SANU TO MOVE COURT OVER VOICE CLONING

Kumar Sanu becomes the first Indian musician to seek protection of personality rights; says technology, especially AI, 'can be dangerous'

Rishabh Suri
rishabh.suri@htlive.com

After actors Amitabh Bachchan, Anil Kapoor and Jackie Shroff, singer Kumar Sanu has decided to seek legal protection against AI voice cloning. This makes him the first Indian musician to take the route, as he feels his voice is mimicked extensively. "I have already started the process of approaching the court to get my personality rights protected. Technology today is dominated by AI and AI can be quite dangerous. Kisi bhi singer ka duplicate ban jaaye, it won't be correct. It's important to protect ourselves," says Sanu. Meanwhile, as filmmakers continue to opt for remakes of old classics for hit soundtracks, Sanu isn't impressed. "They ignore melody, use saste lyrics... This is not good. I am okay if they remake old songs, but if the original singer is still capable of singing it again, then usse achcha koi aur nahin gaa paayega," the singer says.

BOLLYWOOD SAYS, THAT'S ENOUGH
In 2022, the Delhi High Court ruled that no one can use Amitabh Bachchan's image, voice or personality traits to promote their vested interests, like businesses. Last year, the Delhi High Court passed an order protecting the personality rights of Anil Kapoor and restrained various entities from misusing his image, name, voice or other elements of his persona for monetary gains without his consent. And recently, Jackie Shroff moved Delhi High Court seeking protection of his personality and publicity rights. The case was filed against entities using his name, photos, voice, and word 'Bhidu' and the use of AI without his consent.

Fans motivated me to make my singing debut, says Adah

navya.kharbanda@hindustantimes.com

Adah Sharma's Instagram is proof of how much she loves singing and dancing. Now, the actor is set to mark her singing debut with her rendition of the Shiv Tandava Stotram. She tells us that it was her fans who encouraged her to take the plunge. "Whenever I posted a video of myself singing, playing the ukulele or the piano at home, my fans would tell me that I should release a song of my own. They motivated me to [make my singing debut]," says Sharma.

Interestingly, the 32-year-old opted to go an unconventional route for her musical debut. "I chanted the Shiv Tandava Stotram in a live video from a temple in 2023 — the video got millions of views on both Instagram and YouTube. It was so impromptu," the actor says, adding, "So, I felt the first thing should be that. Keh-te hain na, har kaam bhagwaan ka naam lekar start karte hain."

Sharma, who was last seen in Bastar: The Naxal Story, hopes that her song is received well: "You could dance to it, do Kathak, meditate or even go into a trance while listening to it. I hope we made a version that people listen to. We shot it in the most basic and simple way, not using any fancy gadgets. The ocean and Nature were important as Shiv Tandava is about the elements of Nature. So we shot it accordingly. I can't wait to share it with everyone."

'No one has the right to comment on my daughter's marriage'

Shatrughan Sinha

Actor-politician Shatrughan Sinha has responded to the trolling his daughter Sonakshi Sinha is facing for her inter-faith marriage with actor Zaheer Iqbal. He firmly stated that no one has the right to comment on her marriage.

On Monday, a protest march was organised in Shatrughan's native state of Bihar by a fringe group called Hindu Shiv Bhawani, calling the marriage 'Love Jihad' and demanding that Sonakshi never return to Bihar.

In an interview with Times Now, Shatrughan referenced the lyrics of Anand Bakshi, Kuchh to log kahenge, logon ka kaam hai kehna. He added, "Kehne wale agar bekar, bekaam-kaaj ke ho to kehna hi kaam ban jata hai (for unemployed people, this is all the work they have). My daughter has done nothing illegal or unconstitutional."

He continued, "A wedding is a very personal decision between two people; no one has the right to interfere or comment. To all the protestors, I say — go, get a life. Do something useful with your life. Aur kuchh nahi kehna (I have nothing else to say)."

Sonakshi and Zaheer got married under the Special Marriage Act in Mumbai on June 23. Their registered marriage was an intimate affair, followed by a wedding reception the same night attended by celebrities including Salman Khan, Kajol, Tabu, Anil Kapoor and others.

In 2024, visiting Paris, even beyond the Summer Olympics can become an expensive itinerary to consider. Despite this, Paris remains a high-interest point for Indian travellers. Adara, a travel intent data platform, reports that Paris has become one of the most searched destinations in India, especially due to the upcoming Olympics. The report also states that 62% of hotel searches from India in the past two months are for France. However, with rising accommodation costs in Paris, it is time to think of alternatives. "Data reveals a surge in searches for accommodation in smaller towns and villages just outside the French capital. Searches for Lyon were also up 50%, with Marseille, Nantes and Bordeaux, the home of major sporting events, all up more than 15%," says Xavier Rousselou, a Paris-based spokesperson for Expedia Group. This pattern of exploring an alternative destination is popularly known as 'second-city travel', and more recently 'destination duping'. So, if you're heading to France for the Olympics or otherwise, here are a few cost-effective alternative home bases near the Olympic sites.

Aspirants in anticipation: CUET bhi cancel hoga kya?

NEET, NET and now...CUET? This is the only thing on Delhi University aspirants' minds, who are awaiting CUET results expected to be announced on June 30. And of course, they turned to social media to voice their anxiety via memes

Compiled by Kriti Kambiri

CUET applicants right now after the NEET NET fiasco

Some posts on social media claim the result will be declared, while others say that the exam will be postponed altogether. It's impossible to determine what is real! It's already so stressful to be living in uncertainty during this gap between school and admissions. I'm just trying to manifest a good result.

NEETU RAI, a Gurugram-based aspirant

The National Testing Agency (NTA) has played around with the careers of many! Our first CUET exam was postponed, so there's a possibility that the result might be cancelled! To be safe, I have already applied to private universities. Having a plan B helps me stay sane!

Rain Gods have finally showered their blessings on the Capital, and Delhiites are not shying away from making the most of the weather by stepping out. Here youngsters can be seen enjoying the rains — while some opted to keep themselves dry under their colourful umbrellas, others loved soaking in the vibe on two-wheelers.

The SARFIRA Stories

Sonali Jain

Would you abandon your dreams if someone predicted failure for your business idea? Actor Akshay Kumar's upcoming film, Sarfira, delves into the inspiring story of one of the greatest Sarfiras of our era. We spoke to other startup pioneers to uncover their journeys. Beginning today, we introduce you to a few audacious individuals, so that one can learn how going against the tide is the only way to float your boat in the start-up world. First in line is Rithish Kumar, co-founder of PeeSafe, a personal hygiene brand established in 2013. In a conversation with Fever FM's RJ Sharat, Rithish recounts the origins and evolution of PeeSafe, now valued at $21 million (₹175 crore as of September 2023). It all started with a single product — a toilet seat sanitiser — launched by Gurugram-based couple Vikas Bagaria and Srijana Bagaria. "Srijana had to be hospitalised because of a urinary tract infection (UTI). While figuring out the cause, her doctor indicated that even the cleanest-looking toilets can have disease-causing bacteria. They

People will tell you this is not going to work. But the world still runs on intuition and conviction.

Hansal Mehta reacts to Naga's bodyguard manhandling fan

Akkineni Nagarjuna

Hansal Mehta

HANSAL MEHTA'S SON JAI WROTE THAT HE DOESN'T TAKE HIS BROTHER PALLAVA, WHO HAS DOWN SYNDROME, TO FILM SCREENINGS AS HE FEARS HE MIGHT GET MISTREATED IN A SIMILAR MANNER.

Following an incident where actor Akkineni Nagarjuna's bodyguard pushed a differently abled fan, filmmaker Hansal Mehta's son, filmmaker Jai Mehta wrote a long post on X about Nagarjuna's "ignorance" and his bodyguard's "insensitivity" towards the fan. He spoke about how he can never take his brother Pallava, who has Down syndrome, to a movie screening, for the fear that he might get mistreated the way Nagarjuna's fan was. Hansal shared Jai's post and added that Pallava had once asked to meet a "massive star" and that the celeb had not even acknowledged the request. "So my son Pallava is a fan of this massive star. I'd requested through his brother, his close friends at various times that meeting the star would mean the world to him. And it would be my gift to my boy. When his eyes were operated the first person he recognised in the newspaper was that star. But no. There was no response from the star or his friends. I gave up. Now over the years Pallu's cognitive abilities have declined. And this will have no meaning even if it has to happen, (sic)" Hansal wrote.

DHANUSH'S BODYGUARD PUSHES FAN IN MUMBAI

A video of actor Dhanush's bodyguard pushing around a fan

has gone viral. The fan was recording the actor as he was walking at Mumbai's Juhu Beach. The video comes days after actor Nagarjuna faced backlash for a similar incident.
