PLI rejig may see faster release of funds, MSME push

RUN-UP TO THE BUDGET 2024-25

MUKESH JAGOTA & PRASANTA SAHU

New Delhi, June 18

THE GOVERNMENT IS undertaking a revamp of the production linked incentive (PLI) schemes by relaxing the norms for release of funds, bringing more sectors under the ambit and extending the benefits to micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) in many labour-intensive sectors via special carve-outs. The restructuring would also include incentives for research & development (R&D) for creating a manufacturing ecosystem, even as the total budget for the scheme would not be stretched, official sources said.

The scheme was launched over three years ago covering as many as 14 sectors but only around 5% of the funds earmarked have so far been disbursed. Total outlay for PLI scheme is ₹1.97 trillion of which only ₹9,700 crore has been disbursed till March 2024.

According to sources, the government has just started accepting applications for release of incentives on a quarterly basis, compared to the earlier norm of annual releases of the funds.

"In many departments we have started (accepting quarterly applications), we are telling others to follow the line," a senior official said. The new areas to be covered under the scheme soon are toys, furniture and apparel. These sectors have

While the current PLI scheme is more suitable for large firms with higher capital outlays, inclusion of apparel would benefit the MSMEs in the sector.

Vodafone to sell 10% stake in Indus Towers

REUTERS Bengaluru, June 18

VODAFONE GROUP WILL sell about 10% stake in India's Indus Towers for as much as $1.1 billion on Wednesday, per a term sheet seen by Reuters, as a part of the British firm's efforts to repay debt.

Last week, Reuters reported that Vodafone was mulling to sell its stake in mobile-tower operator Indus Towers, in which it owns a 21.5% stake via various group entities.

Vodafone plans to repay part of its $42.17 billion net debt using proceeds from the Indus Towers stake sale, sources had told Reuters last week.

Vodafone will sell roughly 268 million shares in Indus Towers through stock market block deals in Mumbai at a price range of ₹310-341 per share, valuing the stake between $996 million to $1.1 billion, the term sheet showed on Tuesday.

The midpoint of the price range is at a 4.5% discount to Indus's stock closing price on Tuesday, but roughly in-line with its close on Friday after Reuters reported on the sale.

Indian markets were closed on Monday. Vodafone has hired Bank of America, Morgan Stanley, Jefferies and BNP Paribas to manage the stake sale in Indian stock markets, the term sheet showed.

Vodafone and Indus Towers did not immediately respond to Reuters' requests for comment.

Block deals, where investors sell shares in stock markets, have become increasingly popular in India as the market has surged to record highs.

Sebi may hike F&O margins, mandate more disclosures

VIVEK KUMAR M & JOYDEEP GHOSH Mumbai, June 18

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) is planning to tighten the guidelines for futures and options (F&O) trading. The revised norms could include increasing the margin requirement, tightening the eligibility criteria and net worth disclosure for investors, said sources close to the development. This is in response to the unabated rise in retail participation in the derivatives market.

Last week, the markets regulator wrote a letter to the Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi), seeking comments from the industry body on the existing guidelines for derivatives trading and how they can be tweaked to make it tighter. In addition, it has also formed a committee, including brokerage firms and asset management companies to give their recommendations.

Monitoring F&O volume; issue discussed at FSDC, says RBI gov

THE RESERVE Bank of India and the markets regulator are monitoring the high volume of trading in the futures and options segment, RBI governor Shaktikanta Das said, but ruled out any signs of overheating in the financial markets. Das said that the two regulators discussed the issue under the aegis of the Financial Stability and Development Council (FSDC). "Options and futures volumes are larger than nominal GDP of the country. We have discussed this matter with Sebi and they will deal with it," Das said.

No scope for adventurism: Das

PIYUSH SHUKLA Mumbai, June 18

THE LAST MILE of disinflation in India is proving to be particularly "sticky, arduous and very slow", and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has to focus on meeting the 4% retail inflation target rather than engaging in any form of "adventurism", governor Shaktikanta Das said on Tuesday.

"At this point of time, we should avoid any form of adventurism, it is better to stay the course and be watchful and play ball by ball," Das said at an ET Now event, adding that any erratic weather related event may lead to a rise in prices of vegetables, thereby leading to spike in food inflation.

The RBI's six-member monetary policy committee (MPC) on June 7 maintained the benchmark policy repo rate at 6.5%. However, unlike earlier times, two members of the MPC—Ashima Goyal and Jayant Varma—voted to change the MPC's stance to "neutral" from "withdrawal of accommodation". Till April, Varma was the loner MPC member voting for a change in stance.

Das said that food inflation continues to be high and in the last 6-7 months, averaging at about 8%, while core inflation has moderated substantially and reached 3% in May, a historical low. Food inflation is high primarily due to supply side factors, which is affected by the weather conditions. Extreme heat wave last summer affected pulses cultivation and vegetable production.

Simultaneously, international metal prices have started going up of late, and taking into account all these factors into consideration, the RBI has forecasted that in FY25, the average inflation will be at 4.5%.

Das said that he is confident of the gross domestic product growing at 7.2% in the current fiscal on account of strong macroeconomic conditions, rural demand picking up, corporates' stable balance sheet and expectation of higher government and private sector spending in the infrastructure sector.

"On the consumption side, the rural demand which was lagging since Covid-19, and perhaps in first half of last year also, is beginning to improve quite visibly.

AIRLINE MAKES HUGE PROGRESS BUT FIGHTING LEGACY ISSUES IS STILL A BIG CHALLENGE

Two years of Wilson: AI remains a work in progress

ROHIT VAID & SWARAJ BAGGONKAR New Delhi/Mumbai, June 18

OVER THE LAST four weeks, four Air India (AI) group flights made emergency landings at various airports across the country. The reasons ranged from the plane's engine catching fire to windshield cracking 10 minutes after take-off.

The former flag carrier faced maximum flak for a Delhi-San Francisco flight which faced a 30-hour delay, forcing the regulator to issue a show-cause notice to the airline over 'repeated incidents for passengers being put into discomfort'.

But that's just one set of problems that AI CEO Campbell Wilson has been grappling with as he completed two years at the helm last Saturday. The other issues that have made the

PROJECT WILSON

■ AI group reinstated or taken delivery of over 70 aircraft

■ Record order for 470 Airbus and Boeing planes worth $70 billion

■ One new aircraft arriving every six days till the end of 2025

■ Addition of 23 new destinations and 98 new routes to the network over the last two years

■ Average age of cabin crew employees down from 54 to 35 now, and to just 28 among cabin crew

■ Capacity in terms of seat-kilometres flown has already doubled

■ In about three years, AI group will be a nearly 400-aircraft airline group, around thrice what it was at the time of acquisition headlines are cabin crew protests leading to flight cancellations, customer complaints about broken seats, a poor in-flight food, non-functional entertainment units and lost luggage.

But Wilson, a former Singapore Airlines top executive, knows such air pockets are inevitable in the transition process of AI, which is desperately seeking to get back its lost glory in a market that is changing rapidly. The stated ambition to become a "world class global airline" may be hard to swallow for many Indian flyers and sound impossible, but Wilson is unfazed and is firm on steering the airline on that path.

As recently as April, Wilson announced the start of the final of the three phases of the airline's five-year transformation plan called Vihaan.AI.

After 'Taxiing and Take-off', the airline moved to 'Climb' where the ambition of becoming world-class global airline has to be realised. Earlier this month, he hosted a meeting that was attended by 100 executives from various functions. According to one such executive who spoke to FE, the meeting benchmarked AI against some of the best airlines in the world.

Having secured the regulatory approvals for the merger of Vistara into AI and Air Asia India with AI Express, its low-cost subsidiary that competes with market leader Indigo, Campbell is now planning to press the pedal. The workshop was a step in that direction.

"You cannot take away Wilson's contribution in terms of transforming this erstwhile government-owned giant. There have been lapses in our operations; we admit that we have to do a better job. But there has been considerable progress," the executive added. He is bang on. The path AI has taken to change the organisational culture is breath-taking. Take for example the fact that the average age of AI employees has been brought down from 54 to 34. For an airline whose employees preferred to communicate through g-mails as the airline's internal systems just didn't function, AI has made giant leaps to make technology and innovation the cornerstone of its business.

Internally, many in the airline contend that changing the operational construct of an ongoing entity is a sensitive matter "because somewhere someone would definitely feel neglected or left out."

Fitch raises India's FY25 growth forecast to 7.2%

Says elevated consumer confidence augurs well for the economy

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 18

FITCH RATINGS HAS raised India's GDP growth projection for the current financial year to 7.2% from 7% estimated earlier, mainly due to the assumption of recovery in consumer spending.

In its June 'Global Economic Outlook' report, the ratings agency said that investments will continue to rise but "more slowly" than in recent quarters in FY25, while consumer spending will "recover with elevated consumer confidence".

Fitch's projection of growth is in line with the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) forecast of 7.2% for the current fiscal, and much higher than the International Monetary Fund's (IMF) projection of 6.8%. Most economists, however, expect the growth to be sub-7% in FY25.

"Purchasing managers survey data point to continued growth at the start of the current financial year," Fitch said. "Signs of the coming monsoon season being more normal should support growth and make inflation less volatile, though a recent heatwave poses a risk," it said. For FY2026 and FY2027, the agency expects the GDP growth to slow down to 6.5% and 6.2%, respectively.

In FY24, India's economy had grown at a robust 8.2%. Fitch said that falling indirect taxes net of subsidies have boosted GDP growth relative to gross value-added (GVA) at basic prices (in FY24). "The latter is currently a better guide to underlying momentum and has been growing at just over 7%," it said. In FY24, the GVA grew by 7.2%.

On retail prices, Fitch said that due to a likelihood of above-normal rainfall in the June-September period, inflation will moderate, and decline to 4.5% by this calendaryearend. The RBI has projected retail inflation to average 4.5% in FY25. Moreover, in both 2025 and 2026, Fitch sees consumer price index (CPI) inflation averaging at 4.3%.

Fitch expects the RBI to cut the repo rate "only once" this fiscal by 25 basis points. Currently the repo rate stands at 6.5%.

On global economy, the ratings agency raised its forecast for world growth in 2024 to 2.6% from 2.4% earlier. It raised China's growth forecast by 30 bps to 4.8%, but kept the US' growth projection unchanged at 2.1%. "However, for 2025, we forecast world growth to edge down to 2.4% as US growth slows to a below-trend rate of 1.5% and growth in the eurozone picks up to 1.5%," Fitch Ratings said.

Reduce tax litigation and simplify rules: Industry to finance ministry

RUN-UP TO THE BUDGET 2024-25

PRIYANSH VERMA
New Delhi, June 18

WITH A FOCUS on enhancing ease of doing business, industry bodies have recommended the finance ministry to simplify the tax rules, implement measures to resolve pending disputes, and encourage out-of-court settlements in the full Budget to be presented in July.

Three industry bodies — Confederation of Indian Industry (CII), Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce & Industry (FICCI), and PHD Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PHDCCI) — presented their recommendations to the Department of Revenue on Tuesday.

The PHDCCI recommended reduction of pre-deposit amount for filing appeal to the appellate authority, modification in filing of appeal procedure, modification of formulae for calculating the value of transfer and development right (TDR), exemption of GST on corporate guarantees, and introduction of faceless adjudication in income tax cases.

In the direct tax segment, the industry body suggested reduction in rates of taxation for individuals and limited liability partnership (LLP), promotion of electric vehicles by allowing higher depreciation and extending benefits under section 80 EEB, and increasing limits for prose-

Mukul Bagla, chair of the direct taxes committee at PHDCCI, recommended taxpayers earning ₹40 lakh and above to be taxed at 30%. The current threshold is ₹15 lakh. "The middle class is currently taxed at a rate of 30%, leaving them with little disposable income for savings and other needs. We suggested that the 30% tax slab should apply only to incomes above ₹40 lakh," he said.

India, US to remove barriers to tech trade

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, June 18

INDIA AND THE US have committed to take concrete actions to address long-standing barriers to bilateral strategic trade, technology and industrial cooperation, including in the commercial and civil space sector.

At the second meeting of the US-India initiative on critical and emerging technology (iCET), chaired by national security advisors of both the countries on Monday, it has been decided to enhance collaboration across governments, industry and academia in emerging technologies across manufacturing, space, defence, artificial intelligence and telecommunications. Discussions also focused India's planned acquisition of the MQ-9B military drone platforms, possible co-production of land warfare systems and progress on other co-production initiatives outlined in the US-India roadmap for defence industrial cooperation, a joint fact sheet on the meeting said.

MQ-9B platform is reaper drone whose sale to India has been approved by President Joe Biden. Ajit Doval and Jack Sullivan also took stock of the progress in negotiations between GE Aerospace and Hindustan Aeronautics for co-production of GE F414-INS6 engines to power India's future fighter fleet.

simplification to enhance ease of doing business, and look at measures to reduce litigation." Panda also said that the government is actively considering rationalisation of the capital gains tax structure.

Currently, the long-term capital gains tax (LTCG) is more benign on listed shares, while other types of assets, including real estate, attract the tax at higher rates, so the taxpayers have to hold these for longer periods to escape the higher short-term taxes. The holding period for long-term capital gains tax is more than 12 months for listed shares/debt securities, while it is more than 24 months for unlisted shares and real estate, and 36 months for debt mutual funds and securities.

To bring about simplicity, consistency and rationalisation of capital gains tax regime, the CII has suggested the long-term capital gains on financial assets to be taxed at 10%, while others at 20% (with indexation benefits). For short-term capital gains, CII says, financial assets should be taxed at 15%. Currently the rates may go up to as high as 30%. Moreover, the industry body recommends the holding period for assets to be considered under LTCG as 12 months for financial assets, and 36 for others.

Also, to boost consumption demand in the short term, CII suggested steps such as providing a marginal relief in income tax at the lower end of the spectrum with taxable income up to ₹20 lakh, upward revision of minimum wages under the rural job scheme MNREGA, and raising DBT amount under the PM Kisan scheme.

momentum. "In renewables, timely commissioning of storage and storage-linked capacities remains a key risk given their higher tariffs compared with the usual renewable capacities," said Manish Gupta, Senior Director and Deputy Chief Ratings Officer at CRISIL.

These storage-linked capacities have so far had low traction on the ground in finding off-takers, with nearly 7 GW of the 9 GW projects yet to find buyers, the report said.

Gupta noted that relatively higher tariffs of storage and storage-linked capacities pose a risk to increasing RE adoption with 65% auctioned capacity having unsigned power supply agreements as of April 2024. "Hence, tariffs of such projects should be compared with thermal project tariffs that can also supply power all day or match the demand," he said.

According to the agency, development of timely storage infrastructure is critical for absorption of the inter-

India's trade balance alters on oil imports

INDIA'S TRADE DEFICIT with Russia surged nine times to $57.2 billion in FY24 as compared with $6.6 billion in FY22 as the country's share of oil imports from the Eurasian country jumped 28% in FY24 as compared with just 1.8% in FY22. In FY23 too, the trade deficit with Russia was high at $43 billion. India stepped up imports of Russian crude despite the sanctions by the US. Trade surplus with the US rose to $37 billion in FY24 from $28 billion in FY23 and that with the UK almost doubled to $4.5 billion in the same period. India's trade deficit with the UAE narrowed to $12.4 billion in FY24 as the share of its oil imports dropped to 9.6% in FY24 from 12.9% in FY23

‘Coal imports to rise in first half of 2024’

ARUNIMA BHARADWAJ
New Delhi, June 18

IMPORT OF COAL is likely to edge higher in the first half of the current fiscal due to likely lower generation of hydropower amid depleting water levels in reservoirs, S&P Global Commodity Insights said on Tuesday. This is despite the government's efforts to ramp up coal production which is expected to touch 1.08 billion tonne in FY25.

"The first half of 2024 could potentially show stronger coal imports than the second half amid a likely lower hydropower generation because of the impact of El Nino," said Pat See Khoo, senior analyst (global power and renewables), S&P Commodity Insights. Depleting hydro-electricity output amid irregular rainfall in the previous fiscal has led to a lower water level in the primary reservoirs, which could further reduce hydropower generation during the summer, the agency said.

The water level in 150 key reservoirs stood at 38.491 billion cubic meter (bcm) as of June 13, which is 22% of the total live storage capacity, the latest data from the Central Water Commission showed. At 38.491 bcm, the current level is down 21% from a year ago and 8% from the average of the past 10 years. In April, hydro generation stood at 8,109.14 GWH, down 7% from last year, as per data from the Central Electricity Authority. However, generation from hydropower sources gained pace in May at 12,259.58 GWH, marking a rise of 6.9% over the year-ago period.

India produced 997.4 million tonne of coal in FY24, up 11.67% from the previous year. Imports of coal stood at 265 million tonne during the fiscal, compared with 245 million tonne in FY23, according to official data. India has imported around 85 million tonne of thermal coal so far in 2024, according to data provided by S&P Global Commodities.

In the past few years, India has focused on powering its economy by raising capital expenditure on sectors like infrastructure, which forms a major part of India's steel demand, S&P Global Commodity Insights said. Accordingly, the demand for coking coal, a raw material used to make steel, has sharply risen. India imports almost 70% of its coking coal requirements due to unavailability of indigenous coal. With the country's plans to raise the steel capacity to 300 million tonne per year by 2030, demand for coking coal is expected to grow further.

Direct tax mop-up rises 21% to ₹4.6 trn

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 18

INDIA'S NET DIRECT tax collections in the current financial year, after refunds, stood at ₹4.63 trillion as on June 17, representing a rise of 21%.

Of the figure, the corporate tax mop-up stood at ₹1.81 trillion and personal income tax collection at ₹2.81 trillion. The gross direct tax mop-up in the April 1-June 17 period stood at ₹5.16 trillion, up 22% year-on-year. During this period, refunds amounting to ₹53,322 crore were issued, officials said on Tuesday.

For the entire financial year, the interim Budget has pegged direct tax collection at ₹21.99 trillion.

The first instalment of advance tax, which was due on June 15, showed collection rose 27.34% to ₹1.48 trillion — corporate income tax of ₹1.14 trillion and personal income tax of ₹34,470 crore.

● MINISTRY ASKS UTILITIES TO BE ON HIGH ALERT

At 8.6 GW, Delhi's power demand hits a new high

Peak demand in northern region rises to record 89 GW

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 18

DELHI'S PEAK POWER demand reached a new high of 8.6 gigawatts (GW) on Tuesday due to persistently high temperatures, according to data from the State Load Dispatch Centre. This surge in demand is attributed to extreme heatwave conditions, resulting in increased electricity consumption.

Prior to this, the peak power demand in the national capital reached 8 GW for the first time on May 22. Last year, Delhi's peak power demand stood at 7.4 GW. "Tata Power DDL has successfully met the highest peak power demand of 2.4 GW in its area of operations," a spokesperson of the company said. "The Tata Power DDL team is working round the clock to ensure uninterrupted power supply in its area of operation in north and northwest Delhi."

Moreover, the peak demand for power in the country's northern region also increased to a record high of 89 GW on Monday due to the prevailing heatwave, according to the power ministry. The peak demand was successfully met by importing 25-30% of the region's power requirement

New Delhi Municipal Corporation workers push a water tanker as the national capital faces water crisis amid sweltering heat. The meteorological department has issued a red alert for Delhi and other areas in north India as maximum temperatures hovered around 45 degrees Celsius from neighbouring regions.

According to government sources, "All utilities have been advised to maintain a high state of alert and minimise forced outages of equipment. Further, the Ministry of Power has implemented a series of measures to meet the highest-ever peak national power demand of 250 GW during the ongoing summer season, sources added.

According to the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD), heatwave conditions in the northwest region of the country are expected to abate from June 20.

Peak shortages, which happen during certain hours of the day when loads increase, surged from 1.39 GW in 2018-19 to 8.65 GW in 2022-23, the year after demand crashed during the previous two years due to Covid-19. In 2023-24, it dropped to 3.34 GW due to a cooler-than-expected summer caused by unseasonal rainfall. While till April end, there has not been any peak demand shortage till April end, data for May-June is unavailable.

This year, with peak demand remaining at around 250 GW amid sustained heat waves pushing up air conditioning load, the country's grid managers are struggling to keep the grid balanced. Tripping of grid infrastructure at different locations across the country most likely due to increased drawal has further aggravated the situation.

The power ministry has taken several measures to ensure grid stability, including instructing imported coal-based thermal plants to operate at full capacity until October 15 and maintaining adequate coal stock. It also instructed idling gas-based thermal plants to remain operational until June-end and allowed the sale of surplus power produced from 'linkage coal' in the market, and said states can tie up power with other states having surplus capacity via PUSHp (Portal for Utilisation of Surplus Power).

‘Delhi best city for students in India’

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, June 18

THE TOP FOUR metros in India — Delhi, Mumbai, Bangalore, and Chennai — have featured among the top 150 cities in the QS best student cities 2025. The rankings show that all these cities have improved their rankings as compared to the previous year. For instance, Delhi, which has topped in the Indian cohort, has jumped to 111th spot this year as against 132nd spot last year.

The rankings are derived from a bunch of factors including student-mix, desirability, employer activity, affordability, student view and university rankings with each of these metrics having a similar weightage.

In terms of affordability, for instance, eight of the top 10 cities for affordability are Asian. Izmir (Turkey) is the most affordable city for students followed by Delhi (2nd), Yogyakarta (Indonesia), Surabaya (Indonesia), and Tainan (Taiwan).

In fact, the current edition of the QS rankings feature 36 Asian cities, with 27 rising, four remaining stable, and only five dropping. China (Mainland) has the highest number of ranked cities followed by Taiwan with five, and India and Indonesia with four each.

"We are thrilled to celebrate Asia's outstanding performance in this year's best student cities ranking with the majority of its cities climbing the table. Fostering international student mobility is central to our mission, and it is encouraging to see 36 Asian cities shine for their increasingly diverse student populations, supported by expanding employment networks and enriched by a wealth of history and culture," said Ben Sowter, senior vice president, QS. Meanwhile, London has topped the world's best student city for the sixth straight. It is followed by Tokyo in the second spot and Seoul in third. Munich has climbed to the fourth rank (it was 5th in the last rankings) while Melbourne has dropped to the fifth place.

In the 12th edition of the rankings, QS has ranked cities with a population of over 250,000 and at least two universities in the QS' World University Rankings.

UNION MINISTER NITIN Gadkari on Tuesday clarified that the construction of the bridge that collapsed in Bihar's Araria district was not undertaken by the Union Road Transport Ministry. The collapsed bridge was constructed by the Bihar Government's Rural Development Ministry, he added.

The construction of the collapsed bridge in Bihar's Araria district was not carried out under the Union Road Transport and Highways Ministry. The bridge was being constructed by the Bihar government's rural development ministry, Gadkari said in a post on X in Hindi. The bridge, constructed by the state government, was not opened to the public as approach roads to the bridge were yet to be constructed.

Tax base widens 7.4% in FY22

AS MANY AS 72.6 million income tax returns were filed in the assessment year 2022-23 (financial year 2021-22), which included 68.5 million returns filed by individuals, and 1.02 million filed by companies. A 7.4% Y-o-Y growth in total returns is largely driven by the growth recorded in individual IT returns, the largest segment of taxpayers. The trend reflects continued expansion of the tax base at a healthy pace.

Kanchanjunga Express mishap exposes holes in Kavach system

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, June 18

HUMAN ERRORS and slow deployment of the "Kavach" system continue to pose challenges for the Indian Railways, experts said in the wake of the June 17 mishap involving Kanchanjunga Express.

"The cost of installing Kavach is exorbitant which is affecting its deployment. The devices used in the system have limited approved vendors and it's difficult to produce these devices on a mass scale which is required if the Railways has to cover its entire 68,000 route km network," said the former railway official, seeking anonymity.

The systemic problems persist even as safety-related expenditure has shot up significantly in the past few years.

As per estimates, it costs about ₹50 lakh per km to deploy track-side infrastructure while the cost of Kavach equipment on loco is around ₹70 lakh per loco.

To be sure, Kavach (armour) is an indigenously developed automatic train protection (ATP) system. Its origin is traced to train collision avoidance system developed over a decade ago and it has.

The Budget FY23 made an outlay for implementation of Kavach across 2,000 km of track, and the plan is to install it across 34,000 km track of the Golden Quadrilateral rail route, by FY28.

On Tuesday, a day after the accident in West Bengal's Darjeeling district, officials in railways ministry highlighted the safety measures taken by the government over the past 10 years. In a note, the railways ministry said that between 2014 and 2024, the national transporter has spent ₹1.78 trillion on safety-related projects which is 2.5 times than the corresponding investment (₹70,273 crore) between 2004 and 2014, a period of the UPA government. This is partly attributable to inflation and the economic growth over the years that boosts railway earnings and expenditure in absolute terms.

Zomato ticketing foray may spoil BookMyShow's party

S SHANTHI
Bengaluru, June 18

ZOMATO'S MOVE TO acquire the movies and ticketing business of Paytm will pose a big challenge to BookMyShow, which is the market leader in the segment. According to industry analysts, Zomato seems keen to scale up its live events and ticketing businesses, through its subsidiary, Zomato Entertainment, where it is also investing ₹100 crore. The reason why analysts are bullish about Zomato's success in the live events and ticketing space, despite the dominance of BookMyShow is because the company has in the past has demonstrated success in areas where there are synergies with its existing businesses.

Zomato forayed into quick commerce by acquiring Blinkit and turned it around despite firms like Swiggy Instamart and Zepto having an early start. "Even though Zomato's core proposition has been food, they have executed very well on the quick commerce side. So, if they eventually acquire Paytm Insider and execute well with superior customer experience, they can coexist with BookMyShow," Karan Taurani, senior vice president and research analyst, Elara Capital told FE.

While BookMyShow excels at ticketing, Zomato is envisioning a more comprehensive "going out" experience. And by integrating event booking with its existing food delivery and restaurant discovery services, it may create a powerful ecosystem.

Additionally, its association with five-star hotels and luxury diners may also help in its live events business. "The 'Zomato network effect' is potent — the more you use it for various aspects of your 'going out' experience, the less likely you are to switch to another platform for specific needs. Zomato understands this and is strategically leveraging it," Somdutta Singh, an investor and ex-member of Niti Aayog said.

Though BookMyShow enjoys at least a 60% market share in online ticketing, in the live entertainment space, where it offers end-to-end solutions from organising to marketing events, it still has a smaller market share. "Live entertainment is a smaller business for BookMyShow at present. Around two-thirds of its revenue from the events business comes from the online ticketing vertical," Taurani said.

BookMyShow's revenue from the events business increased to ₹237 crore in FY23 from ₹25 crore in FY22. On an overall basis, the company's operating revenue stood at ₹976 crore in FY23.

For Zomato too, Zomato Entertainment, which organises food and music festivals, has so far been a smaller segment. Its overall market share in the live events sector would be less than 2.5%, point out analysts. This explains its interest in Paytm Insider, which enjoys a market share of 8-10%. "Paytm Insider would be operating at a scale of at least three times as compared to Zomato," Taurani said.

As earlier reported, Zomato is looking to acquire Paytm's entertainment business, which offers services such as ticketing, sponsorship, artist booking and marketing, at a ₹1500 - ₹1900 crore deal size.

In June 2017, Paytm picked up a majority stake in the events ticketing venture Insider.in, run by OML Entertainment. A year later, it acquired Chennai-based online ticketing startup TicketNew to focus on its entertainment ticketing business.

The firm sold more than 7.5 million tickets in 2019, with a 25% increase in the number of events ticketed from the previous year. Paytm Insider achieved over 100% growth in GMV each year over the last two years and increased revenue by four times. It also expanded to over 170 cities, including Tier 2 and 3 markets.

Looking at the boom in live events, BookMyShow is also reportedly increasing its focus on its events vertical.

Unacademy, K12 Techno Services in merger talks

ANEEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, June 18

BENGALURU-BASED EDTECH unicorn Unacademy is in discussions to merge with K12 Techno Services, according to sources familiar with the matter.

K12 Techno provides management services to ICSE and CBSE curriculum schools from kindergarten to class 12 under 'Orchid, The International School' brand. The companies have been negotiating the terms of the merger for the past few weeks, the sources added.

The proposed deal would result in both entities owning a 50% stake each in the combined entity. Unacademy had invested in Orchids International Schools three years ago, and Peak XV Partners is a common investor in both companies. In September last year, K12 Techno's funding round from Kedaara which saw ₹1,300-1,500 crore coming in at an undisclosed valuation, had given Peak XV a partial exit.

The finer details of the merger, including the valuation of the combined entity, are yet to be finalised, sources said. Unacademy had previously attempted to acquire Orchids International Schools in 2021, but the deal did not materialise.

DEAL DETAILS

50% stake to be held by each firm in proposed combined entity

■ Unacademy had invested in Orchids International Schools three years ago

■ Valuation of combined entity, other details not yet known

■ Unacademy had previously attempted to acquire Orchids International Schools in 2021

A spokesperson for K12 Techno Services declined to comment on the speculation. Unacademy did not respond to queries till the time of going to print.

According to data intelligence platform TheKredible, K12 Techno Services reported revenue of ₹382 crore in FY23, with a loss of ₹39 crore. The company is expected to close FY24 with revenue of ₹450 crore and an Ebitda of nearly ₹100 crore. Recently, Venturi Partners acquired a $27 million stake in K12 Techno Services from Navneet Learning, a subsidiary of Navneet Education.

SoftBank-backed Unacademy, on the other hand, raised its last equity round of $440 million led by Temasek in August 2021, valuing the company at $3.44 billion. During FY23, Unacademy reported a 26% increase in operating revenue to ₹907 crore while reducing losses by nearly 40% to ₹1,004 crore. At the beginning of the current fiscal, the company claimed to be nearing profitability at the group level. However, Unacademy has yet to file its audited financial statements for FY24.

In an interaction with FE in February, Jai Decosta, MD and CEO of K-12 Techno Services had alluded to increased outside interest in the business over the past few years.

"For the first five years we were iterating solutions, and obviously weren't attractive to big players. Over the past few years, however, on the basis of our strong numbers and positive sentiment amongst users, we have received multiple such queries," Decosta had said without naming the suitors.

Google rolls out Gemini Android app for India

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 18

GOOGLE ON TUESDAY said its AI assistant Gemini is now available as an app for Android smartphone users in India with support for English, Hindi and eight other Indian languages.

"We're also adding these local languages to Gemini Advanced, plus other new features, and launching Gemini in Google Messages in English," Sundar Pichai, CEO of Google and Alphabet, said in a post on X.

For iPhone users, access to Gemini will be rolled out through the Google app over the next few weeks, according to a blog post by Amar Subramanya, vice president, engineering, Gemini Experiences.

"Gemini, your AI assistant from Google, has had an exciting first year in India... From students to developers and many other curious minds, people in India are embracing Gemini's capabilities to enhance their productivity, learning, and creativity in everyday life," Subramanya wrote.

Additionally, users of Gemini Advanced in India will now be able to access features of Gemini 1.5 Pro, Google's latest next-gen AI (Artificial Intelligence) model.

The expanded capacity of Gemini Advanced will allow users to upload multiple large documents and emails for quick summaries, feedback, and actionable insights.

"As always, privacy is a top priority. Gemini keeps your files private to you, and they're not used to train our models," Subramanya added.

AT A CLICK

■ App allows user to type, talk, or even add an image to get assistance

■ Gemini also rolled out in Google Messages; another way for users to collaborate with Gemini on phone

■ With Gemini Advanced, users can upload large documents, emails for quick summaries, feedback

Google said the Gemini feature will also be added in Google Messages on select devices.

The generative AI platform faced controversies earlier this year, over its "fascist Modi" responses and allegations of anti-white bias.

Google had said it worked quickly to address the issue. And conceded that the chatbot may not always be reliable in responding to certain prompts related to current events and political topics.

Fosun to sell 5% stake in Gland Pharma for $172 mn in block deal

ANTO ANTONY & JULIA FIORETTI
June 18

FOSUN PHARMA INDUSTRIAL will cut its stake in India's Gland Pharma through block deals after being unable to offload it in one go.

The company will sell 5% in the drugmaker for about $172 million through block trade, according to terms of the deal obtained by Bloomberg News. It has offered 8.2 million shares with the floor price set at ₹1,750 apiece, a 4.9% discount to the last close.

Fosun Pharma, a wholly owned subsidiary of Shanghai Fosun Pharmaceutical (Group), holds about 58% of Gland Pharma, which has a market value of ₹30,300 crore ($3.6 billion). It will carry out more block sales in the coming months to shore up its balance sheet unless buyout firms make an offer, according to people familiar with the matter. Fosun

Pharma's high valuation expectations for Gland Pharma have been a hurdle to a potential sale to private equity firms, they said, asking not to be identified discussing confidential information.

A representative for Fosun Pharma declined to comment, while a representative for Gland Pharma didn't respond to requests for comment.

Gland Pharma specialises in injectable drugs such as antibiotics, oncology and cardiology treatments and has a presence in about 60 countries, including Australia, Canada, India and the US, according to its website.

Fosun Pharma acquired a 74% stake in Gland Pharma for about $1.1 billion in 2017 from a group including KKR. The business was listed three years later in Mumbai. The Hyderabad-based company's shares have climbed 82% over the past 12 months, but they are down more than 55% from a 2021 peak.

A LITTLE OVER a decade ago, Nykaa disrupted the beauty space, creating a specialised platform in a segment where none existed. Investors rewarded the startup, founded by former investment banker Falguni Nayar, helping it list at an 80% premium to its issue price in 2021. It remained the top pick among startups over the next few years as the market remained largely devoid of deep-pocketed players.

But that glow is fading now, with competition catching up fast.

Reliance Retail's Tira has raised the competitive heat in the last one year within the $19-20 billion beauty and personal care (BPC) market in India, and so have players such as Tata Cliq Palette, Myntra and Shoppers Stop. Bengaluru-based Redseer Strategy Consultants estimates that the BPC market in India will touch $30 billion by 2027, making up about 5% of the global opportunity as Indian consumers aspire to look and feel good with organised beauty products, both national and international.

Online and offline retailers have wasted no time in seizing the opportunity. Myntra, in particular, has been on a tear tying up with more than 50 international brands within the beauty space in the last one year.

Shoppers Stop subsidiary SS Beauty Brands has stepped up its beauty play, onboarding global make-up brand Nars Cosmetics from Shiseido, skin care brand Fre, and make-up lines from Prada, Valentino and Bath & Body Works, an American fragrance brand, among others, over the last few months.

Tata Cliq Palette, which recently opened its first store in Navi Mumbai, has a curation of over 1,000 global and homegrown brands across makeup, skincare, haircare, fragrance, tools, and accessories, industry executives said. And Reliance's Tira has had a similar number of brand tie-ups (around 800-1,000 brands) across online and offline (it has 12 stores so far in cities such as Mumbai, Pune, Delhi and Bengaluru). And is looking at more store launches in the future.

So, where does that leave Nykaa, the original online-to-offline or omnichannel specialty retailer?

"The differentiating factor with Nykaa has diminished with more competitors stepping into the beauty category doing the same thing," says Arvind Singhal, chairman of Gurugram-based Technopak Advisors, a retail and management consultancy. "Finding that next disruptor to upend the market may also not be easy for Nykaa as it may require sustained investment in a competitive market," he says.

At its Investor Day last week, Nayar, Nykaa's founder and CEO, said the retailer was looking to scale up its fashion, beauty and consumer businesses over the next three years while increasing its presence in foreign markets such as the Gulf region.

"Looking ahead, the beauty business's ambition is to grow at a compounded annual growth rate (CAGR) of mid-to-late 20s till FY28," Nayar said. "While Nykaa Fashion aims to grow to 2.5-3x over the next three years, aspiring to become Ebitda positive in the near future," she added.

Analysts such as Latika Chopra of JPMorgan say achieving this pace of growth will require higher investment. "The pace of new customer acquisitions will have to accelerate and faster offline scale up will be key monitortables," she said in a report on Nykaa on Thursday.

Financial numbers

Nykaa's financials have been a mixed bag. It remains a rare startup that is profitable. Yet, investors have had lofty expectations on both the profit and margin fronts over the last few quarters as it struggles to maintain its double-digit pace of growth and ensure costs are in check.

Consider this: The Q4FY24 profit of FSN E-Commerce Ventures, the parent company of Nykaa, rose 187.6% year-on-year to nearly ₹7 crore, but missed analysts' estimates of ₹13 crore by a wide margin.

Revenue rose 28.1% year-on-year to ₹1,668 crore in Q4, thanks to a sales uptick in its beauty division, which contributes around 83% to Nykaa's quarterly topline. The rest comes from the fashion segment (contributing 8%) and eB2B, a wholesale business for retailers called Nykaa SuperStore, bucketed under 'Others' (contributing 9%).

Tata Elxsi sharpens AI focus in automotive testing space

PADMINI DHURVARAJ
Bengaluru, June 18

TATA ELXSI IS leveraging artificial intelligence (AI) to revolutionise automotive testing, ensuring higher accuracy and reducing time-to-market for products, Nitin Pai, chief marketing officer & chief strategy officer, Tata Elxsi, told FE. The company is also experimenting in aerospace and smart manufacturing, aiming to extend its innovative solutions to new verticals.

This technology is instrumental in features such as lane departure warnings, lane change assists, and reversing camera alerts. These systems rely on vision cameras and AI algorithms to monitor lane markings and alert drivers if they unintentionally veer off course.

“AI is helping drive testing, enabling more accurate simulations and quicker validation cycles,” Pai said. “Simple features like lane departure warning are completely AI-driven. The system uses vision cameras to register lane markings and alerts the driver if they stray from their lane. This enhances safety by ensuring the driver stays attentive to the road,” he added.

The design and technology services provider is also monetising by incorporating GenAI into their products. “We have integrated GenAI into our OTT testing products, enhancing their capabilities,” Pai said. These AI-augmented products are already deployed in the market, providing smart testing solutions that improve both speed and quality.

Additionally, the emergence of GenAI is enabling junior engineers to perform at the level of seasoned professionals. This significant boost in productivity is achieved by automating repetitive tasks and providing high-quality code generation, allowing engineers to focus on more complex aspects of their work, he added.

AI is also helping the company streamline recruitment by parsing through resumes to shortlist candidates that best match job requirements. “GenAI is the fastest and most comprehensive reader, significantly aiding in smarter recruitment processes,” Pai said.

Moreover, AI is enhancing internal processes such as documentation, legal contract processing, and financial discrepancies management. “Our legal team uses GenAI for contract processing, quickly summarizing and capturing key deviations from typical norms,” he said.

Expansion and future investments

Tata Elxsi continues to expand its operations and invest in new technologies. “We expect to welcome between 1,000 to 1,500 engineers this year and are expanding our offices and labs, particularly in 5G and automotive software,” Pai said.

Tata Tech, TaMo & Microsoft foster GenAI innovation

Coal India explores Argentina lithium blocks

NEHA ARORA & KRISHN KAUSHIK
New Delhi, June 18

STATE-RUN COAL INDIA is exploring lithium blocks in Argentina along with a US company to secure supplies of the battery material, a source said on Tuesday.

The efforts are part of India's membership under the US-led Minerals Security Partnership, which New Delhi joined last year to ensure adequate supplies of minerals to meet zero-carbon goals.

India and the US said on Monday they were co-investing in a lithium resource project in South America and a rare earths deposit in Africa to diversify critical minerals supply chains.

India has been in talks with several countries, including the US, to collaborate in lithium processing and avoid relying on China, Reuters had reported.

“Coal India has come forward for the Kachi block in Argentina in which a US company and two other countries are interested to explore under the Minerals Security Partnership,” the source said.

Preliminary studies are being conducted, the source added.

In February, US secretary of state Antony Blinken said on a trip to Argentina that the US was exploring investment opportunities in critical minerals, especially lithium.

Coal India and ministry of mines did not immediately respond to Reuters emails for comments.

Under the minerals partnership, which India had joined last year, New Delhi was invited to participate in 20-25 critical minerals projects, of which four have been identified by the government, with two of these are in collaboration with the US, the source said.

The second project is in the Kangankunde block in Malawi, the source said, which is being explored by state-owned IREL for rare earths.

IREL did not immediately respond to a Reuters email seeking comments. The government has also asked miners to explore critical minerals in Australia's Dubbo region, the source said.

Sebi may hike F&O margins, mandate more disclosures

“THE RECENTLY FORMED committee will look into all the recommendations made by various bodies and industry experts,” said the head of a brokerage firm. A few months ago, Sebi's chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch had expressed her anguish with retail investors participating in the derivatives market.

“I am always a little confused and surprised as to why people continue to do that (betting in F&O) knowing that the odds are not in their favour at all,” she had said.

Her comments came in the backdrop of a Sebi report which said that 89% of retail F&O investors end up in losing money. Also, the share of young individuals' (20-30 years) participation in equity F&O—especially in index options and stock options—went beyond 35% each, from nearly 11% in FY19.

The number of individual traders in index options and stock options has risen by 8 times and 5 times, respectively, in the past three years.

Since FY22, the daily average turnover in the NSE F&O segment has grown by over 100% every single year. And it is largely due to the participation by retail investors.

On Friday, National Stock Exchange (NSE) CEO Ashishkumar Chauhan cautioned retail investors against trading in derivatives. He also said that trading in F&O should be limited to informed investors who can manage risk and comprehend the market.

According to the head of a brokerage house, the markets regulator should introduce tighter measures in the segment, as is the case in foreign jurisdictions.

“In speculation, most are likely to lose money so we have to discourage this type of culture, because ultimately they'll blame the broker, the regulator, and the market,” added the broker.

No scope for adventurism, says Das

RURAL CONSUMPTION HAS picked up, FMCG sales in rural areas has increased, demand for MGNREGS has gone down, agriculture season looks optimistic because of projection of above normal monsoon in south-east region,” he said.

External sector demand is also likely to continue being strong, giving support to domestic exports, particularly in the services sector. Even in the services sector, unlike earlier times when demand was primarily in the IT segment, newer segments like accountancy and legal are now showing higher demand.

India's current account deficit has remained very low at 1.2% in the 9MFY24 period and Das said he would not be surprised if the full year CAD is lower than 1%.

Hard look at PLI

A one-size-fits-all approach is the reason why 13 of the 14 PLI schemes don't have much to showcase

AS THE GOVERNMENT prepares to present the annual Budget in the third week of July, there are expectations that the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme, started by the Modi government in 2019, will be expanded to more sectors. Before that happens, some stocktaking is needed to figure out whether the outlay of over ₹2 trillion involving 14 PLIs has worked. It has surely been a success in smartphones, which was the first beneficiary of such a scheme in mid-2020. A global, marquee brand like Apple set up a manufacturing base in the country, and exports zoomed. In FY24, Apple's India production doubled to $14 billion. Now, one in seven iPhones assembled in the world are being done in India, and over 70% of the output are exported to Europe, US, and Asia.

But the 13 other PLI schemes don't have much to showcase. According to available data, so far companies have made investments worth ₹1.07 trillion against an outlay of over ₹2 trillion. Of the expected incremental sales target of ₹40 trillion, just 17% has been achieved till December 2023. Similarly, of the direct employment potential of 1.15 million, around 43% has been achieved. The 13 sectors include high-efficiency solar PV modules, automobiles, ACC batteries, textiles, IT hardware, and specialty steel. The government has tweaked the schemes in some cases, like the IT hardware, to make it more attractive to the industry. However, the bigger question is why the scheme succeeded in a sector like smartphones but not in other sectors when the basic architecture was the same.

The answer perhaps lies in the fact that a one-size-fits-all approach does not work, as has been demonstrated through experience so far. The smartphone PLI scheme was designed after more than two years of discussions with Apple as the other major global manufacturer, Samsung, was already present in the country. The specifics of the scheme were tailored to suit Apple, which was not the case with other schemes. There was no clear goal in mind as to which companies are being targeted to set up shop in India. This becomes very clear in the case of auto where PLI was aimed to promote electric vehicles (EVs). While a host of domestic companies were selected, this year, the government came out with a different EV policy to woo Tesla where the incentive for the first three years is concession in import duty. In IT hardware where the scheme had to be reworked in 2023, the basic flaw was the assumption that what worked in smartphones would work in IT also.

The basic idea behind the PLI schemes was to make India an export hub and emerge as part of a global value chain, and generate large-scale employment. Since providing export subsidies would have been in violation of the World Trade Organization rules, the schemes were marketed not as an export promotion one, but aimed at deepening domestic production. While there isn't any doubt that PLI as a concept is a good one, the government should take a holistic view of the schemes, what has worked and what not, and make the required course corrections. There's no point in having PLIs for all the sectors. The basic cornerstone should be to study the dynamics of each sector, and offer what the industry feels will yield results. A top-down approach doesn't work.

China needs a green Marshall Plan for the global South

MONEY DOESN'T JUST make returns. It builds alliances, too.

That was the thinking behind the Marshall Plan, the US aid package intended to restart shattered European economies in the aftermath of World War II. "If Europe fails to recover, the peoples of these countries might be driven to the philosophy of despair," and return to totalitarianism, President Harry Truman told Congress in proposing the program.

The political effect of turning the continent's war-ravaged economies into a prosperous, integrated group of US allies is hard to deny. Rich countries need to contemplate that as they raise barriers ever higher against Chinese clean technology. If Beijing is serious about building mutual alliances abroad, it will do everything it can to use its industrial and financial power to emulate Marshall's example.

As in postwar Europe, much of the world right now is struggling to recover from crisis. Lower-income countries whose budgets were shattered by the Covid-19 pandemic have struggled to roll over their debts thanks to deteriorating government balance sheets. Emerging middle powers such as Egypt, Pakistan and Bangladesh, heavily dependent on imported liquefied natural gas, have faced further problems as Russia's invasion of Ukraine pushed prices out of their reach.

Meanwhile China — like the postwar US — emerged from the global crisis looking stronger than ever, with its economy about a third larger in real terms in 2023 than in 2019. Its current account surplus peaked at $460 billion in the third quarter of 2022, meaning foreign countries are sending more money for its goods and services than it's sending back in return.

To balance out this surplus, Beijing has to invest more overseas — traditionally, by buying US Treasury bonds. Recently, however, the mix has shifted toward direct ownership of businesses. Over the past few years, outflows of FDI have been running ahead of inflows for the first time since the mid-2010s, when President Xi Jinping's Belt and Road infrastructure program was in its first flush, and acquisitive conglomerates such as HNA Group Co. and Dalian Wanda Group went on a shopping spree for prestige assets.

The trend is only accelerating. Outbound FDI rose 19% in the first four months of 2024 relative to its level a year earlier, to more than 343 billion yuan ($47 billion), the Ministry of Commerce said last month.

With developed democracies casting a skeptical eye over Chinese businesses, more and more of this money is flowing into emerging economies. Europe and the US accounted for just $10.3 billion of a total $28.2 billion of Chinese FDI in electric vehicle manufacturing last year, according to Rhodium Group, a consultancy. Far larger shares went to Asia, Latin America, and North Africa, with Morocco alone receiving $6.3 billion.

There are many reasons to welcome such a shift. China has built a clean-technology manufacturing sector that can go a long way toward getting the world to net-zero emissions. However, the two largest export markets, the US and Europe, are shunning this technology with tariffs and investigations into solar and wind exports and internet-connected cars. Poorer nations could provide an export market for the solar panels, rechargeable batteries and EVs that rich countries appear to no longer want.

There are more strategic reasons for Beijing to favour such a policy. FDI is a potent form of soft power that often goes hand-in-hand with political hegemony. Just as a previous generation of foreign policy experts hoped that FDI in China would sway it toward a more democratic path, so Beijing may hope to build alliances with emerging economies through spending.

That's going to be particularly important as China's own growing wealth makes it look less and less like would-be allies in the Global South. The country may be just months away from joining the ranks of high-income nations, and meanwhile accounts for more than 40% of the world's emissions.

If Beijing wants to maintain its diplomatic standing with low- and middle-income countries and not look like another heedless rich polluter, it will need to do everything it can to borrow the altruistic legacy of the Marshall Plan.

POLITICAL ECONOMICS

IT'S NOT ALWAYS THE CASE THAT A SINGLE-PARTY GOVERNMENT IS BENEFICIAL TO THE ECONOMY

7.3% over a nine-year span.

In the two years that Morarji Desai's cabinet was in power, during 1977-79, GDP increased at a pace of 6.5%. During the precarious coalition politics of 1989-2004, the growth rate was 5.6%, although on average during Vajpayee's six-year premiership, it was slightly higher at 5.8%. On the other hand, in the 15 years of Congress's one-party rule preceding the Desai government, the GDP grew at a rate of only 3.8%. According to expert evaluations, coalition governments have generally been successful in promoting economic growth, but have had some difficulty reining in inflation. However, one must remember that a nation's economy is influenced by a wide range of variables, including the state of the world economy and politics.

Importantly, the revolutionary and unquestionably daring policy decisions made by various coalition governments throughout the 25-year period from 1989 to 2014 significantly altered the nation's social and economic landscape. The government of PV Narasimha Rao, which was not only a coalition but also a minority one, would invariably be the prime example. It brought a plethora of reforms, like doing away with centralised planning and abolishing the licence-permit raj to allow the Indian economy to compete globally. It brought about market-oriented economics and privatisation. Reforms were actually required in the wake of the significant spike in oil prices in August 1990, which left India facing an untenable balance of payments position, depleted foreign exchange reserves, and massive capital outflows, thus increasing the likelihood of default. During this administration, India also joined the World Trade Organization.

Then finance minister P Chidambaram introduced a "Dream Budget" in 1996-97 during the brief HD Deve Gowda regime, which proposed reducing income tax rates, corporate taxes, and customs charges as well as eliminating the corporation tax surcharge. Chidambaram's Voluntary Disclosure of Income Scheme was intended to curb black money, but it also gradually widened the tax base and raised tax buoyancy.

To privatise failing public sector organisations, the government of Atal Bihari Vajpayee established the department of divestment. When Vajpayee's government pushed to buy a 20% share of Sakhalin-I oil and gas reserves in far-east Russia in 2001, India made the single largest foreign investment. In order to maintain fiscal rectitude, the government also drafted the Fiscal Responsibility and Budget Management law. Additionally, it introduced the New Telecom Policy by switching from fixed licence payments to a revenue-sharing

Improve financial literacy and redress

Policies have sought to promote participation in financial markets, but investor ignorance and negligence as well as fraudulent activities are impediments to growth

India's financial sector has grown exponentially over the past two decades. One major contributor to this is the rising participation of private investors in financial markets coupled with digitalisation. While the growth is commendable, it has brought new challenges that need to be addressed promptly. Policies and regulations have sought to promote increased participation in the sector, but instances of investor ignorance and negligence as well as fraudulent activities have acted as impediments to growth. Increasing complaints received by financial services institutions and regulators are evidence of the challenges posed by the adoption of fintech. The grievance redress mechanism often struggles to keep pace, leaving many consumers floundering in the wake of unresolved complaints and delays. A robust mechanism could potentially increase retail investment in the financial markets.

Regulators like Securities and Exchange Board of India, Reserve Bank of India, Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India and Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority are inundated with complaints ranging from mis-selling of products to unfair trade practices. This is because of a long-winded process and timeline, and various levels of redress. Though they have provisions for registering complaints, banks and other financial institutions do not have any uniform policy for grievance redress and its monitoring. Besides, consumers in some cases are not clear about the procedure to file complaints. Grievance redress mechanisms are sometimes are not user-friendly and are not available in vernacular languages, which alienates a significant portion of the population. Also, a multi-tiered structure displays inefficiency as the complaint has to go through different levels before a complainant can approach the ombudsman or the appellate authority.

Financial regulators/institutions also face a challenge of disposal. Limited manpower and an increasing volume of complex cases impact consumer confidence and burden the institutions with increased operational costs and reputational risk. Systems like SCORES (Sebi Complaints Redress System) have pioneered online dispute resolution mechanisms, but consumer adoption remains low. A significant portion of the population either lacks access to necessary technology or the expertise to use digital tools. This not only elongates the resolution timeline but also discourages users from engaging with online platforms. The hesitation to file grievances also stems from a perceived complexity, fear of going unheard or getting lost in the procedural labyrinth. This phobia is worsened by the lack of user-friendly mechanisms that offer transparent and timely updates.

A major hurdle is the stark lack of financial literacy coupled with the gender gap in literacy. According to the OECD Report 2023, globally 35% men are financially literate compared to 30% of women. The financial literacy gender gap is even wider in developing economies. In India, 27% men are financially literate, but only 20% of women. This lack of financial literacy is not just about understanding basic financial principles but also extends to a lack of knowledge about the available system including for grievance redress. Thus, the solution lies not just in speedy and effective grievance redress but also digitalised financial literacy efforts as well as the adoption of a modern and preferably unified grievance redress agency. Creating a unified online portal for all financial services and grievance mechanisms could streamline processes, while artificial intelligence-powered chatbots can offer real-time assistance. Blockchain technology could enhance transparency in redress, and virtual financial assistants could provide personalised advice and support in managing finances and filing grievances. Setting up interactive digital kiosks in rural areas with limited internet connectivity will aid such innovations and significantly improve the efficiency and user-friendliness of India's financial systems.

A multifaceted approach is necessary to ease grievance redress along with modernisation of financial systems. This should involve collaboration among various stakeholders, including regulators, financial and educational institutions, and consumer advocacy groups. Innovative ideas include developing mobile learning apps that employ gamification for engaging micro-learning modules and broadbasing financial education. Integrating the redress mechanism with digitalised financial literacy efforts is key. Additionally, community-based workshops, social media campaigns, and collaborations with registered advisors can help disseminate financial knowledge.

The Financial Sector Legislative Reforms Commission (FSLRC) has proposed setting up of a centralised unified grievance system for all financial services operating independently of regulators to handle retail consumer complaints through mediation and adjudication. Financial Redressal Agency, the proposed agency, would provide a single point of contact for consumers to lodge complaints, eliminating the need to approach multiple agencies. The time is ripe to revisit the FSLRC's recommendations and implement a unified grievance redress system for the financial sector.

An efficient, technology-driven unified financial grievance redress system will not only resolve issues promptly but also strengthen public trust in the financial ecosystem, potentially leading to a surge in retail participation in India.

gather more thrust for his party down the line. The vacant Wayanad seat could well be contested by his sibling, in which case focus would return to the much-decried dynastic bent, long prevalent in every party. But after a decade of a near-authoritarian dispensation, perhaps dynasty in itself could regain greater acceptability. Dynasty was never the pariah. —R Narayanan, Navi Mumbai

● INTERVIEW: DHEERAJ SINHA, Group CEO, FCB Group India & South Asia

'Talking to an audience of one is becoming very important'

The more things change, thanks to emerging technologies, the more advertising's raison d'être remains the same, says Dheeraj Sinha, group CEO, FCB Group India & South Asia. In this interview to Alokannanda Chakraborty, he speaks of the changes the advertising industry is going through and the trends that might have a lasting impact. Edited excerpts:

The Cannes Festival of Creativity is in full swing but what do awards really bring to the table? I think awards are important because they help you benchmark your work globally. They tell you how creative your work is because as an agency we believe that creativity is an economic multiplier. The more creative your work is, the more the client gets a bang for their buck. So, I think awards are important. Having said that, we never chase awards as a strategy, so we will not try to do something just to win awards. We want to do great work on our brands, and great work should deliver great business impact and results for our clients. And we want to win awards for that. Some years you win more, some years you win less. We don't chase awards but if you want to be the best athlete in the world, you have to compete in the Olympics. I think from a benchmarking perspective, awards are great.

Technology is changing the advertising business. Of the recent changes, which ones will have a lasting impact? I think technology has brought a great dimension to the idea of advertising. Say about two decades ago, the entire palette of advertising was words and images. So you could write a print ad, you could do a hoarding, you could make a film but now you can use technology to solve a problem. You can use technology to create a piece of utility. For example, last year we did a campaign for Dark Fantasy where we said, using AI,

TECHNOLOGY HAS NOW BECOME A 'MATERIAL' WHICH BRANDS CAN USE TO CREATE A UTILITY, TO BUILD CAMPAIGNS AND TO SOLVE PROBLEMS"

"You can star, with the content of your choice, with Shah Rukh Khan". So technology has now become a "material" which brands can use to create a utility, to build campaigns, to solve problems, to make a programme, and therefore it has added a huge new dimension to the way advertising works, to the way consumers react to content, and to the way brands are being built. Obviously, the biggest conversation right now is AI, and I feel that AI will be a game-changer not just for advertising, marketing, or brand building, but for everything — for medicine, for health, for the way cars are driven. We are moving to the next level of operating system as far as tech is concerned and that will impact the work that marketing and advertising does.

How can advertising agencies make the most of the digital tools they have? How can they get the biggest bang for a brand's digital marketing budget? The interesting — or the strange — thing is, with so much data intake coming in, what's becoming more and more important is the human connect, the stories that we tell.

So much content is available — in short form, long form, on YouTube, on ShareChat, on Instagram — but not all of that content will stick. What sticks is what is relevant to people, to consumers. What sticks is a story which is well told. What sticks is emotional. So when we're looking at a digital media marketing budget, we have to make sure that (a) it's being spent on platforms where our consumers are; and (b) it's spent on content which is native to the mood of the consumer on that platform. So if you're on Instagram, you have to be visual. If you're on LinkedIn, you have to be professional. If you're on Twitter, you have to be provocative. So the content has to be native to the expectations of people from that platform.

Finally, you have to still tell stories that are engaging, that are human. Despite all the proliferation of data and technology, all the tools that you have at hand, that human touch, that emotional connect is something that's the biggest multiplier in our business... still. Like the more they change, the more things remain the same.

What are some of the other trends that will impact the future of creativity? The role of creativity will become more and more important. How you're creating content, how you're creating ideas that stand out, that touch people, that people want to embrace — that'll become more important as technology and data come into play. What will also become important is that you do marketing that is region-specific, you do marketing that is cohort specific. The whole idea of one-size-fits-all will increasingly become weaker. So ground-up marketing — talking to an audience of one will become important.

When the inbox is a battleground

Hyper-personalised videos lead to better message retention

■ PANKAJ K ARORA

EVER FEEL LIKE your inbox is a battleground for attention? Between endless emails, promotional messages, and social updates, important messages can easily get lost. But what if there was a way to make sure your messages and pop-ups stand out and get noticed? Yes, we are talking about hyper-personalised video messages in your inbox. Hyper-personalised video can transform the way brands interact with their customers. A campaign last year with a prominent automotive brand yielded an 11x increase in engagement with the target audience compared to previous campaigns. E-commerce/D2C platforms can use them to nudge customers who've abandoned carts and we have seen more than 2x RoAS in results. By tailoring the message to each individual, these videos offer precise value to each consumer. When you provide the relevant information the user was seeking, that too in an easy-to-consume format like video, the communication doesn't feel like spam or ads, and instead gets received as value addition.

We're bombarded with generic content all day. Personalised experiences, however, not only grab our attention but also offer value to us. Generic content may feel invasive and spam-like if the user doesn't find it relevant. Targeted marketing has been capitalising on personalisation for conversion already. Hyper-personalised videos take this a step further and help build a deeper connection with the audience. Imagine a short video popping up in your inbox, not just showing you a generic car, but a caryou were looking for, a car in your budget, even featuring you. It could be a quick clip of yourself driving the dream car, on the roads that you plan to drive on. You can vicariously live that excitement. Such excitement is incredibly difficult to ignite via generic videos.

The impact of hyper-personalised videos is undeniable. First, they offer enhanced communication. When it comes to conveying brand messaging, nothing quite compares to the power of audiovisuals, especially when presented in vernacular language. And when you add personalisation into the mix, the impact is elevated. Second, they amplify brand equity. These videos contribute significantly to building brand equity by forging deeper connections, increasing relevance, enhancing memorability, differentiating the brand, and boosting perceived value.

While hyper-personalised videos are currently in their nascent stages, they possess vast potential. In India, numerous industry verticals, spanning BFSI, travel and hospitality, healthcare, e-commerce/D2C, real estate, automobiles, IPL (for fan engagement) and more, have already launched GenAI-based hyper-personalised campaigns. As technology advances and becomes more affordable, it's not far-fetched to envision a future where the majority of brand communications are enhanced with such videos.

Animation made the world of steel look less formidable

PRATEEK SETHI

Why the campaign rocks: This spot on JSW Steel has to be one of the best I've seen. Using malleable clay to showcase the capabilities of steel was a fantastic idea by the team at Ogilvy India. The choice of medium was excellent. The launch video of the campaign using 'claymation' animation directed by industry stalwart Suresh Eriyat was excellent in terms of visuals, audio and most importantly, the way it made the viewer feel. The one-minute film did a great job of showcasing the various applications of steel as a foundation of almost everything around us. The usage of the brand colours to build the world was simplified by a clear graphical vision and good animation. The sound design fits the visuals so well. The campaign generated a lot of pre and post-launch buzz. Being an animation buff, this spot really stole my heart. I look forward to more excellent pieces of work that will leave us all spellbound.

● How did the accident happen

ON JUNE 17, A goods train rammed into the rear end of the Sealdah-bound Kanchanjunga Express in north Bengal leading to the death of at least 10 people and leaving 25 injured. Three rear compartments derailed under the impact of the collision near Rangapani station, about 30 km from north Bengal's New Jalpaiguri station. While initial reports said it was human error on the part of the loco pilot of the goods train, documents accessed by The Indian Express show that the automatic signalling system on the line was down since morning and the train was given 'paper line clearance' by the station manager to cross all red signals. The Kanchanjunga Express had departed from Rangapani station and stopped ahead on the same track due to the automatic signalling failure. While the Commissioner of Railway Safety (CRS) for Northeast Frontier Railway has started a probe into the cause of the accident, the incident brought rail safety back into the debate and why the Indian Railways' much-touted anti-train collision system, Kavach, had not been deployed in West Bengal.

● Patchy record of rail safety

EXPERTS SAY DEPLOYMENT of Kavach can help prevent train collisions, the second largest cause of train accidents in India after derailments. A year ago, on June 2, the Coromandel Express hit a goods train in Balasore in Odisha after hitting the

What is delaying Kavach deployment?

Bengaluru-Howrah Superfast Express, resulting in a triple train crash that left nearly 300 people dead and over 1,000 injured. In October 2023, two trains collided in Andhra Pradesh's Vizianagaram leaving 13 dead and 50 injured. There have been 18 collisions in the last 64 months leading to a consequential train accident (one that causes deaths, injuries, rail traffic disruption and damage to railway property), making modernisation of rail signaling systems a top priority.

● How Kavach prevents a collision

KAVACH, UNVEILED IN 2022, is an automatic train protection system developed by the Research Design and Standards Organisation of the Indian Railways. It transmits emergency messages and offers centralised live monitoring of train movements through the Network Monitor System. It is designed to give warnings to the loco pilot in case of overspeeding or in adverse weather conditions such as dense fog. If the pilot does not slow down below 15 km per hour on receiving the warnings, the Kavach system automatically applies brakes to bring the train to a halt. It has been designated as India's National Automatic Train Protection (ATP) System. Based on Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) technology, the system comprises five key components: optical fibre work, towers to catch the signals, data centres at railway stations, trackside equipment and loco Kavach.

● Routes where it has been deployed

INDIAN RAILWAYS HAS deployed Kavach only on 1,465 km and 139 locomotives (including Electric Multiple Unit rakes) on South Central Railway, Contracts for another 3,000 km across Eastern Railway, East Central Railway, North Central Railway, Northern Railway, West Central Railway and Western Railway have been awarded for the Delhi-Mumbai (including Ahmedabad-Vadodara section) and Delhi-Howrah (including Lucknow-Kanpur section) routes. Following the accident, Railway Board chairman and CEO Jaya Varma Sinha said Kavach will be deployed on the Delhi-Guwahati route soon. She said it is in the railways' next plan to cover over 6,000 km of tracks by next year while West Bengal falls within the 3,000 km to be protected by Kavach this year. The cost for trackside, including station equipment, of Kavach is about ₹50 lakh per km while it costs ₹70 lakh to install Kavach equipment in one loco. Over ₹557 crore had been earmarked in the FY25 Interim Budget for Kavach implementation.

● Speeding up the installation process

INDIAN RAILWAYS IS likely to float tenders worth ₹5000 crore in the next few months for installation of Kavach across 10,000 km. "Tenders for commissioning Kavach on close to 10,000 km of railway network is proposed to be initiated soon. The system, which has received a patent, has been approved for commissioning by additional vendors, including MNCs such as Japanese firm Kyosan. This will allow faster rollout of the system," Mint quoted railway minister Ashwini Vaishnaw as saying. In February this year, he had said there are currently three Kavach manufacturers — HBL Power Systems, Kernex Microsystems, and Medha Servo Drives — with approval pending for two more. Due to the critical nature of the safety system, the approval process for manufacturers typically takes two-and-a-half years. Recently, Indian Railways finalised an agreement with RailTel Corporation and Quadrant Future Tek to expedite the rollout of Kavach, both domestically and internationally.

AU SFB sees robust 25% growth in its vehicle loan book

AU SMALL FINANCE Bank expects its vehicle loan book to grow 20-25% in the current financial year.

“While gaining market share from new states will take some time, we will be able to offer the same value proposition in newer states as well. That will help us scale up,” Karkera said.

Overall retail assets of the bank stood at ₹48,915 crore as on March 31. This includes the wheels segment, micro business loans and affordable

TMB submits three names for MD & CEO post to RBI

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, June 18

TAMILNADU MERCANTILE BANK (TMB) has submitted a list of three candidates for the position of MD and CEO to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) for approval, the lender said in a regulatory filing.

“The bank’s board in a meeting held on June 18 has finalised the names of three candidates, in the order of preference, in accordance with the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, and the extant norms prescribed by RBI,” it added.

Sources aware of the development said the interview process of the candidates were completed a week before and the names were sent to the regulator for approval. “We expect the regulatory approvals and other formalities to be completed in 45 days,” they added.

The development comes after the banking regulator, in April, rejected three candidates proposed by the Tuticorin-headquartered bank as “not suitable” and approved a committee of experts (CoE) to oversee its administration and operations earlier this month.

RBI and TMB did not respond to an email query till the time of going to press.

TMB has been struggling to find a successor to former MD & CEO Krishnan, who resigned in September 2023, citing “personal reasons”, just a year after his appointment.

His resignation came in the backdrop of a technical glitch that led to the erroneous credit of ₹9,000 crore into a cab driver’s account in September last year. The bank had then said that the mistake was quickly identified, the entries were immediately reversed and strong control measures were put in place.

TMB ran several newspaper advertisements inviting applications for the post of new MD & CEO ever since Krishnan’s resignation was announced. In November last year, it sent three names to RBI for approval, which were rejected in April, forcing the bank to begin the search process once again.

Krishnan continued to lead the bank for nine months while awaiting a replacement. However, on June 7, TMB announced that its board had agreed to relieve him of his duties.

PLI rejig: Faster release of funds, MSME push likely

Only exceptions to quarterly disbursements will be cases where the numbers are small and departments will find it difficult to do so, the sources added. PLI for food processing is one such scheme.

Earlier, the scheme guidelines stated that applications for incentives can be submitted after the end of the financial year to which the claim pertains. Annual claims can be submitted only once and within nine months of the end of the financial year.

It is hoped that quarterly disbursements will speed up payout of incentives because claims are expected to increase this year. The reason for higher claims would be the production starting or increasing in manufacturing units that have qualified for PLI.

Trade policy think tank Global Trade Research Initiative says that currently firms must meet multiple criteria like investments, production, localisation, sales and input types to qualify for the incentives. Many firms that have started production struggle to meet this criteria and miss out on incentives, so a review is required.

Even though the government has managed to significantly bring down imports of toys with various measures, its attempts to boost their exports haven’t succeeded yet. India’s toy imports decreased drastically to $64.9 million in FY24 from $304.1 million in 2018-19. However, exports saw a modest increase to $152.34 million in the previous fiscal from $129.6 million in FY20.

In the extant textiles PLI, selected 64 applicants have cumulatively invested ₹3,317 crore or 17% of their proposed investment of ₹19,798 crore, reflecting poor take-off. Investments were to happen during 2022-23 and 2023-24 and the incentive was to be provided from the allocated ₹10,683 crore over five years to the companies under the scheme on achieving the threshold investment and threshold turnover and thereafter incremental turnover.

Furniture industry in India is also dominated by MSMEs. In order to scale up the production and exports, the Centre may extend the PLI scheme to certain wooden furniture.

Companies have invested around ₹1.07 trillion in two years through December 2023 under the 14 PLIs, or about 40% of the ₹3 trillion committed. The investments have generated incremental sales of over ₹9 trillion and creation of 0.7 million jobs. However, the trend is barely par for the course, with big lags in investments in many sectors such as high-efficiency solar PV modules, automobiles, ACC batteries and textiles that were supposed to lead the pack. The government is reviewing the schemes to reopen some of the schemes and replace some of the schemes with new ones.

Two years of Wilson: Air India remains a work in progress

“Being in the service industry, passenger comfort is of the utmost importance, but employees ensure that the standards are maintained, and management ensures that employees are satisfied. Wilson has been able to perform this task well,” another executive said.

Many, however, do not agree with that. After all, the AI Express merger saw agitated cabin crew taking sick leave en masse in May, leading to hundreds of flight cancellations over several days. At Vistara, a stretched roster and unhappy pilots reduced the airline’s network capacity by 10% in April this year.

Induction of new aircraft which are a part of the 470 on order has brought a welcome refresh to AI’s fleet, though the toll of legacy, a word with which Wilson is apparently unhappy, has had its effect. Other employees whom FE spoke to said that the strain of a legacy carrier, waiting for new equipment and growing expenses have become huge irritants for the top management.

After the merger, the next big project for Wilson is to pilot the setting up of the airline’s own engineering centre and training academy. “He does not want to be dependent on any third party, especially where the failure of services is at risk,” a third airline employee said. Over the next 18 months, AI hopes to kickstart its in-house line-maintenance and set up base maintenance facilities for narrow-body and wide-body aircraft in Bengaluru, in partnership with Singapore Airlines Engineering Company.

The motivation of staying on course for revamping the airline is huge. After all, India is the third largest aviation market in the world by passenger volume, yet it only has a per capita travel of one-fifth that of China. So the upside is tremendous. For the moment, however, Wilson’s main job is mostly to maintain a balance between fighting the airline’s existing legacy issues and exploiting its tremendous future potential.

Ex-PTC India CMD to move SAT against Sebi order

FORMER PTC INDIA chairman and managing director Rajib Kumar Mishra will move the Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT) against markets regulator Sebi’s order to debar him from being a director in a listed entity for six months.

Following the order passed by Sebi last week, Mishra ceased to be the chairman of PTC India Financial Services (PFS) and CMD of PTC India.

Talking to PTI, Mishra said, “Sebi’s order is appealable, and in the merit of the order, I will go to SAT for further action and to safeguard my rights.”

PFS, promoted by PTC India, is a non-deposit-taking NBFC classified as an infrastructure finance company.

Mishra held office in PFS in the capacity of chairman and non-executive director and was also holding the position of chairman and MD of PTC India.

“Pursuant to...regulatory order issued by Sebi, Rajib Kumar Mishra ceases to be the chairman, non-executive director of the company with effect from the date of issue of the said order i.e. June 12, 2024,” PFS had said. — PTI

"THE WORLD'S BEST work faced feedback, survived, and then won a Lion," said an ad at the festival of creativity and commerce, the Cannes Lions 2024. But what does it take to think of that Lion-worthy work in the first place? Armed with my to-go croissants and a petit cappuccino, I set off at 9:30 am on a Tuesday morning, to find what it takes to bell the big cat. The day began with a pop-in at the Glass Lion's presentation (work that addresses gender inequality). It's not every day that a communication brief is answered with a product idea — but Ogilvy's pitch to Vaseline, and today to the jury, was just that: Transition Body Lotion — to soothe dry skin for when you're undergoing hormone therapy during transition. This case study is a good blueprint for queer advertising that happens back home — LGBTQIA+ inclu-

METALS & SHORTLISTS SO FAR

At the time of this copy going to press, Indian agencies had bagged 1 Silver and 4 Bronze metals on Day 2, with 54 shortlists. This took India's total tally to 1 Gold, 2 Silvers and 6 Bronzes. McCann Worldgroup got the Gold metal on Day 1 for Buckaroo's 'Fit My Feet' campaign.

Talented. "Clients ask agencies for details like salary and overhead costs, and profit margins before onboarding them — isn't that absurd? You don't go to a restaurant and ask the chef's salary before you pay for your Bolognese!" Everything that's wrong with our industry — the hours, burnout, peanut salaries, can all be solved by pricing conversations where we see ourselves as equal to the client. The next session I attended had a queue that would put Dadar station to shame — it was on the Return of Comedy by VML, Hellman's and SNL star Kenan Thompson. "85% of consumers say they are more likely to purchase a product after seeing a funny ad," they said — and with the addition of 13 new categories at the Lions this year, it's safe to say the industry is ready to treat laughter as serious business. Humour tickles you, humour unifies you, for a brief moment in time it also disarms you. Hellmann's Mayo Cat, a funny no-brainer, was actually born out of a real problem to tackle food wastage, which just goes on to show that purpose-led advertising can exist without black-and-white visuals and sarangi music. My last panel for the day was the Indie Forum on the LBB Beach — executives from indie agencies across the world bearing what it means to be in the "people" business. With the looming irrelevance that we face in the wake of AI automation, Matt Reinhard of OKRP had a fun hack: "We use AI for every new business pitch. We go on to ChatGPT, and ask it to spit five ideas. And then we use those five as white space — if AI can think of it, anyone can, and we wouldn't even think in that direction." So, until the next time the industry congregates along the opal waters over rose and our collective quasi-artistic rage, advertising will very much still be a people's business, solving real problems with real human creativity.

EARLIER THIS MONTH, Sriram Balaji, the World No. 62 and the third-highest ranked Indian doubles tennis player, arrived in Paris uncertain if he was playing the French Open at all. Typically fickle Parisian weather meant there were enough withdrawals by singles players in doubles category for Balaji, alongside Mexican partner Miguel Reyes-Varrel, to make it to the main draw. He would leave the French capital with 3 solid Grand Slam matches under his belt, his best-ever finish at a Major, and more importantly, ensuring his return ticket to Paris next month. Balaji has been picked by World No. 4 Rohan Bopanna to partner him in the men's doubles category for the upcoming Paris Olympics, ousting the higher-ranked Yuki Bhambri to make it to his first Games. Perhaps it is strengths specific to Balaji's game, perhaps it was the match he played against Bopanna in Round 3. Perhaps Bopanna's decision was premeditated. Yet, there is little doubt that Balaji's leap of faith, to arrive at Roland Garros even though he was uncertain to play when he could have earned prize money and ranking points elsewhere, paid off in extraordinary fashion. "When I got there, we were sixth out (as alternates) so I was not sure we'll get into the draw," he said from London, where he has travelled to play a Challenger event on grass. "And as soon as we got into the draw, it was like a bonus for us. We didn't have anything to lose. We were just playing free and just focusing on every point by point and then it worked actually." For players outside the very elite, they often go through the dilemma of travelling to Majors despite being uncertain they will even play. The financial burdens can be high for very little return. But Balaji, currently based out of Frankfurt, Germany, says he did not mind the uncertainty, being able to experience the Grand Slam atmosphere was enough. "There's no 'faith' or anything, but that's the risk you're supposed to take. If it works, it works..." he added. Now 34, Balaji had been somewhat of a promising junior before his career tailed off due to injuries and typical malaise of making the tough transition to the seniors. Even as he accepted his limitations and switched track to doubles, his parents continued to provide support. His may seem like the case of a typical tennis journeyman; this is essentially a sport that only does enough to support its top 100 players. But his run at the French Open and Olympics call-up has renewed faith. It was the third-round match against Bopanna that showed many of Balaji's strengths on clay; while Bopanna will claim didn't sway his decision, it's hard to think it did not have any impact. Balaji is quite certain it wasn't the turning point though. "No, no, no, it wasn't just the match. He also told me, one or two weeks before, he hinted that I'm one of the potential partners, me or Yuki," he said. Balaji insists it was his results on slow clay at Challenger events, and his consistency. He elaborates on how playing styles may also be complementary, which may be why Bopanna opted to partner him instead of Bhambri. "Both of us have big serves, so hopefully we make the maximum use of it. And then Bops has big returns also, an overall big game," he said.

12. Summary of reasons for recommendation (IDC may also invite attention to any other place, e.g. company's website, whether its detailed recommendations along with written advice of the independent adviser, if any, can be seen by the shareholders) The members of the IDC have considered the following reasons provided by the Acquirer in the IPA for making recommendations:
a) The proposed delisting would enable the members of the Promoter Group to obtain full ownership of the Company, which in turn will provide enhanced operational flexibility. As the Company will no longer remain in the debt of the Acquirer, the management will have more time to comply with the requirements associated with continued listing of equity shares, which can be refocused to its business;
b) The delisting proposal will enhance the Company's operational, financial and strategic flexibility including but not limited to corporate restructurings, acquisitions, exploring new financing structures, including financial support from the Promoter Group;
c) The proposed delisting will result in reduction of the ongoing substantial compliance costs which includes the costs associated with listing of equity shares such as annual listing fee and fees payable to share transfer agents, expenses towards shareholders' servicing and such other expenses required to be incurred as per the applicable securities law;
d) The shares of the Company are infrequently traded on the stock exchange. The delisting proposal is in the interest of the Public Shareholders as it will provide them an opportunity to exit from the Company at a price determined in accordance with the Delisting Regulations, providing immediate liquidity and uncertainty associated with infrequently traded shares. Based on the review of IPA, DPA and LOF issued by the Manager to the Delisting Offer on behalf of the Acquirer, Due Diligence Report of the Peer Review Company Secretary and the above reasons for delisting, the members of IDC are of the opinion that the Delisting Offer is fair and reasonable and in the interest of the Public Shareholders of the Company. Besides other factors, the members of the IDC specially took note of the fact that the Delisting Offer will provide the Public Shareholders an opportunity to realize immediately a certain value for their share at a time of uncertainty associated with infrequently traded shares. IDC recommends the public shareholders to bid their shares at their preferred price in reverse book building as the Floor Price announced by the Promoter Acquirer is only indicative. The IDC, however, suggests that the Public Shareholders of the Company should independently evaluate the Delisting Offer and take informed decision in respect of the Delisting Offer. This statement of recommendation will be available on the website of the Company at <https://www.steelsteelmangal.com/index1.htm>.

13. Disclosure of the voting pattern The recommendations were unanimously approved by the members of IDC.
