mn) fall under the 'service suspended pending disconnection' category.

System has its limits | Telcos are holding on to phone numbers with low or zero utilisation, fearing a loss of user base. With SIMs cheap to procure, it is common for consumers to own more numbers than they need. Forgotten amidst this waste of resources, is the reality that there's only so much demand the telecom system can meet. India has a 10-digit series number system. This imposes a limit on the number of connections that can be allotted. For a mobile number is more than just a number. It is formatted in a certain way that syncs with the larger system. And moving to a different series is not easy and would entail problems and costs. It is not for nothing that telcos/consumers are charged for mobile connections in a host of countries around the world.

Demand will only rise | In an age of hyper-connectivity, the pressure on telecom's system capacity can only grow, whether it is from IOT and M2M, or cars and gadgets with chips. There are other costs this imposes on the system. Authorities have a responsibility to keep tabs on how connections are used, especially given the rise in cyber crimes. Charging for phone numbers is particularly justified for 'vanity numbers' telcos auction at high prices. The quantum of the charge Trai has proposed can always be worked out – a 'nominal' fee is what it has in mind. But putting a price on the resource would ensure both telcos and consumers value it more.

Mahatma memories

Like a jack-in-the-box Gandhiji has had a way of popping up for us in the most unexpected places

Jug Suraiya

In 1973, Bunny and I were on a shoestring trip through Europe. In Rome we stayed at the least expensive accommodation we could find, Pensione Katy. Our room could have passed muster as a walk-in closet. The bathroom was down the corridor.

We had our meals at a nearby Tavola Calda – Hot Table – an eatery serving no-frills food at no-frills prices. On our first visit, the waiter asked, Vino? Wine in Italy being as much a part of a meal as food.

Regretfully we shook our heads; our thrifty daily allowance permitting only free tap water. Looking quizzical, the waiter in an admixture of tourist-English, Italian, and the dialect of gesture, enquired where we were from.

When we said India, his eyes lit up in a combination of delight and comprehension. Ah, India! Gandhi! Gandhi! Si, si! he exclaimed, obviously familiar not only with the name of the Sabarmati Sant, but also aware of his principle of temperance.

After that, each time we came in, he would greet us with cries of Gandhi! and bring us a carafe of suitably abstemious water.

jugular*vein*

In 1991 Bunny and I were in Moscow, which was basking in the morning sun of glasnost and perestroika, with Boris Yeltsin having succeeded Mikhail Gorbachev as the country's president.

We went to see a performance of Swan Lake. During the interval Bunny went to the washroom. The venerable lady attendant asked where she was from. When she heard India, her eyes glowed with a rapturous fervour. Gandhi! she said and then, indicating her eyes, in halting English she continued in an awed voice: When I was little girl, these eyes have seen him.

In Buenos Aires in 2001 we were in a restaurant specialising in Argentina's famous steaks. India? said our server, having asked from where we were, Gandhi, yes?

He asked us how we'd liked our steaks, knowing the name but, unlike the Roman waiter, ignorant perhaps of the dietary dos and don'ts of the Mahatma and, by extension, those of his countryfolk.

David Attenborough? Ben Kingsley? Don't ring too many bells.

8%: Why Some Muslims Voted For Modi

A tiny proportion of the community accepted BJP, for different reasons. State-level factors dominated. Labharthi card worked. Class was a determinant as well

Hilal Ahmed

There is a popular argument that Muslims always prefer to support anti-BJP forces, to keep BJP out of govt. This argument has been evoked rather assertively this time to explain the success of INDIA bloc. It is claimed that Muslims decided to do strategic voting to defeat BJP candidates at the constituency level. This explanation is not at all incorrect.

CSDS-Lokniti post-poll survey shows that an overwhelming majority of Muslims at the national level enthusiastically voted for non-BJP parties. It does not mean, however, that BJP did not get Muslim votes.

The survey shows that the party managed to get around 8% of Muslim vote at the national level. This figure is almost insignificant. Yet, there is a need to discover the crucial factors that led a section of Muslims to vote for Modi-led BJP in this election.

There are two very different aspects of BJP's Muslim policy, at least in an electoral sense.

Hindutva's othering function | First, the party does not deviate from its Hindutva-driven narrative of cultural nationalism. In this framework, Muslims are either projected as a problematic entity or they are almost invisibilised to assert nationalism in overtly Hindu terms.

This narrative of cultural nationalism is always invoked to reach out to the core, committed and loyal Hindutva voter. Derogative and anti-Muslim remarks made by a section of senior BJP members during the election campaign are a good example in this regard.

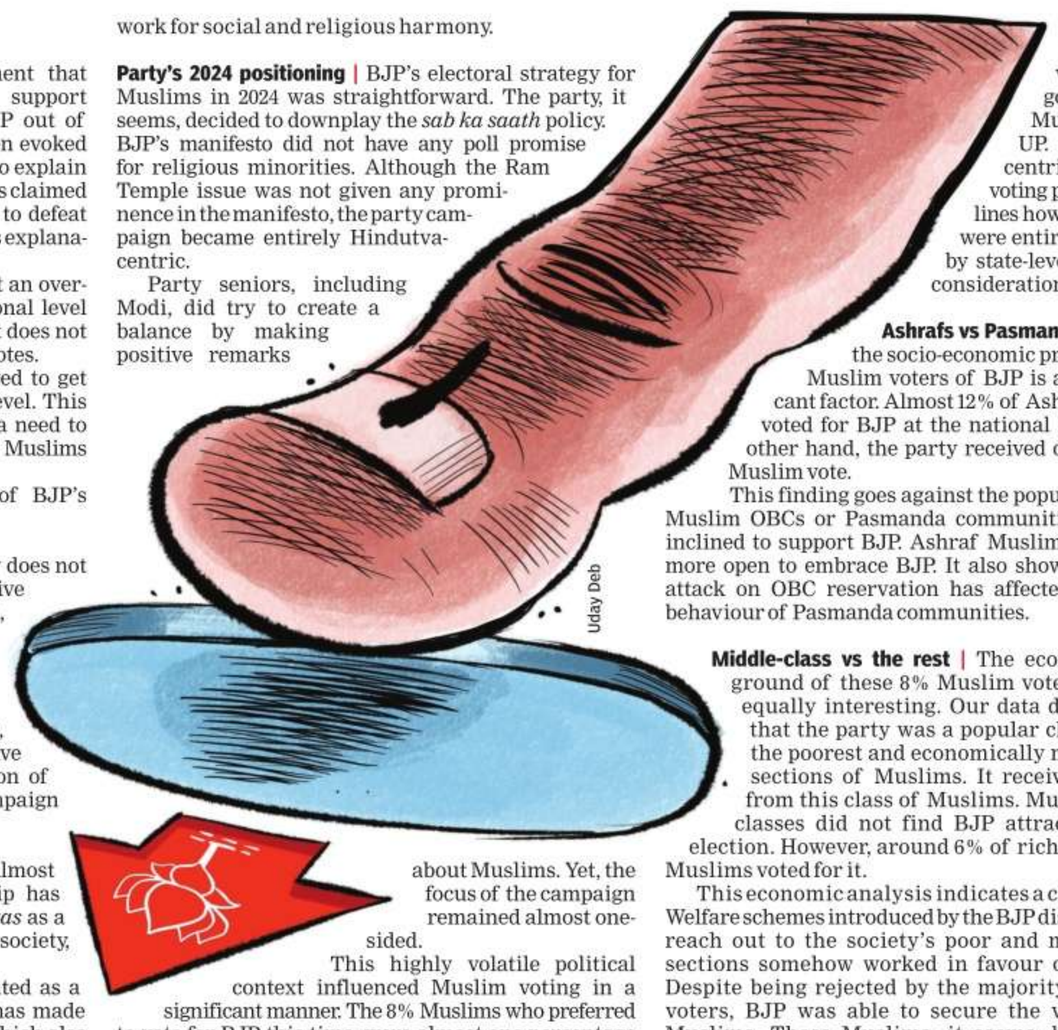
BJP's inclusive campaigning | Secondly, and almost paradoxically, BJP under Modi's leadership has presented the slogan sab ka saath sab ka vikas as a reference point to reach out to all sections of society, including Muslims.

Banning of triple talaq has been presented as a political achievement. Similarly, the party has made efforts to reach out to Pasmanda Muslims, which also supports the claims of its sab ka saath policy.

In fact, an impression has been created that BJP has managed to influence the political choices of Muslim women and Pasmanda groups in its favour. Interestingly, this expression of inclusiveness has certainly helped BJP to satisfy a significant section of its Hindu voters, who expect the party to work for social and religious harmony.

Party's 2024 positioning | BJP's electoral strategy for Muslims in 2024 was straightforward. The party, it seems, decided to downplay the sab ka saath policy. BJP's manifesto did not have any poll promise for religious minorities. Although the Ram Temple issue was not given any prominence in the manifesto, the party campaign became entirely Hindutva-centric.

Party seniors, including Modi, did try to create a balance by making positive remarks about Muslims. Yet, the focus of the campaign remained almost one-sided.



This highly volatile political context influenced Muslim voting in a significant manner. The 8% Muslims who preferred to vote for BJP this time, were almost one percentage point below the 2019 Muslim vote share for the party.

CSDS-Lokniti post-poll survey is also useful to unpack this category of BJP's Muslim voters. Two points are crucial.

Gujarat vs UP | First, Muslim support for BJP is a state-centric phenomenon. For example, BJP received around 29% Muslim vote in Gujarat while its performance in Hindi belt remained very poor. It got only 2% Muslim votes in UP. This state-centric Muslim voting pattern underlines how LS elections were entirely governed by state-level issues and considerations.

ALL-INDIA MUSLIM VOTE FOR BJP

Class-wise		Caste-wise
Poor	11%	Upper Caste (Ashraf)	12%
Lower	7%
Middle	5%	OBCs (Pasmanda)	5%
Rich	6%

Ashrafs vs Pasmandas | Second, the socio-economic profile of these Muslim voters of BJP is also a significant factor. Almost 12% of Ashraf Muslims voted for BJP at the national level. On the other hand, the party received only 5% OBC Muslim vote.

This finding goes against the popular view that Muslim OBCs or Pasmanda communities are more inclined to support BJP. Ashraf Muslims seem to be more open to embrace BJP. It also shows that BJP's attack on OBC reservation has affected the voting behaviour of Pasmanda communities.

Middle-class vs the rest | The economic background of these 8% Muslim voters of BJP is equally interesting. Our data demonstrates that the party was a popular choice among the poorest and economically marginalised sections of Muslims. It received 11% vote from this class of Muslims. Muslim middle-classes did not find BJP attractive in this election. However, around 6% of rich and well-off Muslims voted for it.

This economic analysis indicates a clear pattern. Welfare schemes introduced by the BJP dispensation to reach out to the society's poor and marginalised sections somehow worked in favour of the party. Despite being rejected by the majority of Muslim voters, BJP was able to secure the vote of poor Muslims. These Muslims, it seems, behaved like other labharthis of welfare schemes. The changing attitude of rich and elite Muslims is also understandable. These groups always remain open to political bargains.

Overall, this brief assessment of BJP's Muslim vote underlines how the party could not produce a clear, workable electoral strategy to mobilise effective Muslim support in this election.

Opposition Needs An Economic Plan. Here's One

Politicians opposed to BJP can't only rely on the latter's mistakes. The best proactive approach would be to form cooperatives for farm produce. It will increase supply, incomes, credibility & stable voter support

T K Arun

Can the opposition do anything more than exploit the mistakes and weaknesses of the governing party and its govt? Can it position itself as an agent of redemption, while fervently hoping voters would not recall its own less-than-stellar performance while in office? Yes, it can. It can form cooperatives.

Sardar Patel led the formation of Khaira District Milk Producers' Union, which became the kernel around which the Amul ecosystem grew. Senior communist politician AK Gopalan led the dismissed workers of India Coffee Board to form different cooperative societies of coffee workers, and these set up a string of Indian Coffee Houses across the country. There are many other such tales.

Huge food processing industry a dire need | Why recall such tales now? Because India desperately needs a revolution in food processing to bring down inflation. Its economy is subject to the consumer price index's vagaries, even as RBI tries to contain the index within the 2-6% band. The most volatile item in CPI is vegetable prices. The only way to stabilise vegetable prices is to create a massive food processing industry that would ensure a steady supply of vegetables – frozen, processed or fresh – round the year. And the most viable channel to build such an industry is to create a cooperative network that replicates the magic of milk cooperatives.

Can this be done by govt? It could, if it somehow conjured up another Verghese Kurien. But it is not sufficient to come up with another Kurien. It is also necessary to provide that person with unstinted political backing against local vested interests, of the kind India's Milkman got.

That looks as easy as getting the Mumbai municipal authority to build roads without potholes. The alternative is to get political parties to form cooperatives, which would directly enhance people's livelihoods and incomes, increase the supply of vegetables, and help parties establish their credentials as pro-people, pro-growth agents of change. A laughable suggestion, you would think. But politicians have done things to change life for the better in the past. And they still can.

State of co-ops in India | Why did our political class move away from forming cooperatives? Actually, they have not. They run sugar cooperatives in Maharashtra, milk cooperatives in areas with motorable rural roads, credit cooperatives in many states, handloom cooperatives, cooperative banks, and so on.

But few of them are genuine cooperatives. Most states have laws that subordinate co-ops to the state registrar of cooperatives if they owe money to state govt. This makes most cooperatives appendages of state govt, and they function as bureaucratic bodies, answerable to politicians, rather than to their members. The only exceptions are Amul-type co-ops, which are outside the control of state bureaucracy.

In India, co-ops are seen as part of the public sector, whereas they are a part of the private sector in the rest of the world. According to World Cooperative Monitor, the top 300 co-ops have a combined turnover of $2.4tr. These span sectors like farming, finance, retail, healthcare, and education.

Co-ops vital part of EU's economy | According to European Commission, EU has 250,000 cooperatives, owned by 163mn citizens or one-third of EU population, and employing 5.4mn people. They account for significant shares of several sectors of the economy: agriculture – 83% in Netherlands, 79% in Finland, 55% in Italy and 50% in France; forestry – 60% in Sweden and 31% in Finland; banking – 50% in France, 37% in Cyprus, 35% in Finland, 31% in Austria and 21% in Germany; retail – 36% in Finland and 20% in Sweden.

Nor are co-ops only a European favourite, although 166 of the world's largest 300 co-ops by turnover are in Europe. Of the rest, 73 are in US, 12 in Brazil, and 41 in Asia-Pacific, including 21 in Japan, 5 in New Zealand, 4 in South Korea, and 3 in India.

Rural infra ready for co-ops network | India today has a decent network of rural roads, and rural electrification has brought power connection to a good many villages, even if not all. Stable power supply from the grid during the day is essential for a food processing industry to work. Mini- and micro-grids running on solar/wind power and connected to the main grid for evacuation of surplus power and to make good any deficit during the plant's working hours can be devised.

To realise economies of scale, food processing plants will need to source fruit and vegetables from scores, if not hundreds, of villages in a region. Organising people is the natural forte of political parties. Instead of organising them only to agitate, parties can and should organise them to produce, as well. Prosperous co-ops would give political parties that set them up credibility and stable support, while increasing production and stabilising supply. What are the politicians waiting for?

Haj Is Akin To Visiting The Almighty

Maulana Wahiduddin Khan

Haj, the pilgrimage to Mecca, is a profound act of worship in Islam. It is obligatory only for those in good health and who can afford the journey. Those who are indigent, sick, or disabled are excused from this duty.

To perform Haj, a pilgrim leaves their home and travels to the holy cities of Mecca and Medina. Upon entering Mecca, the pilgrim first goes to the Kaaba to perform the Tawaf, which is the circumambulation of the Kaaba. Next, the pilgrim performs Sa'i, a brisk walk between the two hillocks of Safa and Marwa. The rites also include a halt at the plain of Arafat, where pilgrims stand in prayer and reflection. Additionally, pilgrims cast stones at a pillar in Mina, symbolically stoning Satan. The culmination of these rituals is the sacrifice of an animal.

These essential rites of Haj are performed during the month of Dhul Hijjah, the twelfth month of the Islamic lunar calendar.

What is Haj? It is a journey undertaken for God. It involves spending one's time and wealth to reach those places associated with the memories of God and His true servants. All the rituals of Haj are a practical demonstration that a person is striving for God, centring his life around Him.

Haj is akin to visiting the Almighty. It represents the highest form of nearness to one's Lord during worldly life. If other acts of worship are reminders of God, Haj itself reaches directly to God.

Haj has always held extraordinary significance among Islamic acts of worship. In one hadith, it is referred to as the most virtuous act of worship. It encompasses all acts of worship and invigorates all of them. However, its true importance lies in its spiritual essence, not merely in the external rituals and ceremonies.

In other words, Haj is not just about going to the sacred land, performing certain rituals, and returning. Regarding the essence of Haj, the Quran states: The pilgrimage is in the appointed months. Whoever intends to perform it during them must abstain from indecent speech, wicked conduct, and quarrelling while on the pilgrimage. Whatever good you may do, God is aware of it. Make provision for yourselves – but surely, the best of all provision is God-consciousness. Always be mindful of Me, you that are endowed with understanding. (2:197)

THE SPEAKING TREE

Whenever a few people gather or live together, some grievances inevitably arise. This situation manifests on a much larger scale during Haj as people of various kinds gather in vast numbers at a single location. Consequently, during Haj, people frequently cause discomfort to each other. If individuals start quarrelling over personal grievances, the spirit of worship would be lost, and the purpose of Haj would not be fulfilled. Therefore, quarrelling and losing one's temper are strictly prohibited during Haj.

This prohibition makes Haj a means of training for a significant aspect of life. Just as fighting nullifies Haj, it also distances a believer's ordinary life from Islam.

TIMES IN THE US

Dwaipayan.Datta@timesgroup.com

New York: Indian cricket fans got everything they wanted from the New York leg of the World Cup. In the makeshift Nassau County Ground, which will be dismantled over the next few days, the Men in Blue played three games which offered completely different flavours.

While Ireland was a standard walk in the park, the Pakistan game had all the highs and lows that you can expect from a top-of-the-chart encounter. The match against USA, meanwhile, was a battle of attrition in which India triumphed after enduring a few difficult phases.

Amid all this, there was one note that went just a little off-tune: the form of Virat Kohli. The thousands who filled the stands on all three days had one common wish, a meaningful contribution from their favourite superstar.

Low scores of 1, 4 and 0 in three consecutive games isn't something that we have seen too often from the modern master, who came into the World Cup on the back of some magnificent knocks in the IPL.

Kohli was a superhit as an opener in the IPL, prompting captain Rohit Sharma to book that slot for him in the T20 World Cup. The captain was also very categorical when he said that his and Kohli's are the only two slots that are "fixed", while the rest will move up and down "as per the situation".

But in the three games here, Virat seemed to be unsure where his off-stump is, a problem that has plagued him in the past, notably during India's 2014 tour of England, when he had aggregated 137 runs from four Tests. That, however, is now ancient history and Kohli subsequently was able to completely turn things around against the moving ball.

The conditions here in New York have been quite unique. The ball has completely dominated the bat. It's not just the movement but also the up-and-down nature of the track that has kept batters on their toes.

What could have gone against Kohli was the fact that he joined the team a little late. He missed the practice match against Bangladesh at the venue and went into the tournament slightly undercooked. But the champion batter has put in a lot of effort in the nets to get it all sorted out. Two days before the Pakistan game, he batted for almost two hours and everything seemed to be coming from the middle of the bat.

"We know what Virat brings to the table and how good he can be. Yes, he joined a bit late, but he is putting in all the hard work to get used to the conditions," Rohit had said on the eve of the match against Pakistan.

It is true that Virat has looked good at the nets, but that form somehow hasn't translated into performances in the World Cup so far. The worrying bit is that there is a serious rain threat in Miami — the venue of India's final league game against Canada — and there could be a case where all their practice sessions get washed out. There is a question mark on the game itself on Sunday and that could mean Kohli might not get too much time to work on his batting before the Super-8s start.

The team, however, has enough belief in their No. 1 batter. Shivam Dube, who also endured a bit of a rough patch explained, said, "Who am I to talk about Kohli? If he hasn't got runs in three games, he may well get three hundreds in the next three and there will be no more discussions."

Rohit, of course, has the option of bringing in Yashasvi Jaiswal in as his opening partner and drop Kohli down to his regular No. 3 spot. But the captain doesn't want to do that because he believes the former skipper is best suited at the top and the team will not be able to include four allrounders if Kohli comes down the order.

It's the faith the team management has in Kohli that has stopped them from taking any harsh decisions. It's now on the batting great to flick on that switch which will once again make us believe in the cliché that 'class is permanent'.

Dube adapts to tough pitch and shows he's not a one-trick pony

New York: Going into the game against USA, the form of Shivam Dube was a bit of a concern for the Indian team. He has been selected as a 'designated hitter' in the middle-overs but things were not falling in place for the left-hander. In fact, Dube's lean patch didn't actually start in the T20 World Cup either, but in the latter half of the IPL when he was playing for Chennai Super Kings.

He had a magnificent first phase which got him the ticket to the World Cup, but after that the performances tapered off. Dube, who scored 31 not out off 35 balls to help India cross the line against the USA, conceded that he was feeling the heat of a lean patch over the last one and a half months.

"Yes, I was thinking about it, but there was no self-doubt. Here the conditions are such that I can't bat the way I bat for CSK. It demands a different way of batting and I was looking to do that," Dube said.

There were phases in Wednesday's game when the left-hander struggled, but to his credit he didn't give his wicket away. It took him a while to hit his first six of the tournament, which went a long way in releasing the pressure. "This long a wait to hit a six? It might have happened in Ranji Trophy, but not in IPL, but the pitch is really difficult here. The ball sometimes shoots up, sometimes keeps low, moves around. I'm sure you have never seen a pitch like this in a T20 World Cup before," Dube said.

Range hitting is something that the man with long levers is used to doing, but that hasn't been the case for him here. In fact, even during training, it has been more about survival than hitting, which Dube concedes is "a little difficult".

"But the coaches, support-staff told me that I have the ability to deal with this and I will definitely not delete this from my memory," the 30-year-old said.

His 67-run partnership with Suryakumar Yadav finally helped India win beat the USA and the Mumbai cricketer said that the pair knew it all was about dealing with the difficult phase. "We knew we could hit the big shots even on this pitch, if he could get settled. Thankfully it happened that way."

He might have liked to get a bit of bowling as well, given the fact that he is playing as the fourth allrounder. "A six was hit off me and that's why I didn't get to bowl much, but that's fine," he said.

Going forward, the indications are that the team will stick with him for a while and the left-hander has to keep doing what he did for CSK if India are to come close to winning the World Cup.

68* Sherfane Rutherford has posted his career-best score in T20Is, bettering the 67 not out vs Australia at Perth on Feb 13, 2024. His innings is the second highest by a No. 6 batter or below in T20 World Cup behind Cameron White's 85 not out for Australia vs Sri Lanka at Bridgetown on May 9, 2010.

Rampaging Rutherford drives Windies into Super Eight

Tarouba (Trinidad): Sherfane Rutherford rescued the West Indies with the bat and their bowlers contained New Zealand to complete a 13-run victory in a Group C match of the T20 World Cup in Trinidad on Wednesday.

WEST INDIES VS NEW ZEALAND

Rutherford's unbeaten 68 off 39 balls (two fours, six sixes) lifted the home side from the depths of 30 for five in the seventh over to a competitive 149 for nine after they were put in. Thrashed in their opening match by Afghanistan in Guyana and therefore in a virtual must-win situation, the Black Caps never developed any momentum in the chase in being restricted to 136 for nine.

Pacer Alzarri Joseph (4 for 19) and spinners Gudakesh Motie (3 for 25) and Akeal Hosein (1 for 21) kept the home side in control to clinch their third consecutive victory and a place in the Super Eight phase of the competition with one group match still to come against Afghanistan on Monday in St Lucia.

Only Glenn Phillips (40 off 33 balls) caused any real worries for the West Indies but when he fell to Joseph in the 18th over the match was effectively over as a contest, despite Mitchell Santner belting three sixes off Romario Shepherd in the final over.

This second consecutive setback effectively ends New Zealand's hopes of advancing out of the group stage, unless other results can contrive to work in their favour.

"Keeping it simple and backing my skills, I think that was the key," said Rutherford in explaining his formula for success after being named Man of the Match. AGENCIES

Brief scores: West Indies 149-9 in 20 overs (Sherfane Rutherford 68 no; Trent Boult 3-16, Tim Southee 2-21, Lockie Ferguson 2-27) bt New Zealand 136-9 in 20 overs (Glenn Phillips 40; Alzarri Joseph 4-19, Gudakesh Motie 3-25).

USA become first team to be hit by 'stop-clock' penalty

Umpire Paul Reiffel (R) explains the penalty rule to US skipper Aaron Jones

New York: The United States became the first team to be penalised five runs under the new stop-clock rules in their T20 World Cup loss to India on Wednesday. The sanction has been introduced by the ICC in an effort to speed up play. A team is penalised if after two warnings they still take more than a minute between overs.

On Wednesday, the US were penalised at the start of the 16th over and instead of needing 35 runs off 30 balls to reach their 111-run target, India's task became 30 off 30 deliveries instead. "We had a few warnings in earlier games, and it's something we do talk about to get through faster between the overs," said coach Stuart Law.

"We're only a fledgling team. There's plenty to learn. There's not just the cricket aspect of the game of cricket, but there's also the other intricacies that need to be embedded. It's a rule that's only just come in. A lot of our players wouldn't have heard about it before we played in the Bangladesh series or the Canada series earlier this year."

Despite the penalty, the former Aussie batter said the five-run sanction would not have impacted the outcome of the clash. REUTERS

'An emotional moment for me to get Kohli's wicket'

USA's Netravalkar, Who Also Dismissed 'Old Mate' Rohit, Says He Is Still Trying To Process The Attention & Adulation

Dwaipayan.Datta@timesgroup.com

ANI

New York: From being a journeyman cricketer in Mumbai to becoming a coder for Oracle to now getting Virat Kohli out for a first-ball duck in a T20 World Cup, it has been a long and winding road for Saurabh Netravalkar. The left-arm pace bowler was the talking point of the World Cup after his match-winning Super Over against Pakistan. Now, just to prove he is no flash in the pan, Netravalkar has followed up that performance with the wickets of Kohli and "old mate" Rohit Sharma.

It's a surreal turn of events for the 32-year-old who once nearly gave up on the game. "It is difficult to explain that journey in a couple of sentences. It's been really very long. Back then, I had to take a practical call when I saw that my career as a cricketer in India wasn't really taking off because of the talent around. I got a chance to study in a reputed university here and it was a decision to pursue my other love, coding," Netravalkar said.

Indian journalists, incidentally, chose to skip the media interaction with Man of the Match Arshdeep Singh just to have a conversation with this mild-natured boy who has seen difficult days in his life.

Netravalkar is multi-talented. He plays the ukulele as well quite well, which he says he does for "fun". "I see Youtube videos and try to get the tune right, it's just a hobby," the boy from Mumbai, who now works in Silicon Valley, said. "I am just happy that I can pursue both my passions. It is all happening very fast and I am in the process of digesting it. These last two games were really high-profile," he added, as references to his dismissal of Rohit and Kohli. "It was an emotional moment to get Virat's wicket. I was looking to hit off-stump and it worked out well," he said.

While Rohit and Suryakumar Yadav know him well and congratulated him on his performance, Virat, too, acknowledged his effort after the game got over.

"I know Surya from my U-15, U-17 days, we were talking about our dressing-room banter. I didn't know Virat personally but he did congratulate me," Netravalkar said, exuding humility.

India's bowling coach Paras Mhambrey, a Mumbai man himself, said the other day that Netravalkar is an "inspiration". "If there is a seed of hope, keep watering it. The plant will happen, it may take time, but it's going to happen," Netravalkar said, getting slightly emotional with all the adulation.

For USA, there is serious business up ahead with Ireland up next. The game is in Fort Lauderdale in Miami and if it gets washed out, the co-hosts will go through. "We are not thinking about the rain. Ireland are a good side and we have to beat them. If our performances help the sport grow here and become part of the school and college curriculum, we will know we are on the right track."

'Hope Josh's comments were tongue in cheek'

North Sound: England coach Matthew Mott said he hopes Josh Hazlewood's comments that Australia might look to secure only a narrow victory over Scotland that would see England knocked out of the T20 World Cup were tongue in cheek.

"I am very much hoping it was an off-hand remark by a really good bloke who is having fun," Australian Mott told BBC Sport.

"Knowing Josh, he has got a pretty dry sense of humour. I am hoping it was very much tongue in cheek."

England were due to play Oman later on Thursday. Their first match was a wash-out against Scotland and they lost to Australia by 36 runs. REUTERS

Pak fret over US-Ireland clash

Lauderhill: In a strange scenario, a non-playing Pakistan will be more keen on the result of USA and Ireland Group A match at Lauderhill, Florida on Friday. A win for USA, currently second in this group with four points, will put an end to the World Cup campaign of Pakistan, who have two points from three matches.

Of course, it will also take the co-hosts into the Super Eight from this group along with India. Ireland are a competitive side with experienced players in their ranks, but they look woefully out of sync here and the task might be heavier against the US, who are playing some very good T20 cricket at the moment.

PREVIEWS

They will be keeping an eye on the fitness of skipper Monank Patel, who missed the match against India on Wednesday with a left-shoulder injury. Aaron Jones did the duty of skipper against Rohit Sharma's men in New York.

There is also a strong rain threat to the match as per weather predictions, and even a washout can end the campaign of Pakistan. It will take the USA to five points and beyond the reach of Pakistan, who can now log a maximum of four points.

Afghans eye win over PNG

Meanwhile, in Tarouba, Afghanistan will eye another all-round effort to crush an inexperienced Papua New Guinea here and enter the Super Eights of the T20 World Cup, and the result will have another underlying effect—knock out New Zealand.

The win will carry Rashid Khan's side to Super Eight from Group 'C' alongside the West Indies, who have qualified on Thursday with a win over New Zealand. It will also mean curtains for the 2021 finalists New Zealand who have lost two out of two. AGENCIES

BANGLADESH VS NETHERLANDS

64* Shakib Al Hasan's fourth T20 World Cup fifty is his first vs Netherlands — his first three were — two against Pakistan and one against Australia.

Kingstown (St Vincent): Shakib Al Hasan regained form with a sublime half-century before leg-spinner Rishad Hossain struck twice at a crucial juncture as Bangladesh inched closer to the Super Eight stage with a 25-run win over Netherlands in the T20 World Cup here on Thursday.

Set a target of 160, the Netherlands ended at 134 for eight in their allotted 20 overs at the picturesque Arnos Vale Ground, which was hosting an international for the first time in 10 overs.

The result meant Sri Lanka were knocked out of the tournament.

Shakib roared back to form with a 46-ball 64 as Bangladesh posted a competitive 159 for five after being asked to bat.

Besides Shakib, Tanzid Hasan struck 35 off 26 balls and Mahmudullah chipped in with 25 off 21.

In their chase, Netherlands lost two wickets with just 32 runs on the board, and most importantly, with the powerplay about to end.

Vikramjit Singh (26 off 16 balls) hit three sixes and was looking dangerous when Mahmudullah had the batter stumped to leave Bangladesh at 69 for three in the 10th over.

Sybrand Engelbrecht (33 off 22 balls) and skipper Scott Edwards (25 off 23) added 42 runs for the fourth wicket before leg-spinner Rishad struck twice to the turn the game on its head.

Left-arm seamer Mustafizur Rahman, bowling brilliantly at the other end, sent back Edwards and Rishad returned to dismiss Logan van Beek cheaply to almost seal the match in Bangladesh's favour.

Netherlands needed 86 off 60 balls and tried to make a match of it but then, all of a sudden, they lost four wickets as the trio of Taskin Ahmed (2-30), Rishad (3-33) and Mustafizur Rahman (1-12) came up with excellent performances.

Earlier, with Bangladesh starting their innings with two left-handers, Edwards tossed the new ball to off-spinner Aryan Dutt in the second over, and the move paid instant dividends as they got the big wicket of Bangladesh skipper Najmul Hossain Shanto (1). Dutt also accounted for Litton Das at the beginning of fourth over thanks to a stunning catch in the deep by a sprinting Sybrand Engelbrecht. After Das swept Dutt towards square leg, Engelbrecht covered a lot of ground and dived full-length to pull off the catch. Shakib then knuckled down to help his side to a decewnt total. AGENCIES

Brief scores: Bangladesh 159-5 (Shakib Al Hasan 64*, Tanzid Hasan 35, Mahmudullah 25; Paul van Meekeren 2-15, Aryan Dutt 2-17) bt Netherlands 134-8 (Vikramjit Singh 26, Sybrand Engelbrecht 33, Scott Edwards 25; Taskin Ahmed 2-30; Rishad Hossain 3-33) by 25 runs.

ROLL UP FOR THE MAGICAL MYSTERY TOUR

It's Sommermarchen! Germany Hosts Europe's Marquee Football Event, 36 Years After West Germany Hosted A Famous Eight-Team Euro In 1988

Euro 2024 kicks off on Friday in Germany as the continent's footballing heavyweights prepare to fight it out over the next month with the aim of taking the crown away from reigning champions Italy.

Germany play Scotland in the opening game in Munich and the host nation are hoping their journey will continue all the way to the final in Berlin on July 14.

It is the first time the country has hosted a major men's international tournament since the 2006 World Cup, and it is a mouth-watering setting after the underwhelming nature of the last European Championship. Euro 2020 was delayed by a year because of the pandemic, finally taking place in 2021 in front of limited crowds. It was also staged in cities all across the continent, from Seville to Baku, and those factors stripped away much of what makes these tournaments so special.

This time all supporters will descend on Germany, where matches will be played in 10 stadiums, from Hamburg in the north to Munich in the south. Germans are hoping for a repeat of 2006, when many fell in love with their national team again after a period in the doldrums similar to what they have experienced in the years leading up to this competition. Philipp Lahm, the captain of Germany's 2014 World Cup-winning team and now Euro 2024 tournament director, also hopes the competition will bring people together at a time of division and disunity across the continent. The tournament begins less than a week after far-right parties made significant gains in EU parliament elections, while Europe is still dealing with the crisis of the war in Ukraine. "I hope at the very least the Euro will lead to a more united Germany again," said Lahm.

A good performance by Germany on the field would help, and the outlook is more positive for Julian Nagelsmann's team now than a few months ago. A group also containing Hungary and Switzerland should be straightforward enough given the quality in Germany's ranks, from veteran playmaker Toni Kroos to younger stars Florian Wirtz and Jamal Musiala.

"We have gone through difficult phases as a national team, but something big can happen here," Musiala, of Bayern Munich, told Sportbild.

However, there are good reasons why France and England are so strongly fancied to raise aloft the Henri Delaunay trophy on July 14.

France are Europe's top-ranked nation and have been in the last two World Cup finals. Fresh from sealing his move to Real Madrid, Kylian Mbappe is eager to make up for a disappointing showing at the last Euros, when his penalty miss sealed a shootout defeat to Switzerland in the last 16. "Kylian is our captain and a great leader. We will need him to be at his best," admitted France coach Didier Deschamps. England have never been European champions, although they came close in 2021 when they lost the final on penalties to Italy. Optimism about their prospects is fuelled by the fact that star players Harry Kane, of Bayern, and Jude Bellingham, formerly of Borussia Dortmund, should feel so at home on German soil.

"We want to make history," said England midfielder Declan Rice. England begin their tournament against Serbia on Sunday. The French and English will be on course to meet in the semifinals if they both top their groups. The prospect of Italy — who are in the same group as Spain — successfully defending their title seems slightly remote, but it would be foolish to rule them out.

Portugal, champions in 2016, are genuine contenders even if they are still led by Cristiano Ronaldo, now aged 39 and playing club football in Saudi Arabia. This Euros is the third since the competition was expanded to feature 24 teams, a move that has afforded a chance to some smaller nations, including Georgia, debutants this time. However, injuries at the end of a long season are taking their toll on some leading players.

Frenkie de Jong, the Barcelona and Netherlands playmaker, has been ruled out with an ankle injury, while his club colleague Robert Lewandowski will not play in Poland's opening match due to a thigh problem. AFP

PHIL FODEN
ENGLAND
Nurtured by Pep Guardiola, Manchester City's Foden has taken some time to break through to world-class level. A star of the 2017 Under-17 World Cup in India, he's firmly established as one of the big game players in England. As the Premier League's player of the season, Foden forward heads into a major event as a key player for England. While eyes will be on Harry Kane and Jude Bellingham, Foden could benefit, whether as an attacking midfielder or on one of the wings.

FLORIAN WIRTZ
GERMANY
Florian Wirtz carries the hopes of a home nation enduring a fallow period internationally since their World Cup triumph in Brazil a decade ago. Wirtz comes into the Euros after a starring role in Bayer Leverkusen's unbeaten Bundesliga and Cup double. Both a goalscoring threat and creative hub, the German player of the season offers hope that a new generation can rejuvenate the fortunes of the three-time European champions under Julian Nagelsmann.

RAFAEL LEAO
PORTUGAL
Recognising the need to move on from the Cristiano Ronaldo era, Portugal have begun to build around Rafael Leao. He has the ability, and as one of the world's most exciting wingers and few are able to run with the ball with such pace and power. A reported release clause of 175m euros at AC Milan is testament but there's still room for improvement with Leao, particularly when he hasn't got space to run into and he is tasked with breaking down packed defences.

RODRI
SPAIN
Manchester City's FA Cup final defeat was Rodri's first defeat for club or country since March 2023 in open play. In a Spain squad lacking the star names of the past, the 27-year-old is now the standard bearer. Rodri's tenacity out of possession and poise on the ball will be the foundation on which Luis de la Fuente can build. The three-time champions will need it as they are in an unforgiving group alongside defending champions Italy, Croatia and Albania.

LUKA MODRIC
CROATIA
Now 38, Modric finished the season at Real Madrid as a second-half sub who lent grace, balance and telling bite to proceedings. Don't worry: for Croatia, Modric is still the main man. His technique, vision and game awareness stays at a level that will set him apart from most central midfielders at Euro 2024. Football fans are savouring the opportunity to see Modric at perhaps his final major international tournament. Make the most of this version of a vintage great.

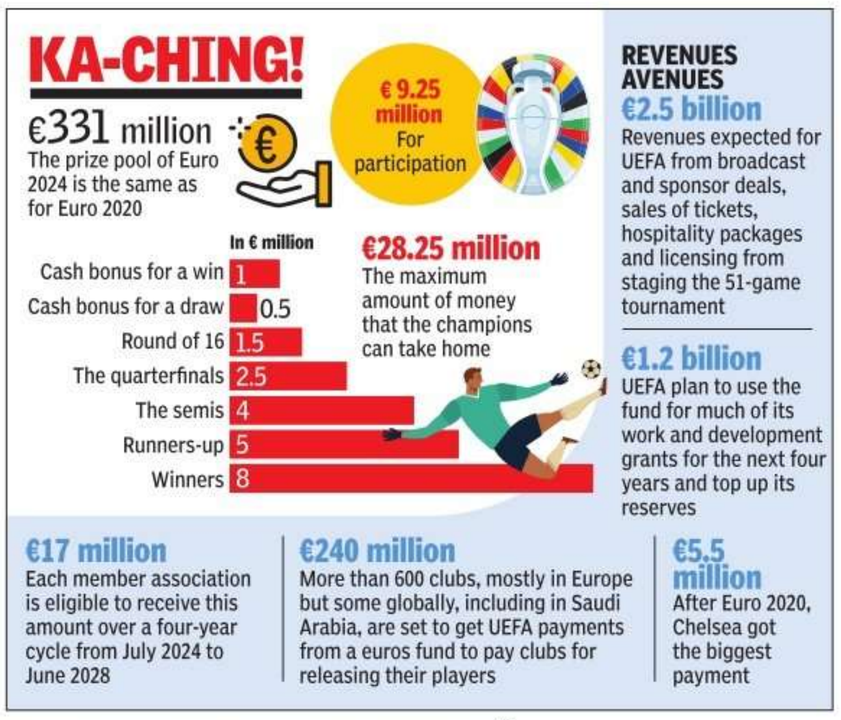
MBAPPE ABSENT FROM TRAINING

Paderborn: France striker Kylian Mbappe was absent when the squad took part in an open practice session at its European Championship base on Thursday. Mbappe and Kingsley Coman were missing from the group of players that emerged for training at the Home Deluxe Arena in Paderborn.

An estimated 4,000 people were there to watch the session.

French sports daily L'Equipe reported that Mbappe, who trained normally on Wednesday, was doing individual work in the gym instead. He was later seen signing autographs for fans. France's first game is against Austria in Group D on Monday.

Mbappe, who recently moved to Real Madrid from Paris Saint-Germain, is expected to be one of the stars of the tournament. AP



World wakes up to bagpipes as Scots go first-up against hosts

AFP
STAR CAST: Scotland train under the clouds in Garmisch-Partenkirchen

Munich: The sound of bagpipes, and men in kilts on the streets of Munich — Scotland is in town and the excitement is ramping up ahead of the European Championship curtainraiser on Friday.

Host nation Germany play Scotland at Allianz Arena in the opener of the month-long tournament. The final is in Berlin on July 14 and Germany are even keener to get there after three straight fiascos at major tournaments.

PREVIEW
GERMANY VS SCOTLAND

"We are not here just to say hello but we still have to be humble," Germany defender Antonio Rudiger said. "We don't have to talk about past tournaments.

"The first match is very important and then we'll see what happens during the rest of the tournament." A good first match and group stage would set off a new wave of excitement in Germany, even though scenes similar to when it brilliantly hosted the 2006 World Cup (and reached the semifinals) are hard to imagine in a changed political landscape.

While the Scots are out in droves in Munich, there is hardly a sighting of a Germany shirt or flag. Political extremists are flourishing, anxiety pervades the country, and the national team has under-performed. It is understandable the home fans are going about their daily life in contrast to the partying visitors.

While the Germans are bemused by their raucous Scottish counterparts, there should still be plenty of more colours on matchday.

"First and foremost, there's a lot of anticipation because it's a huge event," Germany coach Julian Nagelsmann said. "It's probably not just Europe, but the whole world that will be watching how the Euros will go ... we're really looking forward to it."

Germany went out at the group stage of both previous World Cups and was eliminated by England in the Round of 16 at Euro 2021. But defeat to Scotland would be a shock, even though the Scots have improved a lot in recent years. AP

THE FRESH FACES

AMONG THE 622 PLAYERS, TOI PICKS OUT FIVE WHO ARE LIKELY TO BE THE BREAKOUT STARS OF THIS SUMMER'S EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIP

ARDA GULER
This 19-year-old Turkish midfielder is being seen as the future of Real Madrid, having been bought by the Spanish giants for $22m last season. He has since had an average La Liga season – just 6 goals and 4 starts. His performance for Turkey since his 2022 debut has been sketchy – scored once against Wales in the qualifiers – but manager Montella seems to have confidence in the prodigy. Even though Real didn't pencil him in for the Champions League, their victory meant his market price jumped to $44m.

JOAO NEVES
Another prodigious 19-year-old, Portugal's Neves has been a regular for Benfica as defensive midfielder, with an impressive 27 starts and goal assist rate of 5, with 3 goals and 2 assists. He played two games in the Euro qualifiers following his international debut in 2023, and seasoned manager Roberto Martinez might be impressed to give him a few starts.

WARREN ZAIRE-EMERY
Another prodigy from the French football factory, this 18-year-old has reposed PSG manager Luis Enrique's faith in him with 21 matches, two goals and three assists. He was also included in 10 of 11 PSG matches in the Champions League, providing three assists and one goal. How Deschamps views him will be interesting since he already has a wealth of talent and experience at his disposal. Could be used as a substitute during the knock-outs.

JEREMIE FRIMPONG
Was one of the stalwarts of Bayer Leverkusen's dream season, where they went unbeaten in 51 games losing just the Europa final. The Dutch right wingback scored 18 goals in all competitions this season. Vastly experienced despite being just 23, he could be one of Dutch manager Ronald Koeman's main man in Germany especially with Frenkie de Jong ruled out with injury.

COLE PALMER
Caught the eye after leaving English champions Manchester City for Chelsea at the start of last season for want of game-time. At 22, had a brilliant season for Chelsea with 22 goals and 11 assists. It is a season good enough for England manager Gareth Southgate to put faith in him for the Euros, where he could partner another prodigious youngster, Jude Bellingham.

Celtics on brink of title after win over Mavericks

Dallas: The Boston Celtics, fuelled by their star duo of Jayson Tatum and Jaylen Brown, held off a Dallas rally to beat the Mavericks 106-99 on Wednesday and take a 3-0 stranglehold on the NBA finals. Tatum broke out of his scoring doldrums to score 31 points. Brown scored 15 of his 30 in a scorching third quarter and the Celtics held on to move within one win of a record-setting 18th NBA crown.

Prannoy, Sameer enter Australian Open quarters: Shuttlers HS Prannoy and Sameer Verma progressed to the men's singles quarterfinals of the Australian Open with contrasting wins on Thursday. While fifth seed Prannoy beat Israel's Misha Zilberman 21-17, 21-15, Verma upset eighth seed Loh Kean Yew of Singapore 21-14, 14-21, 21-19. Prannoy will be up against second seed Kodai Naroaka of Japan in the next round, while Verma will play Chinese Taipei's Chun-Yi Lin.

India's Divya is world's best

Amit.Sampat@timesgroup.com

Divya Deshmukh in action. (Right) The champion with the trophy

Nagpur: India's best Divya Deshmukh is the new world junior girls chess champion. The two-time reigning national women's chess champion is now the U-20 queen of the world. In her second appearance at the Worlds, which concluded at Gandhinagar, Gujarat, on Thursday, Nagpur's Deshmukh remained unbeaten to win her maiden U-20 crown collecting 10 points.

Exactly 21 days after winning the classical open Sharjah Challengers title, where the 18-year-old participated to gain some match practice, Divya played with confidence and proved her mettle in the U-20 championship. This triumph, without losing a single game, takes Divya's tally of international gold medals to 21 while representing India in 38 age category tournaments. Despite becoming the Asian Women's Chess champion last year, the U-20 world crown was missing in Divya's kitty.

Divya, the top-ranked among Indian girls in U-20 category, was playing her second international tournament after a break which she took for the Std XII board examinations.

In an exclusive chat with TOI, Divya said, "This was my second world juniors tournament and I wanted to make my mark. Since I was participating in an international tournament after my Std XII board examinations and before the world juniors, I wanted to have some match practice. Since I got an invitation to play in Sharjah Challengers, I played freely, and the Open tournament went my way. I am happy to win the world juniors where I played some good games."

After winning the sixth round of the world juniors against Ayan Allahverdiyeva, Divya took the lead and maintained the advantage to lift the title. In a tense 11th and final round, Divya played for over five hours to pull off a thrilling win over Bulgaria's third seed Krasteva Beloslava in a marathon battle of 57 moves.

On the podium, Divya was followed by Armenia's second seed Mariam Mkrtchyan at 9.5 points and Ayan of Azerbaijan (8.5).

After taking a handy half-point advantage at the end of the penultimate round, Divya was just a win away from winning the title. In the final round, Divya chose the English Opening with her white pieces and Beloslava opted for the Nimzo-Indian defence.

After all the minor pieces had been exchanged, Divya became a pawn up on the 36th move. Despite losing a pawn, 2289 Elo Beloslava came up with some attacking play, but Divya continued to make accurate moves. While both players lined up their rooks to make a breakthrough, Divya placed her queen in attacking mode. On the 49th move, Beloslava brought her queen ahead but wasn't able to break Divya's defence. On the 52nd move, Divya's extra pawn threatened Beloslava's king, and the Bulgarian tried some repetitive moves but in vain. Within the next five moves, Divya made Beloslava resign.

"I would rate the sixth round as my toughest outing, and it gave me the lead. Thereafter it was like maintaining that advantage. Today's game was a bit tense where I tried to build some pressure."

AIFF set to tell coach Stimac to find new job

...But The Croatian Is Unlikely To Quit

Marcus.Mergulhao

Panaji: The All India Football Federation (AIFF) will initiate talks with Igor Stimac about mutually parting ways but that is unlikely to happen without compensation being paid to the national team coach who's been at the helm of affairs for more than five years.

Stimac has a contract till June 2026 that fetches him approximately Rs 25 lakh on a monthly basis, and even though he had told a special AIFF committee that he would part ways if India does not make it to the third round of the FIFA World Cup qualifiers, the Croatian is unlikely to quit.

After India's 2-1 loss against Qatar, Stimac told players that he will remain head coach of the national team.

"Stimac knows that it's difficult for him (to continue) after the results in the second round of the qualifiers but he does not want to take the entire blame," a source told TOI. "He feels the AIFF didn't do enough to support him and did not deliver on the promises that were made."

According to another source, the Croatian coach feels dubious refereeing decisions also held India back with references to the Qatar equaliser, goal denied against Malaysia in Merdeka and a dubious penalty awarded to Iraq in the King's Cup.

Within the AIFF, and its technical committee, there is no doubt that India must start looking for a new coach. An Indian taking over on a full-time basis has been ruled out.

"Stimac's contract situation is the biggest stumbling block," a senior AIFF official told TOI. "If the new contract had the same termination clauses like the previous one, we could have simply paid three months' salary and parted ways. Now it's much more difficult."

Bindra backs NRAI's Oly selection process

Gaurav.Gupta@timesgroup.com

Mumbai: Abhinav Bindra, the 2008 Beijing Olympics gold medallist, has backed the National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) over the controversial exclusion of 10m air rifle shooter Rudrankksh Patil from India's shooting squad for the Paris Olympics.

Rudrankksh was excluded from the squad despite winning an Olympic quota for India as the NRAI stuck to its guns, opting for trial-winners over medal-winners. He finished third in the national Olympic shooting Trials.

"See, it's not a call. It's a matter of selection. There's a due process laid out and they (NRAI) followed the process. In case the process was not followed, there would be questions asked. But if a fair process was put out for everybody, it was followed. Of course, I feel bad for Rudrankksh, who's been a good athlete and who's been doing consistently well. However, he's young and I'm sure that there will be many more opportunities for him in the future," Bindra on Thursday.

Explaining his point further, Bindra, talking at the IISM Convocation Ceremony 2024, said "That is the process laid down for the country. Not just India, many countries follow that process. The quota doesn't belong to an athlete per se. It belongs to the country. And a process was put out in time, well in advance. Credit to the NRAI for following the process. As athletes, what do we need? We need a clear system and process.

"We need clear policies followed, and that is what has been done, which is fair. When the athlete doesn't make it, there will be a few who will be disappointed, which is normal."

Paris Olympics going to be very, very special: Bopanna

World No. 4 Picked For The Games With Balaji As Partner

Kumaraswamy.K@timesgroup.com

Pune: It has been a hugely successful year for Rohan Bopanna, winning his maiden doubles Grand Slam at the Australian Open and becoming the World No. 1. And the India star says he is elated to be nominated to represent India at the Olympics for a third time in his career in Paris later this year.

"This one feels really very, very special. Eight years ago I didn't even think I would play for India (at the Olympics) again. I missed Tokyo and I wasn't anywhere close to representing the country," Bopanna said on Thursday.

The 44-year-old will be pairing with Tamil Nadu's Sriram Balaji in Paris after the All India Tennis Association went along with Bopanna's choice of partner.

Bopanna earned automatic qualification by virtue of his world No. 4 ranking — the top 10 ranked players in men's and women's doubles are given direct acceptance and can choose a player ranked in the top-300 as their partner. Sumit Nagal, ranked 77 in singles as on Monday — the ranking cut-off date for Olympics entries — is on the list of alternates.

June 14 is the deadline for national federations to submit their nominations to the ITF, which will announce the final list on July 4. The tennis competition will be played at Roland Garros, where Bopanna had won the mixed doubles crown with Canada's Gabriela Dabrowski in 2017.

"I have been playing very good tennis. Got into the top-10 in rankings and qualified for the Games, the only way I could do it. I have been able to do it twice (having done it in 2016 as well). I am really happy."

The past two editions when he competed in the quadrennial showpiece had been marred by controversies with AITA initially refusing to pair him with the partner of his choice before climbing down due to public backlash. This time, however, the selection committee headed by former Davis Cupper Nandan Bal, who had also nurtured Bopanna in his formative years, has respected his decision to pair with Balaji. "It is going to be a new experience, playing with someone who will be making his debut at the Olympics," Bopanna said.

'MIAMI WILL BE MY LAST CLUB'

Atlanta: Lionel Messi says Inter Miami will be "my last club." The 36-year-old World Cup champion isn't thinking about joining an Argentine club to write the last chapter of playing career. "I think Inter Miami is going to be my last club. Today I think it is going to be my last club," the Argentina captain said in an interview with ESPN.

Lionel says he won't play for Argentina in Paris: Lionel Messi said he will not be part of Argentina's squad for the Paris Olympics as he is no longer at an age where he can play in every tournament. "I talked to (manager Javier) Mascherano and the truth is we both understood the situation," Messi told ESPN. "It's hard (to think about the Olympics right now) because we're in Copa America. It would be two, three straight months of not being with the club, and more than anything I'm not at an age to be in everything. I have to choose carefully."

Borussia Dortmund coach Terzic resigns: Edin Terzic has resigned as coach of Champions League runner-up Borussia Dortmund, the German club said on Thursday. Meanwhile, former Roma coach Paulo Fonseca is to return to Italy as the new boss of AC Milan, the Serie A club announced on Thursday. AGENCIES

Ingebrigtsen collects record sixth Euro gold: Norway's Olympic champion Jakob Ingebrigtsen won the 1,500 metres in Rome on Wednesday for a record sixth European Championship gold. The 23-year-old charged down the final metres and was all by himself when he crossed the finish in 3:31.95, a championship record, to become the most decorated male athlete ever in the continental championship.

The win established him as Europe's leading male athlete, beyond Britons Mo Farah and Roger Black and then-West Germany's Harald Schmid, who all also won six European medals, but whose tallies included five golds and a silver. AGENCIES

BSY will erase more evidence if given time: Spl prosecutor

Special prosecutor Ashok Nayak told fast-track court judge NM Ramesh at the hearing that CID had been facing legal and other hurdles in investigating the case. "If called for inquiry, the accused is asking for time and ignoring notices. Some evidence has already been destroyed. More evidence will get destroyed by the accused, if given time."

Nayak alleged that the accused "forcibly stuffed Rs 2 lakh into the purse of the girl's mother" on the day of the crimes, saying "they might need it". "The mother recorded a few minutes of the conversation on her mobile... the audio in its original form is with investigators," he said.

The Pocso case was filed at Bengaluru's Sadashivanagar police station on March 14, based on a now-deceased woman's complaint that her teenage daughter was sexually assaulted by Yediyurappa when they visited him in Feb this year.

Yediyurappa, too, approached the court, seeking anticipatory bail and quashing of the Pocso case.

PM-Zelensky meet likely but none with Trudeau fixed yet

Pannun Topic Will Continue To Come Up: US

PM Modi will have a hectic bilateral schedule at G7 with meetings confirmed with French Prez Emmanuel Macron, UK PM Rishi Sunak, Japanese PM Fumio Kishida, German Chancellor Olaf Scholz and Italian PM Giorgia Meloni.

He is also likely to meet Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelensky. He had met him at the G7 summit in Hiroshima too last year. Zelensky had invited Modi for peace summit in Switzerland, but India never considered participation at the highest level because of efforts to keep Russia out. There was no meeting scheduled with Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau till late Thursday.

Asked by reporters accompanying the President aboard Air Force One about the alleged murder-for-hire plot against Gurpatwant Singh Pannun, US NSA Jake Sullivan said the US would continue to raise the issue, as it has in the past, at the highest level with India. "We have made our views known on this issue, and it will be a continuing topic of dialogue between the US and India, including at very senior levels," added the official.

Diplomatic sources did not rule out the possibility of the issue coming up in the Modi-Biden meeting.

Biden had taken up the issue during his meeting with Modi in Sept and Sullivan is likely to discuss progress, or lack thereof, in the probe India is conducting into the US allegations — that an Indian official masterminded the plot — during his visit to India next week. While the visit has not been officially announced yet, Sullivan is scheduled to be here on June 18. He's expected to meet his counterpart for a comprehensive review of the initiative on critical and emerging technology (iCET) that Modi and Biden had launched in May 2022.

"He (Biden) expects to see PM Modi here. It's up to the Indians to formally confirm his attendance, but our expectation is the two of them will have the opportunity to encounter one another. The nature of that encounter is still fluid because so much of the schedule is fluid," said Sullivan.

PM Modi in New Delhi before leaving for Italy on Thursday

PM will have a hectic bilateral schedule, with meetings confirmed with French Prez Macron, UK's Sunak, Japan's Kishida, German Chancellor Scholz and Italy PM Meloni

Will discuss issues of Global South, says PM

New Delhi: As he departed for Italy to participate in G7 outreach session as leader of an invitee country, PM Narendra Modi said focus in the session will be on artificial intelligence, energy, Africa, and the Mediterranean. Modi is expected to address issues related to the Global South in the session.

"It will be an opportunity to bring greater synergy between the outcomes of G20 Summit held under India's Presidency and the forthcoming G7 Summit, and deliberate on issues that are crucial for the Global South," said the PM, adding he's also looking forward to meeting other leaders participating in the Summit. He will meet Pope Francis on the sidelines.

Modi said he was glad his first visit abroad in the third consecutive term is to Italy for G7 Summit. "We are committed to consolidate India-Italy strategic partnership," he said. TNN

Even cool high-altitude regions like HP saw 12 heatwave days

IN HOT WATER: A tiger in a water tub at a Ranchi zoo on Thursday

New Delhi: Data shared by IMD for March 1-June 9 shows that 14 of 36 meteorological subdivisions in country have recorded over 15 heatwave days. These subdivisions are spread across country, with east and north India the worst hit. Even relatively cool high-altitude regions such as Himachal reported 12 heatwave days followed by Sikkim (11), J&K (6) and Uttarakhand (2).

Heatwaves are spells of unusually high temperatures as compared to what is normally expected over a region. Thus, temperatures at which heatwaves are declared differ from place to place based on the historical temperatures of that region.

"IMD's map shows a high number of heatwaves over India. This was expected and predicted in advance. In the year following an El Niño year (2023) we tend to get more heatwaves. That is due to favourable atmospheric circulation for heatwaves," said Madhavan Rajeevan, climate scientist and former secretary, ministry of earth sciences.

He attributed the longer spell to global warming, saying it is adding to the natural variability. "We will tend to get more frequent, longer and stronger heatwaves. We, therefore, need to be well prepared," said Rajeevan while flagging the current longer spell against the normal 6-8 heatwave days averaged over central and northwest India per year.

A heatwave is declared when the maximum temperature of a weather station is at least 40°C in the plains and at least 30°C in hilly regions, and it is 4.5 to 6.4°C above the normal temperature. If it's 6.5° or more above normal, a severe heatwave is declared. Also, heatwave is automatically considered if the temperature touches 45°C and a severe heatwave declared if it reaches 47°C. In coastal area, a heatwave is declared if maximum temperature is 37°C or more and departure is 4.5° or more above normal.

The criteria of declaring heatwaves is, however, not the same in the other countries as quantitatively, there are different thresholds used around the globe. "It is usually defined based on the temperature thresholds over a region in terms of actual temperature or its departure from normal," the Met department said.

"Heatwave to severe heatwave conditions are likely to continue over Punjab, Haryana-Chandigarh-Delhi and UP during next five days (till June 18) with a reduction thereafter in terms of areas and intensity," said the Met department in its extended range forecast for next two weeks.

It predicted a similar situation for Gangetic West Bengal, Bihar, Jharkhand, north Chhattisgarh and Odisha till June 16, saying these regions will see a reduction in intensity thereafter due to occurrence of rainfall activities over east India. Himachal, Jammu, Uttarakhand, northwest MP and north Rajasthan will also experience reduction in intensity after June 16.

New term for Doval comes amid bid to link him to 'Pannun plot'

The reappointment of 79-year-old Ajit Doval for an unprecedented third term indicates his cruciality in Modi govt's response to different security challenges. A renewed term for Doval, who played a key role in planning and executing surgical and air strikes against terrorists inside Pakistan, is significant also because of a loud campaign, abroad as well as back home, to link him to the controversies over the alleged plot to kill pro-Khalistan separatist Gurpatwant Singh Pannun.

The only IPS officer to have been awarded a Kirti Chakra and seen as the best "operations person" India has had, Doval played an important role also in evacuating Indian nationals from the war zones of Russia and Ukraine and other disaster-hit areas. Known for his extensive contacts in West Asia, he was involved in conceptualising and pushing strategic initiatives such as the India-Middle East Europe-Economic Corridor.

His personal rapport with his counterparts across the world has played a crucial role in getting results from the US-India Initiative on Critical and Emerging Technology as also in restoring trade relations with the US.

Mishra is someone whom Modi has trusted enormously since his days as Gujarat CM. In an interview, he had acknowledged how the Gujarat cadre officer had helped him pick up administrative nuances after he took over as CM.

The 75-year-old retired civil servant had joined Modi's PMO as additional principal secretary and took over his current role after Nripendra Misra decided to step down. An expert in disaster management, all appointment related issues are handled directly by Mishra.

SC hearing on larger issue of 'NEET-UG paper leak' on July 8

Having considered the submissions and material placed on record, this court finds that the recommendations made by the committee on June 12, 2024, after deliberations held on June 10, 11 and 12 are fair, reasonable and justified.

Accordingly, the respondent NTA may proceed for holding the re-test as indicated above, Justices Nath and Mehta said.

NEET-UG, taken by over 24 lakh students on May 5, has been marred by allegations of paper leak, mismanagement and awarding of grace marks. Some students approached SC and various high courts while many took to the streets to protest.

The 1,563 students were given grace marks since they did not get the full 3 hours 20 minutes to take the test. The marks were awarded on the basis of recommendations of the grievance redressal committee constituted by NTA. As protests broke out over the decision, a second committee reconsidered the issue and recommended reversal of grace marks.

Advocate J Sai Deepak insisted that 1,563 candidates were only those who had approached courts and the number of students who did not get the stipulated time was much higher. He said all those students who suffered should be allowed to appear in re-test but NTA objected to his plea and said the problem was confined to only six test centres.

The court, after hearing all sides, closed the case on the issue of grace marks while keeping the larger issue on question paper leak pending which will be heard on July 8.

The entrance test was conducted across 4,750 centres in 571 cities, including 14 cities abroad. Reports of paper leak surfaced after the test and a few arrests were also made.

NTA to release revised merit list after NEET re-test results

Fresh Exam For 1.5k Students To Impact Number Of Toppers Too

Manash.Gohain
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Cancellation of NEET-UG scorecards of 1,563 candidates who received grace marks due to loss of time and the re-test for them will impact both the overall merit list and the number of top rankers.

According to sources in National Testing Agency (NTA), after the re-test and its result on June 30, NTA is expected to announce a new all-India merit list. Cancellation of grace marks will reduce the number of top rankers from 67 to 61. 67 candidates had scored 720 marks, tying as joint toppers. However, their all-India ranks differ due to the tie-break scheme. Six of these top scorers are among the 1,563 candidates who took the exam at a centre in Haryana.

Regardless of whether these candidates choose to take the re-test or accept their pre-normalisation marks, the ranks of these candidates, as well as others, could be affected, NTA said.

The counselling process for NEET-UG will begin on July 6. SC has refused to halt the counselling but clarified that admission of successful candidates to medical colleges and other institutions will depend on the outcome of petitions seeking cancellation of the May 5 exam.

Cong calls for probe monitored by SC

Congress Thursday warned PM Modi that the opposition will "bring the govt to its knees" if it continues stonewalling on people's issues. Congress MP Gaurav Gogoi slammed NTA inquiry into the NEET "paper leak" as "an inquiry against itself" and demanded that the probe should be done by a SC-monitored panel. TNN

WHY NEET IS IN AN UN-GRACE-FUL ROW

NEET 2024 had a record 67 toppers when the results were announced on June 4. All these 67 candidates got the maximum score of 720

Why did this happen? For two reasons.

■ One, candidates challenged a physics question on atoms, pointing out that answers based on both new and old NCERT textbooks should be marked as correct. The question was taken from the new NCERT book, which states 'atoms of most of the elements are stable'. The old book states 'atoms of each element are stable'. With both answers subsequently deemed to be correct, marks of 44 candidates jumped from 715 to 720.

■ Two, grace marks. Candidates filed petitions in the high courts of Delhi, Punjab & Haryana and Chhattisgarh about loss of time at some exam centres. A panel set up to look into this ascertained there were indeed delays. Affected candidates were compensated with grace marks based on their answering efficiency and time lost, in line with a Supreme Court-established formula. A total of 1,563 candidates were compensated for loss of time. Six of them are among them 67 toppers while two saw their scores rise to 718 and 719.

Who's losing marks now?

■ The Centre told SC on Thursday that grace marks awarded by National Testing Agency for loss of time have been cancelled. So, this brings down the scores of these 1,563 candidates and reduces the number of toppers from 67 to 61.

What now for these 1,563 students?

■ They can opt for a re-test.

Are there indeed 67 toppers?

■ There are 67 candidates (now 61) with identical scores. But they are all ranked, based on different tie-breakers.

What are the tie-breaker criteria?

■ When candidates have identical scores, the one with higher score in biology (botany & zoology) in NEET climbs up in the merit order. If there's parity here too, higher scores in chemistry and physics are considered in this order. If there's still a tie-break needed, proportion of correct and incorrect answers are considered for

a. All subjects
b. Biology (botany & zoology)
c. Chemistry
d. Physics

If scores are tied still, the application number in ascending order is considered (for instance, application No. 51 will rank higher than 19)

No proof of NEET-UG paper leak, charges are baseless, says Pradhan

@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Education minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Thursday dismissed allegations of paper leak in the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test-Undergraduate (NEET-UG) and said there was no evidence to back these claims. He said govt was committed to ensure no student was disadvantaged, and added that the controversy was "motivated", indicating that the protest was instigated by coaching centres.

He also said more high scorers and more non-coaching candidates cracking the exam was due to concerted efforts of the last three years to make the difficulty level of NEET similar to Class 12 board exam instead of setting "tough" questions.

Education minister Dharmendra Pradhan indicated that coaching centres instigated the protests

NTA conducted NEET-UG on May 5 and announced results on June 4. A little over 24 lakh aspirants registered for the test of which 23.3 lakh appeared and 13.6 lakh qualified.

"There is no evidence of paper leak in NEET-UG. Corruption allegations against NTA are baseless. It conducts exams for over 5 million school students annually, along with higher education exams," Pradhan said.

He said NEET-UG results indicated that there was a significant increase in the number of students qualifying and scoring high marks from govt-run schools and from rural areas who didn't attend coaching classes.

Without naming coaching centres, Pradhan said, "Even in JEE (Advanced), students of rural areas and Navodaya schools have improved their scores and are among the rank holders. They didn't get any additional coaching. So, you can guess who has impacted them (coaching centres) adversely."

On the controversy over grace marks, the minister said NTA was evolving. "We are not saying everything is foolproof. This is an evolutionary process and we are making our tests more scientific," he said.

Rains trigger Sikkim landslides, 3 killed: Incessant rains triggered multiple landslides in Mangan district in north Sikkim Thursday, claiming three lives. More than 1,500 tourists are stranded in Lachung and Chunthang towns, as the water level of river Teesta surged. TNN
