'It's absurd that social media is a barometer of your relevance'

VAANI KAPOOR

Onkar Kulkarni

Vaani Kapoor, who clocked in 10 years in Bollywood last year, believes that a career in films is a game of patience. "Even the most talented people in the industry, at some point, must have felt impatient. But you have to wait, just hold on and not give up. Sometimes, it is all pre-destined," says the Chandigarh Kare Aashiqui actress in a chat with us.

'SOCIAL MEDIA DOESN'T FEEL ORGANIC TO ME AS I AM NOT THAT PERSON'

Vaani feels that social media has become a great part of an actor's journey. "I am terrible at social media. To each its own. I don't think anything is right or wrong here. But it doesn't feel organic to me because that is not the person I am."

I understand that nowadays, you have to put yourself out there and be visible because, a lot of people within the industry who give you work look at your social media numbers

I AM GLAD THAT TOIFA HAS A DEMOCRATIC STRUCTURE: GUNEET MONGA

The producer talks about her experience at the Oscars and how our country, too, needs a credible and well-managed award show

Renuka Vyavahare

Two-time Academy Award-winning producer Guneet Monga Kapoor is part of the esteemed Advisory Council of The Times of India Film Awards (TOIFA) OTT Edition - 2023, which will be held on July 27 in Mumbai. Guneet, who produced The Elephant Whispers and The Lunchbox (2013), was among the first producers from India to be inducted into the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. As the countdown to TOIFA inches closer, in a chat, she explains why awards matter, how TOIFA is starting on a great note and what convinced her to come on board the council.

'Awards open doors to work globally'

Talking about why awards matter, Guneet, who was one of the producers of the recently released action drama Kill, said, "We are all artists driven by passion. If you look at my trajectory from Masaan, The Lunchbox to Elephant Whispers and now Kill, it takes years to break the mould. It doesn't happen overnight. Awards open doors for people to work globally. I am putting the Indian crew on the global map. So, TOIFA is a good beginning and I hope it furthers this conversation."

Thank you for giving this Indian boy hope: Leander

Leander Paes serves an ace as the first Asian player at the International Tennis Hall of Fame

Grand Slam winner and Olympic medalist Leander Paes, dressed in a sherwani with his Padma awards pinned to his chest, was inducted into the International Tennis Hall of Fame in Newport, USA, in the 'player' category

'We Asians can be number one in any field'

Paes said, "I would like to thank you so much for giving this Indian boy hope... It's been my greatest honour to play for India in the Olympics & Davis Cups. To prove that we Asians can win Grand Slams and also be number one in our field, be it tennis or anything."

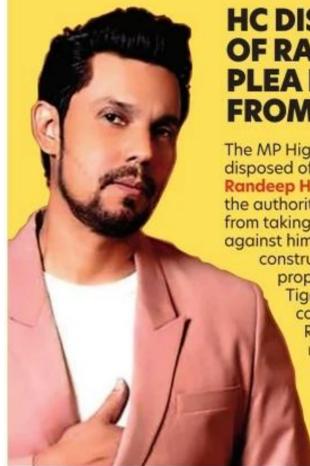

Sports commentator Vijay Amritraj was also inducted into the Hall of Fame for his contribution to the sport, joining 267 legendary inductees

Chris Evert @ChrissieEvert · 13h
What a fantastic weekend! A big Congratulations to three wonderful men who deserve this prestigious honor. Vijay, Leander and Richard... @Leander @Ringham7 @TennisHalloFame

HC DISPOSES OF RANDEEP'S PLEA FOR RELIEF FROM ACTION

The MP High Court has disposed of a petition by Randeep Hooda seeking that the authorities be restrained from taking coercive action against him over alleged construction on his property near the Kanha Tiger Reserve. The court observed that Randeep's plea was not maintainable, while also refusing to quash a show-cause notice issued to him. PTI

Stop dragging people down: Shami slams link up rumours with Sania

Sania Mirza

In a recent interview, Shami urged people to be responsible when making memes and avoid propagating false rumours

After Sania Mirza announced her divorce from Pakistani cricketer Shoaib Malik, who subsequently married Sana Javed, social media buzzed with rumours linking the tennis star to Indian pacer Mohammed Shami. In a recent YouTube interview, Shami addressed these rumours, expressing his disapproval.

"Mai ek hi cheez bolna chahunga kisi ko nahi khichna chahiye aisa. Mai maanta hun aapke mazaak ke liye memes honge wo lekin kisi ki life se related hote hain," Shami said.

He added, "Aap ko bade soch samajh ke wo memes banane chahiye. Dusre ki taang khichna ya dusre ko gaddhe mein dhakelna bada aasaan hai."

H-WOOD WELCOMES BIDEN'S EXIT

President Joe Biden on Sunday abruptly abandoned his campaign for a second term after intense pressure from fellow Democrats and instead propped up Vice President Kamala Harris for the role

AHAHAHAHA LETS GOOOOO I TOLD YALLL KAMALA WAS SUPPOSED TO BE THE 2024 candidate - Cardi B

I'm grateful to President Biden for everything he's done - Ellen DeGeneres

Thank you President Joe Biden and First Lady Dr Jill Biden for your leadership, integrity, empathy and service to our country - Jimmy Kimmel

No to Trump/Vance. No to the right-wing Christian religious takeover for our nation. Nothing wrong with Christianity, just shouldn't be running a nation birthed from freedom of religion - Mark Ruffalo

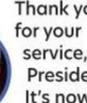

Our President has served our nation admirably for decades, he is a decent honorable man, a hugely successful president, and a patriot. Now let us unite behind @ KamalaHarris and defeat Donald Trump in November! - George Takei

We are truly living in unprecedented times - Lizzo

Kamala is trusted and tested and she is a fierce advocate for women's rights and people of color and her message is one of hope and unity for America at her time of great national divide - Jamie Lee Curtis

Thank you for your service, Mr President. It's now our duty as patriotic Americans to elect the Democrat who will honor & further your legacy - Mark Hamill

In an award show, substance and glamour should co-exist: Guneet

Guneet Monga

'WE NEED A STRUCTURED AWARD SHOW HERE'

Guneet believes there's a need for a structured event in this space. "We need something which is time bound and not an endlessly running award show. That's the need of the hour. Like the Oscars, which is also a televised event, but timelines are strictly maintained. Be it the start time, end time, or break time, they are particular about their timings. Every branch of the Academy (writers, actors, producers, etc) has their individual executive committees that meet online quarterly with a central Academy team guiding everyone. That helps in voicing global concerns. We need that kind of structure here. A pan-India credible award show is the need of the hour. There are many awards here, but most of them are mismanaged. India is so beautifully diverse in its cinematic language, so it deserves a well-managed award show," she says. She adds, "There's also a certain level of discipline in the runup to Oscars. There are so many offline events that celebrate you as a nominee. You are always made to feel like a winner. It's an honour and privilege to attend these events as a nominee."

'I HOPE THAT WE WILL BE ABLE TO BUILD

A RESPECTABLE AWARD SHOW'

At the Oscars, every person nominated feels it's an honour to be there at the grand event, to applaud the other nominees and winners. It's not just about taking home the trophy. Guneet says that she wants to see peers cheering each other here, too. "Empires and institutes are not built overnight. Sikhya Entertainment didn't win an Oscar overnight. It's years of harnessing a skill. There's a certain way our film industry works, so let's look at one day at a time, one award edition at a time. I want to see peers cheer each other (at the awards). I am glad that TOIFA has a democratic structure with a three-tier voting process that involves participation from industry people. If this is structured and well run over the years, it will gain credibility. The hope that we will be able to build a respectable award show and institution in the coming years convinced me to be a part of the Advisory Council of TOIFA."

'Glamour can help amplify good content'

Award shows are a mix of substance and glamour, and Guneet believes it's their co-existence that works. "Award shows and film festivals are televised programmes, so they will have the red-carpet glamour which will probably bag front pages, but the merit of the film should stay sacrosanct. That is what we need to achieve. Things need to be glamorous to be celebrated as glamour gets the eyeballs, but use those eyeballs to promote good cinema. Cannes and TIFF (Toronto International Film Festival) do that. You have the biggest faces attending, and it's a fashion gala, but when it comes to the competition section of the movies, it's watertight. It celebrates the best cinema in the world. Then, it's not about impressing anyone. Glamour and substance should co-exist. How you use the glamour to amplify and celebrate good content is what matters," she elaborates.

The hope that we will be able to build a respectable award show and institution in the coming years convinced me to be a part of the Advisory Council of TOIFA

When we first worked together in the '90s, Rupali thought I was snooty, says Vaquar

Vaquar Shaikh

Vaquar Shaikh has bid adieu to Anupamaa for now. The actor, who played a restaurateur in the show, shares how this is not the first time he has worked with Rupali Ganguly. Vaquar and Rupali worked together many years ago, before they connected again on the sets of Anupamaa.

Vaquar said, "It was one of those episodics, which used to air as a weekly on TV during the 90s. At that time, she thought I was quite snooty and arrogant. But, when we started working together she changed her views about me. After so many years when we met on the sets of Anupamaa again, Rupali joked 'the attitude-wala Vaquar is here' and we both laughed over it. It was fun working with her."

The actor feels mature love stories work on TV. "Anupamaa or Bade Ache Lagte Hai, might be those few shows which have explored mature love stories. A TV show can't just be about youngsters falling in love," said Vaquar who, apart from television, has also been a part of web shows like Silence 1 and 2. — Tanvi Trivedi

Pics: @imvaquarshaikh

Vaquar with Rupali Ganguly

The dialogues, writing and the scripts in international shows are much better. I feel makers should adopt these concepts and that's how we will be able to tell different stories on TV

The beginning of Rocky aur Tripti ki prem kahaani can be traced back to when this feline visitor, ROCKY, wandered onto TRIPTI DIMRI's set

I want to be known for my films, not airport looks: Vaani

I understand that nowadays, you have to put yourself out there and be visible because, strangely, a lot of people within the industry who are giving you work look at your social media numbers. It's absurd that it has become a barometer of how relevant you are in today's times."

'WHY WOULD I WANT TO SELL MYSELF SHORT?'

Personally as well as professionally, the Befikre actress believes she has come a long way. She says, "I have learnt to be patient. There are many days when I feel low and wonder why I couldn't have been any different and push myself the way others do. But that's not me. I don't want to be untrue to who I am. Do I want to put on a facade and be somebody else just to get more work? That won't even give me satisfaction, so it's best to wait it out. After all, why would I want to sell myself short? I believe that the right opportunity might just come to you at a time when you are mentally prepared to give it your best. While some get it easily, it's a bit harder for the others, and you have to accept that."

I am terrible at the social media game. It doesn't feel organic to me because that is not the person I am

Elvis's estate questions the authenticity of memorabilia

An auction house that sells Elvis Presley memorabilia has come under fire by Graceland executives questioning the authenticity of some of its items, reported The Hollywood Reporter. Joel Weinshanker, a managing partner of Elvis Presley Enterprises, recently expressed his concerns to NBC News over GWS Auctions, the auction house owned by Brigitte Kruse.

Weinshanker told the outlet he first became suspicious of the auction house when he noticed a black grommet jacket, said to be worn by the legendary singer in 1972, listed for sale. However, he claimed the jacket was hanging in Graceland's private collection. "We know there was only one made, and guess what? We have it in our archives," Weinshanker said. NBC News noted that it visited Elvis' estate in Memphis and saw the jacket and its receipt.

Other memorabilia under question

Other memorabilia items being sold by GWS Auctions that Graceland executives are questioning include multiple pieces of Elvis' jewellery and his private jet, which Elvis' estate claimed he never actually flew on and only owned for a few months.
