What Makes India the Fastest Growing G20 Economy?

India's growth story over the past decade has exemplified remarkable resilience. Amidst a global economic milieu fraught with risks and uncertainties arising from diverse challenges such as pandemics and geopolitical tensions, India's trajectory of growth has emerged as a beacon of optimism amidst an otherwise gloomy global scenario. In its July 2024 World Economic Outlook update, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) revised India's growth projection for 2024-25 upward to 7% from 6.8% forecasted in April, citing robust domestic demand and a burgeoning working-age population. This adjustment positions India as the fastest-growing economy among G20 nations.

In the last decade, the Government of India undertook substantial reforms aimed at revitalising the economy and addressing various supply-side challenges. With a vision of advancing India to developed status by 2047, the government now intends to shift its focus towards grassroots reforms in the coming years. The primary objective is to bolster governance frameworks to ensure that the structural reforms implemented over the past decade foster robust, sustainable, equitable, and inclusive growth.

The Economic Survey 2023-24, unveiled by Finance Minister Smt. Nirmala Sitharaman on July 22, 2024, offered a comprehensive view of India's current economic landscape, characterised by robust growth and strategic imperatives amid global uncertainties. With India's real GDP expanding by 8.2% in FY24 and projected growth between 6.5% to 7% for FY24-25, the survey highlighted the nation's resilience across diverse sectors. Significant contributions from agriculture, industry, and services underscore a balanced growth trajectory, buoyed by notable expansions in manufacturing and construction. Fiscal prudence is evident through a reduced fiscal deficit, substantial capital expenditures, and stable inflation rates. The survey illuminates India's strengthened financial metrics and external stability, bolstered by record service exports and robust forex reserves. Against the backdrop of a dynamically evolving global economy, these insights position India favourably as it navigates challenges and pursues sustainable economic growth.

ISSUE DATED 13 - 19 July 2024

Q. The Public Examination (Prevention of Unfair Means) Act, 2024, came into effect recently. How do you think the provisions of the Act will curb unfair practices during examinations?

Sreemoyee Chatterjee
Sarita Vihar, New Delhi

Amid a surge in cheating incidents that have reached alarming levels, our nation urgently requires stringent measures. Students, and occasionally, even examination bodies resort to unfair methods, driven by a desperate pursuit of success within a flawed system or to gain illicit financial benefits.

The Public Examination (Prevention of Unfair Means) Act seeks to safeguard the integrity of public exams through specific provisions. Section 9 of the act defines offenses as cognizable, non-bailable, and non-compoundable. This empowers law enforcement agencies to initiate investigations independently and make arrests without warrants, with bail granted solely at the discretion of magistrates. Non-compoundable offenses ensure cases cannot be withdrawn, even through mutual agreement. Perpetrators of unfair practices face imprisonment ranging from three to five years and fines up to Rs 10 lakh.

Penalties for Service Providers

Service providers engaged by examination authorities may incur fines up to Rs 1 crore, with examination costs also recoverable, if involved in illegal activities. While this governmental initiative is promising given the widespread and entrenched nature of the issue, it enables proactive intervention to prevent escalation and involve various stakeholders. The fear of punitive measures may deter exploitation of the system, yet the efficacy of the policy hinges on its implementation. Many policies stall in practice despite strong beginnings. Thus, sustained efforts and targeted enforcement are essential for meaningful impact. Corruption could undermine systemic integrity, necessitating thorough scrutiny by investigation bodies. Additionally, workshops for students can complement policy efforts and ensure sustainable results.

Understanding the motives behind unfair practices is crucial for deeper analysis of this long-overlooked issue. Behavioral insights, coupled with rigorous legal enforcement and effective policy implementation, can effectively reduce misconduct.

Employment Insights

Agriculture and Rural Employment Surge: The Economic Survey 2023-24 highlights a notable increase in agriculture employment, attributing it partly to reverse migration trends and the rising participation of women in rural labour markets.

Factory Employment Trends: According to the Annual Survey of Industries, factory jobs in India grew at an annual rate of 3.6% between 2013-14 and 2021-22. Larger factories, employing over a hundred workers, saw a faster growth rate of 4.0%, with total employment in factories rising from 1.04 crore to 1.36 crore during this period.

Unincorporated Enterprises Dynamics: Comparing data from the Annual Survey of Unincorporated Enterprises for 2022-23 with the NSS 73rd round, the survey notes a decrease in overall employment from 11.1 crore in 2015-16 to 10.96 crore. Although manufacturing witnessed a reduction of 54 lakh workers, gains in trade and services sectors mitigated the overall decline to approximately 16.45 lakhs.

Impact of Economic Shocks: Reflecting on recent economic shocks such as NPAs in banking and the COVID-19 pandemic, the survey underscores their disruptive influence on India's trajectory towards achieving Viksit Bharat by 2047. It contrasts the current global environment marked by de-globalisation, geopolitical tensions, climate change, and AI advancements with China's growth phase from 1980 to 2015.

Challenges Ahead: The survey predicts significant barriers for India's sustained high growth, particularly concerning workforce dynamics across skill levels. It stresses the need for a collaborative effort involving union and state governments alongside the private sector to navigate these uncertainties effectively.

Tripartite Compact for Employment: Proposing a tripartite agreement among the private sector, central and state governments, the survey advocates for concerted efforts to meet rising job expectations in India. Emphasising that job creation predominantly lies within the private sector, it calls for aligned actions to enhance economic growth, productivity, and employment opportunities.

Role of Corporate Sector: Highlighting a surge in corporate sector profits over FY20 to FY23, the survey urges the corporate sector to responsibly utilise its financial gains to drive job creation and skill development initiatives in India.

Compact with Academia: Lastly, the survey explores the potential of another tripartite compact involving government, industry, and academia to accelerate skill development initiatives. It stresses the importance of empowering academic institutions and industries to play crucial roles in preparing India's workforce for future technological advancements.

Mental Health Makes a Debut in Economic Survey

For the first time ever, the Economic Survey 2023-24 tabled by the Union Minister of Finance and Corporate Affairs Smt. Nirmala Sitharaman in Parliament on July 22, 2024, talks extensively about mental health, its significance and implications on policy recommendations. Acknowledging mental health as a principally impactful driver of individual and national development, the Survey takes note of the following points:

National Prevalence and Impact: 10.6% of Indian adults experienced mental disorders, with significant treatment gaps (70%-92%). Higher prevalence in urban metros (13.5%) compared to rural areas (6.9%) and urban non-metros (4.3%). COVID19 exacerbated poor mental health among adolescents: 11% anxious, 14% extreme emotion, 43% mood swings.

Economic Implications: Mental health disorders lead to productivity losses (absenteeism, reduced productivity), increased healthcare costs, and disability. Poverty contributes to mental health risks due to stressful living conditions and financial instability.

National Mental Health Programme: Upgraded health centers to Ayushman Arogya Mandirs for mental health services. Tele Mental Health Programme: 53 Tele MANAS cells established, handling over 8.07 lakh calls. Capacity Building: 25 Centres of Excellence, support to medical colleges, and digital training academies.

State Level Initiatives: Complementing national efforts with local programmes focusing on children and adolescents' mental health and wellbeing.

Policy Recommendations:

- Increase psychiatrists to WHO recommended levels (from 0.75 to 3 per lakh population).
- Develop comprehensive service guidelines based on stakeholder feedback.
- Foster peer support networks and community based rehabilitation to destigmatise mental health.
- Partner with NGOs for scaling up efforts and resource leverage.
- Include individuals with lived experience in decision making and service planning.
- Standardise mental health service guidelines across sectors.
- Integrate mental health interventions into school curricula and community interactions.
- Advocate a community based approach to address mental health stigma and awareness.

These points underscore the Economic Survey's landmark inclusion of mental health considerations, emphasising its economic implications, current governmental efforts, and strategic policy recommendations aimed at enhancing mental health services and support systems across India.

Success Story of Indian Agriculture

The Economic Survey 2023-24 underscores the transformation of the Indian agriculture sector from a historical deficit to a net exporter of agricultural products since the 1960s, demonstrating substantial potential for employment despite its underexploited economic contribution. Emphasising a shift towards nutritional security, the survey advocates for prioritising pulses, millets, fruits, vegetables, milk, and meat in response to growing consumer demand. However, the sector faces multifaceted challenges encompassing food and nutritional security, adaptation to climate change, and sustainable utilisation of vital resources such as water, energy, and land. Urgent structural reforms are deemed necessary due to escalating pressures from water scarcity, climate variability, and economic constraints. The survey identifies pressing concerns including the surge in agricultural employment during COVID-19 reverse migration, declining growth rates in agricultural value addition for FY24, and mounting environmental stresses like heightened water scarcity and energy consumption exacerbated by extreme weather events. The survey proposes strategic policy recommendations aimed at enhancing market regulation through intelligent design to mitigate kneejerk reactions to price spikes, preserving export bans for exceptional circumstances to enable farmers to capitalise on global price trends, and reconsidering inflation targeting frameworks to exclude food items to manage supply induced price volatility that disproportionately impacts low-income consumers. Furthermore, it advocates for expanding the irrigated area through efficient water management technologies like drip irrigation and fertigation, and promoting climate neutral incentives to align agricultural practices with environmental sustainability goals. These insights from the survey provide a comprehensive framework for policymakers to foster productivity, sustainability, and economic resilience within India's agriculture sector.

Cautionary Note Against Speculative Trading in Stock Markets

The Economic Survey 2023-24 has issued a stern warning against the rise of Futures and Options (F&O) trading in India's stock markets, condemning such speculative activities as unfit for a developing economy. It emphasises that potential stock market downturns could leave investors feeling deceived, deterring their return to capital markets for prolonged periods, thereby posing risks to the broader economy. The survey highlights the allure of derivatives trading in promising outsized gains, often appealing to speculative instincts but frequently resulting in financial losses. Globally, derivatives trading is noted to predominantly erode investor capital, contradicting its allure of quick profits. The survey stresses the imperative of enhancing investor awareness and financial education to mitigate the risks associated with derivatives, cautioning against the potentially severe repercussions of a significant market correction. Drawing on historical examples such as the 2008 global financial crisis, the survey underscores the perils of excessive financialisation, advocating for a cautious and orderly evolution of India's financial markets. It calls upon stakeholders to uphold the role of capital markets in directing savings towards productive investments, emphasising both national interest and individual self-interest in maintaining market stability and sustainability.

Insights into Education Expenditure Trends

The Economic Survey 2023-24 reveals that expenditure on education in India has maintained a robust growth trajectory, expanding at a Compounded Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 9.4 percent over the past six fiscal years, slightly below the pace of nominal GDP growth. Despite this growth, the proportion of GDP allocated to education has marginally decreased from 2.8 percent in FY18 to 2.7 percent in FY24, according to budget estimates. Within the spectrum of social services, education commands a significant share of 35.3 percent, following closely behind the 'Other' category, which holds the largest share at 39.8 percent, and precedes healthcare at 24.9 percent. The survey further underscores the substantial role of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) spending in bolstering education, healthcare, sanitation, rural development, and environmental initiatives, with education receiving a notable 32.4 percent of total CSR expenditures. These findings underscore the critical need for sustained investment and strategic allocation in the education sector to foster inclusive and sustainable socio-economic development in India.

Focus Areas of the 'Amrit Kaal' Growth Strategy

Growth of Global Capability Centres (GCCs) in India

The Economic Survey 2023-24 revealed that Global Capability Centres (GCCs) in India employed over 16.6 lakh professionals, with a significant portion engaged in Engineering, Research, and Development (ER&D), Business Process Management (BPM), and Information Technology (IT) services. Notably, revenue from India's GCCs surged from $19.4 billion in FY15 to $46 billion in FY23, growing at a robust CAGR of 11.4 percent. The survey underscored the importance of promoting specialisations in higher education to attract and sustain GCCs, recommending fields such as Blockchain, Artificial Intelligence (AI), Machine Learning, Cybersecurity, and more. It also highlighted the ongoing challenge of filling critical talent gaps in IT, data science, and cybersecurity, noting a global shortage in these areas despite high demand.

Urgent Need for Addressing Dependence on China for Critical Minerals

The IEA's Global Critical Minerals Outlook 2024 underscores a notable increase in the geographical concentration of critical and rare earth minerals, particularly in refined materials. This trend is evident in the dominance of the top three producing nations since 2020, reflecting a concentrated supply chain. Of particular concern are Rare Earth Elements (REE), crucial for clean energy technologies like Electric Vehicles (EVs) and wind turbines, yet among the least geographically diversified minerals. The IEA forecasts suggest that this concentration is likely to persist, posing challenges for global supply security. Moreover, 2023 saw a rise in trade restrictions on both ores and processing technologies, exacerbating concerns over accessibility to essential raw materials for solar photovoltaics, wind power, EVs, and other consumer goods. This concentrated reliance on specific countries for mining and processing rare earths and critical minerals presents a significant barrier to broader adoption of renewable energy and EV ambitions worldwide, including in India.

The Economic Survey 2023-24 emphasises India's urgent need to confront its reliance on China for critical minerals, while also evaluating the financial impacts of transitioning away from coal as part of its ambitious green agenda. In alignment with global climate goals, India has committed to substantial emissions reductions, increasing non-fossil fuel-based energy capacity, and enhancing carbon sequestration through extensive forest cover. The survey underscores the strategic importance of securing domestic sources for essential minerals and scrutinising the economic ramifications of reducing coal reliance, advocating for a balanced approach that mitigates both environmental risks and financial vulnerabilities.

Supreme Court Affirms States' Power to Tax Mines, Distinguishes Royalty from Tax

In a landmark ruling, the Supreme Court's nine-judge Constitution bench has confirmed that states have the authority to levy taxes on mines and mineral-bearing lands, while clarifying that royalty on extracted minerals does not qualify as a tax. The 8:1 majority judgement, pronounced by Chief Justice Shri DY Chandrachud, asserted that royalty is a contractual payment for mineral rights rather than a tax. Justice Shri BV Nagarathna argued that treating royalty as a tax could result in inconsistent policies and competitive disadvantages among states.
