HATHRAS, JULY 5
Days after 121 persons were killed in a stampede during a congregation organised by self-styled godman Bhole Baba in Hathras, Leader of the Opposition and Congress MP Rahul Gandhi on Friday met with the families of some of the deceased in the western Uttar Pradesh town, and sought greater compensation for them. Gandhi, accompanied by Uttar Pradesh Congress chief Ajay Rai, spokesperson Supriya Shrinath, Saharanpur MP Imran Masood and former MP Danish Ali, said he didn't want to politicise the tragedy, but these families should be given their due. "There is no point in giving the victims' families inadequate compensation and that, too, not on time." He said the families had told him that adequate police arrangements had not been made for the religious event, leading to the stampede. "These are difficult times for the families. ## Sunak exits 10 Downing, Starmer new UK premier after landslide win for Labour Party

LONDON, JULY 5
Keir Starmer became UK's new Prime Minister on Friday and vowed to rebuild Britain, hours after his Labour Party secured a landslide victory in a general election in which the weary voters inflicted a "sobering verdict" on Rishi Sunak-led Conservatives, who suffered their worst drubbing. Starmer, 61, assumed charge as the 58th PM after his customary audience with King Charles III at Buckingham Palace, following Sunak's meeting with the monarch.

Man hurt after chunks of plaster fall, notice to 38 Gurugram builders

GURUGRAM, JULY 5
The Department of Town and Country Planning (DTCP) has asked 38 builders in Gurugram to address maintenance and repair issues in their societies within a week. The action followed after a man was injured when some chunks of plaster fell on his head in a society today. The incident was reported from Signature Global Solera, Sector 107, when some chunks of the plaster fell from stairs and injured a resident.

A resident of Signature Global Solera society, who was injured.

It may be noted that just 12 hours ago, some chunks of the plaster had fallen from at least four flats and the DTCP had issued a notice to Signature Global builder and the residents had filed a police complaint also. After these incidents, the DTCP identified 38 societies that are in dire need of structural intervention, maintenance or repair. The DTCP has asked the builders to set the things right within a week and ensure that no such incident happens again during the monsoon.

A statement issued by Signature Global said they had handed over the maintenance of the society to the Residents' Welfare Association (RWA) over a month ago. The possession of the flats was given in 2018. "A structural audit has been completed for Solera. We acknowledge the recent unfortunate incident, which involved a small plaster piece falling due to the rainy season. The necessary repairwork will be completed soon," the spokesperson said.

In the notice issued by District Town Planner (Enforcement) Manish Yadav, the DTCP instructed the developers not only to survey the structural integrity of their buildings but also address critical maintenance issues, including water supply, sewerage, stormwater management, and prevention of rainwater stagnation. "The builders are required to submit an action taken report on any deficiencies or observations noted during the surveys within a week," the notice said.

CHANDIGARH, JULY 5
The October Assembly poll in Haryana will be the last election that Bhupinder Singh Hooda, the Leader of Opposition and former Congress Chief Minister, contests.

Though he is mum on the issue in public, and even refused to answer a question pertaining to his future at a media briefing, Congress sources said he conveyed his decision to the party top brass at a recent meeting of the state leaders. The meeting, held to deliberate on the strategy for the Assembly elections, was chaired by Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge. Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi and party general secretary KC Venugopal were among those present.

As per information, Hooda, buoyed by wins in five seats in the recent Lok Sabha poll, said the stage had been set for a Congress government in the state. "He said the time could not be more conducive for a win in the elections. He went on to add that this would be his last election and he would give it his all to ensure a victory," sources in the know of things claimed, indicating that Hooda was ready to call it a day.

They said senior Congress leader Birender Singh also advised Hooda to hang up his boots and make way for new leadership in the state.

Rahul Gandhi, citing the example of Capt Amarinder Singh — a former Chief Minister of Punjab — said the latter once declared his retirement, only to return to electoral fray in 2022. Responding to this, Hooda reiterated his decision to retire and said he meant what he had said.

Though the elections are over three months away, the party is set to resume its meetings in the districts. While Hooda is holding a meeting in Gurugram on July 7, he will hold a second meeting in Bhiwani and Dadri on July 8, followed by a meeting in Fatehabad and Hisar on July 12 and July 13, respectively, to conclude the programme. "Some of the districts were covered in the first phase, when meetings were held before the Lok Sabha poll. Once all the districts are covered, the party is looking to aggressively campaign in all 90 Assembly constituencies. The plan is ready and workers are raring to go," a Congress leader said, adding that Hooda was actively involved in finalising the strategy with state unit chief Udai Bhan and party national general secretary Deepak Babaria, who is in charge of Haryana.

Having welded clout in the party and the state unit for over two decades, Hooda is hoping to make a comeback in the Assembly, form the government — and then finally bow out.

After making a splash in the recent Lok Sabha elections by winning five of 10 seats in Haryana, the Congress is upbeat and relying on the anti-incumbency factor after 10 years of the BJP government.

All govt announcements merely eyewash: Ex-CM

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

AMBALA, JULY 5
Former Chief Minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda today said the BJP has failed on all fronts and it was making fake announcements in view of the upcoming Assembly elections.

Speaking to mediapersons, Hooda said, "The BJP government has no achievements to show and it is just making fake announcements to woo the voters. The BJP has conceded defeat even before the elections. All announcements are merely an eyewash. The people of Haryana have decided to form the next government of Congress in the state. People know when the government has done nothing in the past nine years, how can they expect it from them now."

"In the Lok Sabha elections, the vote share of the Congress has improved in Haryana and this indicates that the people of the state have made up their mind to elect the Congress in the Assembly elections. The BJP has failed to provide jobs and the Haryana Kaushal Rozgar Nigam has been a source of corruption. More than two lakh posts are lying vacant in government departments. Instead of making permanent recruitment, the government is filling the posts through Kaushal Nigam and rubbing salt on the wounds of educated youth," he added.

The former CM said, "The BJP, which has gone back on all its announcements made in 2014 and 2019 elections, wants to trap the public in the illusion of new announcements. The Congress government had distributed free plots of 100 yards each to 4 lakh poor families. But the BJP, which has stopped this welfare scheme of the Congress, is now making a fake announcement of distributing 30-yard plot."

"The truth is the government has not identified any land for the plots, no demarcation has been done, no map has been revealed, and there has been no mention of water connection, roads, streets and sewerage," he pointed out.

About the CM face and candidates in the Assembly elections, Hooda said, "The candidates will be selected on the basis of winnability. The MLAs and the party high command will decide the CM of Congress." Ambala MP Varun Chaudhry, former minister Nirmal Singh, Chitra Sarwara, Himmat Singh, Ashok Mehta, Jasbir Mallour, and several other leaders were also present.

ROHTAK, JULY 5
A large number of stilt-plus-four (S+4) floor buildings have come up in Rohtak city, including the HSVP sectors, in the recent past, causing multifarious problems to the residents of the adjacent houses.

As per the District Town Planner, permissions to construct 322 stilt-plus-four floor buildings in the Deen Dayal Jan Awas Yojana (DDJAY)-licensed colonies have been given, while such permissions have been granted by the local Municipal Corporation and HSVP authorities in the areas under their respective jurisdictions. However, sources in the construction business maintain that the number of such buildings is actually much higher. A number of stilt-plus-four floor houses can be seen in Jagdish Colony, DLF Colony, Jhang Colony, Prem Nagar, Model Town, HSVP sectors as well as private sectors. As per local sources, hundreds of residents of the city have been affected by the construction of these buildings along their houses. "More than 500 residents of HSVP sectors in Rohtak have been affected by buildings having stilt-plus-four floors. The walls of their houses have developed cracks and may collapse. These buildings also block sunlight and air for the residents of the adjacent houses," said Kadam Singh Ahlawat, an executive member of the All-Haryana HUDA

Sectors Confederation. However, most of the affected residents prefer to get their houses repaired by themselves or with the help of financial assistance received from the owners of the stilt-plus-four floor buildings instead of making complaints to the authorities concerned. Nonetheless, those residents who have made complaints to the authorities concerned lament that no concrete action has been taken on their complaints for years. "The disposal rate of such complaints is dismal. The owners of such buildings are usually issued notices, but no plausible action after that. The authorities concerned don't even bother to reply to the applications moved under the RTI Act," lamented Ranbir Singh Phougat, a complainant from Sector 2.

Meanwhile, representatives of residents' welfare associations (RWAs) are holding meetings to discuss the new provisions of the recent permission and chalk out their future course of action. "We will convene a meeting of all HSVP and private sectors of Rohtak soon to assess the situation and decide our next course of action," said Ramesh Ahlawat, vice-president, RWA-Sector 34, and treasurer of All Sectors Association, Rohtak. Pointing out that the construction and inhabitation of stilt-plus-four floor buildings would put undue pressure on the already crumbling civic infrastructure of the old sectors, Ahlawat said they would urge the state authorities and private builders not to allow the construction of such buildings in the existing sectors. "Such buildings should be allowed in the upcoming sectors only," he asserted.

Pawan Ahuja, president, RWA-Sector 1, Rohtak, said the matter would be discussed with the association members and then a decision would be made regarding the matter. "However, I believe the decision to allow the construction of stilt-plus-four floor buildings only after obtaining consent from the owners of the adjacent buildings or maintenance of a gap of 1.8 metres (side setback) from the adjoining plots on both sides would resolve most of the issues with the neighbours," said Ahuja.

On the other hand, social activists pursuing the matter said the fresh permission granted for the construction of stilt-plus-four floor houses indicates that the state authorities are under the influence of the builders' lobby.

'Aapki Beti, Hamari Beti' scheme: 3,528 applications yet to be processed by govt

PARVEEN ARORA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, JULY 5
The state government's ambitious 'Aapki Beti, Hamari Beti' scheme is facing hurdles as 3,528 applications from eligible beneficiaries are yet to be processed, causing resentment among the applicants. The scheme is aimed at saving the girl child and promoting their education.

The scheme is a part of the Women and Child Development Department and was launched by former Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar on March 8, 2015, with an aim to combat the problem of declining child sex ratio and promote girls' education in the state.

Under the scheme, the department invests Rs 21,000 with the Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) in the name of the first girl child of SC/BPL families and the second girl child of families belonging to any caste. Girls born on or after January 22, 2015, are eligible for the scheme and will be paid a tentative amount on attaining 18 years of age. Despite being an important scheme, the current backlog has left many applicants in the lurch. "We have been waiting for months with no clarity on when the applications would be approved. We have been told that the portal is closed, due to which our applications cannot be processed. The delay is causing distress among applicants," said an eligible beneficiary, who is a father of two girls. The Women and Child Development Department has acknowledged the backlog, stating that the reason for the delay in processing the applications was that the portal was closed.

Women and Child Development Project Officer (Nilokheri) Raj Bala Mor, who is holding additional charge of the District Programme Officer, Karnal, said, "We are aware of the situation and have raised the issue with the higher authorities. As soon as the portal is opened, we will process all the applications," she added.

Deputy Commissioner Uttam Singh said the problem came to his notice during a recently held District Grievance Redressal Committee meeting, wherein an employee of the department was charge-sheeted by the Haryana Urban Local Bodies Minister Subhash Sudha.

"I have reviewed the situation and asked to speed up the process. The issue has been taken up and we are hopeful that the backlog will be cleared soon," the DC said. In a press note issued after the meeting, it was jointly stated that it is the responsibility of the Congress, which is the main Opposition party, to mobilise all secular and democratic organisations and ensure the ouster of the BJP after 10 years of its misrule in the state. The meeting held the BJP government responsible for the deteriorating law and order situation in the state and the significant increase in crime. — TNS

Karnal STF nabs two for 'killing' ASI

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, JULY 5

The Karnal unit of Special Task Force (STF) today arrested two persons for allegedly killing Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI) Sanjeev. The arrests were made in Aligarh, and the suspects are being brought to Karnal for further investigation.

The Karnal police had handed over the case to the STF following which Inspector Deepender Singh, in-charge, STF (Karnal unit), arrested two suspects on Friday late evening.

Inspector Singh has confirmed the arrests, but refused to disclose the suspects' names and motive. “We have arrested two shooters from Aligarh and will reveal all facts on Saturday,” he said.

According to eyewitnesses, two motorcycle-borne assailants had fired multiple shots at the ASI, following which he was immediately rushed to a private hospital in Karnal. However, he had succumbed to his injuries. ASI Sanjeev was cremated on Thursday.

The Madhuban police had registered an FIR against unidentified persons under relevant sections of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita and Arms Act.

'Green Manifesto' prepared to conserve Aravalli range

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

FARIDABAD, JULY 5

People for Aravallis (PFA), a residents' group, has prepared a draft — the 'Green Manifesto' — which focuses on the conservation of the forest belt of the Aravallis and the state's ecosystem. It lays stress on the measures required for the preservation of the ecosystem of the region. The matter is likely to be brought up in the upcoming state poll.

Describing it as the first step towards spelling out a vision of development for the state, which is allegedly witnessing ecological and scientific degradation, a PFA spokesperson said the draft highlighted the issues concerning the environment and ecosystem of the region.

Claiming a shortfall in the ecological values and a sharp decline in the land productivity, he said the groundwater had rapidly depleted due to over-exploitation. The spokesperson said, “The loss of natural green lungs, poor water recharge zones and danger to wildlife habitats and corridors have emerged as major causes for concern. The manifesto sheds light on the issues and written demands of the group regarding the preservation of broad ecosys-

She said over the next few weeks, the PFA team would undertake an extensive outreach programme to discuss the contents of the first draft with an aim to add more points to the document and get a consensus on their demands.

“After the extensive consultation process, the final draft of the manifesto will be submitted to all political parties and leaders contesting the Assembly elections as a call for action for an active response to environmental degradation and climate crisis affecting the state,” she added. Sunil Harsana, an environmental activist, said the villages of Anangpur, Ankhir, Mewla Maharajpur and Lakadpur had around 6,793 illegal constructions.

Only taking samples, making parchis, rue interns at PGIMS

SUNIL DHAWAN

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

ROHTAK, JULY 5

The MBBS interns serving at the Rohtak PGIMS have raised objections to being engaged in taking samples and filling up investigation slips and other forms instead of getting exposure to the examination and treatment of patients.

In a joint representation to the authorities of the Pt Bhagwat Dayal Sharma University of Health Sciences and Rohtak PGIMS, the MBBS interns have demanded their intervention in ensuring the allotment of work to them as per the guidelines issued by the National Medical Commission (NMC).

The MBBS interns have complained that they are made to sit in separate rooms at PGIMS OPDs and hence kept away from the examination and treatment of patients despite specific orders by the PGIMS Director. The interns have requested the UHS and PGIMS authorities to allow them to sit with consultants in the OPDs so that they can learn patient management.

They have urged the authorities concerned to assign the task of taking samples and filling up slips and forms to dedicated staff. “It is further requested that all departments be instructed to give exposure to the interns at least to the certifiable procedural skills mentioned in the Compulsory Rotatory Medical Internship (CRMID) log-books as it is not being done in most of the departments,” states the representation.

Contacted for comments, PGIMS Director Dr SS Lohchab said, “The heads of all departments concerned will be directed to ensure that the NMC guidelines are followed in letter and spirit while imparting training to the MBBS interns,” he asserted, adding that all concerns raised by the interns would be addressed.

HC raps board of medical sciences for arbitrary & discriminatory practices

SAURABH MALIK

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, JULY 5

In a major embarrassment for the National Board of Examinations in Medical Sciences (NBEMS), the Punjab and Haryana High Court has annulled it and other educational institutes for arbitrary, irrational and discriminatory practices detrimental to young students.

The Division Bench of Justice Sandeep Moudgil and Justice Deepak Gupta also imposed exemplary cost of Rs 25,000 on NBEMS to be paid to the petitioner, whose candidature as NBEMS trainee was cancelled on the ground of non-submission of a self-appraisal report. Told to pay ₹25,000 to petitioner whose candidature was cancelled

Quashing the order, the Bench asserted that NBEMS's stand in the matter made it crystal clear that the board for the first time sought self-appraisal reports from the petitioner and other selected candidates on February 8, though the admission process and the joining of candidates stood completed by December 31, 2023.

The Bench observed the eligibility criteria outlined in the information bulletin issued by NBEMS did not mention the self-appraisal report. Subsequent alteration to the eligibility criteria, after completing the admission process in December last year with the verification of all documents, was “without competency or authority”.

The Bench asserted that state action must not be arbitrary, but based on rational, non-discriminatory and relevant principle. The state must not be guided by extraneous or arbitrary consideration as it would amount to denial of equality.

The Bench said the principle of reasonableness and rationality was legally and logically an essential element of equality and non-arbitrariness under Article 14 of the Constitution. It was required to characterise every action, whether under the authority of law or in the exercise of executive power without making of law.

As such, the state or its instrumentality could not deviate from the guidelines and the conditions laid down in the admission brochure and act arbitrarily while making public appointments, entering into relationship of contractual nature, or otherwise, with a third party, or in the process of admission by its institutions.

Shiv Sena leader was vocal against Khalistan, terrorism

NIKHIL BHARDWAJ
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

LUDHIANA, JULY 5

One of the likely reasons being cited for the murderous attack on Shiv Sena leader Sandeep Thapar, alias Gora, is that he had raised his voice against Khalistan, anti-national elements and issues concerning people. Sena leaders stated this on condition of anonymity while holding a protest against "lawlessness" in this industrial hub. The Facebook page of Thapar, which has 6,600 followers, contains hundreds of posts against Khalistan and terrorism.

After the recent controversy over a girl performing yoga at the Golden Temple, which was condemned by the SGPC, Thapar had backed the girl and also posted images of another girl, a foreigner, performing yoga at the Golden Temple

Sukhbir not to contest Gidderbaha bypoll: Dimpy

ARCHIT WATTS
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

GIDDERBAHA/MUKTSAR, JULY 5

The suspense over SAD chief Sukhbir Badal to contest the Gidderbaha bypoll is over. The SAD's Gidderbaha constituency in-charge Hardeep Singh Dimpy Dhillon, a transporter and an aide of Sukhbir, told The Tribune today that his party president recently gave him the go-ahead to contest and that he had started holding meetings with constituents as well.

The seat fell vacant after Gidderbaha MLA Amrinder Singh Raja Warring got elected as Ludhiana MP

Dimpy had earlier unsuccessfully contested the election twice from this constituency. He had lost to Warring in 2022 by 1,349 votes and in 2017 by 16,212 votes.

Speaking on the phone, Dimpy said, "Earlier, there were rumours that Sukhbir may contest from Gidderbaha, but he has now told me to get ready to contest and start the groundwork. I am mobilising party workers."

The SAD has won this seat nine times, five times by former CM Parkash Singh Badal (1969, 1972, 1977, 1980 and 1985) and four by former Finance Minister Manpreet Singh Badal (1995, 1997, 2002 and 2007) as an SAD nominee. The Congress had won the seat five times, once each by former CM Harcharan Singh Brar in 1967, by Raghuraj Singh in 1992 (now an SAD leader) and thrice by Warring (2012, 2017 and 2022).

Centre, state govt discriminating against Sikhs, says SGPC chief

Cites parole 'restrictions' imposed on Amritpal for oath

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

AMRITSAR, JULY 5

Showing solidarity with jailed self-styled pro-Khalistan leader Amritpal Singh, who took oath today as an MP after being elected from Khadoor Sahib, SGPC president Harjinder Singh Dhani said both the Centre and state government had been discriminating against the Sikh community. To substantiate his point, he referred to the "restrictions" imposed on Amritpal for the parole granted to him for the oath ceremony.

Dhani convened a meeting of the SGPC's executive body today, which passed a resolution condemning the "adverse comments" made by BJP's newly elected MP from Mandi Kangana Ranaut against Punjab and Punjabis. The executive body asked the state government to file a case against Kangana, saying that she had "defamed Punjabis by spreading hate against them".

A resolution was also passed against the "arbitrary action" of forcing Sikh candidates to remove their kirpan during a judicial examination in Jodhpur, Rajasthan, which was contrary to Sikhs' right to wear religious symbols. "Sikhs have been subjected to discriminatory treatment. Amritpal, who won the Khadoor Sahib Lok Sabha seat with a thumping majority, is being treated as an outsider. Several conditions were imposed on him when he was

WANTS KANGANA BOOKED FOR 'HATE REMARKS'

The SGPC asked the state government to register a case against Mandi MP Kangana Ranaut for her "hate remarks" against Punjab and Punjabis

A resolution was also passed against the "arbitrary action" of forcing Sikh candidates to remove kirpan during a judicial examination in Jodhpur, Rajasthan to take oath. He has been kept in detention at the Dibrugarh jail in Assam under the National Security Act on "baseless charges". No cognisance was taken by the AAP government on Kangana's anti-Punjab hate speech. We demand the government to register a case against her," Dhani said.

The SGPC demanded that the Centre should ask the Rajasthan Government to register a case of hurting religious sentiments against officials who forced the Sikh candidates to remove their kirpan during the examination.

The executive committee also took note of Congress MP Rahul Gandhi's statement in Parliament of linking the "abhaya mudra" with the teachings of Guru Nanak Dev. A resolution passed in this regard said often the teachings of Gurus and the meaning of Gurbani were misinterpreted by politicians, hurting the sentiments of the Sikhs.

On the woman who sparked a controversy by performing yoga on the premises of the Golden Temple, Dhani said she had sent a written apology.

Notpaid salaries, Palampurvarsity staffhold dharna

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

DHARAMSALA, JULY 5
The non-teaching employees of CSK Himachal Pradesh Agriculture University, Palampur, today held a dharna at the main gate of the institution to protest against the delay in the release of their monthly salaries. Non-Teaching Staff Association president Rajiv Sharma and general secretary Rajinder Singh expressed their resentment towards the Vice-Chancellor for not releasing the salaries of the university employees till July 5. Sharma said due to the laxity on the part of the Finance Controller, the grant-in-aid file was not sent to the government on time. Hence, the serving and retired employees of the university did not receive their salaries and pension on time. Agriculture Minister Chander Kumar's opinion that the university should generate its own income was not workable, the employees alleged. They said as the government provided funds to schools and colleges, it should do the same for the universities.

A must-win bypoll for CM, both Cong, BJP intensify campaigning in Dehra

LALIT MOHAN

DHARAMSALA, JULY 5
All eyes are on the Dehra byelection as campaigning draws to conclusion. The Congress and the BJP have fielded senior leaders for the electoral battle that is revolving around Kamlesh Thakur, wife of Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu. For the Congress, the Chief Minister himself is leading the campaign. For the past two days, the Congress has called Dehra as the Chief Minister's constituency. For the BJP former Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur, Hamirpur MP Anurag Thakur and state party president Rajeev Bindal are spearheading the campaign. They are working in Dehra for the past more than a week.

For the Chief Minister, the Dehra byelection is a must-win battle as he will become the target of the dissident group in the Congress if Kamlesh tastes defeat. To strengthen the Congress' position, the Chief Minister has promised to establish the offices of the SP and Superintending Engineer, Public Works Department, among other projects, in Dehra. He has also promised to help the Pong Dam oustees, who have been waiting for resettlement for the past more than 60 years.

Meanwhile, Hoshiyar Singh is having a hard time explaining to the electorate as to why he resigned as an Independent MLA just within 14 months of his five-year tenure to recontest the byelection when he could easily be supported by the BJP.

POWER SHARE PROMISE Vs LOCAL CANDIDATE

In the past about 20 days, the Congress has focused on making the residents of Dehra believe that the byelection is as an opportunity for them to have a share in power by electing the Chief Minister's wife

The Congress' campaign has gained steam as no powerful leader has ever represented the Dehra constituency since it was carved out in 2012

The BJP, on the other hand, has focused its campaign in Dehra on portraying Hoshiyar Singh as a local candidate

Jai Ram Thakur claims that during his tenure as Chief Minister, he had sanctioned ₹600 crore for the development of the Dehra segment at the behest of Hoshiyar Singh

The BJP is highlighting the failures of the government

The BJP has been alleging that the byelections are being held due to his dictatorial behaviour of the Chief Minister. The Congress has been alleging that the BJP had planned "Operation Lotus" in Himachal to topple the state government.

Rashid allowed to meet family after taking oath

NEW DELHI/SRINAGAR, JULY 5 Jailed leader Engineer Rashid took oath as a member of Parliament on Friday after he was released on a two-hour custody parole by the Patiala House court in Delhi.

Engineer Rashid was sworn in as a member of the 18th Lok Sabha following his victory from the Baramulla constituency in J&K. He had defeated former Chief Minister and vice-president of the National Conference (NC), Omar Abdullah, by a huge margin of over two lakh votes. The 56-year-old politician was arrested in 2019 by the NIA during the investigation of a money laundering case linked to terror funding and has since been lodged in Delhi's Tihar Jail under the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA). The oath-taking ceremony was attended by the members of his family, which included his wife, daughter, sons Asrar Rashid and Abrar Rashid and brother Khurshed Ahmad Sheikh. At least two of his party functionaries also attended the ceremony. Those present on the occasion were allowed to join only after producing identity cards and without mobile phones or Internet access. Engineer Rashid was allowed interaction with the family before being taken back to jail without any liberty to talk to the media or any other unconcerned person as per the directions of the court. — IANS

Shah, Nadda meet J&K BJP leaders, discuss Assembly poll preparedness

Ask them to focus on saffron party strongholds in Jammu

ARJUN SHARMA

JAMMU, JULY 5 The top brass of the BJP is learnt to have asked its UT leaders to focus on Jammu region, considered to be the party's stronghold, ahead of the upcoming Assembly poll. The elections are expected to be held in J&K this year as the Supreme Court has directed the EC to conduct them by September 30.

Senior J&K BJP leaders, including UT chief Ravinder Raina, general secretary (organisation) Ashok Koul, MP and Union Minister Jitendra Singh and MP Jugal Kishore Sharma, met the party high command in Delhi on Thursday evening to discuss the prevailing political situation.

Union Ministers Amit Shah and JP Nadda chaired the meeting, which was also attended by BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santosh, Union Minister and J&K election in-charge G Kishan Reddy, national general secretary J&K in-charge Tarun Chug and co-in-charge Ashish Sood. During the meeting, the UT leadership was asked to focus on the areas where the saffron party has a stronghold. The party did not do well even on some of these areas in the recently held Lok Sabha elections. During the recently held LS elections on the two seats of Jammu division, the BJP led in 29 of total 43 Assembly segments. The Congress and NC were able to secure leads in seven segments each.

"The party high command asked the local leaders to focus on those areas which are considered to be the strongholds of the BJP. These include the Hindu-dominated districts of Jammu region. Party leaders were also asked to focus on Rajouri, Poonch, Doda and

ENHANCE OUTREACH: APNI PARTY CHIEF

A day after the BJP top brass asked its J&K leaders to prepare for the Assembly poll, the Apni Party, termed as a "proxy" of the saffron party, also reviewed preparation for the elections. Party chief Altaf Bukhari directed leaders to speed up the public outreach programmes.

Kishtwar, where the BJP did not perform well in the LS poll," a leader who participated in the meeting said.

While the BJP was able to win the two Jammu seats, the winning margin had dipped drastically from 2019. Local leaders were also told at the meeting that while in Jammu, the BJP would contest most of the seats, in Kashmir, many "associated parties" would contest in alliance with the BJP.

Sunak exits...

FROM PAGE 1 Labour Party-led government, Starmer said the work ahead is "urgent and we begin it today". However, he said this would not be as simple as "flipping a switch".

"When the gap between the sacrifices made by people and the service they receive from politicians grows this big, it leads to the weariness in the heart of a nation, a draining away of the hope, the spirit, the belief in a better future. But we need to move forward together," he said.

Starmer acknowledged that the lack of trust could only be healed by actions, not words and pledged that his government would treat every single person in the country with respect. The incoming PM also had warm words for his 44-year-old predecessor, Sunak, who he praised for an added accomplishment. "His achievement as the first British Asian PM of our country, the extra effort that will have required should not be underestimated by anyone. We pay tribute to that today and recognise that dedication," he said. — PTI of free power for inflation-hit consumers; jobs for young people in the government sector; a continuation of free bus rides for women across the state. And then comes the rapier cut — his response to AAP deserter-turned-BJP candidate Sheetal Angural's accusation of "extortion" is that Angural left AAP because he was not willing to abide by the party's anti-corruption ideology.

Welcome to Bhagwant Mann's Jalandhar, where the CM's day starts at 10 am. People have already begun assembling in the air-conditioned German tents set up in the lawn of his newly rented accommodation — mostly people from Jalandhar West constituency, who have managed to reach here after crossing six layers of security. While the CM is busy strategising his party's campaign with his core team of OSDs and pollsters, these people, accompanied by area councillors, are first attended to by the CM's wife, Dr Gurpreet Kaur, or one of his OSDs. Only the more significant lot gets a chance to go across to the last cabin to see the CM and get a picture clicked with him.

This done, Mann spends early afternoon meeting groups of prominent citizens in a city hotel, while his security keeps track of the movement of various unions of employees, who seem to follow him relentlessly to push for acceptance of their demands. He then rushes to the constituency to hold his public meetings. Here, his political satire targeting his opponents, his stage presence and his listing of AAP government achievements seem to hold the audience — around 400 in any gathering — in sway. "The others have to pay to get an audience, here you come to meet me on your own. I am truly blessed to get such love. I must have done something good in my past life to get your affection and win your confidence. I assure you that even after the election, I will be staying here — my new adopted home — for two to three days a week. Sarkar ithon chalugi," he says, as crowds cheer. Meanwhile, the AAP candidate, Mahinder Bhagat, stands in the CM's shadow.

Amidst one of the most intensely fought byelections ever in recent history of Punjab, the ruling AAP has strategically refused to be drawn into any debate on the allegations levelled against its top leaders by AAP deserter and BJP candidate Angural, and continues to campaign only on its performance since it came to power.

Unperturbed by "The Sheetal Angural show" yesterday, which ended in an anti-dimax, the party leaders, including CM Mann, talk about their own rise from "aam aadmi" families and how the AAP ideology has helped build leaders from the common families. Both yesterday and today, Mann only talked about his development agenda, refusing to react to the allegations.

It's not just Mann, but his wife Gurpreet Kaur, MPs Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer and Malvinder Singh Kang, ministers Harpal Cheema, Aman Arora, Kuldeep Singh Dhaliwal, Gurneet Singh Khudian, Chetan Singh Jouramajra, Laljit Singh Bhullar and Lal Chand Kataruchak, who are going door to door, campaigning for the party candidate. Most of the young party MLAs — Amansher Singh Sherry Kalsi, Devinder Singh Laddi Dhos, Dinesh Chadha, Gurinder Singh Garry Waring — have also remained stationed here for days now, trying to consolidate young voters for their party. To keep his party leaders going, CM Mann has kept the carrot of chairmanship of various state government boards and corporations dangling in front of them. A list of vacancies of these political postings is being prepared. He has publicly started saying that he will offer these postings to those who work hard for the party.

"Each one of us, and our team of volunteers, has been given a specified area and we are reaching out to all voters here. Let the opposition leaders spread venom, we are here to spread only our message of development, while urging people to strengthen us by rejecting a turncoat," said a senior minister.

Never in the recent history has a byelection for an Assembly seat drawn so much of public and political interest. This may be because rarely has there been an incident of a ruling party MLA switching sides, when there were still three years to go for the next Assembly elections. Also, the top leadership in three political parties — AAP Congress and BJP (SAD has hilariously withdrawn its support to its candidate, after the party signed on the nomination papers) — have made this election a matter of prestige.

While the Congress and BJP are buoyant after their increased vote shares in the recent Lok Sabha poll, AAP leadership is giving its all to win this election, with many leaders in the party seeing it as a redemption from the electoral loss in the Lok Sabha poll. That is why the party and its leaders from across the state are unitedly going all guns blazing to win back the seat.

Gill was elected as a councillor for Sandwell Metropolitan Borough Council in 2012 and re-elected in 2016. In 2017, she was given the ticket by the Labour Party from Birmingham Edgbaston and she became the first woman British-Sikh MP.

Dhesi's father Jaspal Singh Dhesi is the former president of Guru Nanak Darbar Gurdwara at Gravesend, the largest Sikh shrine in the UK. He was first elected as a councillor to the Gravesham Borough Council in 2007. He later went on to become the Gravesham Mayor between 2011 and 2012. He lost his MP poll from Gravesend in 2015, but won in 2017, 2019 and 2024 from Slough.

In a separate affidavit filed in the top court, the NTA also opposed cancellation of the examination, saying it "would be hugely counterproductive and significantly harmful to the larger public interest, especially to career prospects of qualified candidates."

There are two sets of petitions before the SC — the first seeking scrapping of the examination over the alleged paper leak & irregularities and the second filed by 56 Gujarat-based successful aspirants seeking to restrain the Centre from going for a retest.

number submitting applications for premature retirement. "Extreme pressure and adverse working conditions are the reasons behind these requests. The 70,000-strong Haryana Police face a shortage of about 20,000 personnel below the rank of Sub-Inspector," he said.

Despite directives from the Supreme Court and recommendations from Police

Commissions for reforms, the same old structure continued in the Haryana Police, he alleged. "We are poorly paid and overburdened. Besides the official duties of investigation and law and order, police personnel are assigned several other tasks," he said.

Dilawar said the new criminal laws had given more powers to the police officers, which was likely to further demoralise the lower ranks. "Police personnel are one pay commission behind compared to other government employees. The third pay commission was not granted to the police in Haryana. The existing system is likely to further widen the gap between the police and public. These factors also lead to corruption in the police," he said.

3 Nihangs attack Sena leader with swords in...

is not clear yet." After the attack, Thapar was admitted to the DMC Hospital. CCTV footage from the area showed that three Nihangs waylaid Thapar, who was riding a scooter with his gunman. They confronted Thapar and hit him repeatedly on the head with the sword. Meanwhile, the police have ordered an inquiry against Thapar's gunman.

NEET-PG to be held in two shifts on August 11

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JULY 5
The NEET-PG 2024 will now be held on August 11 in two shifts, the National Medical Board of Examinations (NBEMS) said on Friday. The cut-off date for eligibility to appear in the test will remain August 15.

The NEET-PG was earlier set to be held on June 22, but was postponed as a "precautionary measure" just 12 hours before the examination. The NEET-PG is a national-level examination for admission to postgraduate medical courses.

Some medical experts have expressed reservation on holding the exam in two shifts. Dr Suvranakar Datta, senior resident, AIIMS-Delhi, posted on X, "Absolutely appalled by the decision to conduct the NEET-PG in two shifts. How can we ensure fairness in ranking when the exam is split into different slots? Seems completely unfair for serious PG aspirants!"

The NTA has been under heavy scrutiny for the past few weeks over the alleged leak of the NEET-UG paper. FILE PHOTO less difficulty and those who get the difficult paper set. To maintain the balance, the NBEMS will use the normalisation process that combines the scores from all shifts and then gives out the ranks. "To ensure better arrangement for the students, the exam is being conducted in two shifts. Standard normalisation ratio will be applied in two shifts. The final date has been decided after holding meetings with all the stakeholders, including the government," he said.

He said, "The normalisation process is a worldwide accepted phenomena. For multi-session exams, different papers will be set with varied difficulty. Thus, scenarios are different for students who get the paper with forethought is unacceptable!" NBEMS president Dr Abhijat Sheth said two shifts would ensure better arrangements for the students. He said the normalisation ratio would be applied in two shifts.

BJP replaces state in-charges for HP, Haryana; retains Rupani in Punjab

No call on Maharashtra, UP where party performed poorly

NEW DELHI, JULY 5

Sanjay Tandon (L) and Vijay Rupani will continue to be the BJP co-in-charge for HP and in-charge for Punjab, respectively. FILE

Former Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani will continue to be the state in-charge with Narendra Singh as his deputy for Punjab. BJP national general secretary Tarun Chugh has been retained as in charge for Ladakh and the UT of Jammu and Kashmir.

BJP national general secretary Arun Singh made these announcements approved by party president JP Nadda. BJP national general secretaries Vinod Tawde and Radha Mohan Das Agarwal will continue to look after the saffron party's organisational affairs in Bihar and Karnataka, respectively.

Tomar of Odisha. The party's national general secretary Dushyant Kumar Gautam will continue to be the in-charge of Uttarakhand. BJP MP Sambit Patra has also been retained as the coordinator for the north-eastern states.

Former I&B Minister Prakash Javadekar will remain the in-charge of Kerala, Bihar MLA Nitin Nabin will be the party's in-charge of Chhattisgarh, Ashish Sood of Goa, BJP national vice-president Laxmikant Bajpai of Jharkhand, Mahendra Singh of Madhya Pradesh and Vijaypal Singh

A state in-charge works as the link between the national leadership and state leadership. The party is yet to take a call on state in-charge for Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra, where it underperformed grossly.

Current UP BJP in-charge is the party's national vice-president Bajyant Panda. Dinesh Sharma is the Maharashtra BJP in-charge. —TNS

Moitra's 'pajamas' remark against NCW chief sparks row

Women commission asks Delhi Police to register case, Trinamool MP hits back at Rekha

NEW DELHI, JULY 5
TMC MP Mahua Moitra's remark against National Commission for Women (NCW) chairperson Rekha Sharma has led to a controversy. The comment was made on a video showing Sharma's arrival at the site of the Hathras stampede, where a man can be seen holding an umbrella over her. The video, shared on X, prompted a social media user to question why Sharma couldn't hold her own umbrella. In response, Moitra tweeted: "She (Rekha Sharma) is too busy holding up her boss's pajamas."

The NCW quickly condemned Moitra's comment, saying: "The NCW has taken suo moto cognisance of the derogatory remark made by Mahua Moitra, Member of Parliament, against Rekha Sharma, Chairperson, NCW. The crude remarks are outrageous and a violation of a woman's right to dignity. NCW requests strict action against Moitra." The NCW has demanded that an FIR be registered against Moitra and a detailed action report be submitted within three days. In retaliation, Moitra wrote: "Come on @DelhiPolice, please take action immediately on these suo moto orders. Am in Nadia in case you need me in the next 3 days to make a quick arrest. Also @DelhiPolice while you're at it can you please register an FIR against another serial offender under your new Act. I Can Hold My Own Umbrella," she tweeted, sharing screenshots of various posts by Rekha. —TNS

He added that except for his mother, his family did not have any faith in the self-styled Bhole Baba.

Another person Mukesh Kumar, who lost his younger daughter Lata in the mishap, however, said he still had faith in the godman's abilities to heal people. "My wife had developed a cancerous growth, which got cured after she applied the Baba's 'charan dhool'," he said, adding that the stampede resulted because people were not disciplined.

However, a local resident, Harish Jain, dismissed the godman as a fraud.

Lawyers flag 'conflict of interest' in Kejriwal case

NEW DELHI, JULY 5
Over 150 lawyers have written to CJI DY Chandrachud over "conflict of interest" of Delhi HC Judge Sudhir Kumar Jain who heard ED appeal against bail to CM Arvind Kejriwal in a money laundering case related to the Delhi excise policy "scam".

Say ED's lawyer is judge's brother, write to CJI

They claimed Justice Jain should have rescued himself from proceedings as his brother was an ED counsel. Sources, however, said advocate Anurag Jain was not handling any money laundering case related to the "scam". The representation by 157 lawyers also bears the signature of AAP legal cell chief Sanjeev Nasir. They expressed concern over a purported internal communication from a district judge here asking vacation judges of trial courts to not pass a final order in pending cases during a court recess, calling it "unprecedented". —TNS from Tihar to Parliament, while Amritpal got a four-day custody parole, beginning July 5 in view of travel from Assam to Delhi and back, to take oath. Parole orders prohibited them from speaking to or addressing the media on any issue or making any statements during their period of temporary release. Their family members also couldn't make a statement in any form to the media. Amritpal, a Khalistan sympathiser who heads the 'Waris Punjab De' outfit, had been allowed to meet his family in Delhi, Rashid's family had permission only to attend his oath-taking. The Delhi Police and Punjab Police were directed to coordinate with the Secretary General of the Lok Sabha for procedures inside the Parliament complex.

Labour all the way

UK votes for change as Conservatives suffer rout

BRITAIN'S Conservative Party had it coming. A strong anti-incumbency sentiment brought its tumultuous 14-year rule to an end as the Labour Party recorded a thumping victory in the parliamentary elections. Economic woes, political scandals, intra-party discord and glaring lapses in delivering public services prompted angry voters to throw out the Conservatives. Defence minister Grant Shapps, who was among the prominent losers, put it bluntly: 'We've tried the patience of traditional Conservative voters with a propensity to create an endless political soap opera out of internal rivalries and divisions.'

Infighting apart, the ruling party came a cropper on every front in the past five years or so, with Boris Johnson's tenure as PM (2019-22) being especially disastrous. The parties held at 10 Downing Street during Covid lockdowns shocked the entire nation. Johnson's successor Liz Truss had the ignominy of being the UK's shortest-serving PM. And then came Indian-origin technocrat Rishi Sunak, raising hopes of a turnaround. However, it soon became evident that too much damage had already been done and it was too late for him to stem the rot.

Sunak has graciously accepted defeat and apologised to his party. While the Conservatives lick their wounds after the rout and go back to the drawing board, Keir Starmer and his Labour Party have little time to celebrate their landslide triumph. Britain is facing a slew of daunting challenges, and the path to national renewal will be inevitably rocky. The nation's tax burden is set to touch its highest since just after World War II, while the net debt is almost equivalent to the annual economic output. With so many problems at home, the new UK government may struggle to maintain continuity in foreign policy, such as offering unequivocal support to Ukraine in the war against Russia. Even as 26 Indian-origin Labour and Conservative candidates won, the real point of interest for India is the Free Trade Agreement, which has been in the works for quite some time. Delhi hopes that this pact will be finalised and sealed this year without major hitches.

Learn from tragedies

Like Naina Devi, ensure safer gatherings

IN the wake of yet another stampede in the country — at Hathras this time, where over 120 lives were tragically lost during a religious congregation — the spotlight falls on the sad fact that we rarely learn from past mistakes.

Such tragedies are usually followed by a knee-jerk reaction comprising a patch-up job — thereafter, it's business as usual. Till another tragedy strikes. The urgency of bringing into effect stringent long-term measures and proactive planning to prevent such avoidable disasters is missing in our policies. A case in point is the 2008 Naina Devi temple stampede, in which the lives of 146 devotees were lost due to panic triggered by the rumour of a landslide. It led to some improvements in crowd control, with the implementation of batch-wise movement of pilgrims and enhanced facilities for their comfort and safety. However, all is not hunky-dory as certain other recommendations made by the committee set up for the purpose then have either not been implemented, or are a work in progress even 16 years down the line.

Meanwhile, Rahul Gandhi's meeting with families of some Hathras victims and his call for timely and substantial compensation highlight two crucial aspects of leadership in times of crisis — empathy and accountability. Regardless of political affiliations, the demand for a thorough investigation into the lapses by the administration is a necessary step towards ensuring justice and preventing similar mishaps.

The authorities must adopt robust crowd management strategies, including adherence to venue capacity limits, effective emergency response plans, adequate deployment of security and medical personnel and real-time monitoring through CCTV cameras and effective communication channels. We owe it to the victims of stampedes that their deaths are not in vain but rather catalysts for lasting improvements in crowd safety protocols nationwide.

Peace or war?

We have said that the Mahatma's decision to retain his leadership is half-hearted and tentative, and that, judging from his two articles in Young India, the peace made between the two parties at Ahmedabad is no real lasting peace, but only a preliminary to, a preparation for, another war. The Mahatma himself is our authority for both statements. After pointing out the circumstances under which his present decision was forced upon him, he writes:—"I have, therefore, reluctantly decided to drink the bitter cup and continue to be in the Congress organisation and shoulder the responsibility for it until the Congress puts me in an actual numerical minority. I may not choose shortcuts. I must plod. I must pocket my pride and wait till I am driven out." The very mood in which the Mahatma reveals himself in these words shows that he does not accept the decision of the All India Congress Committee as many of us would have liked him to accept it — as a substantial good — but only as an evil, though, for the present, a necessary and unavoidable evil. That the acceptance of this evil is with him a strictly temporary thing is abundantly clear from the words that follow those just quoted. "I must seemingly become a party man," he says, "and show that I can still work as a no-party man. I must strive for a majority at the next Congress and endeavour so far as is possible to act impartially." Do not these words mean that all that the Mahatma promises to his colleagues in the other camp is fairness and impartiality, which nobody ever doubted or could doubt in his case, and not cooperation, not the sinking of party differences, so far as it is possible to sink them, in an earnest effort to advance the common cause?

Kya Pappu pass ho gaya

The government can no longer ride roughshod over an empowered Opposition

THE GREAT GAME

JYOTI MALHOTRA

PAPPU, as Congress leader Rahul Gandhi has been pejoratively called for several years by the ruling BJP, has cleared the people's test, as we know by now, with pretty good marks. Not with a 'first class first', as was said in the good old days, nor with 'distinction' or 'flying colours', because that would have meant that the Congress or the INDIA bloc was voted to power in the recent elections. But certainly enough to make a difference in the 18th Lok Sabha — as well as in the rest of the country.

Rahul's speech in this short, inaugural session in which he invoked the gods and saints — from Shiva to Guru Nanak and Jesus Christ — as he sought to draw a distinction between the all-encompassing spirit of Hinduism and a more muscular Hindutva that the BJP has recently espoused, was long needed to be made in Parliament.

Meanwhile, fiery Trinamool Congress leader Mahua Moitra quoted both Pablo Neruda and Puneet Sharma ("tum kaun ho bey/mujhe poochhney ho/iss desh se mera rishta kitna gehra hai") to assert the new 'freedom from fear' that she insisted was the new leitmotif of the land.

Significantly, neither Chandrababu Naidu's TDP nor Nitish Kumar's JDU, which help keep Prime Minister Modi in power, made much of a noise. It was almost as if they didn't care. Seems both Naidu and Nitish are keenly aware — despite the latter's alleged medical condition — that this is the time to strike while the iron is hot. Meaning, now is the time to demand cash from the Centre to refurbish their states, with or without 'special category status'.

Naidu especially, who furnishes 16 key MPs to the NDA, well understands the nature of his newfound power. He's been in a few political parties, doesn't mind the tag of a turncoat, and as Modi's ally intends to extract his pound of flesh. So, on Thursday in Delhi, he met six ministers — Amit Shah, Nitin Gadkari, Piyush Goyal, Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Manohar Lal Khattar and Hardeep Puri — apart from the PM. The Centre, he added, should set up a mechanism to 'effectively coordinate' with his state's officials for 'timely intervention' in the issues flagged — from building a ring road around the new, unbuilt capital at Amravati to demanding that Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announce the establishment of a new oil refinery for Andhra Pradesh in her Budget speech. It's not clear how much money Naidu wants. Some say Rs 1 lakh crore; others say half of that. What is crystal clear is that he is going to get it. According to this hyper-realist school of thought, warm and fuzzy speeches in Parliament, like those made by Rahul and Mahua, are, frankly, irrelevant. That Modi 3.0 will last only as long as Naidu remains fully satisfied, and that therefore it will be in Modi's interest to keep him in that state of pleasure.

According to this hyper-realist school of thought, warm and fuzzy speeches in Parliament, like those made by Rahul and Mahua, are, frankly, irrelevant.

Moreover, it's not as if Delhi doesn't have the money — it does. It also has the smartest bureaucrats to figure out how to pay it out. Both Modi and Naidu know that. Nor has it escaped them that Nitish may be the more dangerous man today because Bihar will go to the polls next year and that a desperate man may go to any lengths to get his needs met — including switching political parties. Fortunately for all sides concerned, India is one of the few sweet spots in the world today, because its economy is doing fairly well — although it's another matter whether a substantial part of the money should be used to dress up just two states.

Which version of Delhi, then, is more true? The one that insists that India has changed because the BJP is not just no longer in majority, but on the back foot, and that people will no longer bend towards the ruling party's majoritarian agenda? Or the one that believes that Parliament must necessarily remain an upscale debating club, because the real exercise of power will always take place outside?

As always, of course, India abhors either extreme, veers towards the middle, much preferring a little bit of this and a little bit of that. In the exactly one month since 'the people' cut the BJP and the PM down to size, the message has gone out loud and clear — the government can no longer ride roughshod over an empowered Opposition.

So, even if it sticks in their gut, the BJP — and the Speaker — will have to listen to the recently elected 232 MPs from INDIA: they aren't that far behind the BJP's numbers, anyway. Jagdambika Pal — more famous for being chief minister of Uttar Pradesh for one day — may or may not have understood Mahua when he sat in the Lok Sabha Speaker's chair as she fulminated about 'losing her uterus' along with her seat when she was expelled last year from the House, but he allowed her to speak for a full 28 minutes.

Significantly, the opposite is also true. Look at Khador Sahib MP Amritpal Singh and Baranulla MP Engineer Rashid. They have been held under the National Security Act and UAPA, respectively — Amritpal is lodged in Dibrugarh, Assam, and Rashid in Tihar jail, Delhi. But both were brought to Parliament at state expense on Friday — Amritpal via a chopper, then a flight and then a convoy of cars — to take the oath, swearing allegiance to the Constitution. Both have been accused of spreading secession, and yet their families as well as radical supporters back home realise that the only way the rest of India will offer either man an understanding — and even sympathetic — ear is in the exercise of their vocal cords, they also moderate their rhetoric.

The question now is, kya Pappu pass ho gaya? Has Pappu passed the people's test? Certainly Rahul Gandhi must keep up the pressure, but if Hathras is a yardstick, the answer must be a cautious yes.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

I didn't come into politics to change the Labour Party. I came into politics to change the country. — Tony Blair

A touching gesture by a superior

SANKAR SEN

IN December 1977, I was posted as the Deputy Inspector General in charge of investigation in the Justice Shah Commission of Enquiry, which was set up by then Janata Party government to probe the alleged subversion of lawful processes and established conventions and other excesses committed during the Emergency.

The secretary of the commission, PR Rajgopal, a former Commissioner of Police, Delhi, would brook no nonsense and make no compromise. But at the same time, he was warm and considerate. He was driving us hard to finish the work within the one year allotted to the commission. Both he and Justice Shah were very clear that our investigations should be transparent and aboveboard and must not be soiled by dubious and questionable methods. To a large extent, this was taken care of.

One day, my wife rang me up and said that our younger son had been experiencing abdominal pain since the morning and had got no relief even after taking painkillers. I returned home in the evening and we took him to a nearby hospital. The doctor was not able to diagnose the ailment and only said that the child had to be kept under observation for a few more hours. With this pronouncement, he left the room and did not return.

Our son was writhing in pain. My wife was in tears and I was at my wits' end, petrified by anxiety and not knowing what was to be done. In that moment of despair, I rang up Rajgopal. He was not at his residence. I left a message that on his return he may ring me at the hospital. Within an hour, Rajgopal called up. I told him about my emergency. His response was prompt. He promised to rush to the hospital with a doctor. True to his word, he arrived with a specialist, who examined my son and said it was a case of acute appendicitis, a rare ailment for a child, and suggested an immediate operation.

At Rajgopal's request, the child specialist himself performed the operation. Later, the doctor told me that it had been a close shave. Delay would have made the operation hazardous and endangered the child's life. My son stayed in the hospital for a few days before being discharged. Soon, he was his old self.

Even now, almost four decades later, I recall that evening in the hospital when Rajgopal appeared like a saviour, not a tough boss but a warm-hearted and compassionate leader with deep concern for his subordinates. Such a spontaneous gesture forges unbreakable bonds between the team leader and his men. Indeed, Rajgopal was a wonderful leader and a grand coordinator. When I expressed my gratitude to him, he simply said: 'Just do the same to your subordinates when they turn to you for help.'

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bhole Baba did a vanishing act

With reference to the news report '6 arrested for Hathras stampede, ₹1L bounty on satsang organiser', even though more than 120 people died in the stampede that broke out during the religious gathering held by Bhole Baba, the self-styled godman has not been named in the FIR lodged in connection with the incident. The investigation into the matter and the criminal proceedings must be fast-tracked to ensure a speedy delivery of justice to the victims. It is disgraceful that the preacher disappeared after the tragedy instead of coming forward and offering assistance in the relief operations. He has shattered the trust of lakhs of gullible people. It is a pity that self-proclaimed godmen like him often enjoy political patronage in our country.

Don't let Blue eclipse Olive Green

Winning the T20 World Cup is a huge achievement, and Team India players deserve kudos for the feat. It was magnificent how thousands of people filled the entire stretch from the Nariman Point to the Wankhede Stadium to welcome the Men in Blue. The show of love was a testament to the Indians' undying love for the sport and respect for the players. However, it is unfortunate that our troops, who put their lives on the line to protect their motherland and stand guard day and night at the border, are never welcomed back home in a grand fashion. Students at schools across the country must be mandatorily taught about the challenges faced by soldiers in the event of a war and those who made the ultimate sacrifice for the country.

Down with the cricket craze

Rohit Sharma and his team got a hero's welcome in Mumbai on Thursday as they returned from Barbados following their T20 World Cup triumph. The champions were congratulated by PM Narendra Modi and greeted by a sea of cricket-mad fans upon their arrival. These players are revered as heroes in India, even though only a handful of countries participate in the cricket World Cup. Let us not forget that there are close to 200 countries in this world. The Indian public needs to snap out of this craze for cricket. George Bernard Shaw once rightly said, 'Cricket is a game played by 11 fools and watched by 10,000 fools.' Our real heroes are the soldiers, who are willing to lay down their lives to protect the country. It is a matter of shame that most people don't even remember that this year marks the 25th anniversary of the Kargil War.

Road connectivity in rural areas

Refer to news report 'Deprived of road, Banjar villagers carry patient on shoulders'; it was shocking to learn that residents of Brehtha village in Kullu district have to bear the brunt of a lack of proper road connectivity. It is a pity that a 70-year-old patient who had recently undergone a critical operation at a private hospital in Kullu had to be carried back to the village by fellow residents. It is safe to say that it was not an isolated incident. Many people living in far-off, rural areas of the state do not have access to even the basic amenities that those living in developed cities take for granted. Successive state governments have failed to address the woes of village residents.

Character of a leader matters

Apropos of the middle 'Biden, Trump go golfing with gusto'; the back-and-forth between the incumbent US President and his predecessor brought to the fore their lack of maturity. The trade of barbs between the two contenders for the Oval Office was unbecoming of them. Unfortunately, the acrimony between the two leaders and their supporters goes well beyond golf. Clips of their exchange have been doing the rounds on the Internet. Being the President of the United States is not about scoring in golf or winning a debate. Many youngsters look up to their leaders for inspiration. As Walt Whitman put it, "Sanity and ensemble characterise the great master."

PAWAN KUMAR, BY MAIL

Acrimony again trumps parliamentary norms

VIVEK KATJU
FORMER SECRETARY, MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

THE hope that the acrimony of the recent elections and political divisions would be put behind as the 18th Lok Sabha convened has been belied. Both the ruling BJP and the Congress-led Opposition have become more combative, and no accommodation is being shown by either side. In the process, established norms are being abandoned, with both sides blaming each other for doing so. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is attempting to impress upon the nation that the loss of the BJP's majority in the Lok Sabha will not lead to a material change in either his priorities or the manner in which he has led the government over the past decade. The steps he has taken in government formation and his addresses to both Houses of Parliament make that abundantly clear. On the other hand, the Congress and its allies are pushing the idea that the BJP's loss of 63 seats (from 303 in 2019 to 240 this time) has materially altered the political situation and that Modi cannot run the government as he did in his first two terms.

The lack of adherence to parliamentary norms and rules as well as decency by both sides during the debate on the President's address is a precursor to their approach towards each other in the coming months and years. In this context, three points can be made straightaway.

First, Rahul Gandhi, who is the first Leader of the Opposition (LoP) in the Lok Sabha in a decade, made a bitingly critical speech against the ruling dispensation, including its policies and governance style as well as methods. He was within his right to do so. Parts of his speech were expunged, and he protested to the Speaker against the action. It was perhaps the expunging of portions of his speech that led the Opposition to make a ruckus during Modi's speech. This was wrong and disrespectful to the office of the Prime Minister. It was also noteworthy that the treasury benches did not really interrupt Rahul's speech. Hence, it would have been appropriate if the same courtesy was extended to Modi.

Second, no real political gains were made by the Congress in going against

REASSURANCE: PM Narendra Modi is attempting to impress upon the nation that the loss of the BJP's majority in the Lok Sabha will not lead to a material change in the manner he has led the government so far. PTI convention by having a contest for the Speaker's post. What has been lost, though, is a good convention. Also, the convention that the Deputy Speaker's position goes to the Opposition was followed by previous governments. They did not suffer any political damage by doing so. The Modi government could allow the Deputy Speaker's job to go to an Opposition MP.

Third, towards the conclusion of his speech in the Lok Sabha, Modi said (roughly translated from Hindi to English): "They may claim whatever they may about numbers. When we came in 2014, our strength was low in the Rajya Sabha and the chairperson's leaning was somewhat towards the other side. But we remained firm and determined in our commitment to serve." It is sad that the PM cast aspersions on the neutrality of the chairperson of the Rajya Sabha, Hamid Ansari, while speaking in the Lower House. Normally, no remarks are made about the conduct of the chairperson of one House in the other. This principle should extend to former chairpersons too. This is because they belong (or have belonged) to different political formations. Hence, if one party or formation criticises the conduct of a particular chairperson, others are likely to do the same to others. Hence, till now, ex-chairpersons' conduct or inclinations were not commented upon. Allegations of a chairperson lacking neutrality are serious because the first requirement of the chairperson of either House is to treat all members equally. Naturally, if a chairperson does not do so, he or she violates the basic trust reposed in him or her by the House.

There is another aspect: Should a charge of this kind be made when the person who held the chair is not present to mount a defence? This is an additional reason why such charges of partiality or impropriety should not be made. In view of these factors, it was surprising that neither the Speaker nor any member of the Opposition came to Ansari's defence. The Speaker could have gently pointed out to the PM that the comment on Ansari was not in keeping with the high standards of Parliament. The LoP could have done the same. It has been seven years since Ansari demitted vice-presidency. But that should not make a difference to the need to omit the PM's remarks on him from the record. Indeed, it would be gracious of Modi himself to ask that they be removed. This would add to his stature, not diminish it.

During the course of his address in the Lok Sabha, Modi — without naming Rahul — made it clear that he thought the Congress leader had exhibited 'balak buddhi' (childish behaviour/intelligence). This is reminiscent of Rahul being referred to as 'Pappu'. That word is no longer used for him. The attention he gained from his Bharat Jodo Yatra and Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra led to him being taken seriously by a large section of the people.

The additional seats won by the Congress — though Modi is right when he says that the NDA won the election — and Rahul becoming the LoP have also meant that he is a pushover no more. The BJP will, therefore, have to do a lot of work to make the term 'balak buddhi' stick in the public imagination for Rahul. It will be facilitated if he makes inaccurate or unsubstantiated comments on matters that are vital to the national interest. Hence, it will be good for the country's politics if, at a time when India faces grave security challenges, all political leaders eschew the temptation of making personal remarks. Instead, they should join hands to address the demands on them for ensuring India's progress and security.

But perhaps that is a naïve thought.

UK poll verdict more a Tory defeat than a Labour victory

PRITAM SINGH
PROFESSOR EMERITUS, OXFORD BROOKES BUSINESS SCHOOL, UK

THE overwhelming conclusion that emerges from the UK general election results is that it is more of a defeat of the Conservative Party and less of a victory for the Labour Party. Though voters demonstrated their deep disenchantment with the ruling party and the government, they did not show much enthusiasm for Labour.

The protest vote against the Conservative government ensured a massive Labour majority. The electoral contest witnessed one of the lowest voter turnouts in the UK's electoral history. Many Conservative supporters simply did not turn out to vote or voted for the more extreme right-wing party, Reform UK. This contributed significantly to the devastating rout of the Tories, to the extent that former Prime Minister Liz Truss and dozens of ministers suffered humiliating defeats. The lack of enthusiasm for Labour was a result of the general perception that party leader Keir Starmer could not be trusted because he kept making U-turns on policies regarding green transition, taxing billionaires, improving workers' rights, child benefits and the welfare regime. He opted for politics of ambiguity by focusing on promising change, based on his assessment that voters were unhappy with the Conservative Party's governance, but stopped short of offering concrete proposals.

The dissatisfaction with the Tories also benefited the Liberal Democrats — the third largest party, after the Conservatives and Labour — who were the main opponents of the Conservatives in some regions, especially South West England. Their tally of 71 seats (in a Parliament of 650 seats) is their best electoral performance since 1923.

The Green Party has achieved great success. For over a decade, the party could secure just one seat. But it broke through that barrier this time, winning all four seats it had targeted with massive margins. The party had contested 574 seats all over England and Wales to ensure the presence of its vision and programme even in those places where it did not have an adequate party structure. It emerged in the second place in a substantial number of seats, suggesting the possibility of further expansion. The increasing influence of the Green Party is an indication of the growing consciousness, especially among younger and university-educated voters, of the urgency of green economic policies to avert a climate catastrophe. The party bagged nearly 8 per cent of the votes in the election, indicating that if there were to be a proportional representation system of election, the party's seats and influence in Parliament and policy-making would achieve a substantial boost.

The shift from the flawed first-past-the-post system of elections to the proportional representation system is strongly supported by the Liberal Democrats and the Green Party. The Labour Party conference has also formally passed a resolution in favour of proportional representation, and it remains to be seen whether the new government will actively seek to bring about this change in the electoral system. The UK is the only country in Europe that does not have any proportional representation dimension in its election system. Unfortunately, the first-past-the-post system followed in the UK has left its impact on its erstwhile colonies, such as some countries in South Asia.

Rishi Sunak had little time to undo the damage inflicted on the economy by Liz Truss' mismanagement.

The mismanagement of the economy during the past five years of Conservative rule, with an emphasis on a market-oriented mode of governance, led to the weakening of public services — the National Health Service, schools, social care, sewerage and the public transport system, especially the railways. This mismanagement became most glaring during Truss' brief tenure as the PM. Her drastic policy of reducing taxes and depending on debt to finance governance rattled the markets and led to a rise in inflation, which then fuelled an increase in interest and mortgage rates. The rise in mortgage rates, coupled with a surge in food prices because of the Russian-Ukraine conflict, led to a drastic increase in the cost of living for a wide section of the population.

Rishi Sunak and his Chancellor (Finance Minister) Jeremy Hunt had little time to undo the damage inflicted on the economy by her mismanagement. Both did demonstrate some economic competence, which is partly the reason that they have won from their respective constituencies, while many of their colleagues have been badly defeated. However, their social base — richer sections of the population — led them to pursue economic policies like reducing welfare expenditure, which damaged their political support.

The UK is composed of four regions (called nations) — England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland — and each of them has its own specific political culture and complexities. England is the biggest of the four nations.

In Scotland, the Scottish National Party (SNP), whose programme centres on seeking independence from the UK, faced a huge defeat despite no decline in the demand for independence. Scottish voters rejected SNP candidates because of the financial mismanagement of the party and voted Labour after a long time to both punish the SNP and defeat the Conservatives.

In Wales, the Conservative Party did not win a single seat. Plaid Cymru, a votary of Welsh independence from the UK, increased its seat count and vote share, though Labour won a majority.

In Northern Ireland, Sinn Féin, which advocates for a united Ireland, emerged as the single largest party for the first time; none of the England-based parties has any presence there.

The incoming Labour government led by Starmer faces myriad challenges. It has to steer the economy to improve public services, manage immigration to minimise the dangers of the rise of the anti-immigrant Reform UK, devolve power to meet aspirations for independence of non-English regions, contribute to reducing tensions in Ukraine and Gaza and tackle the problems emerging from climate change.

Skip the main city centre and discover Philadelphia's countryside, where the fungi reigns

JOANNA LOBO

THIS is the mushroom capital of the world, I am consistently told. It's my first visit to Philadelphia (Philly) and I quickly learn one fact: they love their superlatives, and aren't ashamed to say it out loud. Philly is the 'garden capital of America', and the 'birthplace of America'. The Declaration of Independence was signed here. It was home to the nation's first library, medical school and hospital. And, Kennett Square in the countryside of Philadelphia is called the 'mushroom capital of the world' — beyond a tourism gimmick, they actually grow 60 per cent of the mushrooms sold in the US.

As a mushroom fan, it's thrilling to find this fungus in everything, not just food. At the Mushroom Cap, a crowded shop on the main street, I see a short video talking about mushroom farming, and observe 3D models of the farms. But it is the mushroom-shaped dishes and inspired paraphernalia that grab attention: gluten-free mushroom snacks, preserved mushrooms turned into jewellery, charms, wrapping paper and tree ornaments. It's a mushroom overdose of the best kind. Down the road, at the colourful ice-cream store, La Michoacana, I sample a delicious earthy mushroom popside.

Longwood Gardens' 1906 restaurant dishes out a hearty mushroom soup, and perfectly-crusted mushroom croquettes, but this

TRAVEL TIPS

HOW TO GET THERE: Lufthansa has a one-stop flight to Philly from Mumbai. From Philly city centre, the countryside is a 40-minute ride away.

WHERE TO STAY: The Bookhouse Hotel is a boutique hotel that holds over 5,000 books.

Fairfield Inn is a business-friendly hotel in the heart of Kennett Square.

dining spot is just one of the stars of the public garden. There's a lush conservatory, woodlands and manicured gardens, making it possible to spend hours amid the greens. I see people picnicking, admire the cherry blossoms in bloom or learn more about the owners at the old estate house. At night, on weekends, people gather on the lawns facing the fountains, huddled under blankets and comfortable on deckchairs to watch a fountain and light show set to themed music.

Longwoods is not the only fancy garden in the vicinity, though no one else puts on a show like that. The next day, I head to Winterthur that pulls out all the stops to convince me I need a garden estate to make my life better. Spread across 1,000 acres, the estate has hills, streams, verdant meadows, shimmering pools, dense forests and a mansion, carefully curated with enough art in it to be considered a museum. My favourite discovery is 'Enchanted

Woods'. It is a play area for kids, and the child in me is delighted to see the stone house, a huge bird's nest of woven branches, a tiny stream for fishing and stone benches for a tea party. The Baldwin's Book Barn is a delight. Deep in Brandywine valley, in the town of West Chester, is a large farm once belonging to a Quaker family. Here, an old dairy barn is now a bookstore and library, home to over three lakh books, manuscripts, maps, paintings and more.

The floors are wooden, there's old art and furniture crowding the rooms, and each floor has a stunning collection of rare old and new books. As if that isn't incentive enough, the place is rumoured to have ghosts!

Elsewhere, West Chester, much like Kennett Square, is a quaint town. The streets have old record shops and thrift stores, with colourful facades, innovative names (Thistle be Perfect), and legendary dining spots like Yori's Church Street Bakery (known for their donuts). Every shop here is run by passionate locals, eager to showcase their talents. At Éclat, chef Christopher Curtin hands out tastings of his dainty chocolate creations, including a porcini and thyme chocolate, and coloured June bugs. At Taste of Olive, I learn about different balsamic vinegars, some thick and syrupy, others almost caramel-like.

Kilwins abounds with candy and chocolate, and their legendary fudge. Chocolate, candy, enchanted woods, ghosts, mushroom ice-cream... Philly's countryside has much to offer.

Udaipur's majestic palaces, ancient temples and jewel-like lakes seem to come alive when it rains

TEJA LELE

BIG, fat raindrops kiss the parched surface of the earth, the smell of petrichor creating an enchanting ambience. From the lakefront restaurant I'm sitting at, I watch the rain make its way into Lake Pichola, the drops creating ripples as they disappear into the water. The artificial freshwater lake and its surroundings have been developed over the centuries, and the palaces, marble temples, chabutaras, and the bathing ghats — Ambrai, Gangaur and Hanuman — create a gorgeous picture. Udaipur in Rajasthan is a beautiful destination at any time of the year, but the monsoon makes it magical.

Founded in 1559 by Udai Singh II of the Sisodia clan of Rajputs, Udaipur was the capital of Mewar and remained so till 1818 when it became a British princely state. Udai Singh II set up the city in the fertile circular Girwa valley, and built a 6-km-long city wall, with seven gates, to keep it safe. The area within these seven gates — Udaipole, Surajpole, Chandpole, Hathipole, Kishanpole, Ambapole, Brahmipole — and Delhi Gate is now known as the old city and houses most of the old structures. It's easy to see why Udaipur has been dubbed the most romantic city in India, beginning with British administrator James Tod and going on to countless publications and surveys. Lakes and hills, palaces and temples, museums and cafes, busy markets and winding streets, there's plenty to do in this big city with a small-town vibe.

My explorations begin at the magnificent City Palace, located on Lake Pichola and built at different times starting in 1559. Tipolia, a triple-arched gate built in 1725, leads to a series of courtyards, terraces, corridors, rooms and gardens. It's home to a museum that spotlights the architecture, paintings, furniture and other artefacts from a bygone era.

CITY PALACE

SAHELIYON KI BARI

MONSOON PALACE

On our way back home that night, we stop at Jagdish temple, which stands stolidly in the midst of the old city. Built by Maharana Jagat Singh I and in continuous worship since 1651, the temple showcases the Maru-Gurjara style of architecture, with numerous ornate carvings.

I lay eyes upon the Fatehsagar Lake, glimmering in the moonlight, as we drive back. Bounded by the Aravalli hills on three sides, the lake is a favourite with locals and tourists alike, offering boating and other activities by day, and peace and calm by night.

The numerous water bodies around the city add to the splendour of this aptly-named City of Lakes. The five most beautiful and most prominent are Pichola, Udai Sagar, Fateh Sagar, Rajsamand and Jaisamand, all included in the government's National Lake Conservation Plan. Apart from these, other smaller lakes such as Badi Talab, Doodh Talab and Kurnharia Talab are also part of the city's watercourses.

The next day, a boat ride takes us to Jag Mandir, a palace built on a small island in Lake Pichola. As the elegant façade, flanked by four massive carved statues of elephants on either side, comes into view, it becomes apparent why the royals used the structure as a summer and pleasure palace. Also known as the Lake Garden Palace, the elegant three-storey structure includes a garden area, complete with a black-and-white tiled courtyard, fountains and water pools.

I spot the beautiful Lake Palace, also located on an island in Lake Pichola, and earlier used as a summer palace. Built of white marble and featuring ornamented niches, pillared terraces, gardens and fountains, it is now a five-star hotel.

Not very far is Saheliyon ki Bari, which becomes even more beautiful in the rainy season. Built by Maharana Sangram Singh as a gift for his queen, the garden complex was designed as a space where the queen could spend time with the 48 maids who accompanied her after marriage. Even today, it's ideal for long strolls and longer conversations. Other attractions include Moti Magri, a memorial to Rajput hero Maharana Pratap, and Kesariyaji Temple, which has 52 pinnacles and is dedicated to Rishabh Dev, the first Jain Tirthankara.

Most nights, I go to bed replete after tucking into the region's delicacies: dal baati and churma, gatte ki sabzi, ker sangri, lal maas, and kachori.

On the last day in Udaipur, I make my way to Sajjagarh Palace. Built high up on a hill by Maharana Sajjan Singh in 1884, the marble palace is visually stunning, with a vast central court, high turrets and domes, fountains, jharkhas, and pillars clad with floral motifs. Located 3,100 feet above mean sea level, the palace offers a spectacular view of Fateh Sagar Lake, City Palace and Chittorgarh. Sajjan Singh wanted to build a five-storeyed astronomical centre, but the plan was shelved after his premature death.

The palace was used as a hunting lodge and as a summer lodge. The elevation helped track the movement of monsoon clouds, which led the structure to be called Monsoon Palace. Standing on the terrace, looking out to the sky, I see why — the tumultuous dark clouds reveal that rain is on the way!

More to Mirzapur than kill and thrill

RATING ★★★

As 'Mirzapur', one of India's most successful franchises, moves into its third season, the delectable signature tune, one of the high points of the series, is the same. So is the signature touch. It's still the killing fields in which men continue to die left, right and centre. Blood not only spills in the creative introductions, but in every direction. One could argue that the blood-curdling scenes are not as gut-wrenching. Not because the director is any less squeamish this time, only familiarity inures you. Sex-rated scenes have been toned down somewhat in the series, which is of course strictly for adults.

The template is the same, only with two of our favourite characters out of the picture — Munna (an excellent Divyenndu in season two) and Kaleen Bhaiya (Pankaj Tripathi) mostly lying comatose — the engagement factor does take a dip. After all, they are (were) the heartbeat of the series that captures the hinterland with detail, authenticity and all its goriness. Tripathi does leap back after a few episodes and even in scenes when you don't see him at his ferocious best, he stands out. The void in his absence is filled by other characters. Madhuri and Sarat Shukla are now the key players. Both actors, Isha Talwar and Anjum Sharma, are competent, one as the Chief Minister, the other fighting for his space in the illegal world. *Bahubali*s remain the equivalent of control and muscle power.

Who will be 'crowned' the new king? Indeed, one of the contenders, Guddu Pandit, is alive and shooting. Ali Fazal as Guddu may have lost his bulk, but not his freaking madness. In the scenes where he goes unhinged, the actor in him is in top form. If his gun hits the bull's eye, his sardonic humour, too, doesn't miss the mark. In one scene, soon after killing a man, he asks his child; 'What is your name?' On hearing that it is Munna, with deadpan expression, he says, 'Badal do.' And amid the bloody mess, you can barely suppress that chuckle. In yet another scene, he tells Madhuri, Munna's widow, 'I kill Munna everyday.' It's moments like these that elevate the series streaming on Amazon Prime Video into much more than just a standard fare of kill and thrill. No doubt, the series is as slick as ever. Editing by Siddheshwar Ekambe is deft, cinematography by Sanjay Kapoor razor-sharp and pointed, and twists a mixed bag of expected and the unexpected. Which one of the two Tyagi twins among Bharat and Shatrughan (Vijay Varma once again proving his mettle) has survived is obvious early on. What he will do to his lady love who betrayed him in the last season is not so predictable... but the unpredictability of Varma's character, we

RED SWAN

DISNEY+HOTSTAR

It is a story of a poor girl who becomes a well-known golf player and marries an heir to the powerful Hwan group. The South Korean drama talks of infidelity and relationships. Directed by Park Hong-kyun and starring Kim Ha-neul, the twists of relationships would be quite interesting to delve into.

DESPERATE LIES

NETFLIX

The Brazilian drama series is about Liana, a married woman, who finds out that she's pregnant with twins from two men due to a rare occurrence. It unravels the complexities of relationships as she tries to save her marriage. Directed by Angela Chave, the series stars Juliana Paes, Vladimir Brichta, Felipe Abib and Paloma Duarte.

ARTHUR THE KING

LIONSGATE PLAY

Based on true events, the endurance sports drama has Mark Wahlberg as Michael Light, who develops a profound relationship with Arthur, a stray dog, after it helps him sail through a challenging journey at the Adventure Racing World Championship. The heart-warming story has been directed by Simon Cellan Jones.

The docu-series centres on serial sperm donor JJ Meijer.

As Vicky Donor of another land lands in trouble

NETFLIX The Man with 1000 Kids
DIRECTOR Josh Allott
RATING ★★★

PARBINA RASHID

In 2012, Ayushmann Khurrana's debut film 'Vicky Donor' created quite a stir for its bold concept. Critics hailed director Shoojit Sircar for his 'fertile' imagination for touching a taboo subject like sperm donation. We loved serial sperm donor Vicky (Khurrana) for his 'spunk'. He was the biological father of 53 healthy children! The word 'consanguinity' didn't come to our mind then. As we watched 53 happy families celebrate Vicky's contribution to their lives, we had no idea such a 'contribution' could have actually landed the hero in trouble. Had the film been set in the Netherlands, where the law prohibits sperm donors from fathering more than 25 children, Vicky would have been stopped from making any more donations, or would be liable to pay a Euro 1,00,000 fine for each one. Like a Dutch court's verdict to serial sperm donor Jonathan Jacob Meijer after it was found that he had fathered close to 600 children, although some believe the actual count exceeds 1,000.

'The Man with 1000 Kids' centres on Meijer, a handsome Dutch man whose profile is quite a hit on sperm donation websites for his blue eyes and flowing blond hair. We meet him through lesbian couple Suzanne and Natalie; Joyce and John, who cannot conceive due to John's medical condition; solo parents Nicolette and Vanessa as they meet him as a private donor.

"I want to look the sperm donor in the eye and see if his personality fits my personality," says Natalie, a private sperm banks deny to their clients. When they meet their donor, they all fall for his 'five-families-only' line.

But suspicion arises when Nicolette, during a chat with her colleague, discovers that Meijer donated his sperm to both of them.

This leads her to investigate, uncovering the fact that Meijer had donated his sperm to 11 banks in the Netherlands and similar banks in the UK, USA, Australia, Canada, Argentina, Hungary, Kenya, and more. Not to mention uncountable donations to women who preferred to source the sperm privately.

As the maths gets complicated, the docu-series takes a serious turn. Meijer enjoys free air tickets and hospitality from sperm donation clinics in various countries, and uses those opportunities to make videos for his YouTube channel.

Meijer is not alone in this trade. In a sick game, he collaborates with another Dutch sperm donor, Leon, and mixes their samples to see whose sperm would father the next child.

What makes him do it? Some blame it on his thrill-seeking character and others on his God complex. Patricia, who claims to know him closely, feels coming from a large family makes him an attention-seeker.

The docu-series, however, does not offer a conclusion as Meijer refused to participate in it. Director Josh Allott makes uses of whatever is available to him — victims' interviews and the footage from Meijer's videos. But we don't notice his absence much as the delightful and informative graphics, footage and emotions captured on the camera fill the gaps in the narrative. Allott stitches the elements well.

The courtroom drama begins once the recipients realise the potential repercussions in their children's life, which could be from psychological trauma to incest, and unite on a Facebook group to stop him from donating any more. We see footage of a nervous Meijer playing with his goldilocks! Spearheaded by fertility fraud activist Eve Wiley and advocate Mark de Hek, the fight throws light on the million-dollar fertility industry and its regulation; rather, the lack of it. Meijer's case also becomes an exemplary verdict that has curbed male bodily autonomy for the first time.

Interestingly, 'The Man with 1000 Kids' ends exactly like 'Vicky Donor' did, with one of the mothers recognising Meijer's 50,000 hours of 'effort' spanning over 16 years to create one big, happy family. Who says life can't be filmi?

Tired, formulaic animation comedy, none too entertaining

FILM Despicable Me 4
DIRECTOR Chris Renaud
CAST Steve Carell, Kristen Wiig, Will Ferrell, Sofia Vergara, Joey King, Stephen Colbert, Chloe Fineman and Miranda Cosgrove
RATING ★★★

JOHNSON THOMAS

Directed by Chris Renaud, with screenplay by Mike White and franchise stalwart Ken Daurio, 'Despicable Me 4' is not exactly a winning creative follow-up to this financially proficient series. The new setting, new villain and new characters, including Gru and Lucy's newborn, Gru Jr, and their neighbour's teen daughter Poppy, fail to serve up enough fun and antics to increase the existing fan following.

Gru and Lucy, their girls Margo, Edith and Agnes, and Gru Jr are at risk from his new nemesis, Maxime Le Mal, and his femme fatale girlfriend, Valentina. They are forced to go on the run after Maxime escapes from prison.

The plot is thin and chaotic. Though there are hints of prevalent social codes affecting Gru's elevation to life in Mayfair, the script fails to bring it out in an elevating manner. Even the Minions become a side show, with nothing much to contribute to the main story thread other than some tiresome slapstick. The narrative feels familiar and uninspiring. Though the Minions are not exactly annoying, they contribute little to the overall entertainment value here.

The animation quality is great, but the writing is rather fractured and disrupted. It's as though the writers accumulated disconnected sequences and forced a connection. The interlocked gags fail to raise the bar on entertainment here. The main story has Gru (Steve Carell) and Maxime (Will Ferrell) renewing their school rivalry in adult life. The intrusion of Poppy (Joey King) into that thread doesn't sit well. The story is disjointed and the plot rather thin and stretched out.

Illumination Entertainment's animation quality is without doubt brilliant but the stories are becoming blander, with unrelatable characters and generic messaging. The cartoon strip cheap thrills fail to excite. Even the Minions fail to make it worthwhile.

Even though the sight gags have been designed to be funny, they don't score well on the funny scale. The voice actors do well to lend some credibility to the disarray. Gru being blackmailed to help the teen neighbour Poppy in stealing the school's mascot do not add heft to the narrative. Even Maxime is forgettable.

The stories strung together make it all seem bland. The effort feels tired and formulaic. This one is definitely quite messy, and none too entertaining!

Revenge served hot

SHEETAL

This triple collaboration between producers Karan Johar and Guneet Monga and overseas distribution partners Lionsgate Studios is being marketed as the most violent film Bollywood has ever made. Starring known faces yet relatively new actors, Raghav Juyal, Lakshya Lalwani and Tanya Maniktala, the casting is impressive. The violence may remind you of American Slasher movies, but this one has some romance too.

However, this peace and romance only last the initial few minutes as the movie is all about what its title says — kill. Amrit Rathod (Lakshya Lalwani) is an NSG commando in love with Tulika (Tanya Maniktala). Tulika is getting engaged as per her father Baldeo Singh Thakur's (Harsh Chhaya) wishes in Ranchi when Amrit gate-crashes the party and asks her to elope with him. Tulika defers the plan. Later, while travelling back to Delhi, Amrit proposes to Tulika in a train washroom but soon they find themselves among 40-odd dacoits, led by Fani (Raghav Juyal), robbing their train.

The movie is all about what its title says — kill.

Amrit's commando training comes in handy as he fights the robbers and rescues his lady love and her family, who are also travelling with them. Lalwani's heroic charm wins you over. His slick action sequences, bruises, his tactics — all seem believable. Another television star, Raghav, has also transformed well into the grey character of Fani. He has a good grip on the dialogue delivery. He doesn't have many action scenes, but steals the show with his one-liners. A menacing character with unapologetic behaviour, Raghav has portrayed Fani well as a modern bandit who does everything in style.

Tanya adds the emotional factor in this violence-laden film. In supporting roles, Ashish Vidyarthi and Abhishek Chauhan also deliver.

The director and production designer Mayur Sharma have made this Indian railway actioner look real on screen even though it was shot on sets.

It's not a film for the faint-hearted as it has some gory visuals. If the first half is about a robbery gone wrong, the second evokes 'Badlapur' vibes, with revenge being the only visible emotion in Lalwani's eyes. Only, in 'Kill', revenge is served piping hot.

In victory speech, Starmer pledges to rebuild Britain

LONDON, JULY 5
Britain's new PM Keir Starmer pledged on Friday to use his massive electoral majority to rebuild the country, saying he wanted to take the heat out of politics after years of upheaval and strife.

Standing outside his new office and residence at Number 10 Downing Street, Starmer acknowledged the scale of the challenge after his party's landslide victory in a parliamentary election ended 14 years of often tumultuous Conservative government.

He warned that any improvements would take time, and he would need to first rebuild faith in politics. "This lack of trust can only be healed by actions, not words. I know that," he said.

"Whether you voted Labour or not, in fact, especially if you did not, I say to you directly - My government will serve you. Politics can be a force for good. We will show that."

Starmer was greeted by huge cheers and took time before making his speech to shake hands with and hug aides and well-wishers who lined Downing Street — scenes that were reminiscent of Tony Blair's arrival in gov-

LONDON, JULY 5
The recriminations and jostling for top positions among Britain's Conservative lawmakers began long before Thursday's crushing election defeat to Labour.

One veteran Conservative former lawmaker predicted a "bloodbath" as the party set about charting its way back to power.

Several lawmakers are expected to compete to replace Rishi Sunak, the party sources said, with the right wing likely to promote two former interior ministers known for a tough line on immigration - Priti Patel and Suella Braverman - as well as former trade minister Kemi Badenoch, named minister of the year by the website ConservativeHome in 2023 after she took a robust position on trans issues.

India's mobile data consumption grows four times in past 5 years

VIJAY C ROY
CHANDIGARH, JULY 5
Mobile data consumption per individual in the country has grown four times in the past five years, and has been surging further. From 5 GB per individual per month, five years ago, it is now over 20 GB per individual.

The consumption is largely driven by factors such as proliferation of content, network expansion, affordability of data plan and availability of a wide range of affordable devices. Currently, India has more than 830 million active internet users, with over half of them from rural areas.

"Internet consumption is at an all-time high as against a 5 GB data being consumed five years ago per individual per month, an average mobile user now consumes as much as 20 GB of internet every month," said Abhijit Kishore, COO, Vodafone Idea in an interaction with The Tribune here. He said the internet was full of contents, including regional, which led to increase in consumption.

Amit Marwah, Nokia India head of marketing and corporate affairs, said: "The data consumption in India has increased 20 per cent year-on-year to 17.4 exabyte per month. It is one of the highest data consumption in the world. On average, an individual subscriber is consuming 24 GB of data per month. This shows the appetite for data consumption in India is too high."

As per industry sources, other factors included the growth of OTT platforms which was aided by the availability of affordable data. Growth of online gaming and live streaming of big events like cricket World Cup, football World Cup and events like Oscars have also boosted data consumption.

The industry insiders said data tariffs in India were the lowest in the world and introduction of per day pre-paid plans has acted as game changer to boost the consumption as one can buy one GB data for just Rs 22.

Additionally, network expansion and performance, coupled with the availability of a wide range of affordable devices, as well as the introduction of new data-intensive apps and services, and accelerated the data consumption.

The insiders mentioned that a smartphone used to cost Rs 20,000 five years ago. Now, one can have much better smartphone anywhere between Rs 3,000 and Rs 4,000.

For example, there has been a 2.4x increase in annual data traffic on Reliance Jio over the past three years and per capita monthly data usage has increased to 28.7 GB vs 13.3 GB three years ago, as per a report on Reliance Jio's last Quarter Financial Results for 2023-24.

Life without talismans Virat and Rohit begins as new-look India take on Zimbabwe

INDIA IN ZIMBABWE

HARARE, JULY 5
 A new-look Indian T20 team would embark on a journey of self-discovery without their talismans — Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli — hoping to unearth their successors in a five-match series against Zimbabwe starting here tomorrow.

Even as the euphoria of the T20 World Cup triumph sweeps the length and breadth of India, Shubman Gill, who was a reserve in that squad, will hit the reset button along with a bunch of IPL performers.

All the fresh faces are expected to make their international debuts during the series, scheduled to be played entirely in the Zimbabwean capital.

Two young men are lined up for debut — Punjab's Abhishek Sharma and Assam's Riyan Parag. Both had given ample demonstration of their capabilities as a T20 batter.

son and Yashasvi Jaiswal will be available from the third match onwards and some of the young men would only get a couple of games to prove their mettle.

Zimbabwe certainly isn't the most formidable opposition but in T20 format, the gulf between sides is comparatively lesser than the other two traditional forms of the game.

The hosts, led by the gutsy Sikandar Raza, who played for Punjab Kings in the IPL recently, could prove to be a handful on nippy afternoons at the Harare Sports Club where the ball will jag around during the afternoon starts.

Next-Gen hails triumph
 India's emotional and epochal triumph in the just-concluded T20 World Cup

“If you look at the team, it's a quite different team from the one that played in the World Cup. There are a lot of young players in the team, including myself. We just want to give the players experience and what it is like to play at the international level. Shubman Gill, INDIA CAPTAIN

6 India have faced Zimbabwe in only eight T20s over the course of 14 years, winning six and losing two

5 First-innings totals in recent past in Harare have been a bit middling, with only five of the last 12, going past 150 found its resonance in Next-Gen stars such as Gill and Parag who termed it as an "inspiration" while vowing to bring more glory to the nation in future.

Gill, who is leading the contingent here, was a travelling reserve with Rohit Sharma's men before returning to Abhishek, who had a stellar run for the Sunrisers Hyderabad in the IPL 2024, had a special companion while watching the final — multiple World Cup winner Yuvraj Singh.

"I was watching the match (T20 WC final) with the one and only Yuvi paji. He got very emotional when India won the final. Watching that, I felt very good and got very inspired. It's a dream for all of us to win an ICC trophy, and he has won it for India many times," Sharma said.

Parag, who is set to make his T20I debut, termed the victory an inspiration. "It's an inspiration for all of us, the young players here in this squad to win a World Cup, to win something this big in stature. I think it's motivating for all of us." — PTI

Gill opens up, wants to bat at top in T20Is

HARARE, JULY 5
 Shubman Gill understands how tough it is to replicate the imposing feats of Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli, but the young batting star wants to ease himself into the role of a T20I opener following retirement of the two modern day greats from the format.

Gill, who was one of the travelling reserves during the just-concluded T20 World Cup, is leading a second-string Indian team in the five-match T20I series against Zimbabwe beginning here from tomorrow.

"I think Rohit Bhai was an opener and Virat Bhai also opened in this World Cup...I have also opened in T20Is. So, I think I will want to open in T20Is," he said on the eve of their first match here.

Gill said he wanted to pursue his own goals without taking too much pressure while thinking of matching the two greats — Kohli and Rohit.

Asked how he will deal with the burden of expectations, Gill said: "Pressure and expectations...they I think always remain. But what Virat Bhai and Rohit Bhai have achieved, if I look to achieve that or reach that,

Sammons wants Raza to lead from front

New Delhi: Sikandar Raza's vast experience of playing in various T20 leagues would certainly come in handy for an inexperienced Zimbabwe, who would like to punch above their weight, head coach Justin Sammons said. "I think we're very fortunate to have a player like Sikandar Raza leading the side. He brings great experience. We want him to lead from the front. He's been superb in the changing room and taking the players under his wing. We want his bat to do the talking as well as his bowling," Sammons said. PTI

Zimbabwe's Sikandar Raza needs 53 more to become the first from the country to score 2,000 runs in T20Is it will be very difficult for me. Every player has his own goal, where he wants to reach. That is the pressure. If you want to reach where other people have reached, then you have more pressure," he said. — PTI

Neeraj's churma highlights athletes' interaction with PM

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JULY 5
 "Neeraj your churma has not reached yet?" Prime Minister Narendra Modi's footage of the interaction with reigning Olympics champion Neeraj Chopra is doing quite a few rounds on social media.

The footage, cut out from the interaction with the Paris-bound Indian athletes was held on Thursday, and released today and captures PM Modi in a light mood, reminding Neeraj Chopra of the promise he made the last time they met.

"Sir, churma leke zaroor ayenge is baar. Pichli baar wo Dilli mein cheeni wala churma tha. Ab to Haryana ka desi ghee (Sir, I will bring churma this time definitely. Last time, it was a made-in-Delhi churma. This time it will be made from ghee from Haryana)," Neeraj said in his reply.

The interaction saw PM Modi speaking to the athletes, some of whom were present at the 7 Lok Kalyan Marg residence, while many others including Neeraj joined through video conferencing from their training bases across the world.

The interaction started with the PM asking the first-time Olympians to speak their minds. "I want to hear from those who are going to the Olympics for the first time. I want to hear from them about what is going on in their heads," PM asked.

Haryana's rifle shooter Ramita Jindal was the first one to respond. "I am Ramita Jindal. I will be participating in air rifle. I am very excited because ever since I started shooting it was a dream to be at the Olympics. I am also motivated to do well," Ramita said.

Wrestlers Reetika Hooda and Antim Panghal were the next to speak. "I am Reetika and I am from Rohtak. I will take part for the first time and I am also very excited. I will try to perform better on the mat as the entire country would be watching and I know a lot of people are praying for us and I will give my 100 percent," she said.

Talking with hockey captain Harmanpreet Singh, the PM touched on the pressure which the Indian team has to deal with.

"I think hockey players face the most pressure as everyone believes this is our sport and how we have slid behind others. Everyone in our country thinks 'how can we lose as this is our sport. My wishes are with you and I believe you will return with your goals, the PM reckoned.

In reply, Smriti Mandhana (46 off 30) and Shafali Verma (18 off 14) gave India a brisk start before South Africa triggered the collapse.

Jemimah Rodrigues raised

Porsche case teen submits 300-word essay to comply with bail conditions

PUNE, JULY 5

The 17-year-old boy allegedly involved in the Pune Porsche car crash that killed two techies has submitted a 300-word essay on road safety, complying with the bail conditions of the Juvenile Justice Board (JJB), an official said on Friday. The teenager submitted the essay to the JJB on Wednesday, the official said.

The juvenile was released from an observation home last month after the Bombay High Court held that the orders remanding him to the facility were illegal. Hours after the fatal accident in the city's Kalyani Nagar area on May 19, the JJB had ordered that he be kept under the care and supervision of his parents and grandfather.

It also asked the minor to write a 300-word essay on road safety. Amid a nationwide outrage over his quick bail on lenient terms, the police moved the JJB, seeking an amendment of the bail order.

On May 22, the board ordered that the minor be sent to an observation home. The HC paved his release holding the orders illegal and stressed that the law regarding juveniles must be implemented fully. — PTI

According to official data, the public debt of Andhra has increased from 31.02 per cent of the Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP) in 2019-20 to 33.32 per cent in 2023-24 fiscal.

At ₹1.27L cr, defence production hit all-time high in previous fiscal

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JULY 5

The Ministry of Defence today said it has achieved the highest-ever growth in indigenous defence production in value terms during financial year 2023-24.

As per the data received from all Defence Public Sector Undertakings (DPSUs), other PSUs manufacturing defence items and private companies, the value of defence production in the country has gone up to a record-high of Rs 1,26,887 crore, reflecting a growth of 16.7 per cent over the defence production of the previous financial year. Of the total value of production during the year in 2023-24, about 79.2 per cent has been contributed by DPSUs and other PSUs and some 20.8 per cent by the private sector.

In the last five years (since 2019-20), the value of defence production has been increasing steadily, and has grown by over 60 per cent. Data shows that in terms of absolute value, both DPSUs/PSUs and private sector have record-

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh congratulated the industry, including DPSUs, other PSUs manufacturing defence items and the private industry for taking the defence production at an all-time high.

The rising defence exports have contributed tremendously to the overall growth in the indigenous defence production. It may be recalled that defence exports touched a record-high of Rs 21,083 crore in FY 2023-24, reflecting a growth of 32.5 per cent over the last fiscal when the figure was Rs 15,920 crore.

Acknowledging the achievement through a post on X, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh credited it to the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. He voiced the government's unwavering resolve to develop India as a leading global defence manufacturing hub.

Prime Minister Modi lauded the development and shared a post on X by Rajnath Singh, and said: "Very encouraging development. Compliments to all those who have contributed to this feat. We are fully committed to nurturing a supportive environment to further enhance our capabilities and establish India as a leading global defence manufacturing hub. This will enhance our security apparatus and make us Aatmanirbhar!"

Defying Governor, Bengal Speaker administers oath to two MLAs

KOLKATA, JULY 5

West Bengal Assembly Speaker Biman Banerjee administered the oath to two newly elected TMC MLAs on Friday, defying the Governor's directive to appoint Deputy Speaker Asish Banerjee for the task, sparking accusations of constitutional impropriety from Raj Bhawan.

The incident led Governor CV Ananda Bose to send a report to President Droupadi Murmu, alleging that the Speaker's actions violated constitutional norms.

According to a Raj Bhawan official, Bose wrote to the President, asserting that the administration of oaths to the MLAs by the Bengal Speaker at the state Assembly was unconstitutional.

The special one-day session of the Assembly adjourned sine die after the legislators were sworn in. The swearing in of the two TMC MLAs — Rayat Hossain Sarkar from Bhagwangola in Murshidabad district and Sayantika Bandopadhyay from Baranagar on the northern outskirts of Kolkata — ended the month-long impasse between Raj Bhawan and the Assembly over the venue of the ceremony and the administering authority. — PTI

14 engineers suspended in Bihar over collapse of bridges

PATNA, JULY 5

The Bihar government on Friday suspended 14 engineers in connection with a series of recent incidents of bridge collapse in the state, a senior official said.

The decision was taken after a probe panel submitted its report to the Water Resources Department (WRD). "It was found that engineers were negligent and monitoring was ineffective... that is the main reason behind the collapse of small bridges and causeways in the state," Additional Chief Secretary of WRD, Chaitanya Prasad, told reporters here.

Those suspended include three executive engineers. A total of 10 bridges collapsed in various districts in the past 17 days, officials said. — PTI

PM Modi, Putin to review whole range of bilateral ties: Foreign Secy

AJAY BANERJEE

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JULY 5

India today brushed aside the coincidence that Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Russian President Vladimir Putin are meeting in Moscow around the time the US-led NATO would be meeting on increasing help to Ukraine in its war with Russia.

Foreign Secretary Vinay Kwatra said, "We look at the relationship with Russia as a bilateral relation. We attach great importance to our relations with Russia. The annual summit has not been held since 2021. There are significant agenda items to be discussed." Kwatra said in Modi's meet in Moscow on July 9, the issue of early discharge of Indian nationals who have been misled into the service of the Russian Army is expected to figure in the discussions," he said. In response to a question, he said 10 Indian nationals who were working for the Russian Army have been brought back while around 45 Indians are still working for the force. India has strongly taken up the matter with the Russian authorities to ensure their speedy repatriation to India.

Putin will hold a private dinner for Modi. He will have restricted talks with Putin, followed by delegation-level talks. A whole range of issues will be on the agenda of the two leaders. Kwatra said India's position on the war is well-known: dialogue and diplomacy is the way forward.

He said, "Defence cooperation is important and large sub domains remain under discussion and the supply of S400 air-defence missiles is one of that." Indo-Russian Rifles Private Ltd, registered and located in India, has transferred 35,000 AK-203 assault rifles to the Indian Ministry of Defence.

SC to hear pleas against verdict on same-sex marriage on July 10

SATYA PRAKASH

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JULY 5

The Supreme Court will consider on July 10 petitions seeking review of its October 2023 verdict refusing recognition to same sex marriages in India.

A five-judge Bench of Chief Justice of India DY Chandrachud, Justice Sanjay Kishan Kaul, Justice S Ravindra Bhat, Justice PS Narasimha and Justice Hima Kohli had on October 17, 2023, unanimously turned down petitions seeking to allow same-sex marriages under the Special Marriage Act, saying it's for Parliament to effect changes in the law for validating such unions.

A Bench had in 2023 said it's for Parliament to amend laws for validating such unions.

Since two of the judges — Justice Kaul and Justice Bhat — have retired, the Bench has been reconstituted with the inclusion of Justice Sanjiv Khanna and Justice BV Nagarathna.

Review petitions are generally heard "in chamber" — and not in an open court — by a procedure called "hearing by circulation" where advocates representing the parties are not allowed to argue. But in exceptional cases, the top court allows open court hearing, if convinced about its need.

The CJJ will have to take a call on the review petitioners' demand for an open court hearing. Holding that there's no fundamental right to marry, the Supreme Court had refused to allow same-sex marriages in India even as it directed the Centre to set up a high-powered committee headed by the Cabinet Secretary to decide the rights and entitlements of persons in queer unions.
