3 killed in fire at illegally
converted 'roominghouse'

Three men died early Sunday when fire erupted in a single-family Jamaica Estates home that was carved up into multiple living spaces. A dozen or more people have occupied the house, according to officials and a 2023 complaint to the city.

BLAZE KILLS 3 IN OVERCROWDED QUEENS HOUSE

One man dies leaping from window; FDNY calls illegally converted place a firetrap

BY REBECCA WHITE AND JOHN ANNESE
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

Three men died in a Queens fire early Sunday that tore through a house full of illegally converted apartments — with panicked survivors leaping out of windows to escape the flames, FDNY officials said.

The two-alarm blaze broke out on Chevy Chase St. near Henley Road in Jamaica Estates about 1:30 a.m., officials said. The inferno soon burst through the windows and roof.

FDNY officials described the house as a firetrap, with no apparent smoke detectors, makeshift walls and occupants packed into apartments on the first and second floor as well as the cellar and attic.

One of the survivors described making a desperate escape as his father died leaping out of a second-story window.

“There was a lot of smoke inside. We cannot get out. I broke the window so we can just get out of the window. This is the only way,” said Abdullah Zaher, 25. “There was no flames upstairs. Smoke! My father jumped, my brother jumped and I jumped in the end.”

Zaher’s hand bled heavily from breaking the window as he spoke to the Daily News hours later. His father did not survive.

“He was everything to me, literally everything to me. He was a friend, he was a father, he was a giver. Literally everything. There was food, he would give me the food,” Zaher said. “He’s still working, trying to survive. He was a chauffeur ... Uber driver.”

Firefighters found three men dead at the scene, ages 45, 52 and 67, according to police.

“There’s no evidence to us at this time that there’s a working smoke detector in this house,” FDNY Commissioner Robert Tucker told reporters at the scene. “And there’s a lot of evidence of extension cords and other carelessness.”

At least eight residents were hurt but survived, including three injured jumping out of second-floor and attic windows, according to police sources. One of the survivors is in critical condition, according to FDNY officials.

FDNY Chief of Department John Esposito described the scene in the house.

“When our units arrived, they had fire out the windows of the first floor. The fire had extended to the second floor and attic and these were all living spaces,” he said. “There were makeshift walls. The means of egress were substandard, exits blocked, stairways blocked.”

“There was a wall through the middle of the kitchen, which was very abnormal,” he added.

“There’s makeshift access to the second floor, which allows the fire to spread much quicker upstairs.”

Four firefighters suffered minor injuries in the blaze, which the FDNY brought under control by about 3 a.m.

The house is listed in city records as a single-family home, but dozens of Buildings Department complaints dating as far back as 2008 show neighbors and residents complaining that it was illegally converted into a roominghouse.

The most recent complaint, from February 2023, reads, “The home owner [has] a mental disabled individual living in the basement. The homeowner built a half wall in the kitchen so someone can live there ... there is approximately 12 to 14 people in the house."

"It's so frustrating because we've been watching this unfold for years. I called 311. My husband called 311. Many of the neighbors called 311," said Steve Fischer, 67, who lives across the street on the upper-class tree-lined block. "We knew based on what we saw that it was being used as an illegal roominghouse."

"It wasn't for lack of many people trying to alert the city that there was something illegal going on," he added.

Buildings Department officials said the owners of the house were hit with a violation in 2010 for illegally converting the basement into an apartment and in 2016 for work without a permit when they constructed two wood-frame structures in the back and side yards.

Since then, the Buildings Department has received several 311 calls complaining about illegal conversion conditions – but inspectors were unable to get into the building for one visit in 2020 and three visits in 2023, agency officials said.

"Calls would prompt people from the city to show up. Supposedly they would knock. The guy was not an idiot. He wouldn't answer the door," Fischer said of the landlord. "It's so frustrating because it was so avoidable. ... I hope he is charged criminally."

The cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Tony Rock, 40, who paid about $1,000 a month to live in a first-floor room, dived out of a window to escape the fire.

"I heard screaming, the guy upstairs above me ... begging to get out of the room. He's in there dying," Rock said. "I saw him jump out the window."

Sk Ferdeus, 37, the sister of one of the survivors, said her brother jumped out of a second-floor window, leaving his red jacket dangling from the frame.

"He's in Jamaica Hospital," she said. "Both of his hands burned and also his hair burned and his spine. Spine fracture."

Adham Ammar, 29, lived in the house for the past seven years despite the warning signs.

"[The landlord] was not maintaining the place very well," he said. "I saw many red flags in the safety of the place, but it was hard to find something else for the same price."

Ammar paid around $700 rent for half of a subdivided second-floor room, he said.

"When you try to find a single room, that's below average nowadays," Ammar said of the price. "I had my mattress, my desk, a small closet. It was not bad."

The man living in the other half of the room died in the blaze, he said.

"[He] was quiet, always minded his own business. He was a hardworking man," Ammar said of the man, whom he knew as Ibrahim. Ammar said Ibrahim moved to Queens about three years ago from East Africa. "He used to wake up early, 5 a.m., go to work," Ammar said. "He was a well-mannered person. I feel bad."

Ammar was hanging out with friends before returning home around 5 a.m. to the burnt-out house and saw one of the victims who died in a "black bag covered [with] a white cloth."

He said his floor had a fire detector that didn't work.

"This is the cost of affordability," he said. "You see people getting caught in a fire like that."

The victim in a random knife attack on a Bronx subway deflected a stab to his heart with his arm, prosecutors revealed at the arraignment of the mentally ill parolee accused of attacking him.

The 21-year-old victim was on his way to work with his uncle when Lateef Green, 50, allegedly lashed out with a “knuckle knife” on a No. 5 train nearing the 219th St. station in Williamsbridge Friday morning.

Green, who police say was pacing back and forth between cars on the moving train, stormed up to the victim and stabbed him multiple times in the arm and stomach, according to cops. His knife had holes in the handle for the wielder’s fingers, providing a firmer grip, according to police.

Had the victim’s arm not gotten in the way, Green’s knife would have pierced his heart, prosecutors said Saturday.

Police released surveillance images of Green, asking the public’s help identifying him, before nabbing him about 12 hours later. Prosecutors said his parole officer recognized him and the victim picked his face out of a photo array.

A Bronx Criminal Court judge ordered him held without bail after a state parole representative described him as “an imminent threat to the community.”

He is charged with attempted murder, multiple counts of assault and weapon possession.

His defense lawyer, Susan Light of the Legal Aid Society, asked for “a much more reasonable bail,” pointing out that Green has lived in supportive housing for more than four years and that he suffers from paranoid schizophrenia and bipolar disorder. She asked that he receive psychiatric treatment.

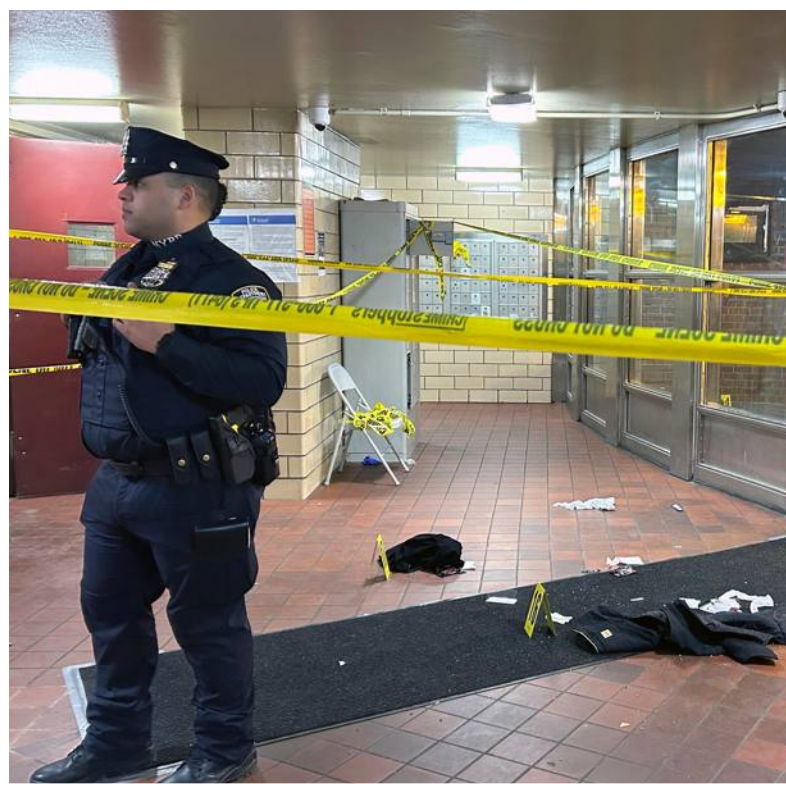

Green has been arrested about 30 times, many for criminal trespass for sleeping in building doorways and stairwells, and violated parole after he was released from prison in 2021, police sources said.

He served 3½ years at Mid-State Correctional Facility after he was convicted in Manhattan on a hate crime assault and sexual abuse incident in 2017, state records show.

SHOOT VICTIM WAS DAD OF 4

A man shot to death on a return visit to the Harlem NYCHA development where he grew up was a father of four with another child on the way, heartbroken relatives say.

Christopher Jimenez, 34, was shot in the chest during a confrontation with two men in the lobby of a Manhattanville Houses building on W. 126th St. near Broadway at about 5 p.m. on Thursday, police said.

"Tragedy just happened in here, inside the building," the victim's mother, Victoria Roldan, 57, told the Daily News while standing with other mourners at a memorial to her son outside the building.

Friends, neighbors and relatives left dozens of lit candles along with a photo of Jimenez and messages to him written on posters.

"He was a good son and a good brother," said Roldan. "I had seven kids. They were all together all the time."

The mother said Jimenez had moved to New Jersey, but he frequently traveled back and forth to his childhood home. He had four children, the oldest 13.

Jimenez's girlfriend is pregnant with his fifth child, Roldan added.

Two shell casings were found at the scene, and police are searching for two men, one wearing all black and the other wearing a blue sweater and gray sweatpants.

Jimenez was rushed to Mount Sinai Morningside hospital, where he died about 30 minutes after he was shot, cops said.

According to state records, Jimenez had been paroled from prison a year ago after serving two years for attempted criminal possession of a weapon.

A childhood friend of the victim held his hand as he lay dying in the lobby.

"It's going to be in my head forever," Demetria Ramuesr told The News. "There were three shots. I got down there and he was lying by himself. I was talking to him as he was lying on the floor. He said, 'I'm dying.'"

Jimenez was a welcome sight when he visited his old home and still had many friends there, she said.

"He could have been visiting anybody," she said. "Everybody knew him and everybody loved him."

A witness to the bloodshed said the victim got into a fight with a man in the lobby and was thrown to the ground. That man or another man who was with him then shot the victim, according to the witness, who did not see who the shooter was.

"It was bold, just bold. They walked right up and shot him in the lobby," a man who did not want to give his name told The News. "The police were stationed right here. The precinct is right up the block. I can't believe it. It was just damn bold."

Jimenez's mother hopes her son will soon get justice.

"I just want them to find whoever killed him," she said.

WASHINGTON — Campus mentors. Move-in events. Scholarships. Diversity offices that made them feel welcome on predominantly white campuses.

As U.S. colleges pull back on diversity, equity and inclusion practices, students of color say they are starting to lose all of these things and more.

The full scope of campus DEI rollbacks is still emerging as colleges respond to the Trump administration's orders against diversity practices. But students at some schools said early cuts are chipping away at the sense of community that helped open the door to higher education.

"It feels like we're going back. I don't know how else to describe it," said Breeana-Iris Rosario, a junior at the University of Michigan, which is closing its DEI office and scrapping a campuswide inclusion plan. "It's like our voices aren't being heard."

The retreat from DEI has been building for years, driven by Republican-led states that have ordered public colleges to close DEI offices and eliminate programs. But it has accelerated under President Trump and his threats to cut federal funding.

Trump's administration escalated the battle when it suggested in a letter to Harvard University that the school should lose its nonprofit status for defying federal orders, including a demand to eliminate DEI "to the satisfaction of the federal government."

At Michigan, students have been told the casualties include orientation events for new Latino, Arab and Asian American students, along with the LEAD Scholars program, a financial aid award for Black, Latino and Native American students.

Coming from a low-income part of Detroit, Rosario said winning the scholarship cemented her decision to attend Michigan. She later met some of her best friends at a move-in event for Latino students called Alma. Losing those programs, she fears, could reinforce a sense of isolation among Hispanic students, who make up 6% of undergraduates there.

A February memo from the Education Department directed schools and colleges to eliminate race from any decisions on hiring, admissions, housing, financial aid and student life. It warned violators could lose access to federal money.

Dozens of universities have since come under investigation, all while the Trump administration freezes billions of dollars at Harvard and other colleges accused of defying orders on campus antisemitism and transgender athletes.

Michigan was among the first to make major DEI rollbacks, and others have followed to avoid federal scrutiny. Others have rebranded DEI offices and scrubbed

Like 'voices aren't heard'

Case Western Reserve University student Justen Pippens says the former DEI office on campus was a "stress-free zone" where he could get guidance.

Students of color feel adrift as DEI rollbacks hit campus the term from websites, and others still are standing firm in support of DEI.

At Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, officials cited the federal orders when they moved to close the campus DEI office last month.

"It is clear we must be in compliance with them to receive the federal funding that is critical to our present and future," said Eric Kaler, Case's president, in a campus message.

Kaler said the office will be replaced by an Office for Campus Enrichment and Engagement, though it's unclear what that will entail. The private university receives about $250 million a year in federal research funding, 16% of its total revenue, according to university data.

Justen Pippens said the DEI office was like a second home on campus. The junior called it a "stress-free zone" where he could get personal and academic guidance. He grew so close with one staff member that he came to know her as "Auntie." He said it's unclear whether those employees will have jobs at the new office.

Case also is halting its Envision Weekend, an orientation event for underrepresented students. Pippens said it's a setback for him and other Black students, who make up just 6% of undergraduates at Case.

"Now," he said, "we no longer have our central support systems on campus."

In Virginia, Republican Gov. Glenn Youngkin celebrated when the University of Virginia's governing board voted to end DEI programs in March, calling it a shift toward "merit-based opportunity."

Tyler English, a senior at UVA, said students have been told scholarships and graduate programs focused on minority students are being scaled back or eliminated. Among other changes, a student group called Men of Color, Honor and Ambition is replacing the word "color" with "character," he said.

"For a portion of us, we now question whether our identities and voices are truly valued in this space," said English, a member of the campus' Black Student Alliance.

University spokesman Brian

Coy wouldn't provide details on DEI rollbacks and said he couldn't confirm changes to scholarships.

The government's anti-DEI campaign is being challenged in court by opponents who say it offers little clarity on exactly which practices are outlawed, leaving schools to weed out anything that could be construed as DEI.

As a result of the vague directives, "those who are advocating against this work are getting a higher return on their investment than they should," said Paulette Granberry Russell, president of the National Association of Diversity Officers in Higher Education.

Yet opponents are pressing the White House to go further. Christopher Rufo, a conservative strategist, said the government should root out DEI using tools that forced desegregation during the Civil Rights movement.

"DEI is a violation of the Civil Rights Act," Rufo said on X. "Any publicly funded institution that continues to practice DEI should face a federal investigation, consent decree, termination of funds, and loss of nonprofit status. If that doesn't work, send in the 101st Airborne."

In Michigan, the rollbacks are targeting programs that aimed to preserve racial diversity after the state banned affirmative action in 2006, including the LEAD program.

University of Michigan officials declined to discuss changes, but a campus message from President Santa Ono said the school will find other ways to support students, including an expansion of scholarships for low-income students.

Rosario and other LEAD scholarship winners received an email saying there would be "no adverse financial impact" to their financial aid, with no further explanation.

Rosario doesn't entirely blame the university for the cuts, but she wonders why Michigan moved so quickly to make changes. The first in her family to attend college, she fears what it means for the next generation of students.

"They've taken away our sense of community," she said. "It just makes it that much harder for people of color to feel comfortable pursuing higher education."

Four men shot, one fatally

A 45-year-old man was gunned down and another wounded in the Bronx on Easter Sunday, while two other men were shot – one critically – in separate shootings in the borough, police said.

In the deadly shooting, police said a 911 call came in around 2 p.m., bringing officers to the rear courtyard of Patterson Houses on E. 143rd St. in Mott Haven, where they found the 45-year-old victim with a gunshot wound to the torso and a 40-year-old man with a gunshot wound to the abdomen.

EMS transported both men to Lincoln Hospital, where the older man later died.

A woman crying inside the lobby of a building near where the 45-year-old man was gunned down was stunned at the death, describing the victim as hard-working father with no criminal ties.

“He works. He’s not a gangster,” said Tisuha Longwell, 53. “He doesn’t bother anyone. He can go anywhere. He has no beefs, no trouble. So this is like crazy. We all buggin’ because it’s him. I know him all his life. I’m from around here. He was not a bad person. ... He has a fiancée, who is also a cousin of mine.”

Longwell said the victim grew up in the building outside of which he was shot, but had moved and frequently came back to visit. She also said he worked as a building superintendent.

She said she saw him Saturday night at a neighborhood party.

“He was just right here, dancing, having a good time partying,” Longwood said. “This is surreal to me.”

“He don’t even have arguments nowhere. He’s not affiliated with nothing like that in the street, neither,” Longwood said. “He had nothing to do with no kind of gang affiliated street life. He was a good, decent person that worked.”

Longwood said the victim often helped her out, and on Saturday had bought her cleaning supplies when she couldn’t afford them herself.

“He bought me stuff. If I’m hungry, he gonna bought me food,” she said. “Now he gone and I feel like I’m by myself already.”

The 40-year-old man wounded is in stable condition, according to police.

There were no immediate arrests and the investigation is ongoing.

“We don’t know nothing, we still got to live here,” another mourner told the Daily News on Sunday afternoon.

Police did not immediately release the identity of the 45-year-old victim, pending family notification.

Earlier Easter Sunday, around 6:35 a.m., a 21-year-old man with gunshot wounds all over his body showed up “by private means” at a Bronx urgent care on Grand Concourse Ave., where he remains in critical condition, cops said. A short time later, a 29-year-old man came into Bronx Care with a gunshot abrasion on his left cheek, and was in stable condition, police said.

Police said they are investigating the early morning incidents, though it’s unclear where the wounded men were injured or if the incidents are related.

Maryland Sen. Chris Van Hollen in El Salvador last week. He was in the country to meet with wrongly deported immigrant Kilmar Abrego Garcia. AP

Senator emerges as anti-Don leader after he visits immig in El Salvador

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now, it's Sen. Chris Van Hollen's turn.

The mild-mannered Maryland senator has emerged as a leading figure in the resistance to President Trump's norm-busting presidency, becoming the latest in a small but growing collection of Democratic officials testing the strength of their political power in a weakened party with no clear leader.

Van Hollen's rise follows his decision to travel 2,000 miles to El Salvador last week to meet with Kilmar Abrego Garcia, who was wrongly deported and federal courts have said should be returned.

Van Hollen did not secure the release of the Salvadoran citizen who had been living in Maryland. But simply by meeting with him, in defiance of Trump and his ally El Salvador President Nayib Bukele, Van Hollen created a sense of hope for Abrego Garcia's family and the anti-Trump resistance.

"Sen. Van Hollen's leadership in this moment is exactly how Democrats should be pushing back against a wannabe dictator like Donald Trump — calling for law and order over chaos and adhering to the Constitution instead of a tyrant," Democratic National Committee Chairman Ken Martin told The Associated Press. "No matter how much Trump tries to act out his dictatorial fantasies, Democrats will always defend democracy when it's on the line."

Van Hollen's emergence in a crucial national debate offers a fresh window into the Democratic Party's monthslong leadership carousel as it struggles to counter a series of Trump administration policies with far-reaching consequences, from slashing the federal workforce and stripping funding from universities to pushing back against court orders and launching a trade war that's rattling the global economy.

The Democrats' most visible elected leaders, Rep. Hakeem Jeffries and Sen. Chuck Schumer, both of New York, have lost the confidence of many progressive activists for not fighting Trump with the urgency or creativity that the moment demands. Ezra Levin, co-founder of the resistance group Indivisible, said the growing protest movement is directed at Trump and at "the Schumers of the world, those who want us to roll over and play dead."

"Courage is impressive and contagious," Levin said, noting that he's hearing "a ton of positive feedback for (Van Hollen) among our folks on the ground." He said the reaction is akin to the outpouring of support earlier in the month for Sen. Cory Booker (D-N.J.).

Booker had stepped into the leadership void by delivering a record 25-hour speech on the Senate floor that briefly served as a rallying point for the frustrated anti-Trump movement. Concerned voters also have packed into rallies hosted by Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) and Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (D-Bronx, Queens), who have launched a national "Stop Oligarchy" tour.

At the same time, potential 2028 presidential contenders — such as Govs. Gavin Newsom of California and Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan — have gone the other way by downplaying their Trump criticism at times. Others, including Govs. Josh Shapiro of Pennsylvania and Wes Moore of Maryland, have largely avoided stepping into the national debate.

"I don't think it's ever wrong to fight for the constitutional rights of one person. Because if we give up on one person's rights, we threaten everybody's rights," Van Hollen said Sunday on CNN's "State of the Union."

Van Hollen's trip was praised by many on the left, but there was no shortage of detractors — even within his own party.

Newsom described the Democratic Party's focus on the Abrego Garcia case as "the distraction of the day" that allows Republicans to avoid tough questions about Trump's tariffs, which have upended global trade and threaten to worsen inflation.

"It seems to me that these Democrats are representing the illegal aliens against the very constituents, the U.S. citizens, that they're supposed to be protecting," Rep. Tom Emmer (R-Minn.) said on CNN. When pressed repeatedly, Emmer did not say whether he backed Trump's suggestion that U.S. citizens convicted of serious crimes could be jailed in El Salvador or other countries.

Hegseth looped wife, brother into 2nd attack chat

BY THERESA BRAINE
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth looped family members and his personal lawyer into a second Signal chat discussing plans to attack Houthi rebels in Yemen last month, according to a new report.

In the group chat, Hegseth's wife, former Fox News producer Jennifer Hegseth, and his brother were among those privy to the flight schedules of the F/A-18 Hornets launching an air strike against the Houthis, four people with inside information about the second chat told The New York Times.

A person familiar with the chat's contents and recipients confirmed the second chat's existence to The Associated Press. Dubbed "Defense Team Huddle," it included 13 people, the anonymous source told the AP.

It was a separate thread than the one that included The Atlantic's editor Jeffrey Goldberg, though it transpired the same day and discussed the same attack, the Times reported.

Blowback to the latest incarnation of "Signalgate" was immediate.

"The details keep coming out," Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.) posted on X. "We keep learning how Pete Hegseth put lives at risk. But Trump is still too weak to fire him. Pete Hegseth must be fired."

Comment on the second chat group was not immediately released by the White House, the National Security Council or the Pentagon, the AP noted.

Jennifer Hegseth had already raised eyebrows by attending sensitive meetings with foreign leaders alongside her husband, The Wall Street Journal reported. And while Hegseth's brother Phil Hegseth and personal lawyer Tim Parlatore both work at the Pentagon, the Times reported there was no clear reason for them to be on the need-to-know list.

Numerous military experts have said such information is classified and that its release may have endangered pilots. The Defense Department's acting inspector general is investigating the first Signal snafu as requested by the Senate Armed Services Committee under Republican Chairman Roger Wicker of Mississippi and ranking Democratic member Jack Reed of Rhode Island.

The Trump administration downplayed the first breach amid numerous officials' insistence that nothing classified had been shared.

Vice president wishes him Happy Easter in brief meeting at the Vatican

BY JOSEPH WILKINSON
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

Pope Francis met with Vice President JD Vance on Easter morning in the Vatican before giving a blessing to well-wishers in St. Peter's Square and riding through the crowd in his Popemobile on Sunday.

Francis, 88, gifted Vance three big chocolate Easter eggs for his three children, who did not make the trip. The two men spoke briefly at the Vatican hotel where the pope lives.

"I know you have not been feeling great, but it's good to see you in better health," Vance told the pope. "Thank you for seeing me."

Vance, 40, converted to Catholicism in 2019. He spent a total of 17 minutes inside Vatican City on Sunday before celebrating Mass at St. Paul Outside the Walls in Rome.

"I pray for you every day," Vance told the pope just before his departure. "God bless you."

Francis only recently left the hospital after a life-threatening battle with double pneumonia.

He has been recovering at home and making brief public appearances.

Though Francis delegated the celebration of Easter Mass to another cardinal, he made a brief appearance on a balcony overlooking St. Peter's Square to proclaim "Buona Pasqua!" or "Happy Easter" in Italian.

He then surprised the crowd by appearing in the square itself, riding in his custom vehicle, known as the popemobile.

In the months before Sunday's visit, Francis and Vance have exchanged words online in arguments over migration. President Trump's administration has cracked down on immigration in the U.S., which Francis has criticized as un-Christian.

"An authentic rule of law is verified precisely in the dignified treatment that all people deserve, especially the poorest and most marginalized," Francis wrote in a February public letter to U.S. bishops. "Jesus Christ, loving everyone with a universal love, educates us in the permanent recognition of the dignity of every human being, without exception."

Mourners gather last month around the bodies of eight Red Crescent emergency responders recovered in Rafah, Gaza Strip, after an Israeli attack. Fifteen Palestinian medics in all were killed in the shootings before dawn on March 23 that some called a war crime. AP

'Professional failures'

Israel fires military deputy in probe of 15 Palestinian medics' killings

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

JERUSALEM — An Israeli investigation into the killings of 15 Palestinian medics last month in Gaza by Israeli forces said Sunday that it found a chain of “professional failures” and a deputy commander has been fired.

The shootings outraged many in the international community, with some calling the killings a war crime. Medical workers have special protection under international humanitarian law. The International Red Cross/Red Crescent had called it the deadliest attack on its personnel in eight years.

Israel at first claimed that the medics' vehicles did not have emergency signals on when troops opened fire but later backtracked. Cell phone video recovered from one medic contradicted Israel's initial account.

The military investigation found that the deputy battalion commander acted under the incorrect assumption that all of the ambulances belonged to Hamas militants. Video images obtained show the ambulances had lights flashing and logos visible as they pulled up to help another ambulance that had come under fire.

According to the investigation, the deputy commander, operating under “poor night visibility,” felt his troops were under threat when the ambulances sped toward their position and medics rushed out to check the victims. The military said the flashing lights were less visible on night-vision drones and goggles.

The ambulances immediately came under a barrage of gunfire that went on for more than five minutes with brief pauses. Minutes later, soldiers opened fire at a UN car that stopped at the scene.

Eight Red Crescent personnel, six Civil Defense workers and a UN staffer were killed in the shooting before dawn March 23 by troops conducting operations in Tel al-Sultan, a district of Rafah in southern Gaza. Troops bulldozed over the bodies and their mangled vehicles, burying them in a mass grave. UN and rescue workers were only able to reach the site a week later.

The Israeli military said soldiers buried the bodies to prevent them from being mangled by stray dogs and coyotes until they could be collected, and that the ambulances were moved to allow the route to be used for civilian evacuations later that day.

The investigation found that the decision to crush the ambulances was wrong, but said there was no attempt to conceal the shootings.

Maj. Gen. Yoav Har-Even, who oversees the military's investigations, said the military notified international organizations later that day and helped rescue workers locate the bodies.

The head of the Palestinian Red Crescent Society has said the men were “targeted at close range.” Night-vision drone footage provided by the military shows soldiers about 65 to 98 feet from the ambulances.

The investigation found the paramedics were killed due to an “operational misunderstanding” by Israeli forces, and that shooting at the UN car was a breach of orders.

The deputy commander was the first to open fire, leading the rest of the soldiers to start shooting, Har-Even said.

The findings asserted that six of those killed were Hamas militants — it did not give their names — and said three other paramedics were originally misidentified as Hamas. The Civil Defense is part of the Hamas-run government.

No paramedic was armed and no weapons were found in any vehicle, Har-Even said.

Har-Even said the deputy commander was fired for giving a not “completely accurate” report to investigators about the incident in which troops fired on a UN vehicle.

The statement on the findings concluded by saying that Israel's military “regrets the harm caused to uninvolved civilians.”

“Without accountability, we risk continuing to watch atrocities unfolding, and the norms designed to protect us all, eroding. Too many civilians, including aid workers, have been killed in Gaza. Their stories have not all made the headlines,” Jonathan Whittall, interim head in Gaza of the UN humanitarian office OCHA, said in a statement responding to the findings.

There was no immediate public reaction to the findings from the Red Crescent or Civil Defense.

The findings have been turned over the Military Advocate General, which can decide whether to file civil charges. It is meant to be an independent body, with oversight by Israel's attorney general and Supreme Court.

No outside investigations of the killings are underway.

Israeli strikes have killed more than 150 emergency responders from the Red Crescent and Civil Defense, most of them while on duty, as well as over 1,000 health workers during the war, according to the U.. The Israeli military rarely investigates such incidents.

Israel has accused Hamas of moving and hiding its fighters inside ambulances and emergency vehicles, as well as in hospitals and other civilian infrastructure, arguing that justifies strikes on them.

Medical personnel largely deny the accusations.

Palestinians and international human rights groups have repeatedly accused Israel's military of failing to properly investigate or whitewashing misconduct by its troops.

Har-Even said the Israeli military is investigating 421 incidents in Gaza during the war, with 51 probes concluded and sent to the Military Advocate General.

The International Criminal Court, established by the international community as a court of last resort, has accused Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and former Defense Minister Yoav Gallant of war crimes. Israel is not an ICC member.

Woman and boy trapped in car under bridge, die in Okla. flood

BY JOSEPH WILKINSON
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

A woman and a 12-year-old boy were killed in a flash flood near Oklahoma City on Saturday, and weather forecasters warned of more rain coming on Sunday.

Two vehicles became stuck in floodwaters in the southern Oklahoma City suburb of Moore around 9 p.m. on Saturday, the local police department said in a Facebook post. One of the vehicles was swept under a bridge. While rescuers were able to save some people in the car, the woman and the boy were killed, according to Moore police.

"This was a historical weather event that impacted roads and resulted in dozens of high-water incidents across the city," the department wrote.

Multiple water rescues occurred across Moore and other Oklahoma City suburbs Saturday, local CBS affiliate KWTU reported.

More dangerous weather was expected on Sunday in eastern Oklahoma and into Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas, according to the National Weather Service. Dozens of counties in the area were placed on flood watches. Several areas were also under tornado watches.

"The associated heavy rain will create mainly localized areas of flash flooding, with urban areas, roads, small streams and low-lying areas the most vulnerable," National Weather Service forecasters wrote. "The hazards associated with these thunderstorms are frequent lightning, severe thunderstorm wind gusts, hail and a few tornadoes."

The severe weather threat was expected to dissipate across Oklahoma and surrounding states by Monday. Smaller, less dangerous, rainstorms were predicted for the Tennessee Valley and the Ohio Valley.

Texas mass killer to get life

Death, parole off table for El Paso Walmart shooter in 2019 slaughter of 23

BY JOSEPH WILKINSON
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

The young man who massacred 23 people at a Walmart in El Paso, Texas, is expected to plead guilty Monday, concluding one of the longest running cases in the state's history.

Patrick Crusius, 26, agreed to a plea deal last month that will spare him a death penalty trial in exchange for life in prison without parole.

Crusius was already sentenced to 90 consecutive life terms on numerous federal charges, though former President Joe Biden also took the death penalty off the table. However, his criminal case in Texas state court has dragged on for nearly six years.

"Of course, we're very disappointed with the [district attorney's] office," Albert Hernandez, whose sister and brother-in-law were killed in the shooting, told the El Paso Times. "We wanted them to [seek] the death penalty. We are happy because it will now be over, but we feel that we didn't get full justice."

Four different El Paso County district attorneys have handled the case since the Aug. 3, 2019, massacre. One was forced to resign for mismanaging it. James Montoya, a Democrat elected in 2024, was the one who finally took the death penalty off the table and offered the plea deal.

"No more hearings. No more appeals. He will die in prison," Montoya said in March.

Crusius was 21 when he drove 10 hours from a Dallas suburb to El Paso to carry out the shooting. Before the shooting, he wrote online that he believed the U.S. was being "invaded" by Hispanics and believed he was fighting back.

The Walmart was packed with Saturday morning shoppers when Crusius opened fire, first in the parking lot and then inside the building. He gunned down 23 people and wounded 26 more.

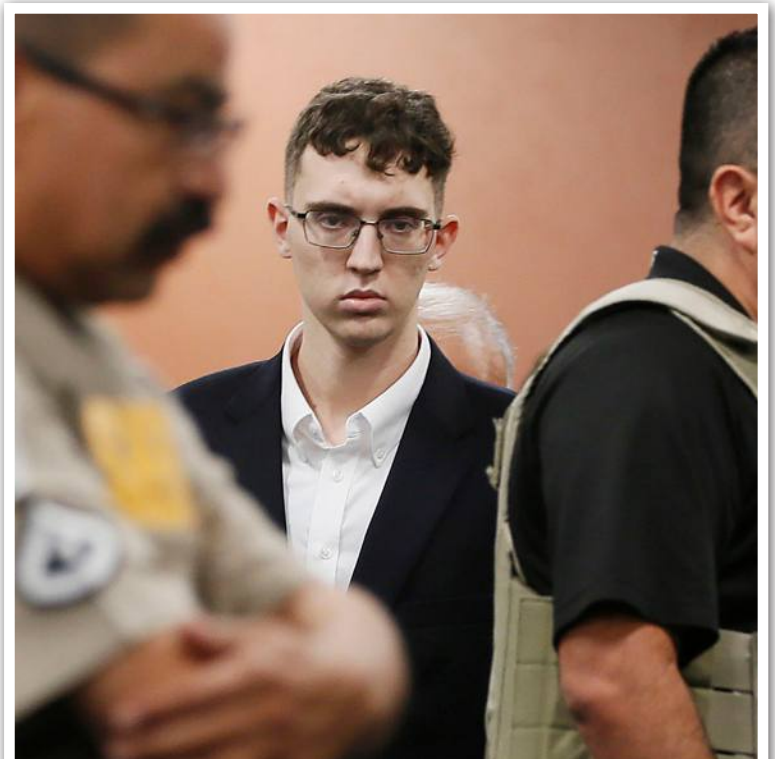

"Patrick believed that he was acting at the direction of the president at the time," Crusius' friend and attorney, Joe Spencer, told the El Paso Times, referring to Donald Trump. "He thought it was his duty to stop the invasion because that's what he perceived the president was telling him."

Victim-impact statements will begin Monday and are expected to last for multiple days. At least 49 people have signed up to speak at the hearing, according to the El Paso Times. Crusius is not expected to speak at any point.

Montoya said he would address the community afterward. He has previously said he supports the death penalty and believes Crusius deserves it, but that a trial might not have begun until 2028.

"I just wanted it to be over," Stephanie Melendez, whose father was killed, told The Associated Press. "I was done reliving everything. I was done going to court for hours. I was done with the briefings that happened after that would last hours, and it was just the same talk over and over again. We were just ready to be done with it all because, honestly, it's like reliving the trauma over and over again."

ON BROADWAY

A guide to current Broadway shows by Daily News theater critic Chris Jones:
& Juliet: A savvy jukebox musical from London offering a feminist reworking of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" with added bits and songs made famous by Pink, Britney and Kesha, et al. This nonstop party-empowerment show is derivative, over-confident and fun. Stephen Sondheim Theatre, 124 W. 43rd St.

Aladdin: Disney's "Aladdin" is a bit too frenetic, gag-heavy and overly anxious to please — but it has settled in as an entertaining family attraction featuring a diverse cast, a fun genie whose antics will always remain a tribute to Robin Williams, and the requisite magic carpet ride against a backdrop of the glittering lights of a utopian Arabian night. New Amsterdam Theatre, 214 W. 42nd St.

The Book of Mormon: A relic of an era when satirists had more guts, Trey Parker and Matt Stone's show lampoons the LDS religion with the same sharp edge familiar from "South Park." Go enjoy a wicked musical from before America lost so much of its sense of humor. Eugene O'Neill Theatre, 230 W. 49th St.

BOOP! The Musical: This family-friendly musical comedy, richly scored by David Foster, is a real charmer, an escapist fantasy from Jerry Mitchell that imagines what might have happened had the iconic cartoon heroine Betty Boop been able to travel through time and visited a future New York City, where her fame remains formidable. Mitchell deftly tones everything and introduces a bonafide new star in Jasmine Amy Rogers, who inhabits Boopdom exquisitely from her Max Fleischer past to the living-color present. Broadhurst Theatre, 235 W. 44th St.

Buena Vista Social Club: This transfer from the Atlantic Theatre Company is based on the great Cuban artists recorded on a Grammy Award-winning 1997 album in Havana at the titular music club, once the go-to, pre-Revolutionary place for hot dance styles like son Cubano, bolero and the venerable social form known as danzón, all as fun to watch on a Broadway stage in 2025 as in a nightclub half a century ago. No narrative surprises here but hot beats, cool tunes and sensual performances abound. Gerald Schoenfeld Theatre, 236 W. 45th St.

Cabaret at the Kit Kat Club: An epic disappointment and a money-grabbing misfire, this revival of a musical theater masterpiece is overpriced, under-erotized and, for the most part, poorly sung. It's an example of the immersive theater craze taken too far and with the wrong show to boot. Adam Lambert now stars as the Emcee of this unfortunate shebang. Spend your money elsewhere on Broadway. August Wilson Theatre, 245 W. 52nd St.

Chicago: This long-lived show celebrating real-life killers of prohibition-era Chicago has been pulling in Broadway suckers since 1996. The real stars here are John Kander and Fred Ebb, who penned a score that drips with melodic aspiration and lyrical cynicism, and Bob Fosse, whose erotically muscular choreography is the perfect match. Ambassador Theatre, 219 W. 49th St.

Death Becomes Her: Based on the 1992 Robert Zemeckis movie, "Death Becomes Her" is a silly, campy, go-for-broke show that's filled with hearty laughs and a pair of gutsy, zesty and highly skilled lead performances from Megan Hilty and Jennifer Simard that land right where a good chunk of the Broadway-going public believe divas like these two should be landing. While looking fabulous. The aim here appears to have been to create a kind of pseudo-feminist, gayer version of "The Producers," and while those heights are not scaled, the Mel Brooksian template is enthusiastically employed, especially within Julia Mattison and Noel Carey's patter-heavy ditties and droll lyrics. Lunt-Fontanne Theatre, 205 W. 46th St.

The Great Gatsby: This is what many people think of when they ponder a big Broadway night out: a familiar yet glamorous title from the Jazz Age, a star tenor in the titular role, songs of passion, obsession and resolve set to string-heavy orchestrations, and a massive Art Deco set cascading off the stage, which has the décor to match. The show is dull and emotionally inert but it's the best dressed crowd on Broadway. Broadway Theatre, 1681 Broadway.

Glengarry Glen Ross: David Mamet's masterwork about amoral salesman in a Chicago boiler room peddling worthless Florida real-estate is one of the best plays ever written about the underbelly of American business. And this new staging is filled with stars like Kieran Culkin, Bill Burr and Bob Odenkirk. But they're not all cast in the best roles for them and thus Mamet's language doesn't crackle as it certainly can. Note the play does not include the famous Alec Baldwin monologue about steak knives and a Cadillac. That was movie only. Palace Theatre, 146 W. 47th St.

Good Night, and Good Luck: The gifted director David Cromer takes this movie-to-Broadway transfer about the journalism giant Edward R. Murrow and immerses you in a mid-century TV newsroom, all camera, cigarettes and righteousness. The authorial star, George Clooney sucks up a lot of the oxygen and fair enough, given his stature. But this piece also focuses on the entire CBS milieu; it's a rich audience experience, although you will pay a formidable price for tickets. Winter Garden Theatre, 1634 Broadway.

Gypsy: Madam Rose is known for her powerhouse belt and for being the scarier Bad Showbiz Mother of the Year, but not for moving an audience to tears. Audra McDonald, surely the best actress ever to play this iconic role, changes that trajectory in director George C. Wolfe's disarmingly moving Broadway revival of "Gypsy," the 1959 masterpiece about the coming of age of Gypsy Rose Lee, with music by Jule Styne, lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and book by Arthur Laurents. At the performance I saw, half the orchestra audience was wiping its eyes. Several times. Majestic Theatre, 245 W. 44th St.

Hadestown: A dystopian 2019 musical rooted in the 2010 concept album by Anais Mitchell and updates and retells the classic myth of Orpheus and Eurydice via a compellingly theatrical blend of steampunk, "Westworld" and self-aware Bourbon St. sensuality. It's a thrillingly alarmist show, albeit potentially jarring to those who prefer warmer or more traditional musicals. Mitchell's music variously evokes gospel, blues, blue collar work-song and the ravings of a rabid cult. Walter Kerr Theatre, 219 W. 48th St.

Hamilton: Still a tough and expensive ticket, this Lin-Manuel Miranda global cultural phenomenon employs a young, diverse cast to tell the story of Alexander Hamilton, the Founding Father with the long-term berth on the ten-spot, but also a scrappy immigrant who wrote like he was running out of time. The music is eclectic and often gorgeous, the emotional intensity still capable of blowing all else away. Richard Rodgers Theatre, 226 W. 46th St.

Harry Potter and the Cursed Child: An epic commitment requiring two tickets and six hours has now been reduced to a more manageable single show. We purists lament the change, which cut much of the subtlety and fun in the text but left all the spectacular theatrical effects. Even in this version, though, Harry Potter fans leave fully satiated. Lyric Theatre, 214 W. 43rd St.

Hell's Kitchen: The songs of Alicia Keys are well suited to a jukebox musical. The burst of energy that flows from hits like "Girl on Fire" are dynamic blasts in a show drawing from Keys' own origin story as a kid growing up in the federally subsidized artists' haven of Manhattan Plaza in Hell's Kitchen. No surprises here and you have to love Keys' music. But lots of warm sentiment and affection for a creative Gotham childhood. Shubert Theatre, 225 W. 44th St.

The Last Five Years: One of the spring Broadway season's big disappointments, this typically likable Jason Robert Brown chamber musical gets drowned in a large theater, especially because it is performed by the miscast pair of Nick Jonas and Adrienne Warren. Both are stellar vocalists but neither are convincing as early career artists trying to navigate a difficult personal relationship. Hudson Theatre, 101 W. 44th St.

John Proctor is the Villain: This feminist drama by Kimberly Belflower looks at Arthur Miller's "The Crucible," a staple of the high-school curriculum, through the lens of a contemporary high-school class in rural Georgia. With Sadie "Stranger Things" Sink in a starring role, this production from director Dana Taymor is exciting and very much alive, even if you quickly figure out where the play is going. Booth Theatre, 222 W. 45th St.

The Lion King: Julie Taymor's masterful work is 25 years old but still as fresh as a Serengeti morning. This Disney family attraction features stunning puppets, visual tableaux, Elton John songs, African music. It's deservedly the most successful musical of its era. Minskoff Theatre, 200 W. 45th St.

Maybe Happy Ending: Add some falling snow and you'd have a Hallmark movie but, as written by Will Aronson and Hue Park, this sleeper hit comes with a very arresting twist. Darren Criss and Helen J. Shen play highly sophisticated South Korean robots in what turns out to be a very charming, romantic, craftful and slightly unnerving little musical about the growing similarity between robots and humans and how we might all one day seek love and worry about our battery life. Belasco Theatre, 111 W. 44th St.

MJ The Musical: This homage to the King of Pop is set during the creative process for Michael Jackson's "Dangerous" world tour. Although there is little mention of the MJ controversies (the estate prefers it that way), "MJ" offers the chance to hear a slew of iconic MJ hits and experience his choreographic soul through the simpatico-but-original ideas of Christopher Wheeldon. Neil Simon Theatre, 250 W. 52nd St.

Moulin Rouge the Musical!: A decadent live translation of Baz Luhrmann's widely beloved 2001 movie musical and an intense, anachronistic extravaganza that stuffs cuts of pop anthems (70 songs! 161 composers!) inside a letter-box of gorgeous retro-red velour. This is date-night pastiche with a unifying communal playlist, and an omnisexual dip into a sensual ocean with nervous fellow travelers. Al Hirschfeld Theatre, 302 W. 45th St.

Oh, Mary!: Cole Escola's chaotic version of Mary Todd Lincoln casts the former First lady as a wild-eyed wannabe cabaret star marinated in whiskey, paint thinner and self-delusion — and the star of an uproariously anachronistic summer farce that has arrived on the Main Stem from edgier points downtown. It's a satiric soupcon at just 80 minutes, but the running time packs in more laughs than any place on Broadway. Even Abe Lincoln would laugh at this one. Lyceum Theatre, 149 W. 45th St.

Operation Mincemeat: Based on a real-life 1943 ruse concocted by the British intelligence services to clear out thousands of Nazi soldiers from Sicily by making them think the Allied forces were headed to Sardinia instead, "Operation Mincemeat" is self-aware and droll show, a five-character London hit with a very British signature blend of Monty Python and "Goon Show"-like humor, "Billy Elliot"-like music, "Hamilton"-like rhythms and a hip, post-modern staging. Much fun. John Golden Theatre, 252 W. 45th St.

Othello: Not worth the ticket price, all in all, this revival of Shakespeare's most domestic and sensual tragedy suffers from a 70-year-old Othello, the star Denzel Washington, working across from a Desdemonda played by 27-year-old Molly Osborne, even as both pretend it's the most usual thing in the world. Thus the lack of sexual chemistry torpedoes Kenny Leon's revival, notwithstanding some fine work from Jake Gyllenhaal, who runs off into a much interesting show taking place inside Iago's head. Ethel Barrymore Theatre, 243 W. 47th St.

The Outsiders: The beloved YA author S.E. Hinton famously penned "The Outsiders" after watching two rival gangs explode at her own Will Rogers School in Tulsa. The resultant musical needed greater expansion of character, a gentler, simpler touch, a better sense of authentic teenage angst and a deeper focus on the heart. But many love this story and will enjoy the talents here and the fresh roots/country score by the Austin-based Jamestown Revival. Jacobs Theatre, 242 W. 45th St.

The Picture of Dorian Gray: Sarah Snook, the truly formidable star of the new solo Broadway adaptation of Oscar Wilde's 1891 gothic shocker, wrestles all kinds of video technology into submission as she plays every character who appears, or even so much as gets mentioned, in the novel about a beautiful young man who falls into hedonism and debauchery but retains his youth and beauty by transferring the ravages of time and sin to his portrait. Unlike anything you have ever seen. Music Box Theatre, 239 W. 45th St.

Purpose: Nobody but Branden Jacobs-Jenkins could have written the blistering play "Purpose," or had the chutzpah to so eviscerate a powerful, theocratic Black family (with many similarities to that of Jesse Jackson, Jr.) and, in so doing, to chart the price that political parents invariably extract from their kids, children who did not sign up for any kind of campaign and to whom no benefits accrue. Just pressure and angst from listening to a lifetime of moralization and pontification and hypocrisy. Powerful acting from Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre is in abundance. Hayes Theater, 240 W. 44th St.

Redwood the Musical: A wholly unsurprising new tree-hugging musical (and I mean that literally) written and directed by Tina Landau, with songs composed by Kate Diaz and with a starring role and a formidable vocal challenge for Idina Menzel. Literally defying gravity again, she won't disappoint her superfans, but the weird "Redwood" ultimately struggles to climb above its own constraining canopy. Nederlander Theatre, 208 W. 41st St.

SIX: The Musical: Just 90 minutes, this small-cast original pop musical is centered on the six wives of Henry VIII who bond in a post-death sisterhood and compete for who actually had the worst time with their bearded pig. Audiences generally ignore the relatively thin gruel and have an empowering blast. Lena Horne Theatre, 256 W. 47th St.

Stephen Sondheim's Old Friends: There are lots of Sondheim revues out there but the selling point of this greatest hits show from the British impresario Cameron Mackintosh is actually the age of most of the cast members: these are performers who mostly worked with the man himself on shows like "Into the Woods" and "Sweeney Todd." How great to see 77-year-old Bernadette Peters, still the definitive Sondheim interpreter. Samuel J. Friedman Theatre, 261 W. 47th St.

Smash: Hardly. This translation of a TV show about the creation of a Broadway musical to a musical about the creation of a Broadway musical (about Marilyn Monroe) was much anticipated by fans but is a disappointment. The story that propelled the source has been changed and softened and the result is a less-than-credible piece that feels most self-congratulatory rather than wickedly incisive. Imperial Theatre 249 W. 47th St.

Sunset Boulevard: There's no more gilded cage for Norma in director Jamie Lloyd's red-hot, straight-from-London revival of Andrew Lloyd Webber's noir 1993 musical, "Sunset Boulevard," not with Nicole Scherzinger sizzling in the lead role. Norma Desmond has morphed from deranged diva to sexy beast, from an object of creepy pity warbling emotional ballads of regret to an eroticized star at her sexual peak, making wide-eyed love to a camera even when dripping with her lover's blood. Wowza! St James Theatre, 246 W. 44th St.

Wicked: Now more than 20 years old, "Wicked" is one of Broadway's best loved (and most costly) attractions. Especially since the movie came out. It's a prequel to "The Wizard of Oz" and focused on the intense friendship between two witches, one good, one maybe better. The Winnie Holzman book is a witty tour de force and Steven Schwartz came up with a bevy of emotional numbers, including "Defying Gravity," one of the great Act One closers of all time. Gershwin Theatre 222 W. 51st St.

Truth is, we like 'Sinners'

Director Coogler, double dose of Michael B. Jordan make it box office No. 1

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brand names, not filmmakers or stars, are said to rule the box office these days. But Ryan Coogler's "Sinners," led by twin Michael B. Jordans, proved a bloody exception to modern movie rules, launching with $45.6 million in ticket sales in U.S. and Canadian theaters, according to studio estimates Sunday.

"Sinners," a Warner Bros. release that cost about $90 million to produce, was a bold gamble on originality — albeit with genre elements — and one of the most bankable American directors in Coogler. The "Creed" and "Black Panther" director wrote and produced "Sinners," a 1932-set vampire movie about bootlegging brothers (both played by Jordan) who open a juke joint in their Mississippi hometown.

"A Minecraft Movie," the year's biggest Hollywood hit, followed close behind in second, collecting $41.3 million in its third week of release. That gave Warner Bros., after a handful of disappointments, an enviable one-two punch at the box office with one original, director-driven movie and one IP-based property.

"A Minecraft Movie," which Warner Bros.

co-produced with Legendary Pictures, has amassed $720.8 million worldwide in three weeks of release.

Pam Abdy and Mike De Luca, co-chairs of Warner Bros. Motion Picture Group, celebrated the two films' resonance with moviegoers. The studio accounted for a remarkable 64% of the domestic box office for the Easter weekend.

"Movies have the power to transport us to worlds only seen on the big screen, and Warner Bros. Pictures remains committed to bringing singular in-theater experiences to audiences looking for bold movies, both original and those based on beloved existing properties," Abdy and De Luca said in a statement Sunday.

But all eyes were on the performance on "Sinners," which Warner Bros. went to extreme lengths to secure. Abdy and De Luca agreed to give Coogler not just a cut of gross ticket sales but ownership of the film after 25 years — a virtually unheard of concession.

But Coogler and Jordan, whose collaborations stretch back to "Fruitvale Station," make up one of the industry's most potent director-actor duos. Reviews (98% "fresh" on Rotten Tomatoes) were stellar for "Sinners,"

Fans of Michael B. Jordan (l. and r.) will have a field day seeing "Sinners," which scored $45.6 million in ticket sales in U.S. and Canadian theaters in opening weekend. WARNER BROS. PICTURES and audiences, too, were enthralled by its supernatural twists. The film earned an "A" CinemaScore from moviegoers.

Overseas, "Sinners" faced a more uphill battle. It collected $15.4 million in 71 international markets. Domestically, "Sinners" attracted a diverse audience: 38% Black, 35% white, 18% Hispanic and 5% Asian.

Before "Sinners," dual roles had been rough business for Warner Bros. The studio saw flops in both "The Alto Knights" (a period gangster film featuring a doubled Robert De Niro) and "Mickey 17" (a sci-fi movie with two Robert Pattinsons).

But the strong opening for "Sinners," which should be sustained in the coming weeks given the strong word of mouth, cements Coogler's place as one of a handful of filmmakers whose name draws big audiences. Another would be Jordan Peele, whose "Nope" (2022) debuted similarly with $44.3 million.

Angel Studios' "The King of Kings," an animated tale of Jesus' life aimed at Christian audiences, capitalized on the Easter weekend, grossing $172 million in its second week of release. That was nearly equal to its opening weekend ($19.1 million), and brought "The King of Kings" to a domestic total of $45.3 million.

Bleecker Street's "The Wedding Banquet," Andrew Ahn's reimagining of Ang Lee's 1993 queer comedy of errors, opened on 1,142 North American screens with $922,906 in ticket sales. "The Wedding Banquet," a hit at the Sundance Film Festival, stars Lily Gladstone, Bowen Yang, Kelly Marie Tran and newcomer Han Gi-chan.

Easter ceasefire? No way, Ukraine & Russia say, trading accusations

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KYIV, Ukraine — Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy accused Russia on Sunday of creating a false appearance of honoring an Easter ceasefire, saying Moscow continued to launch attacks after Russian President Vladimir Putin announced a unilateral temporary truce.

“As of Easter morning, we can say that the Russian army is trying to create a general impression of a ceasefire, but in some places, it does not abandon individual attempts to advance and inflict losses on Ukraine,” Zelenskyy said in a post on X.

Despite Putin’s declaration of an Easter ceasefire, Zelenskyy said Sunday morning that Ukrainian forces had recorded 59 instances of Russian shelling and five assaults by units along the front line, as well as dozens of drone strikes.

In later updates, Zelenskyy said that despite Ukraine declaring a symmetrical approach to Russian actions, “the trend of increasing the use of heavy weaponry by Russian forces continues.”

He said, however, that it was “a good thing, at least, that there were no air raid sirens.”

He noted that some Ukrainian troops were killed in a Russian “ambush” Sunday in the Donetsk region, saying that the Russian soldiers responsible would be “eliminated.”

Russia’s Defense Ministry accused Ukrainian forces of overnight attacks in the Donetsk region despite the ceasefire.

It said Ukraine had sent 48 drones into Russian territory. According to the ministry, there were “dead and wounded among the civilian population,” without giving details.

It claimed that Russian troops had strictly observed the truce.

Russia-installed officials in the partially occupied Ukrainian region of Kherson also said Ukrainian forces had launched attacks.

Zelenskyy said Russia must fully adhere to the ceasefire conditions and reiterated Ukraine’s offer to extend the truce for 30 days when it ended at midnight Sunday.

Ukrainian Foreign Minister Andrii Sybiha said Moscow had not responded to Kyiv’s proposal.

“In practice, either Putin does not have full control over his army, or the situation proves that in Russia, they have no intention of making a genuine move toward ending the war, and are only interested in favorable PR coverage,” Zelenskyy wrote.

In northern Ukraine, dozens of Ukrainians gathered outside a damaged church Sunday to mark Easter, doubting that a ceasefire with Russia is possible.

In the village of Lukashivka in the Chernihiv region, briefly occupied by Russian forces in 2022, parishioners of the damaged Ascension Church arrived early at a small wooden church built last year to cater to the needs of the faithful, holding traditional Easter baskets and cakes to have them blessed.

As the sun rose, they stood quietly in the spring chill, the roofless silhouette of the wrecked church behind them, its pale walls scarred by shell fragments.

The church’s priest, Serhii Zezul, walked among them, shouting “Christ is risen!” as he sprinkled holy water over the baskets.

Congestion pricing countdown

It's been 15 weeks since Jan. 5, when the congestion pricing cameras started charging vehicles driving south of 60th St. a toll to enter the most crowded part of the most crowded city in America and it's succeeding exactly as foreseen. And the cameras remain on, despite an unenforceable "order" from Gloria M. Shepherd, executive director of the Federal Highway Administration, setting a deadline of yesterday to turn them off.

We have excellent reason to believe that this is the exact same Gloria M. Shepherd, also identified as the executive director of the Federal Highway Administration, who signed the Value Pricing Pilot Program agreement with the state and city departments of transportation and the MTA's Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority on Nov. 21 authorizing the tolls.

Shepherd's permission is contained in the first operative clause of the VPPP document: "The FHWA agrees that TBTA may operate the Project as a toll Project in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement and as a value pricing project, as part of NYSDOT's value pricing pilot program."

And as to who can cancel the tolls is the 11th operative clause of the signed contract: "That NYS-DOT, TBTA and NYCDOT agree they will work with FHWA to return the Project to its original operating condition if TBTA decides to discontinue tolls on the Project."

"If TBTA decides to discontinue tolls on the Project." That's super clear that only the TBTA, not the U.S. government, can end the program.

Shepherd can't undo her signature on the VPPP and she can't undo the authorization of the U.S. government.

The MTA and their ace lawyer, Robbie Kaplan, have sued the U.S. DOT to prevent the binding VPPP contract being terminated by the feds and have presented Manhattan Federal Judge Lewis Liman with six different counts as why it would be a violation of law and cannot happen.

Liman set a briefing schedule with the papers going back and forth until July 29. That's a real date, not Shepherd's phony deadline of yesterday. The MTA position is the correct and legal one: The cameras stay on unless a court orders otherwise.

Liman is an expert on congestion pricing. He's handling five civil lawsuits filed by congestion pricing foes between Nov. 22, 2023 and March 3, 2025. He has already issued several rulings on four of the suits, each time upholding congestion pricing. Liman's most recent opinion and order was last Thursday.

The foes have made constitutional claims, environmental claims, procedural claims. They have invoked the Commerce Clause, interstate travel and due process. They have said there hasn't been enough review, that the tolls are discriminatory, and on and on.

They just don't want to pay the toll. Our answer is then, so don't drive into the zone. If they have to drive into the zone, it's a much better trip with fewer cars competing for space, moving faster and less pollution.

Everyone is better off, including drivers. It's a really smart idea and the guy who created the concept, Columbia economics Prof. Bill Vickrey, was a really smart guy who won the Nobel Prize.

Vickrey knew this in the 1950s when he came up with the idea and the only downside is that it took seven decades to put into reality.

Protect Americans' data

Elon Musk's Department of Government Efficiency wants more power and more data. DOGE has attempted to defy a court order to access Social Security data. It has forced or tried to force access to IRS data systems, Medicare data, SEC data, National Labor Relations Board data, and Education Department student data, among other things.

DOGE is working with the Peter Thiel-founded company Palantir to enable the IRS data to interface with other systems, only one of several projects to centralize the troves of information the government collects on essentially every individual, business or nonprofit entity.

When people think of the hallmarks of open and democratic systems of government, they probably think of things like independent courts, equal protection under the law, competitive elections and so on, which are all certainly critical parts of a democratic system. Way down the list is something as abstract as data segregation and protection, which is a shame because that is a crucial aspect of keeping an accountable government.

When you provide your tax returns, your health info, your education data and all else that you are compelled to give, you're doing so at some level trusting that the data is going to be stored and used in the way that the government said it would, and that it won't be up for grabs for whatever any given federal official wants to do with it, at any time.

To allow all of these streams to commingle without controls or dedicated uses is akin to the government dossiers that are so feared in authoritarian regimes, except that modern tech and data collection make it possible for the government to keep one on practically every person in the country. In this case, separate silos are better. There is no need for law enforcement to have ready access to tax or health records absent a court order.

The feds are arresting permanent residents for disfavored speech. They have cancelled reportedly thousands of international student visas in a process that appears largely automatic. They have gone after law firms and universities that have supported causes or engaged in work that the administration finds politically dangerous.

President Trump is now talking about sending U.S. citizens to a Salvadoran gulag, claiming implausibly that these will only be criminals, after the administration already failed to provide any due process for hundreds of Venezuelans sent there.

In this context, DOGE's enthusiasm for data collection and centralization — under the direction of openly ideologically-driven officials like Musk — has too many downsides. Imagine a future where some political functionary can hone in on a public critic of the administration and instantly search all of their health information, their assets, their labor history, their known connections and so on, no warrant or public acknowledgement necessary.

These dangers have long been predictable, which is why there are myriad laws prohibiting this type of mass data sharing within the government, laws which it now seems to be gleefully violating. It will be very difficult to put the genie back in the bottle once these databases are all connected. Now's the time to stop it.

Christ doesn't need government support

BE OUR GUEST
BY CHLOE BREYER

Across the country this past Easter weekend, outdoor church bulletin boards proclaimed, "Alleluia, He is Risen," and "Because He lives, I can face tomorrow." These signs conveyed the joy of the holiest day of the year for Christians and do so freely and publicly in confessional language as we expect in a country where our religious freedom is protected.

What happens when the same confessional language about the Resurrection appears on the website of the U.S. Department of State?

This year the secretary of state didn't just offer polite Easter greetings, instead the official website proclaimed "Easter commemorates the resurrection of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who has been given supreme authority over all nations." It went on to say that the Secretary of State Marco Rubio celebrated Christ's Resurrection and Kingship with Christians across the world. The statement concluded with an expression of solidarity with Christians who are persecuted.

Why does this matter? If Episcopal clergy like me offer Easter confessional language in church, why shouldn't a fellow Christian offer witness from a government website? After all, Christians do confess that God has authority over all things and that ultimately Christ is King.

There are a couple of reasons why proclaiming the Good News from the Department of State's website isn't such good news. First, the "Wall of Separation" between church and state is more like a situationally-driven dynamic between two different promises in the Bill of Rights: the first is freedom of religious expression. The second is disestablishment.

The Founders envisioned a country free from the establishment of a single religious tradition — not for the good of the state as much as for the integrity of religious practice and to avoid competition between faiths for government resources. They looked back across the ocean were wary of the centuries of bloody wars of religion in Europe.

Today, Americans should ask ourselves whether we are more concerned about protecting the religious freedom of Rubio in the workplace or about the possibility that top levels of this administration are privileging Evangelical Christianity in a way that might discriminate against other traditions. (The rabbi who brought Rubio's Easter message to my attention knew which side of the scale her thumb was on.)

James Madison would have shared her concerns.

In his 1785 "Memorial and Remonstrance Against Religious Assessments" he argued against a bill that would have established the Anglican Church in Virginia, using the European experience as part of his reasoning:

"During almost fifteen centuries has the legal establishment of Christianity been on trial. What have been its fruits?" Madison asked, "More or less in all places, pride and indolence in the Clergy, ignorance and servility in the laity, in both, superstition, bigotry and persecution." And furthermore, the proposed bill would have been, "a departure from that generous policy, which, offering an Asylum to the persecuted and oppressed of every Nation and Religion, promised a lustre to our country."

Apart from any constitutional questions, there is also the problem that confessional language issued by the secretary of state in his official capacity distorts the message of Easter.

The Resurrection for Christians is transformative not only because it answers the question "what do I believe" but even more so because it addresses the question, "where do we stand?"

Former Archbishop of Canterbury, Rowan Williams reminds us that the cross was not a religious symbol at the time of the Crucifixion. If the cross was a sign of the power of the Roman Empire. The heinous practice of crucifixion sent a message to the onlookers outside the gates of the city that the Roman Empire was not to be challenged.

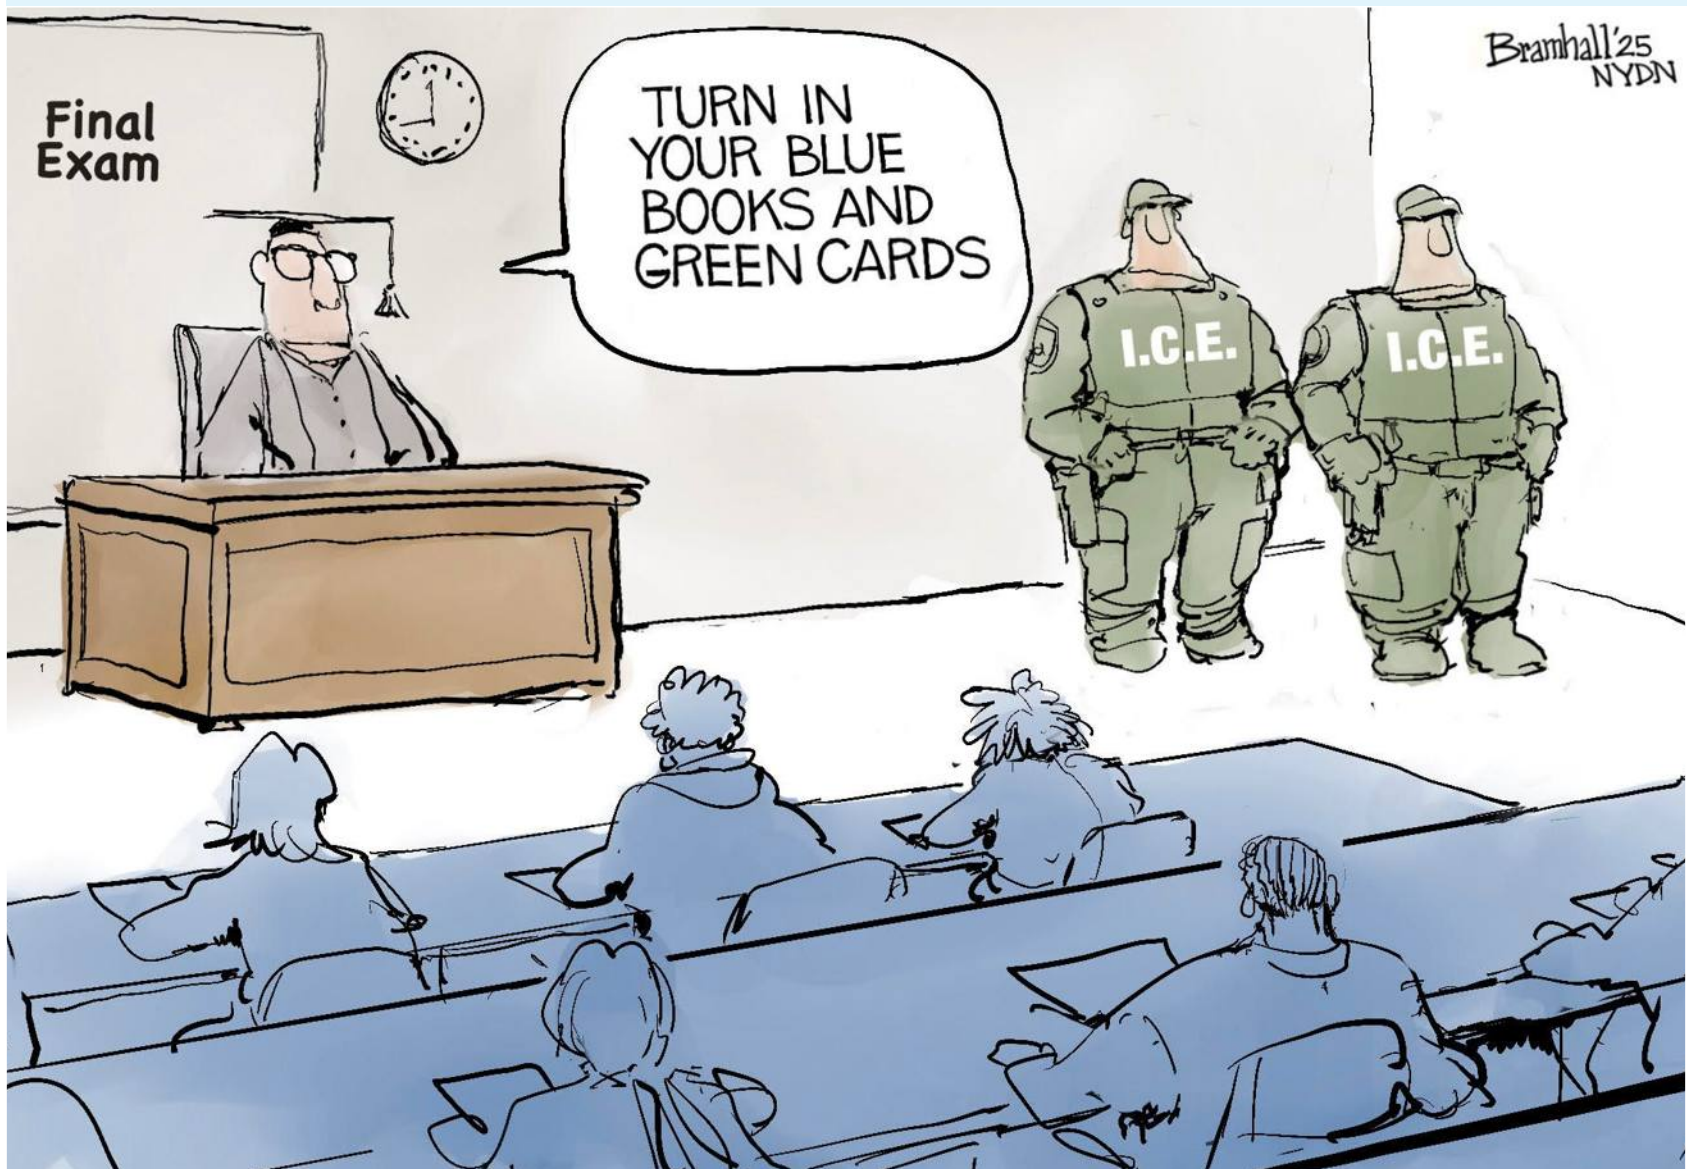

The victims, mostly non-citizens, criminals and unsuccessful rebels found the end on the cross. The authorities wished to remind the peoples of the pluralistic and diverse ancient Roman world, who was in control. Non-citizens especially were targets of this message.

God's willingness to stand with the voiceless on one of those deadly advertisements for Roman power was a great act of love and self-giving. On Easter, Jesus turned the cross — that state sponsored tool of oppression — into a locus of human freedom and flourishing. God is inviting us to overcome our fear and join Him at the place where social power runs out.

Today, that locus is more likely to be in far flung places where aid has been denied or rights have been revoked than in any central office of power and authority, including in our own country.

BRAMHALL'S WORLD

Manhattan tolling program is working as planned

The federal government is threatening to bring back New York City's terrible traffic.

U.S. Department of Transportation Secretary Sean Duffy is attempting to rescind the contract for the Central Business District (CBD) Tolling Program — more commonly known as congestion pricing — demanding that the MTA and New York State end the program yesterday, April 20, or face potential funding cuts.

To her great credit, Gov. Hochul has steadfastly backed the program, which will have its fate determined in the courts after the MTA sued the feds to keep the program running.

Why bother? Because congestion pricing is working, finally breaking the nauseating, ear-splitting gridlock that has paralyzed the NYC region to the tune of $20 billion in congestion-related costs annually. Since the congestion relief program launched a bit more than 100 days ago, there have been 6 million fewer vehicles in the Congestion Relief Zone, an 11% decrease from 2024.

That's been a boon for anyone driving into the city, with traffic speeds up by 15% in the CBD. Traffic at bridge and tunnel crossings is moving up to 30% faster than last year, saving up to 21 minutes per trip, an annual value of up to $1.3 billion in time savings. Bus, school bus and express bus speeds are up for riders, too.

BE OUR GUEST

BY BRIAN FRITSCH

Reduced traffic means the streets are safer, while even noise complaints have plummeted by more than 70%.

Before the program launched, alarmists and fearmongers predicted that business in the city would crater and traffic outside of Manhattan would become completely unmanageable. Neither has happened.

Broadway attendance is up 19%, restaurant reservations are up 5%, and retail sales have seen a $900 million boost. Even commercial real estate has rebounded while taxi trips have increased by 20%. The total number of people in Manhattan is up 7% over last year despite decreased traffic.

Traffic increases in Staten Island and the Bronx haven't materialized. Traffic on the Verrazano, Triborough, Whitestone, and Throgs Neck bridges has remained steady, while $330 million is coming for environmental mitigation.

So why does Duffy want to kill the program? First, he claimed that there is no way to drive into the zone for free without paying the toll and that it's "elitist."

What Duffy doesn't understand is a $9 toll is almost nothing compared with the cost of parking in Manhattan, which is one reason why 90% of New Yorkers take the subway, bus, or train to get there and why only 1% of CBD workers who make less than $50,000 commute into the city by car.

Transit isn't elitist; it's the lifeblood of our city and region, and we couldn't function without it. I get that's far from the reality of Duffy's Hayward, Wis., but from one Wisconsinite to another, it's time to become proficient. The fate of more than five million daily riders is at stake, it's not a reality TV show.

The other argument is that the program's primary goal is raising capital funding for transit, not reducing congestion. Yet the Traffic Mobility Act of 2019, which authorized congestion pricing, clearly states both goals, as the exhaustive environmental review of the program described in explicit detail. Meanwhile, as anticipated, the program is on track to raise $15 billion when bonded.

So, what are New Yorkers getting for their toll money?

The long list includes 250 new all-electric buses and new subway and commuter rail cars. Making 23 subway stations accessible for people with disabilities. Fortifying the subways to be more resilient to flooding and severe weather. Modernizing signals for better and faster subway service on the B/D/F/M lines in Manhattan and the A/C in Brooklyn and Queens. Replacing and improving existing power systems and infrastructure to move toward a state of good repair and avoid another Summer of Hell of unsafe and unreliable service.

Yet Duffy — who doesn't seem to know how much the tolls are — continues to threaten MTA funding if it skips his arbitrary deadline. So, what's at stake?

The federal government gives nothing for day-to-day operations, but the MTA does receive more than $2 billion annually for capital improvements, primarily for repair work to keep the system functional and safe. Cutting these funds would harm transit riders while killing jobs across the region and the country in an industry that thrives on planning and despises risk.

Instead, if he wanted to make congestion relief and transit less elitist, we invite Duffy to support fare incentives to help New Yorkers ride. At PCAC, we have a bunch of ideas for doing just that.

Let's focus on improving transit and keeping NYC traffic under control.

If a president breaks laws, we have impeachment

Bronx: President Trump began his second term just three months ago. In that relatively short period of time, he's managed to perilously rattle the stock market by way of an irrational and unnecessary import tariff scheme that has all the markings of market manipulation. While the 401(k) retirement accounts of millions of Americans (me included) were significantly devalued, inside the Oval Office, Trump boasted about how some of his billionaire buddies made a ton of money when the market recovered soon after he temporarily suspended the tariffs.

With the aid of Elon Musk and his cohort of incompetent cabinet chiefs, Trump also goes about firing thousands of government workers for no reason other than to cut government spending. Ironically, he does this so he can later more easily afford tax cuts for the wealthiest among us.

Yet, as harmful as all this may be, none of it rises to the level of impeachable offenses. But Trump may have crossed that line after the U.S. Supreme Court ordered the return of illegally deported immigrant Kilmar Abrego Garcia from El Salvador. So far, Trump and Salvadoran President Nayib Bukele (photo) have refused to comply.

I hope the Democrats are keeping score of this and the many other impeachable grievances Trump is sure to inflict upon our nation's government over the next few months. If and when they win back control of the House and hopefully the Senate next year, maybe he will be held accountable. Impeachment and the possibility of removal from office are always unpleasant and unfavorable to our nation's wellbeing. But in this case, it may soon be necessary.

Trick of the rich

Scarsdale, N.Y.: The great scammer in the White House appears to have manipulated the stock market right before our eyes. His blustering about tariffs on goods coming into the United States created a major devaluation in the stock market. He then tells his Republican and billionaire cronies to buy these devalued stocks. Then he tells them to be ready to sell them because he's going to suspend the tariffs, which will cause the market to have a large rebound. So we see how the rich get richer as we in the middle class face higher inflation and grocery costs.

Harvey Wielstein

On our own

Kew Gardens: In the chaotic environment of trade disputes and tariffs, one important player is being excluded: the World Trade Organization. The Trump administration cut funding to that organization, preferring to set its own trade initiatives and negotiations. The WTO regulates international trade, seeing that trade flows smoothly. It not only serves as a platform for negotiating trade agreements and disputes but also works to lower trade barriers and promotes fair treatment among its members. Now it is up to the U.S. alone to resolve the chaotic trade and tariff mess. Or is it possible the WTO is being excluded because the U.S. president was against the reappointment of its director general, Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala, the first woman and first African to hold that office. Glenn Hayes

Depriving children

Camden, N.J.: What was wrong with the world before Trump's appointment of Musk as head of the Department of Government Efficiency? Rapid changes have occurred since the beginning of Trump's second term. Now PBS is undergoing the cut of the chainsaw. What will be the legacy this current Trump administration leaves behind for the next generation? I grew up watching "Sesame Street." I've learned from Bert and Ernie. So many fond memories are hitting Musk's cutting room floor.

Wayne E. Williams

Federal offense

Brooklyn: The dumb decisions and contradictions just keep coming. On Wednesday, the Trump administration called a halt to construction on the Empire Wind Project at the South Brooklyn Marine Terminal, slated to become the nation's largest offshore wind port. Republicans claim to be the party of small government, yet they have clearly become the party of government overreach. Trump declared a national energy emergency, yet he is upending the clean energy industry and America's shot at energy independence. The White House insists it wants to create jobs and bring manufacturing back to America, but it seems that's not true if such investments don't benefit fossil fuel interests. For years, New York has made it clear it wants the wind port. Our state wants to be part of the clean energy future. The federal government has no right and no grounds to take that away.

Camilla Somers

Played the part

Tomkins Cove, N.Y.: Hallelujah, I can now rest easy. His excellency Bill Maher has decreed that Trump is only playing a crazy person; he is actually a measured, considerate, gracious individual. Although, isn't it possible that Trump, for a two-to-three-hour dinner, played the non-lunatic to troll Maher, just to mess with him and get a positive review on Bill's show? And to be honest, I enjoy his program immensely and watch every week. You can fool some of the people some of the time.

Doug Slotolowicz

Better-looking Dems

Cincinnati: Only one thing at present is certain about the 2028 presidential race: There will be Trump exhaustion. That means unaffiliated voters will be looking at the Democratic candidate with favor regardless of who the nominee is, especially because the likely Republican choice, Vice President JD Vance, is a hard-edged and unsympathetic character. I would never consider AOC because her policies are alien to mine, but she is a colorful person with good hair, teeth and smile, all characteristics some voters think important. By the way, her likely party rival, Gruesome Newsom from California, has the same sparkling hair, teeth and smile, plus he is a man and tall. I don't like him either, but both of them could win. Woe be to America.

Paul Bloustein

No coverage?

Lynbrook, L.I.: My paper must be missing some pages. I realize the Daily News is always a day late with the news, but I'm looking through Thursday's and Friday's papers and my copies don't have the best story out there right now — the story about Letitia James and multiple instances of mortgage fraud she apparently committed. Priceless.

Rich Benevent

Contained to be killed

Gastonia, N.C.: Israel talks about how it is concerned for Palestinian civilians. The West Bank has 2,100 square miles for 3 million people. The Gaza Strip has 140 square miles for 2 million people. If the Israelis are so concerned with Palestinian civilian deaths, why don't they bus the women and children up to the West Bank out of harm's way? More than 35,000 women and children have been killed by Israel since the start of the Hamas/Israel conflict. The reason Israel won't bus the women and children out of Gaza is that Israel wants to show the world it can wipe out a nation of people, and by doing so, that it is for the glory of King David.

Paul DeGregorio

Rapid response

Levittown, L.I.: Re "Plea for panic buttons" (April 19): I think it's a great idea, and the city and state should foot some of the bill. These are usually hard-working, family-owned bodegas, and with the mental health crisis we are seeing, they need protection. The Rave device used in school settings would be perfect. That's my 2 cents!

James Moran

Nowhere to sit

Madisonville, Pa.: Your editorial on outdoor dining ("Outdoor dining was curbed too much," April 16) was spot-on. As a semi-regular visitor to NYC, the addition of outdoor dining in so many areas was a welcome and surprising change. To make that option too difficult for many smaller establishments is bewildering, especially when each time I come to the city, I see the same scaffolding in place with no discernible change to the buildings they are erected at. So, in its infinite wisdom, the City Council lets the public be inconvenienced by those and be denied the pleasure of outdoor dining, hurting a number of businesses. Gotta love it!

Gun wounds kill gridder

Missouri State star safety may have been accident victim: cops

BY JOSEPH WILKINSON
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

A promising Missouri State University football player has died after a possible accident with a gun at his home, police said.

Todric McGee, 21, a star safety on the Bears, died Saturday from gunshot wounds at a hospital, authorities said. He was injured Friday at his home, according to the university.

Cops in Springfield, Mo., responded to a call for a “possible accidental self-inflicted gunshot wound” on Friday, the Springfield News-Leader reported. After police found McGee, he was transported to a local hospital. Authorities have not released additional information about McGee’s death.

“On behalf of the university and our entire department, we want to express our condolences to Todric’s family, friends and teammates,” Missouri State athletic director Patrick Ransdell said in a statement. “This tragedy has shaken our football program to the core, and we want them to know we are here to support them in every way possible at this extremely difficult time.”

Missouri State is transitioning to the highest level of college football — Football Bowl Subdivision, or FBS — in 2025 and will join Conference

Todric McGee (far left) at David Booth Kansas Memorial Stadium in 2023. He had 102 tackles, two interceptions and two fumble recoveries that season. GETTY

USA. McGee was expected to be one of the team’s best defensive players.

Though his 2024 season was cut short by injury, in 2023 McGee was named second team all-conference.

That year, he had 102 tackles, two interceptions and two fumble recoveries.

McGee was born in Wichita, Kan., and played high school football at Wichita Northwest High before committing to Missouri State.

“Our football family is in shock and in mourning at the loss of Todric,” Missouri State head coach Ryan Beard said. “We ask everyone to please respect the privacy of his family and our MoState football team at this time as we begin the healing process. Join us in praying for Todric and the people who loved him.”

Your HOROSCOPE

BY TAROT.COM

Aries (March 21-April 19): Friendship brings your aspirations into view. Networking is especially encouraged today, as you're able to express yourself with the passion needed to get others' attention. It's OK to be a part of something while still being true to your soul's unique energy.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Sharing joy will multiply it exponentially. You might meet someone with whom you share a common interest. It'll be easier to strike up a conversation when you already like the same subject, so don't be shy. The more people who enjoy the same interest as you, the merrier.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Being honest with yourself can give you fresh courage. You're not the type to run and hide when opposition comes along, but when everything is going well, you might find that you have less motivation to push ahead. Go with the flow and see how much further you can get.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Setting down grudges should bring relief. It may have felt as if an actual weight was on your shoulders, preventing you from moving forward. There are some doorways in life that you just can't get through when you're carrying shame, frustration and regret. Remind yourself that the past is the past.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Exploring your dreams in depth will open new doors. You might find that you've been focusing so hard on making your dreams a Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Communication will bring new life to stagnant connections. Someone you haven't spoken to in a long time may show up, reality that you lost sight of what you were dreaming of. Refocus your direction in life and determine where it is you're really headed.

making their feelings known to you. Listen to what they have to say, but know that you're free to share your side of the story as well.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You're changing how you see yourself. You might usually show the world a part of yourself that protects your more vulnerable

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Expressing yourself is the name of today's game. You may have been knocked off-balance in the past, made to feel like you were core, leading others to see you as either overly casual or stoic. Everyone has deeper emotions and feels vulnerable sometimes. Accept the tenderness within yourself.

inadequate compared to others. Discouragement can be tough to overcome. Fortunately, a positive experience with expressing yourself is coming.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): You're meeting people you might not normally meet. This person or group from another walk of life may meet you in an unexpected

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You may have less of a filter today. Even if you're normally able to keep up a poker face or hold in blunt thoughts, you might place. Listening to what they have to say is a great way to open your mind. Don't judge a book by its cover, for its contents can truly enlighten you.

find that you don't have that same ability now. Keep a vigilant ear on what you say. That said, others appreciate your boldness. Choose your words wisely.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Instead of allowing anxiety to grow as you procrastinate taking care of your responsibilities, face it head-on and fight back against any hesitancy. Getting your thoughts organized helps. You'll be able to truly relax once it's no longer nagging at the back of your mind.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Dreams can currently guide you toward your future. These dreams might seem confusing or stressful at first. Take a deep breath; they don't have to actually come true. You could be getting vibes off of someone that your subconscious is picking up on. Pick up a dream journal and investigate.

Closure of Thames Street between Trinity Place and Broadway Notice of Public Forum

Trinity Centre LLC c/o Capital Properties, the owner and manager of 111 and 115 Broadway (Block 50, Lot 1 and Block 49, Lot 2) are applying for a street closure of the segment of Thames Street between Trinity Place and Broadway in the Financial District neighborhood of Manhattan Community District 1. The street closure would facilitate the construction and development of a new pedestrian plaza on the street segment. Section 19-107(b) of the New York City Administrative Code requires the preparation of a Community Reassessment, Impact, and Amelioration (CRIA) Statement if a publicly mapped street is fully closed for more than 180 consecutive calendar days. Prior to the issuance of a CRIA statement, at least one public forum shall be held, publicized in advance, in any affected community at which the community may register its input concerning any potential adverse impacts of the street closure. The public forum for this project will be held on Wednesday, May 7, 2025, at 4pm, at 111 Broadway, New York, NY 10006 (in storefront next to the building entrance). Relevant public comments and responses will be incorporated into the CRIA Statement. As allowed by the law, an environment assessment statement (EAS), in lieu of the CIRA statement, has been prepared, in coordination with the NYC Department of Transportation, to assess the potential adverse effects of the street closure. At this forum, findings of the EAS will be presented. Members of the public are invited to attend and will be given the opportunity to make comments. This forum complies with Local Law 24 of 2005, (Title 34, Chapter 2, Section 2-16 of the Rules of the City of New York).

The City Planning Commission (CPC), acting as lead agency, issued a Notice of Completion on January 17, 2025 for a Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for the Midtown South Mixed-Use Plan (MSMX) proposal in accordance with Article 8 of the Environmental Conservation Law. A public hearing on the DEIS will be held on Wednesday, May 7, 2025, at 10:00 AM at the City Planning Commission Hearing Room, located at 120 Broadway, Lower Concourse, New York, New York 10271, in conjunction with the CPC's public hearing pursuant to ULURP. Comments are requested on the DEIS and will be accepted through 5:00 PM, Tuesday, May 19, 2025. To continue to allow for broad public participation, DCP will hold the public hearing accessible both in-person and remotely via the teleconferencing application Zoom. Anyone attending the meeting in-person is encouraged to wear a mask.

To join the meeting and comment remotely, please visit the NYC Engage site, <https://www.nyc.gov/engage>

If you would like to register to testify remotely via phone, need assistance with technical issues, or have any questions about participation you may call any of the phone numbers listed below, then enter the following Meeting ID.

[The Participant ID can be skipped by pressing #]

Instructions on how to participate remotely, as well as materials relating to the hearing, will be posted on the NYC Engage site on the day of the Public Hearing, no later than 1 hour prior to the hearing. To help the meeting host effectively manage members of the public who sign up to comment, those who do not intend to actively participate are invited to watch the livestream or the recording that will be posted after the meeting. The Public Hearing livestream can be found in the above referenced NYC Engage site and will be made available on the day of the Public Hearing.

Comments are requested on the DEIS and will be accepted through 5:00 PM, Tuesday, May 19, 2025. They can be submitted via email to 24dcp094m_d@planning.nyc.gov or mailed to Stephanie Shellooe, AICP, Director, Environmental Assessment and Review Division, New York City Department of City Planning, 120 Broadway, 31st Floor, New York, New York 10271.

Copies of the DEIS may also be obtained by contacting the Environmental Assessment and Review Division, at the contact address above, by calling (212) 720-3328 or by emailing sshellooe@planning.nyc.gov.

In addition, the DEIS and Final Scope of Work are available for download on the project ZAP page: <https://zap.planning.nyc.gov/projects/2024M0142>. To view the MSMX Final Scope of Work, DEIS Notice of Completion and full DEIS and Appendix, navigate to the MSMX project page in ZAP and select Public Documents, then "Final Scope of Work," "DEIS Notice of Completion" and "DEIS_24DCP094M".

Please inform the Department of City Planning if you need a reasonable accommodation, such as a sign language interpreter, in order to participate in the meeting. Requests for a reasonable accommodation or foreign language assistance during the meeting should be emailed to AccessibilityInfo@planning.nyc.gov or by calling 212-720-3508. Requests must be submitted at least ten business days before the meeting.

The New York City Department of City Planning (DCP) proposes a zoning map amendment and a zoning text amendment (the "Proposed Actions") to the New York City Zoning Resolution (ZR) that would foster a vibrant, mixed-use Midtown South neighborhood in the heart of Manhattan. The Proposed Actions would encourage the creation of critically needed housing in both new residential development and conversions, support critical commercial activity, respond to changing conditions in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic and shifting work patterns, and affirm the area's architectural legacy and industrial character.

The area affected by the Proposed Actions (the "Affected Area") includes approximately 141 total acres, consisting of all or parts of 42 blocks of the Midtown South neighborhood, and is roughly bounded by 40th Street to the north, Fifth Avenue to the east, 23rd Street to the south, and Ninth Avenue to the west. The Affected Area is comprised of Subdistrict A-2 in the Special Garment Center District, and the "Rezoning Area" -- an approximately 127-acre area consisting of all or parts of 42 blocks of the Midtown South neighborhood. Most of the Rezoning Area (all or portions of 35 blocks) is located in Manhattan Community District 5, while the balance (all or portions of seven blocks) is located in Manhattan Community District 4. The Rezoning Area consists of four noncontiguous manufacturing-zoned areas roughly bounded by 40th Street to the north, Fifth Avenue to the east, 23rd Street to the south, and Eighth Avenue to the west. Subdistrict A-2 of the Special Garment Center District (GC) encompasses approximately four blocks, bounded by a line 100 feet east of 9th Avenue to the west, 35th Street to the south, a line 100 feet west of 8th Avenue to the east, and 39th Street to the north. The Special Midtown South Mixed-Use District created by the Proposed Actions and described below will not be mapped on Subdistrict A-2 of the Special Garment Center District (GC).

The Proposed Actions include discretionary actions that are subject to review under ULURP, Section 200 of the City Charter, and City Environmental Quality Review (CEQR) process, as follows:

Zoning Map Amendments. The Proposed Actions would rezone portions of existing M1-6 and M1-6D manufacturing districts with high-density paired manufacturing/residential mixed-use districts, establish a new Special Midtown South Mixed Use District (MSX) coextensive with the Rezoning Area, and make additional changes to the boundaries of several special purpose districts that overlap with the Affected Area.

Zoning Text Amendments. The Proposed Actions would amend the ZR to establish regulations for the proposed Special Midtown South Mixed Use District (MSX), amend Appendix F of the ZR to apply the M1H program to the Rezoning Area, and modify text in the Special Garment Center District, Special Midtown District, and Special Hudson Yards District, among other changes, which are described in greater detail in project materials found on the ZAP page, linked above.

The Reasonable Worst-Case Development Scenario (RWCDs) for the Proposed Actions identified 61 projected development sites, as well as 1,093,808 gross-square-feet (gsf) of non-residential floor area likely to be converted to residential uses within the Affected Area. On these projected development sites and in the eligible conversion area, the Proposed Actions are expected to result in a net (incremental) increase of approximately 9,676 dwelling units (DU), including 1,940 to 2,890 permanently affordable units; 462,129 gsf of projected retail space (local retail), 81,755 gsf of community facility use, and decreases of 732,619 gsf of commercial office space, 69,782 gsf of industrial/warehouse space and approximately 1,093,808 gsf of non-residential floor area modeled to convert to residential uses. The RWCDs also identified seven potential development sites that are considered less likely to be developed by the 2034 analysis year.

The Proposed Actions would result in significant adverse impacts to Open Space (indirect and direct impacts from incremental shadows), Shadows, Historic and Cultural Resources (architectural), Transportation, Air Quality and Construction. Additionally, due to the non-site-specific nature of DCPs model for residential conversions as a result of the Proposed Actions, significant adverse Hazardous Materials, Air Quality, and Noise impacts cannot be precluded for the residential conversion area. To the extent practicable, mitigation has been proposed for these identified significant adverse impacts. However, in some instances, no practicable mitigation has been identified to fully mitigate significant adverse impacts, and there are no reasonable alternatives to the Proposed Actions that would meet the Proposed Actions' purpose and need, eliminate potential impacts, and not cause other or similar significant adverse impacts. If no feasible mitigation can be identified, an unavoidable significant adverse impact would result.

The DEIS considered two alternatives -- a No-Action Alternative and a No Unmitigated Significant Adverse Impacts Alternative. The No-Action Alternative examines future conditions within the Affected Area but assumes the absence of the Proposed Actions (i.e., none of the discretionary approvals proposed as part of the Proposed Actions would be adopted). In the No-Action Alternative, existing zoning would remain in the area affected by the Proposed Actions. The No Unmitigated Significant Adverse Impacts Alternative examines a scenario in which the density and other components of the Proposed Actions are modified to avoid the unmitigated significant adverse impacts associated with the Proposed Actions which include impacts related to open space, shadows, historic and cultural resources (architectural), hazardous materials, air quality, transportation, noise and construction.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE OF A COOPERATIVE APARTMENT

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE: by virtue of default under Loan Security Agreements, and other Security Documents, held by NewRez LLC D/B/A Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing as Secured Creditor, Matthew D. Mannion, DCA No. 1434494, will sell at public auction, with reserve, at the "foot" of the Kings County Courthouse steps facing Adams Street, 360 Adams Street, Brooklyn, NY at 11:15 a.m. on May 5, 2025, for the following account:

Angela Martinez, as borrower, 150 shares of the capital stock of 2 Grace Owners Inc. and all right, title and interest in a Proprietary Lease to 2 Grace Court, #2V, Brooklyn, NY 11201. The Cooperative Apartment will be sold "AS IS" and possession is to be obtained by the Purchaser.

Sale held to enforce the rights of NewRez LLC D/B/A Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing, who reserves the right to bid. Ten percent (10%) bank/certified check required at sale, balance due at closing within thirty (30) days.

Pursuant to Section 201 of the Lien Law, you must answer within 10 days from receipt of this notice in which redemption of the above captioned premises can occur. There is presently an outstanding debt owed to NewRez LLC D/B/A Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing in the amount of $139,366.49, which is solely the unpaid principal balance of the loan. Please note this is not a payoff amount as additional interest/fees penalties may be incurred. You must contact the undersigned to obtain the final payoff quote or if you dispute any information presented herein.

This figure is for the amount due under the Note and Security Agreement which was secured by a UCC-1 which was ultimately assigned to NewRez LLC D/B/A Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing by a UCC-3.

Pursuant to the Uniform Commercial Code Article 9-623, the above premises may be redeemed at any time prior to the foreclosure sale. You may contact the undersigned and pay the principal balance due along with all accrued interest, late charges, attorney fees and any out of expenses incurred, or pay the outstanding loan arrears along with all accrued interest, late charges, attorney fees and out of pocket expenses with respect to the foreclosure proceedings. Failure to cure the default prior to the sale will result in the termination of the proprietary lease.

If you have received a discharge from the Bankruptcy Court, you are not personally liable for the payment of the loan and this notice is for compliance and information purposes only. However, NewRez LLC D/B/A Shellpoint Mortgage Servicing still has the right under the loan security agreement and other collateral documents to foreclose on the shares of the stock and rights under the proprietary lease allocated to the cooperative apartment.

Uniform commercial code Public Sale Notice

Please take notice that Mannion Auctions, LLC, Matthew D. Mannion, licensed auctioneer (DCA #1434494), on behalf of Fairbridge Strategic Capital LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Secured Party"), offers for sale at public auction on May 9, 2025 at 2:30 p.m. (Eastern Time) at the offices of Braunstein Turkish LLP, 7600 Jericho Turnpike, Suite 402, Woodbury, New York 11797 in accordance with applicable Center for Disease Control (CDC) guidelines concerning COVID-19, and simultaneously by remote auction via Zoom, as follows: Meeting link: <https://bit.ly/551Albany>; Meeting ID: 890 4136 7684; Meeting passcode: 488890; Call-in number: +1 646 558 8656, in connection with a Uniform Commercial Code sale of the limited liability company membership interests (the "Interests") in 551 Albany Ave, LLC, a New York limited liability company ("Borrower"), which entity is the fee owner of real property located at 551 Albany Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11203. The Interests represent one hundred percent (100%) of the ownership interest in Borrower and is owned by 551 Albany Ave, LLC, a series of TTC ICE, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company.

The Secured Party's loan (the "Loan") to Borrower is secured by a first priority lien on the Interests. The Secured Party is offering the Interests for sale in connection with the foreclosure on the pledge of such Interests.

The Interests are being offered as a single lot, "as-is, where-is", with no express or implied warranties, representations, statements or conditions of any kind made by the Secured Party or any person acting for or on behalf of the Secured Party, without any recourse whatsoever to the Secured Party or any other person acting for or on behalf of the Secured Party. The winning bidder shall be responsible for the payment of all transfer taxes, stamp duties and similar taxes incurred in connection with the purchase of the Interests.

The Secured Party reserves the right to credit bid, set a minimum reserve price, reject any or all bids (including without limitation, any bid that it deems to have been made by a bidder that is unable to satisfy the requirements imposed by the Secured Party upon prospective bidders in connection with the sale or to whom in the Secured Party's sole judgment a sale may not lawfully be made), and terminate or adjourn the sale to another time, without further notice. The Secured Party further reserves the right to restrict prospective bidders to those who will represent that they are purchasing the Interests for their own account for investment not with a view to the distribution or resale of such Interests, to verify that each certificate for the Interests to be sold bears a legend substantially to the effect that such interests have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), and may not be disposed of in violation of the provisions of the Securities Act and to impose such other limitations or conditions in connection with the sale of the Interests as the Secured Party deems advisable in order to comply with the Securities Act or any other applicable law.

All interested parties shall be required to provide a minimum deposit of $100,000 with Secured Party's counsel at least 5 days prior to the auction, and all bids (other than credit bids of the Secured Party) must be in U.S. Dollars, and the successful bidder must be prepared to deliver immediately available good funds by wire or bank check to the Secured Party, within twenty-four (24) hours after the sale and otherwise comply with the bidding requirements.

Further information concerning the Interests, the requirements for obtaining information and bidding on the interests and the terms of sale can be obtained by contacting the Secured Party's counsel, Braunstein Turkish LLP, 7600 Jericho Turnpike, Suite 402, Woodbury, New York 11797, Attn: Vincent L. Georgetti, Esq., Tel: (516) 802-0700 x312, E-mail: vg@braunsteinturkish.com.

CLEAR & PRESENT DANGER

Knicks expect fired-up Pistons to be more threatening team in Game 2 tonight at Garden

BY KRISTIAN WINFIELD
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

There's no such thing as taking the fight out of the Pistons. And if the Knicks have designs on a second-round showdown with the defending champion Celtics, they'll need to win three more battles — not just the one that turned The Garden into a madhouse Saturday night.

Game 1 was a test of nerve. For three quarters, Detroit refused to blink. The Knicks fell behind by as many as nine. Then the fourth quarter hit — and with it, the kind of avalanche only a veteran playoff team can summon. The Knicks unleashed a 21-0 run that flipped the game, the momentum, and the mood in the building all at once.

A tightrope act became a track meet. The Knicks won, 123-112.

But in the playoffs, one win doesn't mean a thing without the next one. The Knicks aren't naive enough to think an exclamation point to cap Game 1 means smooth sailing in Game 2.

"Nah not at all, cause they're a more dangerous team tomorrow than they were in Game 1," said Josh Hart after practice Sunday. "Whenever you come off a loss — a loss they feel like they probably could have won, that they should have won — how they feel: Today you're feeling bad, you're listening to your coach showing you different plays on film of how this play could have impacted a game, and you have a little more of a chip on your shoulder and you're going out with added physicality, added energy, so they're a dangerous team."

For the Knicks, that fourth-quarter blitz could be a spark. For the Pistons, it's likely fuel. The lesson for Detroit: This is what playoff basketball feels like when the walls close in. When the crowd surges. When the margin of error vanishes.

"That was Game 1. I think the way the game ended, obviously it ended in our favor, but I think they're gonna be ready for Game 2," Jalen Brunson said. "We're gonna have to be ready for Game 2, and we're gonna have to reset. Yesterday is yesterday, happy we came away with a win, but tomorrow's a new day."

The Pistons know this. They aren't going anywhere. Neither is their belief they can claw their way back into this series.

"Our team is grit and grind," said sharpshooter Malik Beasley. "They beat us the first time in the regular season (and the Pistons won the last three), so we're trying to do the same thing: come back, bounce back, make adjustments and do what we gotta do."

The gap in experience was clear. Saturday was Detroit's first postseason game since 2019. That means Cade Cunningham, Jalen Duren, Isaiah Stewart, Ausar Thompson, and rookie Ron Holland were all feeling the moment for the first time. Cunningham was productive — 21 points, 12 assists — but needed 21 shots to get there under OG Anunoby's hounding defense. Thompson, his primary defensive assignment, picked up five fouls and sat for long stretches. Duren finished minus-20 in 25 minutes. Stewart battled through an injury and picked up five fouls.

It wasn't just a loss. For a young team, it was an education.

"I think for us it was a learning experience of what fourth-quarter basketball is like in the postseason," Pistons coach J.B. Bickerstaff said after a film session on Sunday. "It's a mentality of if you don't win this game or these games, your season's over with. And the mentality that people have when their back is against the wall and how you have to match that, and I thought the Knicks did a great job in that fourth quarter of playing with a sense of urgency. I think for us, this is our first experience of it, how quickly do you learn? Talking to the guys, watching film with the guys, having conversations with the guys, they saw it and felt it. Now it's on us to make that adjustment."

The Pistons may be young. They may be behind in the series. But their mindset is still intact.

"There's no doubt about it," said Bickerstaff. "We don't waver in that."

And the Knicks? They know they can't coast on one good quarter — no matter how loud it got, or how emphatic the run.

"I don't think one game does anything. They're gonna be a little more desperate, a little bit more physical, a little more energetic, a little bit more focused, so we've gotta make sure we rise to the occasion," Hart said. "That's the playoffs. You don't wanna get too high after you win a game. We get happy we win Game 1, and we loosen up a bit, and their physicality gets them the game. That's what we don't want."

"That's the challenge of the playoffs: It's one game, and that's what it is," added Tom Thibodeau. "You've got to get ready for the next. You have to reset. You got to do it all over again, and you have to have the right mindset. In this league, you start feeling too good by yourself, that's when you get knocked down."

Saturday was a swing. Game 2 might be a slugfest. The Knicks landed the first punch.

OKC pounds Grizzlies right from the start

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OKLAHOMA CITY —The Thunder's playoff run got off to a record-setting start.

Oklahoma City beat the Grizzlies, 131-80, in Game 1 of their Western Conference playoff series on Sunday, the fifth-biggest victory margin in NBA postseason history and the largest in a Game 1.

"We were amped up," Thunder coach Mark Daigneault said. "Give the guys a lot of credit for the week of practice that we had. It's a sneaky tough week because it's a lot of days without games and it gets you out of rhythm of games."

The 51-point margin capped a stat-filled Sunday in OKC. For a while, it seemed like the Thunder had a chance at the biggest playoff win ever. There have been two 58-point playoff margins: Denver beating New Orleans, 121-63, on April 27, 2009, and the Minneapolis Lakers beating the St. Louis Hawks, 133-75, on March 19, 1956.

The Lakers beat Golden State by 56 (126-70) on April 21, 1973 and the Bulls beat the Bucks by 54 (120-66) on April 30, 2015.

The Thunder led by as many as 56 points, the biggest lead in a playoff game since Denver led New Orleans by 58 points in that 2009 game.

OKC held leads of 127-71 and 129-73. The Grizzlies scored seven of the game's final nine points, which kept Memphis from enduring the biggest playoff loss ever.

CELTICS TOP MAGIC

Derrick White scored 30 points, Jayson Tatum added 17 points and finished the game after a scary late fall, and the Celtics beat the Magic, 103-86, in Game 1 of their first-round playoff series Sunday in Boston.

Payton Pritchard added 19 points off the bench for Boston, which hosts Game 2 on Wednesday night. Jaylen Brown played 31 minutes and scored 16 points on 6-of-14 shooting after missing the final three games of the regular season due to a lingering knee issue.

With Boston leading, 89-73, with 8:28 remaining, Tatum went up for a dunk and was hit hard by Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, who tried to block it. Tatum landed awkwardly on his right side but returned to the game.

DONOVAN, CAVS BLAST HEAT

Donovan Mitchell scored 30 points, Ty Jerome scored 16 of his 28 points in the fourth quarter, and the Cavaliers beat the Heat, 121-100, Sunday night in Cleveland in Game 1 of the Eastern Conference first-round playoff series.

Luka can't do it alone for L. A.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES — When Luka Dončić scored 16 points in the first quarter of his playoff debut with his new team, the Lakers' downtown arena crackled with excitement from fans probably imagining dream scenarios for their team and its new superstar this spring.

The Timberwolves made sure that dream got ugly quite quickly in Game 1. They also left the Lakers looking for ways to help Dončić before Minnesota runs away with this first-round series.

Dončić scored 37 points and pulled down eight rebounds, but it wasn't nearly enough to counter the Wolves' balanced scoring in their 117-95 victory Saturday night.

Despite an impressive start by their Slovenian superstar, the Lakers were comprehensively embarrassed during their first postseason Game 1 in front of a full home arena since 2012. Los Angeles didn't demonstrate the toughness necessary to hang with the physical, veteran Wolves on defense — and only Dončić produced an impressive game on offense.

The combination led to a 27-point deficit in the second half and a laughter of a victory for the Wolves, who immediately seized homecourt advantage in the series after finishing just one win behind the Lakers in the regular season.

"They're a great opponent," JJ Redick said after losing his playoff coaching debut. "They're one of the best teams in basketball."

It's not to say our guys weren't ready to withstand playoff-level basketball. We were mentally ready, and I thought our spirit was right. ... I'm not sure physically we were ready, if that makes sense. When they start playing with a lot of thrust and physicality, we really just couldn't respond to that."

Minnesota's superior physicality was obvious for long stretches, even with Rudy Gobert playing only 24 minutes. But the Wolves took control and kept it largely because they hit 21 3-pointers on only 42 attempts.

The Lakers lack a dominant big man after trading Anthony Davis, and Jaden McDaniels took advantage of that while scoring 25 points. But that doesn't explain the Lakers' poor effort on the perimeter, where they have enough athletes to guard most teams competently when they make the effort.

"I think it was physical, (and) they were hitting a lot of 3s," Dončić said. "We have to limit their 3s, especially their lasers. We weren't physical. They were running. They were getting anything they want, and we have to be better."

Dončić knew that applied to him personally on the offensive end despite his gaudy point total: The gifted passer recorded just one assist, his lowest total since Game 1 of last season's NBA Finals.

LeBron James also got off to an unimpressive start to his 18th NBA postseason, scoring 19 points and going 1 for 5 on 3-point attempts while producing only three assists and five rebounds in 36 minutes.

Pistons on mission to keep Brunson off foul line in Game 2

BY PETER SBLENDORIO
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

Ausar Thompson gave a one-word answer.

A day after Jalen Brunson erupted for 34 points in his Knicks' Game 1 win over the Pistons, Thompson — Detroit's go-to defender — was asked what are some of the biggest challenges he faces when guarding Brunson.

"None," Thompson replied.

Thompson's comment followed a film session in which the Pistons reviewed Saturday night's 123-112 loss at the Garden, where the Knicks unleashed a 21-0 run in the fourth quarter to take a 1-0 lead in the first-round playoff series.

Brunson scored 12 points in that final quarter, including a dagger layup in which he blew past Thompson with 1:05 remaining.

That capped a 12-of-27 shooting effort by Brunson, who began the game just 2-of-13 from the field after repeatedly seeking and drawing contact that didn't result in foul calls.

Brunson ultimately attempted 10 free throws, but only two in the first half.

"Just don't foul him," Thompson said. "He's good at drawing fouls. Well, he's good at selling fouls, so you've just got to be smarter."

Brunson finished 3-of-6 on the shots he attempted with Thompson as his primary defender in a half-court set, with all three baskets coming in the second half.

The 22-year-old Thompson regularly guarded Brunson on Saturday, but foul trouble limited the second-year guard's time on the court.

Thompson drew a pair of fouls within the game's first three minutes, one on a charge drawn by Brunson, and sat out from the 9:21 mark of the first quarter until the 8:04 mark of the second.

"I've still got to be aggressive," Thompson said. "The first foul, to this day, I still don't think I fouled him at all. The charge, that was a charge, but I was in a bad position already having a foul. I'm still coming out aggressive, but I'm not gonna give the refs a reason to call anything else."

Thompson — one of the NBA's best athletes and top defenders — praised Brunson as being the "elite of the elite" among scorers who play with a herky-jerky style of offense.

But Thompson also said he "1000%" needs to take advantage offensively when he's being defended by Brunson. Thompson scored 10 points on 4-of-8 shooting on Saturday, but attempted only one shot against Brunson, which he made after using a slick spin move.

"Just be aggressive, no matter if they've got Jalen on me or anybody on me," Thompson said. "Just be aggressive and be a threat to the other team."

Thompson finished with five fouls in only 23 minutes, causing Detroit to use Malik Beasley and Dennis Schröder against Brunson.

Beasley, in particular, served as an irritant, making it a point to initiate contact with Brunson even during stoppages.

"We've got to put as many bodies as we can on him," Beasley said Sunday. "AT starts on him. Dennis is on him. Me. I've just got to put my body on him, make him feel it, because if it goes down to a Game 7, I want him tired."

After enduring the Pistons' early physicality, Brunson went into attack mode down the stretch, successfully targeting and scoring against Tobias Harris multiple times.

"I felt like they had a good game plan, and I just had to reset," Brunson said. "I found a way to get going in the second half. Teammates have the utmost confidence in me, and I appreciate that to the fullest. I just had to find a way to reset and regain composure."

More Knicks, Page 41

The Pistons could be without one of their best bigs.

Rim-protecting center Isaiah Stewart is listed as questionable with right knee inflammation going into tonight's Game 2 against the Knicks at the Garden.

Stewart did not play the final 9:06 of the Pistons' 123-112 loss in Game 1 on Saturday — a decision coach J.B. Bickerstaff said he made to protect the big man.

The Knicks scored the last 19 points in their game-turning 21-0 run with Stewart on the bench.

"He was phenomenal last night," Bickerstaff said Sunday, after a film session. "His effort, how he protected the rim, the energy that he brought, how his teammates fed off his energy was huge."

"When he's not on the floor for us, we all have to bring that. We have to find a way, because we can't just lean on him all the time or expect it just to be him. We have to play with that same ferociousness and that effort that he does."

Stewart — who grew up in Rochester — underwent imaging on his leg after Saturday's game, according to SNY. He had appeared hobbled throughout his 19 minutes.

The 6-8 center missed the last two games of the regular season with right knee inflammation. Asked Sunday if Stewart was dealing with the same issue, Bickerstaff replied, "There's a lot going on there."

The Pistons led, 98-90, when the Knicks' Cameron Payne finished a layup and drew a foul on Stewart.

Stewart, 23, checked out of the game before Payne shot his free throw and did not return.

"It definitely hurt," guard Malik Beasley said of Stewart's absence. "Stew is a guy — I don't care what anybody says — he's here for us. He only cares about us, so to not have him out there in the fourth quarter hurt a little bit, but as a team ... we have to have a next-man-up mentality."

Stewart is one of the NBA's top interior defenders, and his bruising presence is a major part of the Pistons' physical identity.

With a +8 point differential, Stewart was the only Pistons player to finish with a positive plus/minus.

Starting center Jalen Duren, meanwhile, struggled in his post-season debut. Duren's -20 point differential was the worst among all players, while his 137.5 defensive rating was significantly worse than Stewart's 107.0.

"(The postseason) is different, but just like a regular-season game, you have to be the best version of yourself," Bickerstaff said of Duren's performance.

THIS NO-NO'S A

Max Fried throws to first base on pickoff attempt on his way to victory over Rays Sunday in Tampa. AP

Visit to Tampa a long, strange trip for TAMPA – In the months since Hurricane Milton ravaged Florida's west coast, Yankees reliever Ryan Yarbrough has been left in disbelief each time he's driven past Tropicana Field.

Seeing the Rays' devastated home – which had its domed roof ripped to shreds in the October storm – conjures up core memories for the lefty. Raised in Winter Haven, Florida, a little more than an hour away, Yarbrough often attended The Trop as a kid. Then he began his big-league career with the Rays, pitching for them from 2018-2022.

As a member of the Blue Jays, he appeared in Tropicana Field's last game before the destruction on Sept. 22, 2024.

"It was crazy because I'm pretty sure it was supposed to be a place of refuge during the storm," Yarbrough said. "So the fact that it was that hard of an impact was crazy."

Yarbrough, who still lives near The Trop with his wife, Nicole, noted that Hurricane Helene slammed the area shortly before Milton. While they and their neighbors were "pretty lucky" to avoid serious damage, others weren't.

"With the storm two weeks earlier already hitting, you already saw a bunch of debris and everything on the side of the road from people's houses being torn apart and flooded," Yarbrough said. "So it was having basically a double impact in how many lives were affected. It was really hard to see, and then you see The Trop itself with no roof and it's just tattered."

With The Trop in no condition for major-league games, the Yankees leased their spring-training complex, George M. Steinbrenner Field, to the division rival Rays this season. With the ballpark redecorated for its temporary tenants, the Bombers – the designated road team in their own building – and Rays played one another there for the first time on Thursday to open a four-game series.

Yarbrough made an early entrance from the bullpen in the Yankees' 6-3 win, allowing two earned runs over two innings.

After spending most of spring training with Toronto, Yarbrough signed with the Yankees at the end of camp. He didn't get to see much of the recently renovated GMS as a home player, so he knows this series has been weirder for some of his teammates than it has been for him.

Still, he said "it's going to be a little strange" prior to the trip. For Yarbrough, that has just as much to do with Rays logos replacing Yankees ones as it does with the last few games not taking place at The Trop.

While Tropicana hasn't always had the best rep among players, Yarbrough enjoyed pitching there. And with so many cherished moments attached to the stadium, he hopes to see it return better than ever.

"It was just one of those places where I kind of grew up going to games and everything," Yarbrough said.

"So it always had a really cool place in my heart."

NO-NO FOR MAX

Scoring change ends gem, but Fried settles for win

BY GARY PHILLIPS
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

TAMPA – With the Yankees closing out a four-game series against the Rays within the intimate confines of their own spring-training complex, Max Fried nearly sent fans of both teams home with a memory they'd never forget.

The left-hander, just five starts into his Yankees career, took a no-hit bid into the eighth inning of Sunday's 4-0 win at Steinbrenner Field. However, as he toed the rubber in the eighth, a Yankees error from earlier in the day was changed to a hit by the Rays' official scorer, Bill Mathews.

The play in question came in the sixth inning, when the blazing Chandler Simpson hit a soft grounder to Paul Goldschmidt at first. The speed demon looked like he was going to beat Fried to first base with ease, but Goldschmidt booted the ball and was initially charged with an error, thus keeping the no-no intact for the time being.

However, as Fried took the mound with six outs to go, Mathews announced in the press box that the play had been changed to a single, as it was "very apparent" Simpson would have won the race to the base a few innings earlier.

Asked for further explanation, Mathews said, "I made a decision." Given multiple opportunities to explain a bit more, he remained silent.

"Look, we're not gonna beat (Simpson) to the bag," Aaron Boone said, noting he didn't have a problem with the change taking so long. "So I get it, but it makes it a little bit dicey when it's within the game or, obviously, with a no-hitter going on. But the reality is, it was a hit."

Fried, who allowed a leadoff single to Jake Mangum to start the eighth, also didn't make a fuss over the change. Neither the southpaw nor Boone knew about it until after the fact.

"I don't think Max cares about that kind of stuff," Aaron Judge said. "He's worried about going out there, helping the team, helping us win. He pitched a heckuva game, so I think he's happy coming away with the win."

Fried actually didn't find out about the scoring change until he exited the game. He totaled 7.2 innings, two hits, zero earned runs, two walks, one hit-by-pitch, two strikeouts and 102 pitches.

"I had no idea," said Fried, who was part of a combined no-hitter as a minor leaguer. "I looked up and saw two hits. It is what it is. I'm just happy we got the win."

Had the Rays remained hitless, Boone said he would not have allowed Fried to reach the 120-pitch range. The manager thought the Yankees' de facto ace was "a little bit gassed" toward the end, so Fried would have needed efficiency to finish the job.

"That's a peek at how great he is, really, because I thought it was a grind for him, actually," Boone said. "I thought it took him a while to kind of find his secondary stuff today."

Despite coming close to the record books,

Fried agreed that he didn't navigate the Rays with "ease" on Sunday. And yet, he now has a 1.42 ERA months after signing an eight-year, $218 million pact with the Yankees.

"He's the total package," Judge said.

The Yankee captain added that Fried has been "incredible" with the irreplaceable Gerrit Cole out for the season due to Tommy John surgery.

"I'm just trying to be myself," Fried said. "I just want to, when I take the ball, be able to make sure that we have a really good chance to win that day."

Even before the scoring conundrum, Fried's no-hit bid would not have lasted as long as it did if not for some stellar defensive plays.

While the Yankees made two errors in the game, a pickoff play between Fried and Jazz Chisholm Jr. at second base erased a two-base mistake from Oswaldo Cabrera in the fourth.

Following a walk in the fifth, Trent Grisham kept Fried's bid alive when he made a tumbling catch against the wind in right-center field. Grisham then fired to second for an inning-ending double play as the Rays' series-long woes on the bases continued.

"I've been trusting this defense all year, and they had some unbelievable plays behind me today," Fried said.

The seventh inning, meanwhile, saw Chisholm make a lunging, over-the-shoulder catch on a blooming popup.

"I called him Flash Gordon," Boone said of Chisholm's web gem at second. "I was watching (Anthony) Volpe. That's where my eyes went. And then Flash Gordon, just out of nowhere, boom, came flying in."

While Fried dazzled, the Yankees put a few runs on the board via the longball.

Grisham, leading off for the first time as a Yankee, started the game with a solo shot off Ryan Pepiot, while Cody Bellinger added one of his own in the sixth inning. Austin Wells then left the yard in solo fashion in the ninth.

The Yankees also scored a run in the third when Bellinger beat out a potential double play ball.

It looked as if Judge had clobbered a towering bases-empty blast of his own in the eighth, as re-play seemed to show him launching a clearly fair ball way beyond Steinbrenner Field's left-field seats. However, the bomb was ruled foul, ultimately leading to a strikeout for Judge and an ejection for Boone.

"It was a fair ball," Judge said, though he noted that the shorter foul poles at Steinbrenner Field, a spring-training/minor-league stadium, aren't as high as they are at big-league parks. "It's a tough situation."

Added Boone: "The audacity of the call standing is remarkable. It's a home run. It didn't go our way, though."

While Judge was robbed of his eighth homer, the Yankees still wrapped up an unusual series on a positive note thanks to Fried.

Having won 3-of-4 over the Rays, the Bombers now head to Cleveland, where a three-game series against the Guardians awaits.

RICE RECOVERING

Aaron Boone said Sunday that Ben Rice is doing "quite a bit better" after a pitch bruised his left elbow in Saturday's game. However, Rice – out of Sunday's lineup – was still stiff, sore and swollen.

Rice also said he was feeling better.

BEETER BEGINS REHAB

Clayton Beeter (shoulder impingement) began a rehab assignment with Single-A Tampa on Sunday. The young right-hander was looked at as a possible contributor to the Yankee bullpen over the offseason; that hasn't changed after Beeter had to slow-play his spring training.

"Reports have been good with how he's throwing the ball," Boone said.

"Velocity's in a good spot. He could definitely be a guy that could play a big role for us this year."

NOTHING ON STANTON

Giancarlo Stanton (tennis elbows) joined the Yankees for their trip to Tampa, but Boone didn't have any info on what the designated hitter has been up to the last few days.

However, Boone did say Stanton will travel to Cleveland with the Yankees instead of staying back at the team's player development complex, which is across the street from Steinbrenner Field.

Nimmo takes away
home run as Mets grab
four from Cardinals

Brandon Nimmo reaches over wall to take home run away from Cardinals' Jordan Walker to end sixth inning at Citi Field Sunday. GETTY

BY JAMES O'CONNELL
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

David Stearns' offseason continues to look better and better. After putting together a widely questioned pitching staff, the Mets have seen nothing but strong performances from their starters and that continued in their 7-4 victory over the Cardinals Sunday at Citi Field.

With the victory, the Mets completed a four-game weekend sweep of the Cardinals.

Clay Holmes took the ball for Carlos Mendoza's squad and continued his impressive season. The former closer tossed six innings — the first time this season he's completed six frames — allowing just one run on four hits while striking out six.

The right-hander lowered his season ERA to 3.16 in his five starts.

Brandon Nimmo has not gotten off to the start he wanted this season, but he came through in a big spot for the Mets on Sunday.

After the Cardinals tied the game, 3-3, in the top of the seventh, the outfielder grounded a two-out RBI single through the infield, giving the Amazin's the lead for good.

Nimmo is slashing .202/.253/.381 this season as the Mets are still waiting for his bat to arrive. He also reached over the wall in left field to take a home run away from Jordan Walker in the sixth.

The Mets broke the game wide open in the bottom of the eighth. Luisangel Acuna began the inning with a slowly hit double that trickled into left field. He was driven in by Tyrone Taylor on another bloop double. Juan Soto doubled in Taylor and Francisco Lindor to extend the Met lead to 7-3.

METS	7
CARDINALS	4

Soto has begun to shake off his slow start in blue and orange. The superstar went 2-for-3 with a walk and three RBI on Sunday.

Mendoza's stable was a bit shaky in the series finale. Danny Young allowed two runs in the seventh and Ryne Stanek made fans sweat a bit, allowing a run in the ninth. However, the right-hander left the tying run in the on-deck circle, securing the victory 7-4.

The Amazin's will welcome the Phillies to Citi Field tonight for their first true test since their opening series. Aaron Nola will take the ball for Rob Thomson's squad against Tylor Megill.

Daddy Ohtani returns to Dodgers

Shohei Ohtani returns to action Sunday after birth of his daughter. GETTY

Two-way star Shohei Ohtani returned to the Dodgers' lineup Sunday for the series finale against the Rangers, activated off the paternity list after his wife gave birth to the couple's first child in Southern California.

Ohtani went 0 for 3 with a walk that helped produce the game's only run.

"To get back here and to be a part of this certainly shows his ability to balance life and work," manager Dave Roberts said. "Good to have him back and most importantly I'm happy he and Mamiko have a healthy baby girl."

Roberts said now that his star is a father, expect some "dad strength" exit velocities.

"Dad strength is real," Roberts said. "It's amazing how hard Shohei hits the ball now. So now that he is a father, you might see some 120 exit velos."

Ohtani missed the series' first two games, which the Dodgers split, matching the previous two World Series winners. He appeared in all of Los Angeles' previous 20 games, hitting .288 with six home runs and 21 runs scored (one off major-league lead).

"I am so grateful to my loving wife (28-year-old former professional basketball player Mamiko Tanaka) who gave birth to our healthy, beautiful daughter," Ohtani wrote on Instagram on Saturday. "To my daughter, thank you for making us very nervous yet super anxious parents."

MARLINS' CONINE ON IL

Marlins outfielder Griffin Conine was placed on the 60-day injured list after dislocating his left shoulder during Saturday's 11-10 loss against the Phillies.

PHILS' MARSH SIDELINED

Slumping outfielder Brandon Marsh was placed on the 10-day injured list by the Phillies on Sunday because of a strained right hamstring.

Philadelphia made the move retroactive to Thursday, a day after Marsh attempted to field a ball hit by San Francisco that took an unexpected bounce and he felt discomfort in the back of his right knee extending into the hamstring.

Marsh is hitless in his last 31 at-bats.

"He wasn't getting worse, he just wasn't improving, and he can't run at 100%," manager Rob Thomson said.

"This is the day we can backdate him the furthest, so we decided to do it."

U.S. WOMEN WIN HOCKEY WORLDS

Tessa Janecke scored the winner as the United States prevailed in overtime over defending champion Canada, 4-3, to win the women's ice hockey world championship on Sunday.

Janecke struck with 2:54 left in overtime for the Americans to claim their 11th title at the worlds.

Taylor Heise set up the winning goal.

HURRICANE WARNING

Well-rested Carolina more than ready for Devils in Game 1

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

RALEIGH, N.C. — The Hurricanes just wanted to be healthy going into the Stanley Cup Playoffs, even if it meant resting key players and stumbling down the stretch of the regular season.

The first playoff came Sunday.

Logan Stankoven scored two second-period goals in his first playoff game with Carolina as the Hurricanes beat the Devils, 4-1, to open their first-round series. Carolina led, 3-0, more than doubled the Devils' shot output, and kept the pressure on in a strong start to the postseason.

"Obviously it was pretty clear that I think we were looking forward to this day for a bit now," goaltender Frederik Andersen said.

Jalen Chatfield scored a first-period goal for the Hurricanes, who kept steady pressure on Devils netminder Jacob Markstrom. Andrei Svechnikov added an empty-net clincher late in the third.

Carolina had lost seven of its last eight regular-season games since clinching its seventh straight playoff trip on April 3, several coming with stars and key contributors out of the lineup. In that sense, it had been a long wait to get here, back on home ice with a rowdy home crowd in playoff mode.

"There's always that worry that maybe you come out a little sluggish or whatever," coach Rod Brind'Amour said.

"But obviously that wasn't the case. And we were healthy, a healthy group. So it was a calculated risk maybe, but at least after Game 1, that was the right decision."

Andersen finished with 23 saves for Carolina, including a key stop on Timo Meier near the crease midway through the third. The Hurricanes also turned away a Devil power play with eight minutes left to stay in firm control.

Nico Hischier scored the Devils' only goal by taking Jesper Bratt's cross-ice pass and blasting the puck past Andersen during a 4-on-4 chance in the second.

Carolina finished with a 45-24 shot advantage.

"They're not doing anything special," Hischier said. "They play simple hockey, hard hockey, and we've just got to match that."

Markstrom finished with 41 saves on what turned out to be a rough afternoon physically for the Devils, who saw multiple players skate to the tunnel with injuries.

First, defenseman Brenden Dillon went down in the second period after getting tangled with Carolina's William Carrier, then struggled to stay on his feet before being helped to the tunnel. Coach Sheldon Keefe said Dillon wanted to return but doctors held him out.

Later, the Devils lost two players on a single chaotic sequence in the third, which started with defenseman Luke Hughes laying in the net then doubled over in pain while reaching for his left shoulder. Almost immediately, Markstrom took a whack at Svechnikov near the top of the crease only to inadvertently hit center Cody Glass and knock him to the ice.

While Hughes was able to return, Glass was assisted to the tunnel and Keefe had no update on him afterward.

Chatfield got the Hurricanes off to a quick start with a goal just 2:24 into the game. Then it was a big day for Stankoven, who was the primary return in a trade-deadline deal that allowed Carolina to pivot out of its big-swing January addition of scoring winger Mikko Rantanen.

Game 2 of the series is Tuesday.

Knicks can't afford to get picked off

BY KRISTIAN WINFIELD
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

By the time the Knicks realized what was happening, Malik Beasley was already gone.

There were just under three minutes left in the opening quarter of Game 1 at Madison Square Garden — a game the Knicks ultimately won, 123-112, behind a deflating 21-0 fourth-quarter run — and the Pistons were running a familiar play out of a sideline out-of-bounds.

Beasley, a vaunted sharpshooter who finished just one triple behind Anthony Edwards for the NBA's three-point crown this season, began the possession guarded by Miles McBride.

Tobias Harris set the first screen, freeing Beasley on a baseline cut and forcing a switch onto Landry Shamet. Then came Isaiah Stewart — one of the league's most physical screen-setters — dropping a legal shoulder into Shamet and fully knocking him out of the play.

Mitchell Robinson hesitated. Shamet's contest came late. Beasley's shot didn't.

It was his second three of the night, and far from his last. He finished with 20 points on 6-of-12 shooting from downtown. Detroit shot 15-of-32 from deep as a team — a blistering 46.6% clip against a Knicks defense that, while stingy on volume, continued to allow opponents to shoot an elite percentage from beyond the arc.

Mechanisms like the one Detroit used to spring Beasley loose are textbook examples of floppy action — a classic off-ball play design that's simple in theory, difficult to guard in practice. It starts with a shooter cutting near the baseline using one or more screens to pop up above the arc. Sometimes it's a curl, sometimes a flare. Always, it's designed to punish defenders who trail lazily or fail to communicate.

The Pistons opened Game 1 running floppy action for

Pistons' Malik Beasley breaks free in Game 1 vs. Knicks. AP

Tim Hardaway Jr., who missed the look. But he made the Knicks pay later, losing Shamet again to tie the game, 30-30, early in the second quarter.

"You see some of the play calls that they run that you scout and review, and some of them are after timeouts where they draw up good plays," Josh Hart said. "So obviously give them credit for drawing up good plays and on those screens, but we've gotta make sure we're into our man to start a possession and dictate where we want them to go."

That's the key. The Pistons aren't just hitting open looks — they're using Stewart and Jalen Duren as human battering rams to set devastating screens. For defenders, it's not just about knowing what's coming. It's about surviving the contact long enough to contest the shot. And that starts at the point of the screen.

"It's tough because they have Stewart and Duren setting good screens," Hart continued. "It's tough to stay attached, so we've gotta make sure we start the play off into them, into their hip and force their hip and forcing them where we want."

Jalen Brunson echoed the need for discipline — not just in individual matchups, but in how the defense talks.

"Staying committed to their bodies and just understanding the angles and where they're going," Brunson said. "Most importantly, just communicating and staying connected."

There's also the issue of transition. Detroit doesn't just punish defensive miscues in the half court. The Pistons found success pulling up on the break, catching the Knicks mid-rotation after both made and missed baskets. Beasley and Hardaway Jr. combined to attempt 20 threes. Too many of them were wide open.

"Obviously matching up to Beasley and Hardaway, those guys, in transition. They're just knockdown shooters, so we gotta limit their catch-and-shoots as best we can. That's one big key," said Brunson. "Obviously being down eight after three quarters, it's tough, but just remember that it's a 48-minute game. Just continue to fight all the way through. Just remaining focused and composed."

The Knicks passed that test in Game 1 with a dominant fourth quarter that turned a dogfight into a runaway. But if they don't clean up the defensive lapses on shooters like Beasley and Hardaway, they risk being burned by the same fire they barely escaped.

"I study them, and I know they're a good team," said Tom Thibodeau. "So we have to be ready for their personnel. We have to understand what they're trying to do, and then you have to compete."

COULD YOU HAVE MONEY WAITING FOR YOU TO CLAIM IT? SEARCH FOR YOUR NAME IN MORE UNCLAIMED PROPERTY LISTINGS AT NYDAILYNEWS.COM/SPECIAL-SECTIONS

1. Scan the QR code to visit nydailynews.com/special-sections. Search for your name in hundreds of pages of unclaimed funds currently being held by insurance companies and financial institutions.

2. Follow the instructions at the beginning or end of each company's listing to get started on your claim. Pay attention to the deadline to file your claim with the company holding your money. After that date, your funds will be transferred to the NY State Comptroller's Office and you will have to file a claim with the State to get the cash that's coming to you.

3. If you miss the deadline to file with the company holding your money or think you may have unclaimed property that has already been handed over to the State, search the State Comptroller's database at <https://ouf.osc.state.ny.us/> and get started on your claim.

Digging for Gold: Unclaimed Treasure in New York State

You know that feeling when you find money in the pocket of your old jeans? It's like stumbling upon buried treasure.

Well, imagine that treasure chest multiplied by billions, scattered across New York State, waiting to be claimed by their rightful owners. Welcome to the world of unclaimed funds and property.

What Are Unclaimed Funds?

In the hustle and bustle of life, it's easy to lose track of things—keys, socks, and, apparently, money. Bank accounts—your savings, checking, or those long-forgotten CDs—are just the tip of the iceberg. Court funds, dividends, insurance benefits, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and even telephone or utility deposits can lay forgotten, just waiting to be found.

Banks, insurance companies, corporations, and even the courts are required by law to report dormant accounts to the State Comptroller. They send out notifications by mail and publish them in newspapers. Yet, despite these efforts, many funds end up in the hands of the Office of the State Comptroller.

Published in the Paper

Every year, the Daily News publishes hundreds of pages of names of people with unclaimed property being held by insurance companies in April and May and unclaimed funds that banking organizations are trying to reunite with their owners through August and early September.

You can search your name in hundreds of pages of unclaimed property listings at nydailynews.com/special-sections to see if you currently have any funds being held for you. Noted at the beginning and/or end of each company's list are instructions for how you can start the process of claiming your property and the deadline for you to respond.

Relinquished to the State

If you miss the deadline to claim your money from the company holding your money, they will hand it over to the New York State Comptroller, Thomas P. DiNapoli. But don't worry—it's in good hands, and he wants to give it back.

Whether you think you may have some funds out there or not, you should take ten seconds to search your name at the Office of the Comptroller at ouf.osc.state.ny.us. From there, it's easy to start your claim online.

Beware of Scammers

Before you start dreaming of a lavish spending spree, beware of the sharks lurking in these waters. There are scammers out there pretending to be the government, offering to retrieve your unclaimed money—for a fee or in exchange for sensitive personal information. It's called phishing, and it's a crafty way to dupe unsuspecting people into handing over their hard-earned cash or identity. Only work directly with the institution or state holding your money and never pay to retrieve your funds.

Unclaimed By the Numbers

New York State is sitting on a trove of unclaimed funds and property, totaling a whopping $19 billion. And more than 51 million account records are gathering dust, just waiting for their rightful owners to come forward. Every single day, the State Comptroller returns over $1.5 million to individuals, companies, nonprofits, and municipalities.

If your account was accruing interest, you're entitled to it. The State Comptroller pays interest for up to five years on interest-bearing accounts. Currently, it's a cool 6%.

In 2024 alone, heirs to a New York estate received a jaw-dropping $12.4 million from stock proceeds. And the largest unclaimed amount is a mind-boggling $9.2 million, just waiting for someone to come knocking on the State Comptroller's door. Could it be yours?
